New Ordinance Tightens Quarry Trespass Ban

The City Council moved swiftly last week to tighten security at Badger's and Swingle's Quarries, which adjoin each other just off the Southeast Expressway in West Quincy.

Swingle's Quarry has been drained in an unsuccessful attempt to find the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned there June 20, 1983, and Badger's Quarry was filled in several years ago.

Both quarries are on city-owned land.

The Council voted unanimously to ban trespassing at the two quarries on pain of a $150 fine and to post "No Trespassing" signs with a fine of $100 for intentionally destroying the signs.

The Council also specified that no one should have the use of the land around the two quarries without permits from the City Clerk or the Chief of Police. Permit fees were set at $5.

The new ordinance was passed with an emergency preamble to go into effect immediately since "to defer operation of this order would tend to defeat its purpose, which is to immediately provide for public health and safety."

The Council cannot pass similar ordinances for Fuller's, Berry's and Granite Rail Quarries, the most popular of the remaining water holes, since they are privately owned.

But councillors urged that the private owners take steps to prevent swimming in those quarries.

The most recent drowning was June 23 in Fuller's Quarry, where Vincent Alcide, 18, of Mattapan jumped to his death from a ledge.

City To Receive $1.9 M From Selling Old Schools

The City of Quincy will realize $1,928,848 from the sale of vacant school buildings and property.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announced that the sale of the Quincy Adams school last week will bring $350,000 when the deal is completed. The City Council also approved the sale of six lots on the site of demolished Hunting school for a total of $165,000.

The break down for the sale of the school buildings is as follows:

Willard School $914,410,
Cranch School $149,658,
Quincy School $175,000,
Adams School $350,000.
Bids for the sale of the Pollard School are to be opened July 9. It is expected that the Pollard School will bring at least another $150,000 to the city coffers.

The Gridley Bryant school was sold for $150,000 but that money was used this year to figure in the setting of the tax rate for 1984-85.

The Massachusetts Field school will bring in $247,440. That money is still due the city.

The city has earmarked $62,306 for the demolition of the Hunting school and the Great Hill school which was ravaged by fire several weeks ago.

Mayor McCauley said that the sale of the properties is "a one shot deal" and that the monies will be used to maintain and improve existing city owned buildings including school buildings now being used.

The Mayor said that the city finished the fiscal year ending June 30 in pretty good financial condition and that it will not be necessary for the city to borrow money to pay off short term loans. He said that the city has finished its third year in a row with a surplus.

He stated that it was too early to give specific details concerning tax revenues received at the close of business June 30 because tax payments were still being received by mail.

July 9 Deadline For Miss Quincy Bay Pageant

Monday, July 9, is the deadline for entries in the 1984 Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant to be held Friday, July 20 at 9 p.m. in Quincy Sq.

The pageant, highlight of the annual downtown

Sidewalk Bazaar July 19-20, 21, is co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

South Shore single girls age 16 or older are eligible to enter the pageant.

Entry forms are available at the QCBA office, 1416 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., and at the downtown Quincy member stores and businesses and South Shore yacht clubs.

Several thousand dollars in prizes and the honor of reigning over this year's Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 1-8 will be featured in the contest.

Contestants will be judged in evening gown and swimsuit competition and overall poise.

Pat Jones is chairwoman of the pageant which will be held in front of Quincy Center Plaza. Burt Cook of Tags Discount Furniture is chairman of the Sidewalk Bazaar committee.

Some booth space is still available for the Sidewalk Bazaar. For more information, contact the QCBA at 471-6180.

To Meet July 25

Committee To Decide If Creedon Hearings Open Or Closed

By JOHN NOONAN
The Quincy School Committee will hold a hearing sometime the latter part of August on two sexual misconduct complaints against School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who also serves as chairman of the school committee, told the Quincy Sun that the decision to conduct an open or closed hearing may be made at the regular meeting of the committee on July 25.

McCauley also said that the school committee will provide legal counsel for the plaintiff in the original misconduct complaint against Dr. Creedon. In that case the charge reportedly involved touching the breast of a female student in an art class sometime last April.

The Mayor said it is not unusual for a school committee to provide legal counsel for a complainant at such hearings involving school personnel. The procedure is followed in order to insure that the rights of all parties concerned are protected, McCauley explained.

He said the procedure is followed statewide and that the school committee will recommend a counsel for the plaintiff. The mayor said an attorney who is qualified and experienced in school hearings and complaints of this nature will be selected. He declined to name any attorney being considered as the plaintiff's counsel.

When the hearing is held in August the school committee will be represented by its regular firm and legal counsel, Murphy Lamere and Murphy. Dr. Creedon will be represented by his own private legal counsel, Atty. Richard W. Barry. The plaintiff will be represented by an attorney to be paid for and selected by the school committee. Dr. Creedon will be responsible for his own legal fees.

It is expected that the legal counsels and school committee members will decide the ground rules, including cross examination and whether to open or close the hearing, at the July 25 meeting.

Last week the School Committee voted 4 to 3 to hold a disciplinary hearing on the first complaint.

The Committee also voted, this time unanimously in both cases, (7 to 0) to hold a hearing into a second charge against Creedon and to take under advisement for further investigation a third charge of sexual misconduct.

The Committee also voted last week 4 to 3 not to refer the first complaint to the district attorney's office for investigation.

Voting for the disciplinary hearing were Mayor McCauley, Nicholas Verenis, Stephen Durkin, and Christopher Kennedy. Opposed were Frank Anselmo, Joan Picard and Mary Collins.

The committee also voted 6 to 1, with Anselmo in opposition, to provide legal counsel at the August hearing for the original complainants, a 16-year-old female high school student and her father.

The second complaint allegedly involves misconduct dating back two years ago. The third complaint involves misconduct allegedly going back some 20 years ago. No details of these complaints have been officially revealed by the school committee because the complaints and details were handled in executive session of the school board.

$7,500 Approved To Defend Police In Civil Rights Case

The City Council has approved an appropriation order of $7500 requested by Police Chief Francis Finn to hire legal counsel involving a civil rights lawsuit against the Police Department.

Finn told the council the money is for services and expenses of outside counsel for Police officers Peter W. Flynn and John F. Kelley in the suit brought against Finn and the officers by plaintiff John Colbert.

The complaint in this case alleges that the plaintiff was arraigned and charged with assault and battery and assault by means of a dangerous weapon and subsequently found not guilty by a jury.

Colbert is suing for damages in excess of $700,000 claiming various civil rights violations.

Finn supported the actions of his officers and said that the City of Quincy is obligated to provide funds for the defense of the officers in this suit. The officers were engaged in the conduct of police business, Finn explained.

Atty. Daniel J. O'Connell III of Boston has been engaged as legal counsel.

Adams' Prediction Slightly Off

There is no indication in the historic "Adams Papers" that John Adams bet on horses. Just as well he didn't. He might have lost his ruffled shirt.

Adams was a super patriot. But, apparently, just so-so as a prognosticator.

He played one of the major roles in making July 4th America's freedom birthdate.

But he predicted July 2nd would be celebrated down through the years as the big day instead.

Adams made that somewhat erroneous prediction in a letter to Abigail Adams July 3, 1776. In the letter sent from Philadelphia to Abigail here in Quincy, he declared:

"The second day of July, 1776 will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America."

Adams thought this because the Declaration of Independence was adopted by 12 states on July 2. But, it wasn't signed by anyone until July 4.

And, for that matter, only two of the 55 signers affixed their signatures on the Fourth. They were Quincy's John Hancock, who as President of the Second Continental Congress, was the first to sign, and Charles Thomson.

Most of the others signed the precious document on Aug. 2. But six signed after that. And, Thomas McKean of Delaware didn't get around to it until five years later. Thomas Jefferson and Hancock usually get top billing in the history books for the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson as its author and Hancock as its first signer. Hancock's signature -- with a fancy flourish so "King George III can see it without his spectacles -- has probably become the most famous autograph in history.

But Adams played a key, if not as glamorous a role in putting the Declaration together.

Jefferson himself praised Adams as, "... the most efficient agent in procuring a public Declaration of Independence."

ABIGAIL ADAMS

Wednesday marked the 208th anniversary of America's birth of freedom. And, ironically, the 158th anniversary of Adams' and Jefferson's deaths.

Both died on July 4, 1826 -- the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Adams collapsed here in Quincy, in a wing chair in his second floor study in the "Adams Mansion" -- the home of four generations of the Adams family and the summer White House for two presidents.

Adams and Jefferson who had had a falling out had reconciled in later years. Among Adams' last words as he lay dying were "Jefferson survives".

He thought Jefferson had outlived him. But actually, Jefferson had died earlier that day at his home.

In those days, before radio and television, there were no such thing as instant news bulletins.

Adams was just three months and 15 days from his 91st birthday. He survived Abigail, his wife of 54 years -- by eight years. He had lived to see his son John Quincy Adams become president in 1825. But Abigail, the only woman ever to be the wife of one U.S. president and the mother of a second, never knew the second honor.

Four days before he died, John Adams was asked to give a holiday toast to his fellow Quincy residents. The old man replied:

"I will give you independence forever."

Asked if he would add to that, he declared: "Not a syllable."

"Independence forever" ... those are words we should always cherish and always remember.

Incidentally, if you've never been to the Adams Mansion, you're missing an historic treat.

The Mansion is under the National Parks Service and the personal loving care of Superintendent Wilhelmina Harris.

She has kept it in a "lived in appearance".

You get the feeling as you walk through the beautiful rooms that John and Abigail are out for a walk and will be right back.

Summer Children's Program At Libraries

Summer fun starts at the Thomas Crane Public Library next week when this year's series of vacation programs begins.

The summer slogan, "What's the scoop?", depicted by an oversize ice cream cone, invites youngsters to attend programs and select books for pleasure reading. Children who "get the scoop" by participating in programs and/or reading add colored sprinkles to a super scoop of ice cream.

The Adams Shore Branch Library starts off the week with a storycraft program for ages seven through ten Tuesday, July 10, at 2 p.m. The next day, also at Adams Shore, is the first meeting of the Pen Pal Club for age seven and older at 10 a.m.

The North Quincy Branch Library will hold a picture book story hour Wednesday, July 11 at 10:30 a.m. for ages four through seven.

Another picture book story hour will be held at the Wollaston Branch Library Friday, July 13, at 10:30 a.m., also for ages four through seven. Both these programs include stories, book talks, and movies.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in this week's Quincy Quiz:

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee?
 2. What specific post did all three of the following men hold: Charles L. Shea? Francis X. McCauley? William W. Jenness?
 3. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 86 Washington St.?
 4. True or false: The highest point of land in Quincy is Forbes Hill at 495 feet.
 5. Jackson St. is located in what section of the city?
- Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:
1. The Koch Club of Quincy was formed in 1948.
 2. The building inspector of Quincy is Allan MacDonald.
 3. South Shore Tile Distributors is located at 338 Washington St.
 4. True. The title "Keeper of the Lock-Up" in Quincy is held by Police Chief Francis X. Finn.
 5. King's land is in the Quincy Point section of the city.

Readers Forum Concerned Over Way Creedon Case Is Being Handled

[The following letter written to Mayor Francis X. McCauley and a copy sent to The Quincy Sun for publication.]

Dear Mayor McCauley:

This letter is written with the intent of showing support and confidence in Quincy's Superintendent of Schools, Lawrence P. Creedon, especially in light of the current controversy of alleged misconduct. The intent of this letter is also to express our concern with the way the matter is being handled.

Trial by press, by rumor, by bandwagon, appear to be the going trends. Innocent until proven guilty appears to be myth rather than fact. We feel these methods are despicable. If the alleged offender were other than who he is, these methods of trial would not be tolerated. Is it then fair, because of a position of "power", that said person is publicly lynched without benefit of defense.

The disposition of this matter belongs in the courts, not decided in the pages of the Patriot Ledger, not discussed with incomplete knowledge in every group in the city and not given fuel by statements from some school committee members from information supposedly privileged by "executive session".

If, in fact, a crime has been committed, then let the judicial system decide that fact, let the judicial system provide the punishment. Do not let uninformed or spiteful people provide trial and punishment without due course - and this is what is happening in Quincy. A man is being tried and convicted of a crime that we do not know happened. We are robbing a man of his most valuable asset - his reputation - without sufficient evidence. This is horrifying. Any of us who work with people, especially children, could be in the same situation. We all know that some matters can be exaggerated or taken out of context - without malicious intent - but with the same dire consequences; and in this situation it could possibly be the case. However, it is not for us to decide or to judge; neither is it the decision for those who have already presumed guilty.

The Superintendent and the School Committee should be allowed to return to their jobs - running the Quincy schools - and the judicial system should be allowed to do its job - determining if a crime has been committed and then taking care of the matter in the proper manner. The school system of Quincy could be devastated by the current issue. We ask you to consider all aspects and act accordingly.

'Spirit Of Massachusetts' Here Thursday

The newly built 125-foot schooner "Spirit of Massachusetts" will arrive in Quincy today (Thursday) for a three-day visit at Marina Bay in Squantum.

She will be open for visitors from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will be piped aboard and made honorary master. The Mayor's office and the visit's sponsors, O'Connell Management Co. and Bank of Boston-Norfolk, have arranged a reception program.

The program will include a display of historic marine artifacts.

"The visit of the 'Spirit' is part of a tour of Massachusetts ports designed to remind our citizens of our rich maritime heritage," said McCauley.

"It will also serve to acquaint them with the educational programs relating to the sea that are available to our youth on this school ship."

The two-masted schooner was built to the specifications of a Gloucester fishing boat at the Charlestown Navy Yard and launched April 28 by New England Historic Seaport, Inc. She will serve part of the year as a training ship for young people and at other times as a commercial ambassador of the state cruising the shores of North and South America and the Caribbean.

Business Favors More Downtown Parking Space

Members of the downtown Quincy business community, by a margin of about 2-1, lent their support at a public hearing to a million dollar plan to double the capacity of the Ross Parking Area in order to strengthen the central business district.

The plan, presented by Planning Director James Lee, drew the bulk of its support from 82 owners of large stores as the best way to help prevent further shrinkage of the $18 million assessed valuation of the business district.

Frank Remick, owner of Remick's store, told the hearing that 23 years ago his tax bill was $6,226 while in 1962 he had to pay $42,259, a figure that represented 42 per cent of the store's total income.

Under the plan, all property on the west side of Hancock St. from the Central Building around Granite St. to Upland Rd. would be taken for parking purposes. Other landtaking would include property up to the Robert Burns statue on School St.

The enlarged parking plan drew the opposition of former City Councilor Laurence Curtin, who said: "Who's to say where the limit is? Do we want the business area to become one vast parking area?"

READ BOOKS, MANN URGES

Dr. Edward S. Mann suggested that his fellow School Committee members read some of the textbooks they are called upon to approve, particularly the "controversial" texts in the field of social science.

The suggestion was defended by Committee member Frank Anselmo but strongly criticized by members Charles T. Sweeney and Dr. Charles Dierf, who explained that the books already were carefully read by department heads. "This smacks of censorship," said Dierf.

REMOVE QUARRY HAZARDS

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa planned a meeting with the three owners of a West Quincy quarry in which two youths recently perished in a rock slide in an effort to remove the hazard.

Rep. James R. McIntyre said the State DPW had informed him that a 10-inch granite curb will be installed on the Southeast Expressway to prevent vehicles from driving into Swingle's Quarry.

QJC Alumni Assn. Holds Annual Brunch

The Quincy Junior College Alumni Association held its Third Annual Commencement Brunch recently.

Primary goal of the association is to give financial aid and support to the students and the college.

Through fundraisers and various functions throughout the year the Alumni was able to give $3,000 in scholarships to students during the 1983-1984 school year.

Also in keeping with this tradition, the association presented Dr. O. Clayton Johnson, president of QJC with a scholarship named in his honor for the 1984-1985 school year. The Alumni Association will be holding several fundraising functions throughout the coming year.

All graduates who are interested in joining the association should contact Dr. Linda Wilson, Dean of Student Services, Quincy Jr. College, at 786-8709.

QCH Auxiliary Contribute $35,115 To Hospital

Marion DeSantis, president of the Quincy City Hospital's Women's Auxiliary, announced at the annual meeting that the auxiliary has contributed some $35,115 to the hospital.

During the meeting at the Quincy Neighborhood Club, Violet Faulkner listed net earnings of $21,500 for the Cherry Gift Shop and Hazel Genevieve reported $1,943.20 was realized from the annual Thanksmas Fair.

Carol Herbai reported that $1,312.45 was collected for Heart Tag Day. The amount will be included in the $9,000 voted by the auxiliary board to purchase two non-invasive blood pressure monitoring machines and 12 cardiac chairs for use in the intensive care unit.

Invited head table guests included Mark Mundy, hospital director; Maureen Bisognano, Director of Patient Services; the Rev. Maureen Young and Emma Hassan, retiring Director of Volunteers.

Mark O'Toole, vocalist and entertainer, provided the program.

New Maternity Visiting Hours At S. S. Hospital

South Shore Hospital, South Weymouth, will introduce new visiting hours for its maternity unit beginning Sunday, July 1.

The time from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. daily will be reserved solely for visits from grandparents and siblings of newborns. Members of the general public will be welcome to visit from 7 to 8 p.m. nightly.

Susetta Harrington, maternity unit supervisor, said the new visiting hours will permit grandparents and brothers and sisters to enjoy a private family time with newborns in the mother's room as a part of the hospital's emphasis on family centered care. According to Miss Harrington, another benefit of the new visiting hours is that mothers will be more rested for the return home with newborns.

As a regional hospital serving residents of 20 towns, South Shore Hospital has the largest maternity service in the area. In 1983, almost 2,000 babies were born at the hospital. Fifty-nine of those babies were from Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We all know July 4th is a special date in history. It is a date that means many things to many people. Would it not seem proper on this July 4th to look back and review our progress; a progress unmatched in history by any country in any time or era? Would it not seem especially proper to recall the words of John Adams on our first July 4th? His words were—"This is our day of deliverance. With solemn acts of devotion to God we ought to commemorate it, from this time forward forevermore."

Traditional flag waving, fireworks, and political speeches are fine. An excellent idea. They have always and probably always will arouse emotional patriotism. But is it not sad that through the years, the words of John Adams for "solemn acts of devotion to God" seem to have lost impact or significance? Can anyone dispute that indifference to our religious heritage COULD be a major cause for our fears, frustrations and failures?...

S. Quincy Church Youths To Take Part In Workcamp Mission

Young people from First Presbyterian Church in Quincy will participate in a week-long workcamp mission with residents in Bonne County, West Va. from July 8 to 14.

The youths will participate in the Coal County Workcamp, sponsored by GROUP, the magazine for Christian youth groups.

Work projects will be coordinated by the Boone County Community Organization in Madison, West Virginia.

Youths will come from across the country to construct, repair, and weatherize family homes. Local community workers describe the area as having desperate needs.

Many of the elderly, poor and handicapped need help with projects that they cannot do themselves.

About 400 young people and their adult leaders throughout the U.S. representing several denominations will participate in the workcamp.

"These youths are paying all of their own expenses for food, lodging, tools and building materials as well as volunteering a full work week," said Coal County Workcamp Director John Shaw. "The purpose of the workcamp is to help young people show their Christian faith by working together to help others."

All work projects will be done under adult supervision.

Six person crews will be assigned according to the crew member's skills and the needs of a specific project.

Evening sessions at the workcamp will include cultural exchange programs and activities in the Madison area.

Young people making the trip are Jennifer Butman, Alison Colville, Lindsay Fee, Kristin O'Keefe, Todd Richmond and Amy Willoughby.

Carol Mayer and Larry Baskin, assistant pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will accompany the youth as adult leaders.

INTRUDER IN THE HOUSE

If you sense that someone has forced entry into your house, do not turn on the lights. With a light behind you, you will make a perfect target. As a safety precaution, if possible, have a telephone by your bed. If you do not, go quickly through the dark to your phone, dial "0" and tell the operator your address and that you need help immediately.

Police advise that if you are awakened at night by an intruder, do not try to apprehend him. He might be armed. Instead, lie still, observe carefully, and at the first chance, call the police.

Having a safety room in the house is a good idea, although most people will never have to use it. The room - it can be any room in the house - should have a telephone and a strong inside lock. Everyone in the family should be instructed that in case an intruder enters the house, to run for that room.

If you have a basement with windows or doors, have a lock on the door at the top of the basement stairs. Burglars often break into the basement, and a lock at the top of the stairs may prevent them from entering the living quarters, or give you time to summon the police.

Morrisette, Wollaston Hingham Tied For Top In Zone 6

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, hoping to repeat as Zone 6 division champion, is currently in a great battle with Wollaston, enjoying its best start in years, and Hingham.

Following last Friday's games the three teams were tied for first place with 5-2 records.

Brintree, a solid favorite to repeat as overall Zone 6 champ, is 3-0 in its division with three cinch victories using the same lineup which recently won the state schoolboy championship.

Wollaston appears to have the best chance of winning its division crown with its outstanding pitching, although Morrisette and Hingham both have well-balanced clubs which will be hard to beat.

Morrisette will host Holbrook, at Adams Field, Wollaston will be at Hingham and Quincy at Weymouth Friday at 6 o'clock. Wollaston will host Weymouth at Adams at 6 and Quincy will meet Morrisette at 8 at Adams Monday and Morrisette will be home to Weymouth at 8 at Adams, and Wollaston will play at Canton and Quincy at Milton at 6 next Wednesday.

Morrisette, after taking a

4-2 lead in the fifth inning at Randolph last Friday, fell apart in the sixth and handed the home team four runs as Morrisette lost, 7-4.

Three throwing errors helped Randolph to its runs in that inning, combining with two hits, two walks and a wild pitch.

Mike Joyce, who relieved starter Paul Ratti in the fifth, was the victim, although he deserved a better fate.

Morrisette had numerous scoring chances but three Randolph double plays pulled pitcher John Panasuk out of trouble. The first of these in the first inning came with the bases full and only one out.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first when Dan Kelly walked, moved up on a passed ball and scored on Chris Bunker's single. Jack Bolster also singled and Scott Mele reached on a fielder's choice. Bolster was safe at second when the umpire ruled the second baseman was off the bag. But, with the bases loaded and one out, Tom Ryan hit the ball hard but was victim of a 6-4-3 double play.

Randolph scored twice in the bottom half of the inning on two walks, a throwing error, a late throw to third base and a single.

There was no more scoring until the fourth when Bolster tripled to deep left field and scored on Mele's sacrifice fly to center.

Morrisette scored twice in the fifth when Rich Brooks singled to deep shortstop, Ratti singled to right and Kelly singled home Brooks. Ratti stole third base and Kelly stole second and, after Danny Shea popped out, Bunker was walked intentionally. Bolster singled hard to left scoring Ratti but Mele fouled to the catcher and Ryan fled to right.

In Randolph's half Ratti walked three batters and a successful squeeze play cut the gap to 4-3. In Morrisette's seventh Kelly, Shea and Bolster all singled but no runs resulted when Kelly was caught in a run-down.

Earlier in the week Morrisette defeated Hingham, 4-1, as Jack Outerbridge won his third game in a row. He was in trouble several times but three double plays bailed him out.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the first when Bunker reached on a fielder's choice, took second on an error and scored on Bolster's line single. In the

March Of Dimes Celebrity Golf Classic At Wollaston

The Massachusetts Bay Chapter will host its fourth annual March of Dimes National Football League Players Association Celebrity Golf Classic Monday, July 16, at the Wollaston Golf Club in Milton.

This annual March of Dimes benefit is being sponsored by Miller High Life, distributed locally by the Burke Distributing Corporation in Randolph, and also sponsored by Zayre Corporation.

New England Patriots Quarterback Steve Grogan, N.F.L.P.A. representative, met recently with employees of many Greater Boston companies to kick off plans for the upcoming Classic.

The public is invited to attend. Each foursome of golfers will be matched by blind draw with an NFL player or other celebrity for a day of 18 holes of scramble format golf.

Golfers will receive a number of other benefits, including a continental breakfast, a buffet and Miller High Life.

Thirty celebrities will play golf for the March of Dimes, including Steve Grogan, Rick Sanford, Tony Collins, Steve Nelson, John Smith, and Most Tatu of the Patriots.

Also joining the celebrity roster will be Loren Owens and Wally Brine of WYBF.

FM, Dave Maynard of WBZ Radio, and former Patriot Jon Morris.

Persons wishing tickets or information on the Celebrity Golf Classic should call the March of Dimes at 329-1360 in Dedham, or write the March of Dimes, 805 Providence Highway, Dedham, 02026.

Tigers Defeat Mets For Junior Farm Title

The Tigers, winners of the American League, defeated the National League champion Mets, 6-2, to win the Junior Farm League title.

The Tigers had defeated the Indians, 8-1 and 21-15, in the first round of play, while the Mets, winning their first division title in five years, defeated the Cubs in three games, winning the opener, 6-5, losing the second, 7-4, and winning a wild third game, 14-13.

The Tigers-Mets game featured outstanding pitching as the Tigers' Mike Patch and Chris Bentley struck out 16 as did the Mets' Jason Simon and Steve Lourd.

The Mets opened the scoring with two runs in the top of the first in singles by Loud and Simon, but were shut out the rest of the way.

The Tigers came back with four in their half of the first when Steve Miller walked, Jim Ford tripled, Chris Bentley walked, Mike Patch singled, Jamie White reached on a fielder's choice, and the last run scored on a bases-loaded

There was no more scoring until the fifth when the Tigers added two runs on RBI singles by Patch and Tommy Byrne, driving in Ford and Bentley.

third Morrisette added two as Hingham committed three errors and added a passed ball. Paul Marshall led off by reaching on an error. Kelly's fly was dropped in center field. Marshall scored when Shea's grounder was thrown away and Shea scored when Bolster delivered one of his three singles up the middle. Morrisette scored one in the sixth when Denis Cronin singled and Kelly tripled to right-center.

Wollaston appeared on its way to its sixth win in a row Friday after an opening day loss but Mass. Truck of Weymouth came up with four runs in the seventh to pull out a 6-5 victory.

Wollaston had taken the lead with four runs in the fourth inning with Ken Runge and Paul Cahill having the key hits.

In the seventh a two-run triple and an error provided Mass. Truck with the winning runs.

Steve Hogan took the loss in relief of Steve Higgins. Despite the darkness and no lights on at Adams Field, the game was allowed to continue, although it was very hard to see the ball.

The night before Wollaston had scored three runs in the seventh to come from behind and edge Canton, 4-3.

Bob Campbell drove in the winning run with an infield hit with two outs. Mark Hubbard had tied the game with a two-run single. Vin Christiani got the win with three innings of shutout relief.

Earlier in the week, following two rainouts, Wollaston rolled over Randolph, 9-3. Hogan went the distance, striking out five for his second win.

Higgins went 3-for-4 with a triple and a home run and Rob McElaney had a home run.

Wollaston has six excellent pitchers in Hogan, Higgins and John Comeau from North Quincy High, Mike Notarangelo and Joe Conti from Quincy High and Christian of the U. of Massachusetts. This is one of the outstanding pitching corps in Zone 6.

Campbell of Quincy High and Massasoit Community College and Chris Rossi of North Quincy are the catchers.

The infielders are Cahill of North Quincy, Steve Constan and Conti of Quincy, Brian Gibbons, Hogan, Hubbard and Runge of North Quincy, and McElaney of Wilbraham Academy, and the outfielders are Higgins, Bob Kozlowski, Greg McGlance and Keith Smith of North Quincy and Notarangelo and Bob Pitts of Quincy.

Quincy, which is having its troubles with only one win in six games, turned in one of its better performances but was edged by Randolph, 4-3.

Quincy scored all its runs in the fourth on two walks, a Randolph error and an RBI single by Dan DiGravio.

Wings Bow To Saugus In State Tourney

The Quincy Youth Soccer League's traveling girls' under-16 team, the Wings, which won the South Shore League title in their first year of competition, reached the semifinals of the state tournament before losing to Saugus, 3-0.

The team placed fourth in the state in Division II.

Twelve of the 15 players will return next season to compete in the same age bracket under coaches Ann Conley and Jean Doherty.

In order to qualify for the states, the Wings had to defeat Abington in a playoff after both teams had finished the regular season with 14 points. The Quincy girls won in a five-shot shootout after playing two overtime periods.

"No one expected us to go as far as we did," said Conley. "This was the first year Quincy had a travel team and it was real challenging for the kids.

Most of the players are a lot younger than the other teams and they did an excellent job all season."

Junior Frisbee Disc Contest At Playgrounds

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that participants in Quincy playgrounds programs can enter one of the longest running national youth activity programs, the World Junior Frisbee disc contest.

The contest is co-sponsored by the makers of Wheaties cereal, and the Quincy Recreation Department.

Youngsters will compete at their Quincy playgrounds in two age categories, 11 and under, and 12 to 15. Boys and girls who achieve qualifying scores advance to sectional and regional finals. One overall champion from each region will compete in the World Finals. This year's World Finals will be held at Sea World in Orlando, Florida.

The competitive format for the Wheaties 1984 World Junior Frisbee disc contest reflects the realistic level of performance evaluation in disc sports. Local and state competition will feature throwing for accuracy and distance, and catching techniques, however, Disc Golf, Maximum Time Aloft, and Freestyle will be added at the World Finals.

Practice competition will be held on Thursday, July 5 at all neighborhood playgrounds. The city championship will be held at Russell Park July 10 at 10 a.m.

Banks, Wills Stengel Praise Dick Donovan

National League batters had high praise for Dick Donovan of Quincy, the Chicago White Sox right hander who allowed them two hits and one run in the two innings he worked in the all star game in Washington. The Nationals won, 3-1.

"That Donovan is real tough on right handed hitters. He doesn't give you too much to hit at," said Ernie Banks, the Chicago Cubs' second baseman, the first hitter to face Donovan and his first out in the seventh inning.

"He's mean, very mean," said Maury Wills, the Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop. "I had my fill of him in the World Series. I'm glad he's in the other league."

"He not only has good stuff but he has the control to make it effective," said Casey Stengel, a coach on the National League squad. "But anything Donovan does doesn't surprise me because I saw too much of him when I was in that other league."

MORRISSEYS PRACTICE

The Morrissey Club Steelers, defending champions of the New England Football Conference, held their first practice of the season at Upper Merrymount Park under Coach Dan Mahoney in preparation for their opener Aug. 25 against the Franklin-Patterson, N.J., Miners.

Mahoney said the team will offer a special $5 season ticket, good for any six of the eight home games, and will increase the admission price to $1.50 a game to cover the increased cost of operating the franchise.

THIRD NO-HITTER

Ray Gregory pitched his third no-hit, no-run game of the season and hit his eighth home run to lead Lincoln's to a 10-0 victory over Kiwanis in a Quincy Junior League game. Paul Bandini hit his third home run for Lincoln's.

SECOND NO-HITTER

Tom Treacy hurled his second no-hitter of the season as his Doyle and Long team blanked the VFW, 5-0, in the Quincy Babe Ruth League. Treacy had given up only one hit in three games, his last three starts being a no-hitter, a one-hitter and a no-hitter.

MORRISSETTE WINS

Back to back doubles by John MacDonald and Bobby Mina in the sixth inning produced the winning run as the Morrisette Junior Legion baseball team upset Stoughton, 3-2, to remain in the fight for the lead in the Zone 6 standings.

Cody Wins 7th For Bryan, Runs Strikeouts To 51

Bryan VFW Post continues to lead the Babe Ruth League's American League with a 12-3 record.

Chris Cody remained undefeated after pitching Bryan to a 4-3 victory over Local 1139. Cody is 7-0 with 51 strikeouts in 50 innings.

Local 1139 took a 1-0 lead in the first on hits by Steve Haggas and Rob McDonald. Dan Santry singled in another run in the second to make it 2-0.

Bryan picked up a run in the bottom of the second on hits by Michael Malone and Billy Mulken.

Local 1139 stretched its lead to 3-1 in the third on Mark Bilton's RBI single. Cody then shut the door and pitched shutout ball the rest of the way.

He received outstanding defensive support from his mates. Catcher Steve Austin picked a throw off second base and runner out another trying to steal. A fast around-the-horn double play from Gary Silverman to Rob Cinquegrano and Mulken also helped out.

Bryan battled back and tied the score in the bottom of the sixth on a two-run double by Cody. Joe Innello had a single in the inning. Bryan won it in the seventh as Silverman opened with a single and moved to second on Cinquegrano's sacrifice bunt. Mark Molloy attempted to bunt his way on but pitcher Dan Santry made a fine play to nip him at first. Silverman moved to third on the play and scored the winning run on Innello's infield single.

Pitcher Santry and catcher Ron McDonald were outstanding for Local 1139.

Jaehnig, Manets Eye Playoff Spots

In the East Division of the Ridge Racquet Club Summer Basketball League, two Quincy teams, the Jaehnig Chiopracitic Club and North Quincy Manets, are currently in a heated battle for playoff positions.

Jaehnig, coming off a big upset win over league-leading Hanna Club (8-1) is in second place at 8-2, while the Manets, led by 6-10 Chip Bunker, are 7-3. The top four teams in each division will qualify for the playoffs which begin Monday, July 9.

In the West Division WDOF of Dorchester remains unbeaten (10-0) and has a three-game lead. The standings: East: Hanna Club, 8-1; Jaehnig, 8-2; NQ Manets, 7-3; Miller AC, 7-4; Braintree, 5-5; Smurfs, 1-8; Brady's, 1-9; Rangers, 0-9.

West: WDOF, 10-0; Cutters, 7-3; Troubled Shooters, 1-5-3; Pete's Pizza, 6-5; Viking Club, 5-4; Blue Star, 3-7; Raiders, 3-8; Busters, 2-8.

Hershey Track, Field Winners Announced

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Track Club co-sponsored the local competition in the Hershey National Track and Field Competition.

The meet at Veteran's Memorial Stadium is the first step in a competition that includes district, state and national finals held at Hershey, Pennsylvania. In past years a number of Quincy competitors have advanced to participate in the national finals.

Recreation Director Barry Welch praised the volunteer coaches of the Quincy Track Club whose services allow Quincy youngsters to participate in the program.

"For many years these volunteers headed by Jeff Hennessey have provided opportunities in track and field for hundreds of Quincy participants, however, their dedication was never more evident than this year when a severe thunderstorm left the girls' meet questionable," Welch said. "Manning brooms and shovels these adults swept the entire track, and made the event possible." The boy and girl winners for Quincy were:

New 'Musical' Program On WJDA

WJDA radio in Quincy has been named as the exclusive outlet in the Boston area radio market for the new weekly three-hour "Musical" entertainment program.

"Musical" features the great hits of Broadway and movie musicals past and present. For nostalgia buffs, there's a once-a-show special trip down memory lane with music, trivia and special moments from musicals of the 1930's and 1940's.

Each week the program features a special guest star from Broadway or Hollywood. Carol Channing, Robert Goulet, Mary Martin and Howard Keel have been recently featured.

"Musical" is hosted by award-winning Los Angeles disc-jockey, Chuck Southcutt. The program is nationally syndicated by multi-media entertainment corporation.

WJDA general manager.

James D. Asher Jr., in making the announcement, called "Musical" an enjoyable, quality program with something for everyone.

"Musical" is presented every Sunday afternoon over WJDA (1300 AM) from 1:05 to 4 p.m.

Rockingham Park Trip For Seniors

2 QHS Students Receive LaBrecque Award

Bryan Galligan and Karl Johnson, both 9th grade students at Quincy High School, were tied for excellence in the annual LaBrecque Award of a $100 Savings Bond in the annual history essay contest of the Quincy Historical Society. Contestants prepared an essay through personal interviews regarding life during the 1939 depression, using interview skills. Three different people had to be interviewed; an employed person, a homemaker and a student. The format of the contest allowed original historic information from people who lived during the Depression rather than retelling known historic facts.

The LaBrecque Award is given in memory of Richard T. LaBrecque, a local newspaper writer, whose interest in the history of Quincy was evidenced by his numerous articles on the subject.

Quincy Camp Fire Holds Grand Council Fire

Quincy Camp Fire recently held its Grand Council Fire concluding citywide activities for the summer. Theme of the ceremony was "The Spirit of the Flame".

Youth members entered to the "WoHelo" call and sat in the traditional council circle around the fire. A member from each club came forward to place a decorated log on the fire and tell how the club had kept the spirit of Camp Fire's flame burning during the past year.

Quincy's first Sparks (kindergarten) club came forward to receive their Blue Bird pins from their leader Paula Gordon. Graduating from Sparks to Blue Birds were Sara Gordon, Kristy Cheney, Leah Scofield, Amy Wysocki, Shannon Hanley and Julie Dorsey. Each one had completed the four segments of the Sparks program which included cooking, dramatic play, outdoors and creative arts.

Blue Birds graduating to Adventure level came forward with their parents for the traditional Fly Up ceremony. This year's graduates were Janette Archer, Erin Downing, Kelly Meade, Tracey O'Sullivan, Regina Murphy, Mary Ellen Eddy, Shawna Bulman, Sarah Nelson, Jessica Murphy, JoAnn Sprague and Rachel O'Malley. Each one received her Camp Fire tie and slide, the Fly Up certificate and emblem and then lit a candle to symbolize the light of the Camp Fire flame continuing through their future years.

Donna Gelsomini, in a ceremonial Indian gown, was presented with her 10-year tenure emblem and charm and a Torch Bearer in Water Sports. Donna, a senior at North Quincy High, had worked three years to receive the Torch Bearer, doing such things as taking Red Cross Water Safety classes, working as assistant swim instructor at Camp Kolah and as an aide at Quincy beaches during the summers.

Each of the Camp Fire youth members received an emblem of the flame after the recessional and an individual motto for the year ahead.

Leaders Stephanie Mahn and Gail Freel organized the event. Town Coordinator Jan Burton led the singing. Adventurer Jennifer Mahn was Keeper of the Flame during the ceremony and Adventurer Lisa Dymont led the procession and recessional on the tom tom.

SUMMERFEST is underway with free concerts Wednesdays 7 to 9 p.m. through August at McIntyre Mall, Quincy Sq. The Northeastern Navy Show Band opened the series sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Cultural Commission.

Alan Mallock Tours With U-Mass Choir

Alan R. Mallock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mallock of Whitney Rd., Quincy, recently toured with the University of Massachusetts at Amherst Chamber Choir.

The 42-member choir, one of four vocal ensembles at the University, toured for 3 days in Eastern Massachusetts.

The group performed at

ALAN MALLOCK
Quincy Market, and at schools and churches throughout the state.

Their repertoire included folk songs, spirituals, Ernest Toch's "Valse" for speaking chorus, Benjamin Britten's "Festival Te Deum", and Paul Hindemith's "Six Chansons."

A 1980 graduate of Quincy High School, Mallock is a sophomore at UMass/Amherst majoring in vocal education.

City Council Clears Tabled Yearend Items

The City Council last week passed an appropriation order of $56,928 for the purchase of eight compact automobiles for the various city departments.

The cars will be apportioned three to the Building Department, and one each to the Cemetery, Park, Wire, Weights and Measures and Plumbing Inspectors Departments.

The appropriation was one of 11 year end orders that had been tabled at the June 18 meeting as the Council sought to convince Mayor Francis X. McCauley to increase his public safety budget.

The items were brought back from the table Thursday and eight of them were passed, most of them opposed by Councilor Joanne Condon, one of the leaders of the public safety movement.

The orders passed included:

- $6,940 to replace the boiler at the North Quincy Library.

- $20,000 to paint the Central Fire Station.

- $526 for an air conditioner for the Highway Department, Council President James A. Sheets and Condon opposed.

- $56,342 to pay back bills for lighting to Mass Electric, Councilor John J. Lydon Jr. opposed.

- $5,000 to replenish the Fire Department's fire watch account.

- $5,000 for the assessors to update records from the building Department. Condon opposed.

- $3,200 for the assessors to train their staff. Condon opposed.

Three of the orders were sent to the Finance Committee for discussion: $711,678 for capital outlay in the Sewer, Water, Drain Department.

$50,000 for the assessors.

A special act authorizing the city to appropriate an overlay deficit over a period of 15 years in the General Dynamics tax case.

Golden Supports Tax Reduction For Seniors

Richard D. Golden, a candidate for the state senate, has reiterated his support of a tax reduction plan for the unearned income of senior citizens.

"I support a reduction in the unearned income tax to correct an inequity in our current income tax system," he said.

Golden said unearned income is now taxed at double the rate of earned income and he said he supports a reduction for seniors to apply to the first $15,000.

"With the age of the majority increasing, a tax reduction of this kind would continue to benefit more people each year," said Golden.

"It would also act as an incentive to bolster the capital accumulation necessary for economic growth. More and more people are relying on personal investments for their retirement years and they shouldn't be penalized when they begin to realize those investments."

Golden noted that the proposed budget before the Legislature is more than $8 billion, an increase after inflation of over 8 per cent.

"As state senator," he said, "I would guard against such unbridled governmental growth."

"However, in boom years, like we are experiencing, my first concern would be for the taxpayer. Correcting tax inequities such as this would give the state a much more realistic picture of future revenue to operate from."

"When state revenues are high, government's concern should be with taxpayer relief, not with how to spend the extra money."

"If elected I will use my expertise in the state budget to ensure sound fiscal planning of the taxpayers' dollars. I will aggressively pursue efficiency and effectiveness in state programs."

"Economy of resources and getting more for the dollar should be the goal of state government. It is my goal and my commitment to the people of our district."

Old Adams School Sold For $350,000

The old Adams School in South Quincy has been sold for $350,000 to the Adams School Associates, who plan to develop the 71-year-old building into 50 condominium units.

Adams School Associates was designated to develop the school in 1982 but the sale was held up by the state ban on construction in the Fort Hill-South Quincy sewer district.

The developers solved the problem by agreeing to fix the existing city sewer lines in order to reduce ground water infiltration. This work has been completed and a sewer permit granted.

Papers were passed on the sale at ceremonies last Thursday in the Mayor's office at City Hall.

St. John's C.Y.O. To Hold Carnival

St. John's C.Y.O. will hold a carnival July 11 to 14, 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. behind Quincy High School at Faxon Field.

There will be amusements, games and food.

Proceeds will go towards trips to Europe and Florida.

PAINT BEFORE SELLING?

QUESTION: What advice do you offer on the subject of painting your home before putting it on the market?

ANSWER: If the outside is badly in need of paint, it may be worth your time to paint it before you start showing the house. Chipped and faded paint is not only unsightly, but may discourage a sale. Most people do not want to move in and have to undertake such a big job. The same advice goes for the inside. No point to completely repainting or papering your walls since the buyer may want to select his own colors or patterns. However, if a particular room looks especially shabby, it will be worth your effort to paper or paint it.

HOUSE BADLY IN NEED OF PAINTING will discourage sale at the best price.

City Of Quincy

Massachusetts

Office of The Mayor

Welcome To Historic Quincy

As the Mayor of Quincy, it gives me great pride and pleasure to welcome you to the City of Presidents.

Quincy's Historic Trail is not a road by which one follows history; but rather a way by which one may experience contact with a rich and varied history.

Quincy, Massachusetts conjures up many images to many people. The rich history, the historical sites, the source of granite for famous structures, the building place of many ships, the home town of famous people; all of these are distinctions that belong to Quincy alone.

It has been over 350 years since the first Europeans settled in what is now Quincy. Over this period of time there has been a change from an open area occupied by a few Indians and a small trading post, to a city of 86,000 persons. Quincy's history is one of continuing change. Quincy has kept pace with the world around it, but has retained a distinctive identity that is based on its proud past.

In the pages ahead, you will read about places and men and women who have played important roles in the history of our city and country. I think you will agree with me that Quincy is rich, indeed, in historic heritage. I urge you to visit our City Hall, both old and new, and while you are in Quincy Square, you should visit the First Parish Church, and a recently declared U.S. Landmark, Hancock Cemetery, which are all within walking distance of one another.

I hope your visit to Quincy will be a rewarding and memorable learning experience.

Sincerely yours,

Francis X. McCauley

Restoration Project Continues

John Adams Birthplace Open To Public

It was probably built in the late 17th or early 18th Century for less than $1,000 in the pounds of the day and the clapboards were hand-hewn from trees that grew in its fields.

But when the U.S. National Park Service gets through restoring the birthplace of John Adams, the second president of the United States, the price tag probably will have soared to $100,000.

The John Adams Birthplace, which peers over the shoulder of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace in Franklin St., South Quincy, has been under reconstruction off and on for the past five years.

It is open to the public this year for the first time since reconstruction began.

"There is a lot left to do," says Wilhelmina Harris, superintendent of the Adams National Historic Site. "The house is virtually unfinished. We had hoped to be done in June but the money ran out."

The only furnishings in the house when it was opened to the public in June were a table, a bench and two chairs in the kitchen, and a chest of drawers in another room.

"New money will be coming in on Oct. 1," says Mrs. Harris, "but we don't know how much. We are shooting for John Adams' birthday (Oct. 30) to have more furnishings, at least on order."

The pine clapboards of the John Adams Birthplace are as yet unpainted and the USNPS insists, based on new research, that the house will remain that way, despite the fact that John Adams was known to have preferred it white.

For more than 80 years they were the little red farmhouses at the foot of Penn's Hill. But research turned up the fact that Abigail Adams, the wife of the second president, wanted them "stone" and white in color.

Since what Abigail wanted, Abigail usually got, in the summer of 1980, the John Quincy Adams Birthplace was repainted to Abigail's taste, the "stone" color determined to be a sort of off-white mixed especially for the occasion from a late 18th Century formula.

The John Adams Birthplace was painted white so that both houses would look as they did in 1807, the year the last Adams lived in them, but later research indicated it was unpainted. Mrs. Harris, an authority on the Adams family, hopes the USNPS will change its mind again.

The birthplaces, parts of which date back to the 17th Century, were taken over by the National Park Service on May 1, 1979, after years of semi-neglect due to lack of restoration and maintenance funds.

The John Quincy Adams Birthplace re-opened in 1982 for the first time in three years after undergoing a $175,000 rehabilitation faithful to the lives of the prominent family that lived there.

If you close your eyes and give your imagination full rein you can see them now as they were more than 200 years ago.

There is Abigail Adams in the new pink gingham dress. There is the curly-haired infant, Thomas

JOHN ADAMS BIRTHPLACE, decked out in a brand new set of as yet unpainted clapboards, is open to the public this summer for the first time since reconstruction began.

Boylston Adams, bouncing on his father's knee. And there is John Adams, home from the Continental Congress in Philadelphia for the first time in a year, sitting at the table drinking a cup of tea.

The setting, right down to the pewter plates and candlesticks, is reproduced faithfully in the corner room of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace.

The furnishings of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace are precise reproductions of those that were in the house when the second president lived there. The originals are at the Old House, the Adams National Historic Site, from which they cannot be removed under the ownership agreement with the Adams family.

The most interesting room in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace is John Adams' old law office, in which the elder Adams, James Bowdoin and Samuel Adams drafted the Massachusetts State Constitution, the model on which the U.S. Constitution was based.

"The law office is furnished pretty much as John Adams had it," says Mrs. Harris, once secretary to Brooks Adams, the last member of the family to live in the Old House. Adams, the last member of the family to live in the Old House.

There is the hutch table on which he wrote the State Constitution; the bookcase filled with books that probably were there in John Adams' day, judging by an inventory of his law library; his old writing desk and two chairs that were copies from those in his second law office in Boston.

Pastels of Abigail and John, originally done in Salem, were photographically reproduced by photographer George Dow and now hang in Abigail's sitting room. The originals are in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Abigail's old kitchen cabinet was discovered serving as a bookcase in the Old House.

"Brooks Adams always thought that books could go anywhere," explains Mrs. Harris.

The cabinet was reproduced and installed in the kitchen of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace along with copies of the blue china that John purchased when he was emissary to Holland.

"The furnishings lack only Abigail's writing desk," says Mrs. Harris. "But we know where it is. It's owned by an Adams descendant in Oregon and we have permission to reproduce it."

The Adams Cottages

Our Only Father - Son Presidents Born Here

It was the North Precinct of Braintree then, a sprawling tract of woods and farmlands on the gently rolling hills some 10 miles south of the Boston Stone along the winding Coast Road to Plymouth.

Something less than 1,500 people lived in the North, Middle and South Precincts of Braintree in the year 1735 and two of them were Deacon John Adams, 44, farmer and cordwainer, and his wife, Susanna, 26.

Their home was a weathered gray farmhouse with a high peaked roof and attached lean-to kitchen set on seven acres of farmland at roughly Milepost 11 of the Coast Road, just where it turned up the wooded slopes of Penn's Hill toward the Monaquot River ford.

He was a pillar of his rural community. Mr. Adams was, a deacon in the First Parish Church, a lieutenant in the Braintree militia and a town constable with a forceful personality and tact that enabled him to collect taxes from his neighbors.

He was a hard-working farmer whose cider was acknowledged best in town, he worked in leather during the winter months, and he had an eye on an adjoining piece of farmland, 9½ acres owned by the Billings brothers, complete with a farmhouse similar to his own.

Susanna Adams was a Boylston of

Brookline, socially a cut above her husband, and perhaps there were moments in the simple house at the foot of Penn's Hill when she thought of the home of her uncle, the noted Dr. Zabdiel Boylston of Brookline, whose furniture came all the way from London.

Their first child, a son who was named John for his father, was born in the southeast bedroom of the farmhouse on Oct. 19, 1735 (Old Style). He would become the second president of the United States.

Deacon John purchased the house next door for 500 pounds in 1744 and it was ready 20 years later when young John moved in with his brand new bride, the former Abigail Smith, the preacher's sparkling daughter from the next town of Weymouth.

Their second child, a son who was named John Quincy Adams after his great grandfather, Col. John Quincy, was born there on July 11, 1767. He would become the sixth president of the United States.

The junction of Franklin St., Independence Ave., and President Ave. in South Quincy is the only place in the country where the birthplaces of two presidents who are father and son stand side by side in the same city.

The precise age of the two cottages at the foot of Penn's Hill is not known.

When the John Adams Birthplace was retored by the Daughters of Revolution in 1897, a brick bearing the date 1681 was discovered under the southeast corner, and the house was known to have been occupied by one Joseph Penniman in that year.

And a man named Samuel Belcher was living in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace as early as 1663, when it was little more than a one-room shack with fireplace. It was built to its present size in 1716, as evidenced by a date brick found in the new fireplace.

According to Henry Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams, no member of the family lived in the cottages after 1818, although ownership remained in the Adams family until 1940.

Both houses were restored by the Adams Realty Trust, the John Quincy Adams Birthplace in 1896 at a cost of $1,650 and the John Adams Birthplace a year later at an expense of $515.49.

They were presented to the city of Quincy in 1940 and supervised by the Quincy Historical Society until they were turned over to the U.S. National Park Service in 1979.

The Adams Birthplaces are at 133 and 141 Franklin St. They are open daily, including Sundays and holidays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Oct. 15 with guided tours at no charge.

The Quincy Presidential Trail

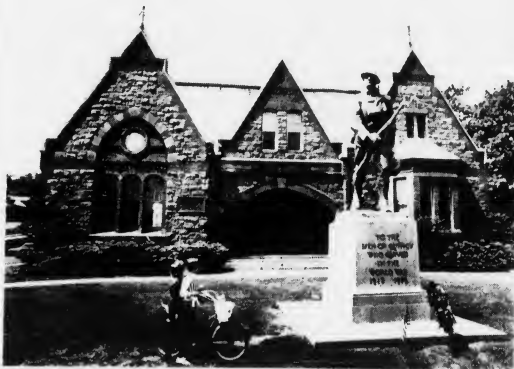

The Adams Birthplaces are an important stop on the newly designated Quincy Presidential Trail, a 10.5 mile route that takes the visitor through the 17th and 18th Century locales associated with the lives of the Adams family.

Historic sites along the trail include the Adams Mansion, Dorothy Quincy Homestead, Adams Academy, First Parish Church, Adams Crypt, City Hall, Hancock Cemetery, the Birthplaces, Abigail Adams Cairn, First Commercial Railroad, First Ironworks, Col. Josiah Quincy House and Moswetuset Hummock, most of which are described in this magazine.

The Quincy Presidential Trail is a National Recreation Trail, the seventh in the state of Massachusetts and the 625th in the nation.

ADAMS MANSION NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE

The Adams Mansion

Summer White House And Home Of 2 Presidents

Josiah Quincy, the one who built railroads around New England and founded the cooperative bank movement in Massachusetts, was in his boyhood a frequent visitor to the mansion where John Adams, the second president of the United States, lived in retirement.

Later, he wrote with wry amusement about Sunday dinner with the aging patriarch of the Adams clan and his wife, Abigail, a dinner that inevitably began with a thick pudding made from bailed corn meal.

"...it being thought desirable to take the edge off one's hunger before reaching the joint," wrote Quincy.

"Indeed, it was considered wise to stimulate the young to fill themselves with pudding, by the assurance that the boy who managed to eat the most of it should be helped most abundantly to the meat, which was to follow.

"It need not be said that neither the winner nor his competitors found much room for meat at the close of their contest; and so the domestic economy of the arrangement was very apparent."

Quincy, as a young Harvard law student, stopped by several times a week in summer to talk and read to the former President. He found the visits delightful. Indeed, the Adams of the cold and austere public men was never more relaxed and warm than he was at his country home in Quincy.

The original house, a small part of the present building, was built probably in 1731 by Major Leonard Vassall, a wealthy West Indian sugar planter who lived in Cambridge and apparently used it for a summer place.

His daughter, Mrs. Anna Borland, who was a Loyalist during the Revolution, abandoned the house to leave with the British forces when they evacuated Boston in 1776. For a while it was used as a haven for rebel refugees fleeing the war zones.

Mrs. Borland returned to reclaim the house after the Revolution and John Adams, then in Europe as the first American ambassador to London, purchased it for 600 pounds through the good offices of the Cotton Tufts of Weymouth, his wife Abigail's cousin.

The Adamsses were about to return to the United States after seven years abroad and Abigail was concerned that John's books and papers and the furnishings they had acquired in Europe would not fit into their old farmhouse at the foot of Penn's Hill where they lived before.

The deal was closed on Sept. 26, 1787, and the deed is still on file in the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds in which the Adams purchase is specified as a house, barn and other buildings on seven acres of land with some 76 acres more scattered around the North Precinct of Braintree.

There are indications that Abigail was at first disappointed with her purchase. It was a lot smaller than she remembered it.

"In height and breadth it feels like a wren's house," she wrote to her daughter, Abigail, the wife of Col. William S. Smith. "Let Col. Smith come without heels to his shoes or he will not be able to walk upright."

Abigail and John Adams moved into the house, which they named "Peacefield," after his retirement from the presidency in 1801 and lived there until they died.

It was from the "Old House," as the family called it, that John Adams carried on his long and increasingly warm correspondence with his old rival, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, who had succeeded him in the presidency. In retirement, they became firm friends as they outlasted their contemporaries.

"Thomas Jefferson lives," whispered John Adams as he lay dying in the Old House. He was wrong. Jefferson, in far away Monticello, Va., had preceded him in death by a few hours on the same day.

It was July 4, 1826, the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

The Old House which served as summer White House for two presidents, was home to four generations of the Adams family, the last, Brooks Adams, dying in February, 1927. It was taken over by the U.S. National Park Service in 1946 to become the Adams Mansion National Historic Site.

The site, located at 135 Adams St., is open to the public from April 19 to Nov. 10 daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is 50 cents with children under 16 admitted free.

The Adams Family

HENRY ADAMS (1583-1646) emigrated from England in 1638 and was granted 40 acres in Mount Wollaston (later Quincy).

2. JOSEPH ADAMS (1626-1694), son of Henry, farmer and maltster of Old Braintree.

3. JOSEPH ADAMS (1654-1737), son of Joseph, who married Hannah Bass, a granddaughter of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins.

4. JOHN ADAMS (1691-1761), son of Joseph, farmer and selectman of Old Braintree, known as Deacon John.

5. JOHN ADAMS (1735-1826), son of Deacon John and second President of the United States.

5a. SAMUEL ADAMS (1722-1803), revolutionary firebrand; great, great grandson of Henry and cousin of President John.

6. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS (1767-1848), son of John, sixth President of the United States.

7. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS (1807-1886), son of John Quincy, minister to Great Britain during the Civil War.

8. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS II (1833-1894), son of Charles Francis, state legislator and thrice candidate for governor of Massachusetts.

8a. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS II (1835-1915), son of Charles Francis, historian and founder of the Quincy school system.

8b. HENRY ADAMS (1838-1918), son of Charles Francis, author of "The Education of Henry Adams."

8c. BROOKS ADAMS (1848-1927), son of Charles Francis, the last Adams to live in the Old House in Quincy.

9. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS III (1866-1954), son of John Quincy II, mayor of Quincy and Secretary of the Navy under President Hoover.

10. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS IV (1910-), chairman of the board of Raytheon Co.

Hancock Cemetery

Patriots, Early Settlers, Intrigue Buried Here

Henry, the first Adams in Quincy, is buried there. So is the Rev. John Hancock, father of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence. And Col. John Quincy, for whom the city is named.

But of all the 800 graves in the Hancock Cemetery, the Old Burying Ground of Colonial Quincy, most intriguing is one marked by a tombstone bearing this cryptic epitaph:

"Erected to the memory of John R. Grieve: Died Nov. 12, 1850, age 22 years, and Hannah Banks, his wife, died Nov. 12, 1850, age 15 years. Both of Zanesville, Ohio. Deluded by the writings of A.J. Davis."

The mystery of John and Hannah has never been fully solved.

They came to Quincy in 1850, not as man and wife, but as male cousins, John Green and George Sands. They obtained work in a shoe factory but rarely left their lodgings on Elm St., spending long hours reading books on spiritualism.

Co-workers thought that George Sands looked frail, almost effeminate. It was widely suspected that "he" was a girl. A scheme was devised to test the theory.

One day at lunch one of the shoe workers tossed George an apple. A man would catch it by closing his legs; a woman by spreading her skirt. Guess what "George" did!

Humiliated, John and Hannah never went back to the factory. Nor did they ever return to the house on Elm St. Their frozen bodies were found next spring by rabbit hunters on Penn's Hill, locked in a loving embrace.

Several months later, the father of John Grieve arrived from Ohio to bury the young couple. It was he who directed the words to be chiselled on the headstone. He explained no further.

A.J. Davis was never identified for sure. But Andrew Jackson Davis, a spiritualist, hypnotist and faith healer, was then practicing in Boston.

Among the belongings found in the Elm St. lodging house were these words, written by 15-year-old Hannah Banks:

"To the oppressed and down-trodden, to the suffering and afflicted, I would cry out...Death is only an event, only a circumstance in the eternal life experience of the human soul. Death is simply a birth into a new and perfect state of existence."

Not far from the grave of John and Hannah is a tomb bearing words that cry out of an earlier injustice:

"Three precious friends under this tombstone lie

Patterns to aged, youth and infancy

HANCOCK CEMETERY

"A great mother, her learned son, with child.

"The first and least went free. He was exiled.

"In love to Christ, this country, and dear friends

"He left his own, cross'd seas and for amends

"Was here extoll'd, and envy'd all in a breath,

"His noble consort leaves, is drawn to death,

"Stranger changes may befall us ere we die,

"Blest they who will arrive eternity.

"God grant some names, O thou New England's friend.

"Don't sooner fade than thine, if times don't mend."

The tomb with its hidden message contains the family of the Rev. Leonard Hoar, third president of Harvard College, a man too liberal for his times.

He was forced by the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony to resign at the instigation of religious opponents and jealous colleagues for permitting Harvard to "languish and decay." Eight months later in November 1675, he was dead at 45.

In 1975, the same General Court, now of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, righted the 300-year-old wrong done to the Rev. Mr. Hoar by "proclaiming and confirming his innocence of any misdeeds while president of Harvard College."

The cemetery, on Hancock St., Quincy Sq., next to City Hall, is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Stormy Debate

Quincy Was Almost Hancock

If some of the early settlers had their way, you would be living in the city of Hancock today instead of the city of Quincy.

Quincy, like George Washington, was born on Feb. 22.

On Feb. 22, 1792, the General Court of Massachusetts passed an act incorporating the North Precinct of Old Braintree as the separate town of Quincy.

But, just before that, quite a few of the residents wanted the new town named after native son John Hancock instead of Boston-born Col. John Quincy.

Colonel Quincy, who had represented Old Braintree in the General Court, was the great grandfather of President John Quincy Adams.

Many people today think Quincy was named after the sixth President but the honor actually goes to his great grandfather.

John Hancock who was born in the North Precinct, was governor of Massachusetts when the General Court passed the act incorporating the new town as Quincy. He signed the act the following day.

But at the first town meeting of the new town in May, a petition was presented to change the name from Quincy to Hancock in honor of the patriot and first signer of the Declaration of Independence. The move was finally defeated after a stormy verbal battle.

Opponents argued that Hancock was still alive and that the honor should go to a distinguished-but deceased person.

JOHN HANCOCK

Colonel Quincy met those requirements. He was both distinguished and deceased.

He had represented Old Braintree in the General Court from 1717 to 1741 - 12 of those years as Speaker of the House. He died in 1767 at age 77 - two days after John Quincy Adams was born.

Quincy became a city June 11, 1888.

Thus, on Feb. 22, 1985 Quincy will mark its 193rd birthday as the community of Quincy.

But a lot of people - residents and tourists alike - will go right on thinking that Quincy was named after John Quincy Adams.

Quincy Quiz

What was the role in Quincy's history of "Thomas Morton of Clifford's Inn, Gent.?"

Answer:

Thomas Morton, dubbing himself the "Lord of Misrule," changed the settlement in 1627, erected a name to Merry Mount, erected a maypole and cavorted with the Indians until the Pilgrims of Plymouth and the Puritans of Boston put an end to such carry-ons.

What was the role in Quincy's history of "Wampatuck, alias, Josiah Sagamore?"

Answer:

Josiah Wampatuck was the Sagamore (chief) of the Massachusetts Indian tribe who sold most of what is now Quincy, Braintree, Randolph and Hottelbrook to the European settlers in 1665 for the sum of 21 pounds, 10 shillings (about $72).

What was the role in Quincy's history of Claude Grahame White?

Answer:

Claude Grahame-White was the pioneer aviator who won a $10,000 prize by flying from Bantam to Boston Light and back on Sept. 7, 1910 during the first organized flying tournament in the United States.

What was the role in Quincy's history of Francis L. Souther?

Answer:

Francis L. Souther was a member of the Hancock Light Regiment, who was killed at the Battle of Big Bethel on June 10, 1861, the first Union soldier to die in combat in the Civil War.

Abigail Adams: A Woman Of Special Honors

Abigail (Smith) Adams was the only woman to be the wife of one President and mother of another.

She was the wife of John Adams, our sixth President.

She died in 1818, however, and did not see her son John Quincy Adams elected our sixth President.

John Adams did live to see his son become President in 1825.

Business is soaring in The Sea Belt.

The South Shore of Massachusetts

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce firmly believes that our area offers great advantages to business and industry. Hence, we have created the term we call "The Sea Belt" - the "Sea Belt" of New England, the South Shore of Massachusetts running from Boston to Plymouth, offers a rather unique geographic, social, and recreational opportunity for businesses to expand and relocate.

Through our affiliate, The South Shore Economic Development Corporation, we are helping individual business grow through small business loans.

The tourism industry in the coastal South Shore Communities needs not only individual but also collective action with creative regional approaches. Quincy has recognized this need.

QUINCY YESTERDAY - with America's historical roots of democracy and industry, makes it potentially one of the most exciting historical cities in the United States.

QUINCY TODAY - where pride in our city has led to planned economic development where tourism play a part and the past and present blend through a sense of dedication and tradition.

QUINCY TOMORROW - a city that is broadening its scope for the future. Tourism is a viable economic industry and defines the Chamber's objectives of creating jobs and promoting business. The "Sea Belt" of New England, the South Shore of Massachusetts, will not be a short-lived phenomenon. We can say, to all concerned, that we are justifiably proud of our past and very confident of our future. Call on us:

THE FIRST PARISH CHURCH

TOMBS OF PRESIDENTS John and John Quincy Adams and their wives in First Parish Church.

First Parish Church

Where 2 Presidents, Their Wives Are Entombed

In 1949, when the present First Parish Church building, the Old Stone Temple, was 121 years old, it was ruled officially that the church is older than the city itself and the town before it.

It was then that the late historian William Churchill Edwards was called upon to resolve a minor dispute that involved the rounding of the corners of the church lot in downtown Quincy.

"Almost the first subject to which the minds of the early settlers of our country were turned after they landed here was the formation of a church," said Edwards.

The first church in these parts was established as a branch of the Church of Boston in 1636. It became a church in its own right in 1639. The Mount Wollaston section of Boston was incorporated as the town of Braintree on May 23, 1640. Ergo, the church came first!

Quincy's first house of worship, the branch of the Church of Boston, was called the "Chappel of Ease," and if it was neglected by early historians it was because its first pastor, the Rev. John Wheelright, his sister-in-law, Anne Hutchinson, and others were banished from the Massachusetts Bay Colony for heresy.

The new church, the one that lasted, was gathered by covenant on Sept. 26, 1639, and it was holding services in its third meeting house in 1732 when its pastor was the Rev. John Hancock, father of the bold first signer of the Declaration of Independence. Son John also was a member.

The affairs of the church and the town of Quincy were one and the same until 1824 when church and state were separated in Massachusetts and the Congregational Society was established to handle parochial matters.

The old Hancock meeting house was still standing, although a little run down, on the south lawn of the present church lot in 1822 when former President John Adams deeded the interest from certain of his lands and granite from his pastures to build a stone temple.

It was completed in Greek revival style at a cost of $30,488 56—which was some $3,000 less than architect Alexander Parrish's estimate and dedicated Nov. 12, 1828, with John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States holding Pew No. 1.

Even before the church was dedicated, the mortal remains of its benefactors, John and Abigail Adams, were transferred to tombs in the crypt of the church and, in 1852, the bodies of John Quincy Adams and his wife, Louisa, joined them.

It is the only church in the United States in which two Presidents are buried. The only other church in which a President is buried is the Episcopal Cathedral in Washington D.C., where President Woodrow Wilson is entombed.

Still an active Unitarian church, it is open to the public for tours from May 15 through Labor Day, Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Donations are accepted. There is a charge of 50 cents per adult for organized tour groups, which should make an appointment at least one week in advance. Tours of the church at other times during the year may also be made by appointment.

Why We Pronounce It 'Quin-zee'

Why do we pronounce Quincy "Quin-zee" when just about everyone else in the country refers to it as "Quin-see?"

There are 19 other Quincys in the U.S., but they pronounce it "Quin-see."

Can they be right and we be wrong?

Not according to Quincy's late city historian, William C. Edwards who never budged an inch whenever the argument ever came up. And it still comes up.

The reason we pronounce it "Quin-zee" is very simple.

"That's the way the Quincy family pronounced it," he used to explain.

Colonel Quincy was the great grandfather of sixth president John Quincy Adams.

Apparently all 19 other Quincys in the U.S. were named after John Quincy Adams.

And, apparently the early settlers of those communities thought John Quincy pronounced it John "Quin-zee."

Anyway, that is how Edwards explained it. Seems like a sound argument.

Dorothy Quincy Homestead

John Hancock's Declaration Of Love

An aura of romance surrounds the stately old house that is set back in the trees from the corner of Hancock St. and Butler Rd., on the banks of Furnace Brook.

There is the wallpaper with its blue cupids and pink flowers that was imported from France for the wedding of Dorothy Quincy, the vivacious daughter of the house, to Quincy-born John Hancock, a patriot on the run with a price on his head.

There are the words "You I Love and You alone," addressed by Hancock to his beloved Dorothy and scratched on a window pane with his diamond ring just before he fled to Lexington on the eve of the Revolution.

And there are the secret chambers and passageways, used, it was said, to hide fugitive patriots during the Revolution and, at an earlier date, even certain Englishmen fleeing a charge of regicide in the death of King Charles I.

Parts of the house were built in 1685 by Col. Edmund Quincy, the second of the name, on land that was granted to an earlier Edmund in 1638. The major part was built in 1706 by Edmund the third. (There were six Edmunds in all, four in a direct line; two nephews.)

The house was the social center of old Braintree during the regime of the fourth Edmund, largely because he sired five beautiful daughters around whom swirled a whole future generation of judges, generals and merchant kings.

The undisputed belle of the household was Dorothy, the coquettish youngest of the eight Quincy children, whose troth was soon plighted to John Hancock, the wealthy young businessman from Boston who was already becoming known as a leader of the rebels.

Tradition has it that they were to have been married in the north parlor of the Quincy homestead with its French cupid wallpaper when Revolution intervened and John had to flee with the British on his heels.

Eventually, they were wed Aug. 28, 1775, at the home of Thaddeus Burr, uncle of Aaron Burr (later vice president of the United States) in Fairfield, Conn.

After the Revolution and the death of Edmund the fourth in 1788 the old house passed from the Quincy family. The Hancocks wanted nothing to do with it. Their only son, John George Washington Hancock, was killed in a skating accident at age 9 while on a visit in 1787.

The house was acquired in 1904 by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, who restored it with vintage furniture, utensils and clothing, and gave it to the state with the proviso that the Dames continue to run it.

The Dorothy Quincy Homestead is open to the public May through October, Tuesday through Sunday, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. (last tour at 4:30 p.m.). It is also open by appointment only Tuesday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. There is a $1.50 admission charge for adults, 25 cents for children.

A fitting memorial . . .

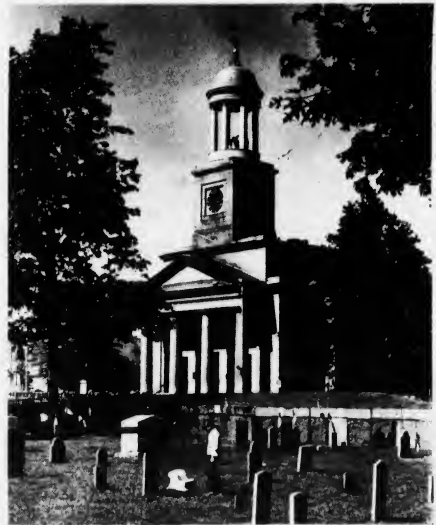

John Quincy Adams occupied the White House in 1828 when United First Parish Church, the Stone Temple, was built of Quincy granite, a fitting memorial to the enduring work of the men who founded the state and the nation.

Two presidents of the United States, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, and their wives, are buried side by side in vaults in the grotto of the Church.

The cornerstone of the Stone Temple was laid on June 11, 1827, and in it was placed a silver plate with the inscription: 'A temple for the worship of God, and for public instruction in the doctrines and duties of the Christian religion.'

Historic Hancock Cemetery in the foreground is the final resting place of early Quincy settlers and patriots among them Col. John Quincy for whom Quincy was named and Rev. John Hancock, a minister of First Parish Church and father of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Abigail Adams Wife, Mother Of Presidents

Mrs. John Adams, the former Abigail Smith of Weymouth, is the only woman to be wife of one president and mother of another ... and she could have been grandmother of a vice president.

Husband John was chief executive from 1797 to 1801; son of John Quincy occupied the White House from 1825 to 1829; and grandson Charles Francis Adams ran for vice president on the Free Soil ticket in 1848.

An early advocate of women's rights, Abigail Adams once wrote to her husband, John:

"In the new code of laws which I suppose it will be necessary for you to make, I desire you would remember the ladies and be more generous and favorable to them than your ancestors.

"Do not put such unlimited power into the hands of the husbands. Remember, all men would be tyrants if they could."

John Winthrop, Jr. Blast Furnace

First Productive Iron Works In U.S.

It failed after nine years of effort and, since failure was anathema in a growing America, perhaps that is why the site and even the memory of the first commercial iron blast furnace in the United States was lost for so long.

It flourished, if that is the word, from 1644 to 1653 on the banks of the Mount Wollaston River (now Furnace Brook) in a section of Old Braintree called "the Woods."

Iron was an important commodity in Colonial Massachusetts, particularly for nails and pots and pans. Iron utensils had to be imported from England, a costly process for the penny-wise colonists.

With this in mind, John Winthrop Jr., son of the governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, went to London and formed the "Company of Undertakers for the Ironworks in New England."

The first iron was turned out in 1644 but young Winthrop was fired from his 100 pounds a year job the next year, to be succeeded by Richard Leader. The Ironworks itself didn't last much longer.

The ore from which the iron was blasted on the banks of Furnace Brook was not a high quality product. It was bog iron from the nearby swamps. Making it proved to be more expensive than the imported kind.

The Company of Undertakers appealed for fresh money in 1646 and apparently there were enough investors ready to send good money after bad because the furnace was still in operation in 1650 when the Scotch Prisoners arrived.

The Scots were rugged Highlanders, soldiers in the army of the future King Charles II who were captured by Oliver Cromwell at the Battle of Dunbar. Cromwell shipped 272 of them to New England as cheap labor in an effort to make the Quincy ironworks a paying proposition. It didn't work.

The Company of Undertakers went bankrupt in 1653 and "the Woods" went back to the bear and the deer.

Meanwhile, with the same Richard Leader as agent, construction began on a second iron works north of Boston in Saugus in 1646. When it was completed in 1650, it was recognized as the first integrated iron industry in America.

Major Historical Sites

There are 12 major historical sites in Quincy, as many if not more than any other city of similar size in the United States.

They range from the birth places of two Presidents to the nation's first commercial railroad to the place from which Massachusetts got its name.

All of them are open to summer visitors at a various times, most of them without admission charge.

The sites and their locations are:

- Adams Mansion National Historic Site, 135 Adams St., Quincy Center.
- Dorothy Quincy Homestead, 34 Butler Rd., Quincy Center.
- Adams Academy, 8 Adams

- St., Quincy Center.
- First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center.
- Hancock Cemetery, 1319-49 Hancock St., Quincy Center.
- John Adams Birthplace, 133 Franklin St., South Quincy.
- John Quincy Adams Birthplace, 141 Franklin St., South Quincy.
- Abigail Adams Cairn, off 342-44 Franklin St., South Quincy.
- Granite Railway, end of Mul-lin Ave., West Quincy.
- John Winthrop Ironworks, 61-63 Crescent St., West Quincy.
- Col. Josiah Quincy House, 20 Muirhead St., Wollaston.

THE GRANITE RAILWAY

The Granite Railway

First Commercial Railroad In U.S.

It was the darndest looking contraption that many among the distinguished gathering had ever seen.

Each of the three wagons had four wheels, 6 and one half feet in diameter, surmounted by a smaller gear wheel which was used to raise and lower the cargo platform that was slung low between the wheels.

It rode on foot-high wooden rails, topped by iron plate, which rested on stone sleepers or cross ties, placed eight feet apart and firmly supported on crushed granite to a depth beyond the frost line.

On Saturday, Oct. 7, 1826, the wagons were laden with 16 tons of the finest Quincy granite and the opening day guests were properly amazed when a single horse moved the whole thing with ease more than three miles to a special wharf on the Neponset River.

The granite blocks, a particularly hard and weather-resistant stone capable of taking a brilliant polish, were en route to Charlestown, where they were building a monument to the Battle of Bunker Hill.

The Granite Railway, the first such commercial venture in the United States, was built specifically to transport stone for the Bunker Hill Monument.

That it became successful, and a model for others around the country, is a tribute to three vastly dissimilar men, the engineer Gridley Bryant, the architect Solomon Willard and the financier, Col. Thomas Handasyd Perkins.

Bryant was 27 at the time but already an engineer of note. He invented the eight wheeled railroad car and, when a fellow named Ross Winans of Baltimore sued to establish a patent on it, Bryant was able to prove his claim to the satisfaction of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Willard, then 43, was a great bear of a man, gentle, obliging, industrious. Frivolity, it was said, was alien to him and he was never known to run. He could be crotchety, too. He was a carpenter turned wood-carver, turned stone-carver and, finally architect.

Perkins was the autocratic, 52-year-old merchant king of Boston who was said to have been offered the post of Secretary of the Navy by President Washington and turned it down with the observation that he owned more ships than the Navy.

It was Perkins who lobbied the Railway's charter through a puzzled and obstinate State Legislature, which had never been called upon to incorporate a commercial railroad before. It was Perkins who financed it, too, largely with his own money. Even in its early days, the Granite Railway was a tourist attraction of some magnitude.

Daniel Webster, who used to stop off for a pick-me-up in Quincy en route from Boston and Washington to his home in Marshfield, viewed it and decided that it would never succeed because of the frost that would form on the rails in the winter.

The President of the United States, a local boy named John Quincy Adams, visited in August, 1827, got caught in a thunderstorm and took shelter in a shed where Willard's stone-cutters were hacking away at monument granite.

A group of visitors were riding up the Railway's incline in an empty car on July 25, 1832, when the chain broke and catapulted them over a 40-foot cliff. One was killed in what may have been the first railroad fatality in the United States.

The Granite Railway Co. survived until 1870, some 27 years after the Bunker Hill Monument was finished, when most of its track was taken over by the Old Colony Railroad, which in turn became a division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Today much of the roadbed, over which freight moved commercially on rails for the first time in America, is buried under the macadam of the Southeast Expressway.

The incline of the old Railway has been restored and is located at the dead end of Mullin Ave. in West Quincy. It is open to the public year round, 24 hours a day. There is no admission charge.

Seat Of Government For 140 Years

Daniel and Hannah French deeded the land to the town of Quincy for $1,000 with the stipulation that it "shall not be used for any other purpose than as a place for a Town House for the said Inhabitants."

And, with a few minor transgressions of that vow, the solid structure of Quincy granite in Quincy Square has been just that for the past 140 years, the nerve center of government for first the town and then the city.

It was the great hall on the second floor that the popular John Quincy Adams II, grandson of a president of the United States, held forth as town moderator for many years and, with his brother, Charles Francis Adams Jr., gave informal direction to town affairs.

One of the earliest ordinances passed by the first City Council on March 8, 1889 was the adoption of the City Seal emblazoned with the four most significant dates in Quincy's history:

1625, for the first settlement on Mount Wollaston; 1640, for its separation from Boston as the town of Braintree; 1792, for its separation from Braintree as the town of Quincy; and 1888, for its incorporation as a city.

CITY HALL

Designed by the architect Solomon Willard, who received $280 for drawing up the plans and superintending construction for five months - the City Hall was completed and occupied for the first time on Nov. 1, 1844.

It cost exactly $19,115.93 to build, including 88 cents to John Briesler for lead to seal the chimney.

In 1979, when a 3 and one half story reflective glass addition was built behind the old City Hall, the cost was $1.9 million.

Abigail Adams Cairn

The Smoke Could Be Seen Over Bunker Hill

Abigail Adams was awakened at dawn in the farmhouse at the foot of Penn's Hill by the sound of far off guns. All through the sweltering morning of June 17, 1775, as she hustled about with the chores, the dull boom of cannon intruded on her consciousness.

Riders on the Coast Road to Plymouth, stopping at the farmhouse for a drink of water, told her of a great battle underway on Breed's Hill in Charlestown.

One of them brought word that Dr. Joseph Warren had been killed in the fighting and little Abby, age 10, burst into tears, and John Quincy, nearly 8, felt bewildered and sad, for Dr. Warren was the Adams family doctor in Boston.

In the afternoon, Abigail could stand it no longer. Taking Abby and John Quincy by the hand, she walked up the Coast Road to the top of Penn's Hill and climbed up on the rocks for a better view.

The panorama of the Bay, a shimmering blue in the sunshine, spread out before them, the tiny houses on the three hills of Boston and, beyond, the black smoke rising in billows.

"Good God," exclaimed Abigail, "they are burning Charlestown!"

The scene etched itself forever in John Quincy's memory.

The early days of the Revolution were times of turmoil in Old Braintree and its North Precinct, which was later called Quincy.

Abigail's husband, John, was away most of the time at the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, leaving 31-year old Abigail to manage the farm and look to the needs of four small children, Abigail, John Quincy, Charles, 5, and Thomas Boylston, 3.

There were days of alarm as the British, penned up in Boston by the brand new Continental Army, foraged up and down the coast for supplies. Refugees from occupied Boston and the inner towns of Dorchester and Roxbury sometimes slept in the kitchen and in the fields.

As the wife of a member of Congress, Abigail was a center of attention. The house on the Coast Road was a favorite stopping place for travelers to Plymouth. Politicians up from Philadelphia made it a point to stop by for a visit with John Adams' wife.

Abigail was invited to visit Gen. George Washington's headquarters at Winter Hill. The aristocratic Washington was suspect among New Englanders. He was a Virginian; he was an Anglican; and, it was said, he held slaves. But John Adams liked him and Abigail was soon charmed.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN

One day, young John Quincy came home to find his Uncle Elihu melting down Abigail's pewter spoons in the kitchen to make bullet molds. He looked at his mother and she looked back at him and something indefinable passed between them.

"Do you wonder," wrote the sixth president of the United States some 68 years later, "that a boy of 7 who witnessed this scene should be a patriot."

In 1896, where the old Coast Road (now Franklin St.) meets Viden Rd. atop Penn's Hill a stone cairn was built to mark the spot where Abigail and young John Quincy watched the Battle of Bunker Hill. It is open to the public free of charge.

The Thomas Crane Library

A Romanesque Architectural Beauty

He came to Quincy as a boy of 7, grew to young manhood on a farm in Quincy Point, learned the granite cutters' trade, and left at the age of 26 to win fame and fortune in stone in New York City.

That was the last Quincy saw of Thomas Crane for half a century until one February day in 1880, five years after his death, when his son, Albert, appeared with $20,000 with which to build a memorial -- preferably a library -- to his father.

"My father always retained a strong feeling for the town of Quincy," was his only explanation.

Albert Crane himself chose the man to design the building, Henry Hobson Richardson, grandson of the English scientist Dr. Joseph Priestly and the foremost architect of the day.

His reputation was so formidable that he was able to tell Crane, "I can not guarantee that the building, when completed, shall conform to (your) ideas of beauty and taste," and still get the job.

Richardson's Romanesque building, which now houses the reference section of the library, was dedicated on May 30, 1882, with the principal oration delivered by Charles Francis Adams, Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees. It was Adams who gave the library its name. Albert Crane wanted it to be "The Quincy Free Public Library." Adams insisted on "The Thomas Crane Public Library."

"Who's giving the building?" asked Albert Crane.

"You are, but you wouldn't have if it hadn't been for me," said Adams, who was used to having his way around Quincy, and that was that.

President John Adams' modest collection of books was housed in the library until 1893, when it was discovered that in 11 years only two persons, one of them Charles Francis Adams, Jr., had asked to see them. They were then transferred to the Boston Public Library.

At the start, Richardson's magnificent building was all but hidden behind a grain store, a hotel, an office building and four homes that lined Washington St.

Albert Crane, however, was a persistent man and, by the time he died in 1917, he had purchased and torn down all the buildings, leaving a broad expanse of open space to enhance the library.

But before the lawn could be seeded, World War I intervened and, in a burst of patriotism -- "Food will win the war," they said -- the area was planted with potatoes, tended by an expert brought in from Maine. The experiment failed.

THOMAS CRANE PUBLIC LIBRARY

"There wasn't a potato in the lot that was anywhere near as large as a golf ball," said Mayor Joseph L. Whiton. The harvest was donated to the poor farm.

Albert Crane also put up $64,000 to build the Spear St. wing of the library in 1907-08 and the Crane family gave yet another $164,000 for the free standing addition, built in 1936, that now houses the stacks and the children's section.

The Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington St., is open to the public, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday, year around, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, September through May.

HISTORIC Quincy Trust Building, constructed in 1917 at the corner of Hancock St. and Cottage Ave., forms a solid setting for the Tag's Furniture and Sleep Shop of today.

Moswetuset Hummock

'Birthplace Of Massachusetts'

The Indians saw it as a hill (wetuset) shaped like an arrowhead (mos) so they called it "Moswetuset" and when English tongues got through mangling the word it came out "Massachusetts," which became the name of the bay and then the state.

The little wooded hillock near the junction of East Squantum St. and Quincy Shore Drive was once the seat of the sachem Chickatabot, who comes down through the pages of Quincy history as a rather pathetic figure.

He was the chief of the Moswetuset Indians, a once great tribe that occupied the coast north of Plymouth.

A few years before, under the great sachem Nanepashemet, the Moswetuset had been able to field some 3,000 warriors for a war with the Nanepashemet was killed.

Then came the plague.

In two years the mighty Moswetuset were all but wiped out. No more than 60 of them were left to till their fields on the banks of the Neponset River. Sachem Chickatabot fled his home on the hill in Wollaston and took refuge on Moswetuset Hummock.

That was the situation in 1621 when Capt. Myles Standish landed from a shallop with an exploring party of Plymouth Pilgrims that included the Indian guide Squanto (or Tsquantum), whose name was given to the peninsula that stuck out in the bay.

The tragic Chickatabot died not long after the Pilgrims' visit and he was succeeded as sachem by his son, Josiah Wampatuck, a boy who knew a good deal when he saw one.

Wampatuck sold what was left of his virtually deserted tribal lands to a group of whites for 12 pounds, 10 shillings. The lands included most of what is today the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook.

Why are more people bringing their money market funds back to us?

More benefits.

You probably invested in a money market fund because it offered liquidity, check writing privileges, and high interest. But we can offer you all those benefits and more. In fact, thousands of smart people have already switched from a money market fund to our Better Money Market Account. Here's why:

- A $2,500 minimum deposit earns interest that is better than most money market funds.
- Unlike money market funds, each deposit is insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC.
- It's totally liquid, with unlimited deposits and teller withdrawals.
- It allows 6 transfers per month, 3 of which may be by check.
- Interest is state taxed at half the rate of money market fund earnings.

■ Better Money Market Account deposits are reinvested in the local economy. Money market fund deposits are reinvested in someone else's economy.

■ It has no account service fees.

With money market funds, you have to sacrifice your money's safety for high interest and liquidity. With the Better Money Market Account, you don't have to sacrifice anything, because it's high paying, it's liquid, and it's safe. Call us for the current high Better Money Market Account rate.

Adams Academy

On Site Of John Hancock's Birthplace

By modern standards, the boarding house at the corner of Hancock and Depot Sts. had all the aspects of a genteel prison.

Residents were forbidden to leave between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. They could not enter or leave at any time except by the hall door. They were banned from pool halls and bars. Smoking materials also were forbidden to them.

In exchange for good behavior, plus tuition ranging from $75 to $150 a year, they were given the best prep school education of the day for they were students at Adams Academy, which flourished from 1872 to 1907 in Quincy.

The academy was a gift of John Adams, the second President of the United States, who always had his checkbook ready to fill the spiritual and educational needs of the citizens of his beloved Quincy.

The trust fund, nourished by "rents, profits and emoluments" from certain Adams-owned properties, was set up in the Adams will of 1822, but it was not until 1869 that the fund was deemed large enough to start construction.

The location was specified by Adams himself as the corner of Adams and Hancock Sts., site of the birthplace of his childhood friend, John Hancock, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence.

The doors opened to the first students, 24 of them, on Sept. 4, 1872. Five years later, the academy reached a peak enrollment of 154 with an international student body -- 25 from Quincy, four from Washington, D.C., 125 and 14 states, two from England and one from Chile.

It had one of the earliest prep school football teams, too, recording a tie with the Resolutives of Boston on Oct. 21, 1876, a scant seven years after Princeton and Rutgers played the first college game. It whipped Andover three times from 1877-79.

The admissions catalogue specified that applicants be "well prepared in the usual studies of good grammar schools" and warned that "no pupils are desired to give them a collegiate education."

The best known headmaster was Dr. William Everett, once acclaimed as one of the seven smartest men in the world. He ran the academy with a firm hand from 1878 to 1893 and again from 1897 to 1907. From 1893 to 1897, he was a U.S. congressman from Lynn.

Dr. Leverett, an aimable if sometimes waspish eccentric, was widely known as the man who hated Abraham Lincoln. He had reason. His father was Edward Everett, whose masterful oration at Gettysburg was over-shadowed by Lincoln's notes scribbled on the back of an envelope.

It was Dr. Everett who signaled the passing of Adams Academy -- and many other 19th Century classical prep schools -- at graduation exercises in 1907 when he said that "unless someone comes forward and planks down $50,000, the academy will be closed."

Nobody did and on June 22, 1907, the Adams Academy officially closed its doors.

The building today is occupied by the Quincy Historical Society, which maintains a museum and research library in the old classrooms. The museum is open all year, Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Saturday from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., or by appointment. The library is open Monday & Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and Saturday from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., or by appointment. There is no admission charge.

John Adams Author

A Constitution Is Born In Quincy

"Voted, to send only one Delegate to represent them in the Convention appointed to be convened at Cambridge on the First day of September next for the purpose of Framing a New Constitution. Then the Honorable John Adams Esquire was chosen for that purpose."

Braintree Records,
Aug. 9, 1779

There is every reason to believe that the Honorable John Adams Esquire didn't really want to go.

He had arrived home only seven days before on the French frigate La Sensible after nearly 18 months in Paris helping to negotiate a commercial and military alliance with France. He was in such a rush to get home that he apparently landed the day before La Sensible reached Boston by rowing ashore from Nantasket Roads.

He missed his wife, Abigail, terribly, and she him.

"One was angry, another was full of Grief, and the third with Melancholy, so that I burnt them all," he wrote to her from Passy on Dec. 18, 1777, listing his complaints with her most recent letters. "If you write me in this style I shall leave of writing intirely, it kills me."

"Am I not wretched Enough, in this Banishment, without this? What Course shall I take to convince you that my Heart is warm? I beg you would never more write to me in such a strain for it really makes me unhappy."

"How lonely are my days?" she wrote on a Sunday evening, Dec. 27. "How solitary are my Nights? How insupportable the Idea that 3000 leagues, and the vast ocean now divide us -- but divide only our persons for the Heart of my Friend is in the Bosom of his partner."

Somewhere on the vast ocean the two letters passed each other.

Paris and the dissolute court of Louis XVI held small appeal to the Puritan in John Adams, even when his closest everyday companions were Dr. Benjamin Franklin, still with an eye for the ladies at age 73, and the swashbuckling Capt. John Paul Jones, half patriot, half pirate, who had just taken command of the leaky old East Indiaman he had renamed Bon Homme Richard.

The American colonies, newly reborn as the United States of America, were going through the most dismal period of the War for Independence. Inflation was rampant; butcher's meat, a dollar to eight shillings a pound; flour, fifty dollars a hundredweight. The news from the fighting front was of defeat, privation and horror.

Like many Braintree wives whose husbands were away at war, Abigail Adams was forced into the unaccustomed role of head of the household, a function she filled with determination.

"I cannot avoid sometimes repining that the gifts of fortune were not bestowed upon us, that I might have enjoyed the happiness of spending my days with my partner," she wrote, "but as it is, I think it my duty to attend with frugality and economy to our own private affairs, and if I cannot add to our little substance, yet see to it that it is not diminished."

She abstained from drinking black market tea, allowing herself one tiny complaint: "I should like a little green (tea), but they say there is none to be had here. I only wish it for a medicine, as a relief to a nervous pain in my head to which I am sometimes subject."

John Adams attended the opening session of the Constitutional Convention in Cambridge on Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1779. On Saturday, he was named to a committee of 30 to prepare the declaration of rights and the constitution. On Monday, the committee delegated the task to a subcommittee of three, John and Samuel Adams, and James Bowdoin.

Thus it was that John Adams wound up in the law office of his home at the foot of Penn's Hill, paired with his firebrand cousin, Sam, and his ailing friend, James Bowdoin, to write a Constitution for the state of Massachusetts, which in turn became the model for the Constitution of the United States.

The patient, hard-working John Adams, of course, did most of the work.

"I was by the Convention put upon the Committee -- by the Committee upon the subcommittee -- and by the subcommittee appointed a sub subcommittee -- so that I had the honor to be principal Engineer," he wrote to his friend, Edmund Jennings. Payroll records indicate that he was paid 90 pounds for his work.

The so-called "Adams draft" of the Massachusetts Constitution was accepted by the Convention with a few alterations but by that time John Adams was long gone back to Europe, this time to help negotiate a treaty of peace with Britain and serve as America's first minister to London. He did not see the farm at the foot of Penn's Hill again for another eight years.

But he was immensely heartened by these words from the pen of his ever-loving Abigail, written on Oct. 15, 1780.

"Our Massachusetts Constitution is read with admiration in New York and pronounced by the Royal Governor as the best republican form he ever saw."

Josiah Quincy Homestead

Lookout For Spying On British Ships

Abigail Adams stood with her great uncle, Col. Josiah Quincy, in a window of his mansion overlooking Wollaston Beach and watched the tall masts of 170 ships stand slowly out to sea. It was March 17, 1776. The British were evacuating Boston.

But even in triumph there was tragedy.

Aboard the departing ships were more than 1,000 Loyalists, Americans who had chosen King above country, and one of them was Abigail's cousin, Samuel Quincy, the Colonel's only remaining son, an avowed Tory.

"I take a long farewell," his sister, Hannah, wrote to him for one last time. "Let it not be published that a brother of such brothers fled from his country. Can you expect to walk uprightly now? Can you take fire in your bosom and not be burned?"

Two of Col. Josiah Quincy's sons had died young. Now he had no more.

But there was no time for regrets. The work of revolution had begun. The second floor of the house at what is now 20 Muirhead St., Wollaston, was a lookout from which the 66-year-old Colonel spied on British ship movements for his friend, Gen. George Washington.

A few months before, Col. Quincy watched the Royal Governor, Gen. Thomas Gage depart and he scratched on a pane of window glass the reminder: "Oct. 10, 1775, General Gage sailed for England with a fair wind."

This time he remained in the window for three days as the British tall ships moved restlessly about the Harbor as if reluctant to leave. Finally, on March 20, the last of them passed through the roadstead and out to sea.

The mansion in Wollaston reached full social flower under the aegis of the Colonel's grandson, the third Josiah, the "Great Mayor" of Boston, president of Harvard and Congressman, who called it "Tranquillia" and used it as his summer home.

It was there that the Marquis de Lafayette visited one Sunday afternoon after dinner with his friend, ex-President John Adams at the Adams Mansion. He carried flowers from the Adams garden for Mrs. Eliza Susan Quincy and her five attractive daughters.

The house was built in 1770 by the old Colonel himself, the first in a line of six Josiahs. It was said that, while most families passed their line from sire to son, the Quincys went from 'Siah to 'Siah.

But, while there were six Josiahs and innumerable Edmunds, the city was named for yet another member of the prolific family -- Col. John Quincy, the great grandfather of John Quincy Adams sixth president of the United States.

The Josiah Quincy Homestead is open to the public from June 1 to Oct. 15, Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Visits may be made at other times by appointment. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Residents of Quincy are admitted free.

How Many Miles From Boston?

Stone mile markers across Hancock Street from each other indicate that the traveler is both 7 1/4 and 10 miles from Boston. And both are correct.

The 10-miles marker was placed on the Old Coast Road, one of the oldest highways in the United States still in existence, which went from Boston to Plymouth in 1639 by way of inland Milton.

The 7 1/4-mile marker was raised after the first bridge over the Neponset River was built in 1803, creating the Neponset Turnpike, which is today Hancock St. in North Quincy and Wollaston.

It Was Richard

For years, the first name of Capt. Wollaston, the leader of the original settlers of Quincy in 1625, was lost to history.

Only recently did the researches of H. Hobart Holly, historian of the Quincy Historical Society, turn up the information that it probably was Richard.

Sheets Disputes Mayor's Directive Special Council Session In Budget Battle

By JOHN NOONAN

City Council President James A. Sheets has called a special meeting of the council for tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the latest salvo of the "Battle of the Budget" between Mayor Francis X. McCauley and council members.

The city is now 12 days into the 1985 fiscal year as the two sides continued the feud.

McCauley Early Tuesday issued a directive to the city auditor, treasurer-collector and the chairman of the board of assessors "to comply" with the $75.8 million budget he submitted to the council April 17.

In the budget, McCauley had cut 13 vacant fire and police positions.

The council contends that the cuts jeopardize public safety and countered by passing only $6.3 million, or one-twelfth of the budget for the fiscal year that began July 1.

Sheets told The Quincy Sun Tuesday he remains firmly opposed to approving the mayor's budget until the public safety issue is resolved.

He also questioned McCauley's right to issue a directive to the City Auditor who is an appointee of the City Council.

McCauley issued his directive to City Auditor Robert E. Foy III, Treasurer Collector Franklin Jay and Assessors Chairman

Elmer K. (Mike) Fagerlund.

McCauley said he issued his directive based on the provisions of the Mayor's responsibilities contained in the city charter and a second or supplemental opinion of City Solicitor Dean P. Nicastro on the legal issues of the budget controversy.

In his directive to the three officials the Mayor said:

"As per said opinions, (Nicastro's dated June 5, 1984 and July 10, 1984) this annual budget is now in effect, as submitted and uncut, as the annual budget appropriation of the City of Quincy for the City of Quincy for fiscal year 1985, and is the correct budget, the form of Council Order No. 143 as attested as passed by the City Clerk, copies of which I believe you were furnished, is invalid and of no effect."

Sheets questioned whether the Mayor can order the auditor, an appointee of the City Council, to comply with the mayor's directive.

Sheets said the 1985

fiscal year budget will be the main subject for consideration at the special meeting of the Council Thursday night.

Sheets also maintains that separation of the executive and legislative branches of government, could be transgressed by the mayor's directive.

McCauley said at a press conference Tuesday that he had met twice with Sheets on the budget issue to see if some resolution could be reached. The Mayor said that there is some agreement reached as a proposal to have a qualified outside firm conduct a study of the operation of the fire and public departments. The study would take about six to eight months to complete.

Sheets said that such a study may have its merits but he questioned the length of time involved to complete the study.

In his second opinion rendered to the Mayor, Nicastro said:

"It is my final opinion that the city legally may, should and must conduct its fiscal and financial affairs for fiscal 1985 in accordance with the annual budget which the Mayor submitted to the Council on April 17, 1984 (Order No. 143; $75,866,757), and that the City Auditor must honor this budget."

There are no other items on the agenda for tonight's special meeting of the council.

Vandals Set Fire

Vandals were blamed for an early Sunday morning fire underneath the rear loading platform at Young World, 222 Parkingway.

Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the blaze was confined to some rubbish, wooden beams and old tires beneath the metal platform.

He estimated damage at $400.

Clothes, Money Stolen

A substantial amount of clothing and week-end receipts were reported stolen over the week-end from Steppin' Out, 1440 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

No dollar amount for the loss was given.

Rape Cases, Solutions On Increase Here

By TOM HENSHAW

The number of rapes and attempted rapes investigated by the Quincy Police Department almost doubled in fiscal 1984 - but the number cleared by arrest or identification more than doubled.

Chief Francis X. Finn said the increase in reported sex crimes reflects, in part, "the confidence that women have in the sensitive handling and quick follow-up by the Rape Crisis Unit."

Finn said there also has been a change in the definition of rape.

"There are more categories of rape now," he said. "A male can be raped now where before it was counted as an indecent assault or an unnatural act."

The figures for the 12 months ending June 30, released by Finn, shows that Quincy police investigated 29 rapes or attempted rapes during the year and cleared 27 cases by arrest or identification of the suspect.

"We may solve all 29 of them," said the chief. "We are close to solutions of the other two."

The previous year, the Detective Bureau and the Juvenile Unit investigated 15 rapes and attempted rapes with 11 of the cases eventually cleared.

Other figures reported by Finn on sexual assault investigations during fiscal 1984 included:

Indecent assault and battery - 19 cases investigated, 14 cleared.

Indecent exposure - 48 cases investigated, 27 cleared.

Lewd and lascivious speech and behavior - four cases investigated, two cleared.

Suspicious men accosting women and children - 23 cases investigated, 11 cleared.

The figures for the previous year were:

Indecent assault and battery on a person having attained 14 years of age - nine cases investigated, three cleared.

Indecent assault on a child under 14 years of age - seven cases investigated, seven cleared.

Indecent exposures - 28 cases investigated, 16 cleared.

Lewd behavior - six cases reported, three cleared.

Accosting a member of the opposite sex - five cases investigated, three cleared.

Unnatural acts - one case investigated, one cleared.

In fiscal 1982, there were 24 rapes and attempted rapes reported with eight cleared by arrest and nine others by the identification of the suspect.

All Quincy police officers have received preliminary training in sexual assault investigations and several detectives have been given intensive training in handling the victims.

"Officers are a lot more sensitive to the victim," said Finn, "and there is a quick followup with counselling. The investigations are handled in strict confidentiality and there is a rape hotline - 479-RAPE."

Boston Firm High Bidder On Pollard School

Bids and proposals have been received from eight developers interested in the Pollard School. Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces.

The high bidder was Burkard Corporation of Boston with two proposals. One bid for conversion of the building into 22 units was for $252,000. A second bid of $282,000 was for demolition of the old structure and erection of a new building containing 38 units.

Other developers and their bids were:

Romex Corporation of Needham - $226,500;

Papesch Associates of Boston - $196,000; Williams & Bertucci Law Offices, Quincy - $175,000; Fern Realty Trust, Weymouth - $165,000; Manel Properties of Quincy - $152,650; Storrow Associates of Boston - $130,000 and Logan Development of Boston - $75,000.

Two Hurt In Crash At FB Intersection

Two people were injured Sunday in a two car collision at the intersection of Hancock St. and Furnace Brook Parkway.

Ann Geribo, 23, of 25 Winthrop Ave., Wollaston, and James C. Shiel, 18, of 144 Waterston Ave., Wollaston, were treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

Shiel is a student at Eastern Nazarene College from Whitman, N.Y.

Police said Geribo was a passenger in a car driven by James P. McCusker, 34, of 25 Winthrop Ave., which was in collision with Shiel's auto as it turned from Furnace Brook Parkway to Hancock St.

LAST MINUTE POINTERS are given to Lori Cipullo, 2, by her Mom, Lynne Cipullo of Adams Shore, as she gets ready to enter a race for two-year-olds at Fourth of July field day activities held by the Baker Beach Improvement Association, Germantown.

Four Hurt In Knife Fight In Montclair

Four youths were injured, three with stab wounds, following what police called a knife fight between two Charlestown teenagers and a group of young men from Quincy Friday night at Bishop Field, Montclair.

Jeffrey Linehan, 19, of 149 Elmwood Ave., Wollaston, was hospitalized with stab wounds in the back and a 16-year-old Quincy boy also was hospitalized with stab wounds in the stomach.

They were in good condition at Quincy City Hospital.

Stephen McNally, 18, of Charlestown was in Massachusetts General Hospital with a stab wound in the leg. He also suffered head injuries when he was struck in the face.

Thomas Dyer, 19, also of Charlestown was in a Somerville hospital with a broken leg suffered when he was struck by a thrown cinder block.

Police said McNally and Dyer were sitting in the park with two Quincy girls when a nearby house party broke up and the Quincy youths went into the park.

Words were exchanged, police said, and at least three knives were used in the ensuing melee.

The case is still under police investigation.

Environmental Commission Meeting

The Environmental Control Commission was scheduled to meet Wednesday, at 7 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers.

Motocyclist Hurt In Wollaston Crash

A Brookline youth was injured early Monday when his motorcycle was in collision with a car at the intersection of Southern Artery, Hancock St. and Standish Rd.

Eric R. Allen, 20 was treated for an arm injury and released from Quincy City Hospital. He was cited for operating without a license and having no registration in his possession.

Police said Allen's motorcycle was in collision with a car driven by Charles R. Bowe, 25, of 160 Essex St., Squantum, which was making a turn from Hancock St. onto Southern Artery.

LUCKY 7s — If you like to play hunches, here's one. Lauralyn Mitchell, shown with her husband, Raymond Mitchell of Quincy, was born on July 7, 1966, and her first child, Justine Lee, was born at Quincy City Hospital July 7. The doctor attending the birth, Dr. Richard R. Adams (left) was born July 7, 1947. And if that isn't enough, Beth MacLeod, R.N., center, the nurse who attended the baby in the nursery was born, you guessed it, July 7, 1952. (Quincy Sun photo by Charles Flagg)

Near $2 Million For Improving Red Line

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy), announces that the MBTA Advisory Board has authorized funding for special maintenance projects at the MBTA.

The Red Line will receive special attention in several of the projects. Due to recent delays including the complete shutdown of the Red Line June 11, Red Line track work and gear box replacement will be two of the highest priority maintenance needs.

In total, approximately $2 million will be used for improving Red Line reliability.

The action taken by the MBTA was in response to a petition signed by Morrissey and other legislators, urging the MBTA to upgrade its Red Line Service.

"Those who make the daily commute to Boston from the South Shore rely heavily upon the MBTA for their transportation needs," Morrissey said. "Recently, I have received several complaints from Red Line commuters regarding the continuous delays. As taxpayers, these people deserve a safe and efficient rapid transit system.

"I am pleased to see that the MBTA has taken the necessary steps to remedy the situation on the Red Line."

It Was All 7's In QCH Delivery Room

Everything came up seven Saturday in the delivery room at Quincy City Hospital.

That was the day, July 7, that a daughter, Justine Lee, was born to Mrs. Lauralyn Mitchell of Quincy, who was herself born on July 7.

1966. Mrs. Mitchell's physician, Dr. Richard Adams of Quincy, was also celebrating his birthday, July 7, and so was the attending nurse, Beth MacLeod.

Donnelly Seeks State Control Over F R Bridge

Cong. Brian Donnelly recently added a technical amendment to a water projects bill passed by the House which would give the state control of the Fore River Bridge, Quincy.

Donnelly said he added the amendment because an oil company has refused to negotiate operating standards for the drawbridge used by South Shore commuters travelling to and from Boston.

Traffic jams have often resulted when the bridge has been raised during rush hours to allow Citgo Oil barges to reach the tank farm in Quincy.

An 1894 law states that commercial seaborne traffic is given precedence at all times over traffic on the bridge which is operated by the Coast Guard.

Donnelly said his proposal, which could result in new rules governing the bridge's operation, may lead Citgo to reconsider its opposition to negotiations.

Koch Has Them Guessing

City Councillor Richard Koch says he has no plans to leave the City Council but some political observers -- and hopefuls -- aren't convinced.

In politics nothing is certain and everything is subject to change is the way they see it.

Koch, who passed the state Civil Service examination for police officers with a mark in the 90's insists he has "no intentions" to accept a Quincy appointment.

If he did take it, he would have to give up his City Council seat to avoid a conflict of interest. A municipal employee cannot hold elective office in the community in which he lives.

But he had indicated to Civil Service he would accept a patrolman's appointment in Boston, Brockton or Quincy.

Koch says he has since eliminated Quincy but again, political observers aren't convinced that he really has for sure in his own mind.

Koch, who is only 29, and is now a claims representative for Kemper Insurance, has long wanted to be in law enforcement.

That was his career goal when he went to Northeastern University where he majored in criminal justice.

Some observers don't think his heart is really in politics although if he decided to remain there's no doubt he would have a highly successful political career.

Koch topped the City Council at-large field last year, running well ahead of former Mayor Joseph LaRaia and Patricia Toland, the other two incumbents. Koch has a well respected name and has political appeal. There are those who think he could one day be mayor of Quincy or move on to a state or county post.

If he took a police appointment in Boston or Brockton he could remain a city councillor with no conflict of interest problem.

But the mere fact he originally selected Quincy as one of the three choices for appointment has some political observers thinking that he will eventually pick Quincy as his final choice.

Anyone who has grown up in Quincy and knows the city as well as he does, would do better here in a law enforcement career than in Boston or Brockton.

KOCH

He doesn't plan to pound a footbeat. He wants to move up the police ladder.

Koch insists on one hand he has "no intentions" to become a Quincy police officer but on the other says he has "no immediate plans" to leave the City Council.

It's that "no immediate plans" that has political circles wondering and speculating whether he eventually will be a Quincy police officer.

So, what if he does take an appointment in the Quincy Police Department ... what then?

If he accepted an appointment this year, it would require a special election to fill his vacant seat because his term would still be in its first year. This would come under the special charter change this year that allowed a special election in Ward 1 when Leo Kelly gave up his seat shortly after re-election to take a Quincy Housing Authority management post.

If there were a special election Ron Iacobucci who was runner-up to Toland for the No. 3 spot in the council at-large race would certainly have a good shot at it.

In his first run for office, he came within 1,039 votes of Toland as the lone challenger.

If Koch wasn't appointed to the Quincy Police Department until next year, the remaining eight councillors would fill the vacancy.

Iacobucci, meanwhile, isn't one to let grass grow under his feet.

He played a key role in Michael Cheney's successful run for the Ward 1 seat in this year's special elections.

That not only kept his hand in the political picture but he will also pick up support from the Cheney camp when he runs again.

He reportedly has been busy behind the scene and has put together seven votes among the present councillors to be appointed to succeed Koch if the latter should take a Quincy Police Dept. appointment next year.

One way or the other, Iacobucci definitely would be the "man to beat" for the seat if Koch vacates it.

And if Koch doesn't take a Quincy police appointment, you'll see Iacobucci a candidate next year anyway.

Ah, politics. Never a dull moment.

SHOULD I RENT WITH OPTION?

QUESTION: My home is for sale. One prospect offered to rent it with an option to buy. What is your advice on this situation?

ANSWER: The "Rent with option to buy" offer is usually made by someone who is not a serious buyer for ANY house. I'd suggest putting the offer aside and looking for a bona-fide prospect who wants to BUY the house -- not rent it. However, if you MUST rent your home under these circumstances, be sure that there is a consideration for the option over and above the rent. Remember, you are reducing your sales prospects down to one -- and that one is quite dubious.

Streetcar Tracks Aid War Effort

Purchasing Agent John T. Lane announced that at least 170 tons of old street car rails will be removed from Quincy streets this summer and turned over to the U.S. Government scrap drive.

Lane said the city will receive $14 a ton for the metal, more than $2,000 in all, which will be dug up by Works Progress Administration (WPA) workers and removed by private contractors.

Most of the rails will come from the old Squantum route, which traversed Atlantic from Quincy Shore Boulevard to Hancock St. via Sagamore, Newbury, Billings and East Squantum Sts. until 10 years ago.

Others will be salvaged from Quincy Ave. near Scammell St. and from Farrington St., Wollaston.

Stay Alive!
By John Valante

INSECT STINGS AND BITES

A highly allergic child can die in five to thirty minutes from a sudden allergic reaction to the sting of a bee, wasp or hornet. Even for a child with no history of allergic reaction, who develops symptoms including shortness of breath, stomach pain, fainting and shock, medical treatment is needed quickly. This can be a serious emergency.

Children with a history of allergic reactions to insect stings should be under the care of a physician. You should always have on hand medication to be used to counteract the allergic reaction unless the child has been desensitized. Insect sting kits are inexpensive and readily available on the market.

If the child has no history of allergic reactions to insect stings and shows signs of only localized discomfort in the area of the sting or bite, treatment should be provided to reduce discomfort. Often, home remedies are effective. Wash the affected parts with soap and water. Apply a paste made of baking soda and a little water or use calamine lotion.

Timothy Faherty, 22, Motorcycle Crash Victim

A funeral Mass for Timothy Faherty, 22, of Quincy, victim of a motorcycle accident, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Faherty was killed Sunday night when his motorcycle struck a pole on West Howard St., Quincy Point.

He was on his way to work around 11:30 p.m. as a bookbinder when the accident occurred. A passenger on the motor cycle, Stephen Miceli, escaped injury.

He was a lifelong Quincy resident.

He is survived by his wife, Deborah (Spain) Faherty; a son, Shaun Faherty of Quincy; a daughter, Kristen Faherty of Quincy; his parents, Simon P. and Mary (Norton) Faherty of Quincy; three brothers, Lawrence P. Faherty, Brian P. Faherty and Dennis M. Faherty, all of Quincy; and a sister, Coleen Giaconozzi of Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Mary S. Hurney

A funeral Mass for Mary S. "May" (Barley) Hurney, of Quincy, was held Saturday in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Mrs. Hurney died July 4 at Quincy City Hospital.

Born in Hartford, she lived in Quincy for 44 years. She is survived by her husband, Robert J. Hurney; two daughters, Eileen Rugg of Quincy and Sandra Taylor of Worthington, Ohio; two sisters, Paula Arcoria of Staten Island, N.Y., and Dorothy Adams of Pride's Crossing, Beverly; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"I know I'm right, no matter what you say"... Most people condemn that statement or attitude. Yet, every one is indoctrinated with strange ideas and beliefs - and prejudice. Hardly any one is immune from assumptions not based on facts. Prejudice is plentiful.

Prejudice has plagued mankind for centuries, even in Biblical days. Women were regarded as inferior persons. Jews thanked God for not being born a woman, a leper - or a gentile. . . . And through the years, old and former prejudices have been replaced with new and modern contentions. The human fault of prejudice still plagues mankind. Too often, beliefs and convictions in our own thinking are seen as prejudices in others. The plague seems incurable.

Would not life be more enjoyable if eyes and minds would be more readily opened to enlightenment?... If people would stop being unresponsive to a disliked truth?... If more people would say, "I life is too short to be vengeful or malicious; life is too short to be petty or unkind"... Wishful thinking? Perhaps. But strange and unlikely things have happened before! . . .

Cpl. Edward Gargano Flag Raised

The Harborview Residents Committee recently held its annual Fourth of July celebration.

The event opened with Mrs. Joseph Gargano, mother of Marine Cpl. Edward Gargano who was killed in Lebanon during a peace-keeping mission, presenting her son's flag to be raised by the Marine Color Guard from the South Weymouth Naval Air Station.

Mrs. Jean Kennedy,

treasurer of the committee, spoke and thanked the Gargano family for the privilege of using the flag. The committee dedicated the day to the memory of Corporal Gargano.

The Marine Color Guard included Sgt. Mark Radcliff, Cpl. Richard Tangeman and Cpl. David Lockwood. They are attached to the Marine Air Group 49 at South Weymouth.

After the flag raising, participants of the bike and carriage parade proceeded down Yardarm Ln. to General Palmer Park where the judging took place.

The judges were members of the Marine Color Guard. Special events included the Army Reserve 3rd Platoon of the 18th Infantry Co. B from Brockton displaying a new mortar launcher with a M-16 and bazooka.

The Quincy Fire Department displayed Ladder 1 and Rescue 1. Ladder 1 was connected with Engine 8 and converted into a water tower.

The men of Engine 8 included Lt. John Menz and firefighters Henry Bishop and Joe Martell.

Rescue 1 was manned by firefighters John Martell and Dennis O'Brian.

Ladder 1 was manned by Lt. Thomas O'Connell and firefighters Fred Baldo and Mike Butts.

Openings In Tennis, Wrestling, Ceramics Camps

The week-long tennis, ceramics and wrestling camps sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department July 16-20, still have limited openings.

The camps are designed as a low cost alternative for youngsters who desire specialized instruction in a specific activity.

The tennis camp, under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Laing, will have a unique opportunity for four days of instruction, while the fifth day will be spent observing the styles of the top tennis pros at the U.S. Pro Championships at Longwood Cricket Club.

Squantum Center Trips

Squantum Center is sponsoring trips and break dance lessons during the months of July and August.

The State Budget

The 1985 fiscal budget should be approved by the House and Senate and sent onto the Governor's desk. The state budget provides for a wide variety of local needs and seeks to offer communities of every size in the commonwealth the tools to continue making their operations cost effective and efficient. Among the major items relating to local governments are the following:

- Removal of the cap on lottery distributions to provide $25.9 million in additional lottery revenues to towns and cities.

- A new per-pupil grant program of $31 million to aid communities.

- Restoration of critical Chapter 90 road monies of $18.3 million.

- An education reserve fund to offer help to towns and cities with particularly acute school funding needs.

- A fully funded court rental line item which adds $20 million, allowing communities to provide proper maintenance for county buildings.

- An innovative school/municipal incentive aid grant program of $1.5 million.

- $1.5 million to fund technical and fiscal assistance to communities through the Department of Revenue.

In addition the budget proposal includes $75 million reserve account to investigate and approve a tax cut proposal or to use to reform public education.

If I can be of any further assistance please don't hesitate to call me at home 328-0900 or in the State House at 722-2470.

MacDonald Hurls No-Hitter As VFW Blanks Cable, 4-0

Richie MacDonald pitched a no-hitter and struck out 11 as the VFW blanked Quincy Cablestems, 4-0, in a Junior Baseball League game. MacDonald pitched to only 19 batters, one over the limit, walking only one.

Brandon Farrell had a double, Kevin Daly and Eric DeBoer two singles each. Ed Costello a triple and Brian Zimmerman, Shawn Donovan and MacDonald a single each. Kevin Burke made a great over-the-head running catch in the fifth inning to preserve the no-hitter. Scott Dunn, Donnie Anderson, Brian Fitzgerald and Keith Oliver played well defensively.

For Cable Chris Abate pitched a fine game and Mike Baylis played well on defense.

National League leader Houghs Neck Legion defeated Colonial Federal, 8-5, with Lance Gilbert the winning pitcher and Joe Russell the loser.

Billy Monticchi had a home run and scored three runs. Peter McLaughlin had a double and two singles and scored twice. Peter Lyons had three singles and scored twice. Mark Bogan had three singles and scored a run. George and Casta Rosenitis and Billy and Brian Campbell played excellent defense.

For Colonial Federal Ken Stasky and Matt Price had singles. Colonial had only five hits off Filbert.

The standings:
National League: Houghs Neck, 14-4; Keohane's, 13-6; Rotary, 12-6; Colonial Federal, 10-8; Boston Gear, 10-9, and Elks, 3-16.

American League: Visa, 11-8; Roley, 11-8; VFW, 10-8; Kiwanis, 7-12; Cablestems, 6-13, and Burgin Platner, 5-14.

SEAN MCGINN of Quincy receives award from Fr. John Paillard, OMI, for special achievement in football and track at Abp. Williams High. He also received the John F. Finnegan Memorial Award, the Robert Ryan Memorial Award and the All-League Football Award.

The Pirates and White Sox are tied for first place in the Triple A Baseball League with 10-4 records.

The rest of the standings: Indians, 9-4; Dodgers, 8-4; Braves, 7-7; Mets, 2-11, and Tigers, 1-13.

The all-star game will be played Sunday, July 22, at 7 p.m. at McCoy Field. Quincy Cablestems will cover the game. All Babe Ruth League coaches are invited to watch 28 12-year-old players in action.

The White Sox defeated the Pirates, 14-9, to move into a top tie. Brett Carter was the winning pitcher.

Phil Cosgrove had a triple and double. Ricky Riggs two doubles. Ronnie Boudreau a triple and single and Carter. Joe De-Christoforo and Jeff Bell two hits each. For the Pirates Bobby Loughlin had three hits and Tommy Morris and Jeff Freeman a double each.

The Indians topped the Pirates, 7-4, with winning pitcher Dorsey Dugan having 11 strikeouts. Brian O'Malley was the loser. Karen Miller had two hits and two big RBIs in the sixth inning for the Indians.

while Jamie Tapper had two hits and O'Malley a triple for the Pirates.

The Indians wallpiped the Mets, 16-9, with winning pitcher Dugan having 12 strikeouts. John O'Donnell had two doubles and a single. Miller three hits. Armando Mancini a triple and single and Dugan two hits. For the Mets John Grennon had two doubles and Joe McDonald and Jim McCarthy two hits each.

The Indians rallied for four runs in the sixth to edge the Braves, 11-10. Dugan was the winner and Jason Doyle the loser. For the Indians Miller had two singles and a double. O'Donnell two doubles and Mancini a triple. For the Braves Joey Baker had two singles and a triple, Doyle two triples. Steve Sumpter a triple and Jeff April a double.

The Dodgers rolled over the Indians, 12-2, with Mike Doherty the winner. Chris Polito had a triple and single, Doherty a triple and single and Bob Moriarty a triple. Bill Reardon was outstanding on defense for the Indians.

3 N.Q. Players Qualify For Bay State Games

Anne Marie Hughes, Elaine Hennebury and Stacey Welch from North Quincy have qualified for the 1984 Bay State Games Scholastic Division soccer competition.

The three are part of the 18-member Metropolitan team selected from qualifying tryouts held at Babson College. As part of the Metropolitan team, the girls will play against Northeast regions today (Thursday) at Northeastern University's Parson Field, and on Saturday at Boston College's Alumni Stadium against the Coastal Region.

Friday night all members of the Bay State Games teams, coaches, and volunteers will gather for an opening ceremony that will be designed to honor Massachusetts Olympians past, present, and future. This event and symbolic torch lighting will attract 3500 persons and the event will be covered on live TV by W.C.V.B. Chronical Program from Alumni Stadium.

There are two divisions of soccer competitions for girls, the open division for those past high school and the scholastic division for those up to the 12th grade.

Hughes will be a junior at North Quincy High. Hennebury a sophomore, while Welch is an entering freshman coming from the Atlantic Middle School. The team is coached by Heather Evans, Boston University's Women's Soccer Coach.

Depending on the outcome of the two scheduled games, the Metropolitan team could advance to the medal round in this Olympic-style tournament. There are six teams in this division state wide.

NHL, College All-Stars In Jimmy Fund Game July 26

The New England Pro-Am Hockey League will present its first annual 'Jimmy Fund' game featuring National Hockey League and College All-Stars at the Quincy Youth Arena, Thursday, July 26, at 7 p.m.

The benefit game has received commitments from NHL All-Stars including goalie Tom Barrasso of the Buffalo Sabres. Barrasso was named NHL Rookie of the Year for the past season.

Players from teams all over the league have also committed their appearance. Players such as Nick Fotiu of the New York Rangers, Joe Mullen, St. Louis Blues; Rich Costello, Toronto Maple Leafs; Bob Carpenter and Rod Langway, Washington Capitals; Phil Bourque and Andy Brinkley, Pittsburgh Penguins; Ralph Cox and Bobby Miller, of European teams.

Top collegiate stars from Boston College, Boston University, Providence, RPI, Northeastern University, UNH, Lowell and Harvard will also play.

The 1984 U.S. Olympics stars Mark Kumpel and Paul Guay will appear.

Tickets can be purchased at The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock Street; Ralph's Barber Shop, 322 Washington Street, Quincy; Balducci's Pizza Shop, 35 Billings Road, North Quincy; and at the Quincy Youth Arena, 60 Murphy Memorial Drive, Quincy.

Admission is a tax deductible donation of $5.

Sioux, Blaeser Romp

Bart Blaeser scored four goals and had one assist and Chris Conway one goal and three assists in the Sioux's 12-5 rout of the Gophers in the high school division of the N.E. Pro-Am Hockey League.

Trailing early by a 2-0 deficit, Blaeser, and Paul Vey's hat trick started the Sioux on their way to the biggest scoring spree of the season. Joe Sweeney also had two goals and Jeff Blaeser three assists, while Dave Curcua and Tim Roberts had one each.

The Badgers remained undefeated with a 5-4 win over the Bulldogs. Chris Marshall had one goal and one assist, while Mike Brennan, Tom Leahy, Adam Hayes and Ted Hohmann each scored one.

Steve Currie had two goals and one assist and Larry Rooney one goal and one assist for the Bulldogs.

The Tigers won their first game over the Pioneers, 7-4. Silver Lake stars Scott Newell and Pat Lydon had two goals apiece, while Brian Geary, Chuck Pompeo and Steve Goshin each scored one. Jim Duché, Scott Barker, and Mike Battaglini scored for the Pioneers.

Islanders Hold Junior Lead

Jack Hauswirth of Watertown and Billy Nolan of Columbus each scored two goals to pace the Junior Islanders over the Clovers by a score of 8-2 in the junior division of the N.E. Pro-Am Hockey League.

The Clovers never got untracked as the Islanders put 28 shots on net in their scoring spree. Recent NHL draftees Dave Buckley and Joe MacInnis also scored as did Bill Collins and Brian Ferreira. Chris Stapleton, entering Boston College in the fall, had four assists (4) and Tim Sweeney of Weymouth North had three.

Tom Corliss of UMass Boston and Chester Hallice allowed only one goal each. The Nordiques, one point behind the Islanders, got two goals from Doug Atkinson and singles from Dave Capuano, Ted Donato and Scott Rettew. Donato also had two assists. Leading goaltender David Littman of LaSalle Academy didn't allow any goals during his stint in the net for the Nordiques. Billy Nash had two goals for the losing Devils and Joe DiGiacomo one. Jerry Stonehouse had two assists.

In the final game of the night, J.P. Gillen scored three goals and Chris Spillane and Mark LeDonne two each, to pace the Whalers to a 10-1 romp over the Bruins. The third place Whalers put 36 shots on Rich Burchill and Alan Perry, while Bob Deraney and Dave Delfino enjoyed an easy night at the opposite end. Rich Kuzmeski had three assists and Pat Carli and Mark LaChance two each for the winners. Paul Sheehy had the lone goal for the Bruins.

Devils Tie For First

Mark Roberto's late third period goal knocked off the Clovers, and enabled the Devils to tie for first place in the Senior Division of the N.E. Pro-Am Hockey League playing at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Roberto, an All-American from Norwich, showed why he was selected by the Hockey Writers as his determination paid off against a strong Clovers team. The Bruins, led by Neil Shea's goal at 13:34, assisted by Nick Fotiu, beat the Islanders, 5-4. Bruce Gillies and Cleon Daskakakis displayed their usual fine goaltending in this battle of evenly matched teams. Shea, who had an earlier goal, was joined by Fotiu, Dan Potter, and Steve Lyons who had singletons. Fotiu and NHL counterpart Tom O'Regan each had two assists. For the Islanders goals were scored by Don McCoy, Tim Mitchell, Robin Monicon and Kevin Stevens.

David Littman, entering his senior year at LaSalle Academy in Rhode Island, recorded the first shutout in New England Pro-Am Hockey League history by beating the Whalers, 5-0. Littman was drafted by scout Red Fleming for the Junior Nordiques and filled in for All-American Keith Houghton of Babson who was injured for Wednesday's game. Goal scorers for the Nordiques were: Bob Hehir (2), Tad Merritt, Ken Bielski, and St. Louis star Joe Mullen. Mullen also had two assists as did LaRue of Boston College.

Wollaston Wins Junior Legion Title

Bob Brigham had three hits, scored two runs and batted in another to lead the Wollaston Junior Legion baseball team to a 6-3 victory over Morrisette to win the Eastern Norfolk County championship at Adams Field.

The two teams were tied for first place with five wins and three defeats apiece when the remainder of the season had to be called off to give the local titlist an opportunity to take part in the playoffs leading to the national tournament.

Morrisette collected 11 hits off Mahn, the Wollaston pitcher, including two each by Ray Cattaneo and Warren Mills, but clutch pitching by Mahn and the defensive play of shortstop Dave Burke, who handled 13 chances, kept Morrisette at bay.

The lineup for Coach George (Boots) Chapman's Wollaston nine included Hamond 2b, Cahill cf, Mahn p, Casey 2b, Burke ss, Spear c, Carpenter rf, Brigham lb, Erickson lf.

The lineup for Coach Pryor Hall's Morrisette club included Mills 2b, Halloran rf-lb, Salvucci cf, J. Cattaneo 3b, Leone c, R. Cattaneo ss, Doherty rf, Miller lf, Burrill lb-p, Reynolds rf, Marini p.

The same two teams had wound up the regular season with a 5-5 tie, which was saved for Morrisette when Ray Cattaneo came up with an unassisted double play in the ninth inning with what would have been Wollaston's winning run on third base.

A few days earlier, Wollaston had spoiled Morrisette's bid to go ahead in the title chase when Buster Spear, Phil Hammond, Charles Cahill, Bob Carpenter and Jack Casey put together five hits for five runs in the seventh and a 6-3 victory.

McCAULEY NO-HITTER

Eddie McCauley pitched a no-hitter and struck out seven and Dom Scanlon bolted a double and a triple as Sacred Heart of North Quincy blanked St. John's 7-0 in a CYO league game at Kincaide Park.

The Sacred Heart lineup included Worthley 2b, Scanlon rf, Hines ss, McGuigan c, Duval cf, McCauley p, Keaney lf, McCabe lb, McOnville 3b.

The St. John's lineup included Salvaggio 2b, Pattenelli lf, McCallum 3b, Dinardo p, Gambino lb, Crosta rf, Panarelli ss, Salvaggi cf, Pasquale ph, Salvaggio c.

COMETS WIN

Southpaw Dick Kelly scattered 10 hits and his teammates erupted for five runs in the seventh inning as the Comets overwhelmed Robbie Williams' Sacred Heart team, 8-2, in a Quincy Park League game at Kincaide Park.

The Comets lineup included Koury 2b, McKinnon 2b, Kerr rf, Hall lb, Bandini lf, Driscoll c, J. Frazier ss, C. Frazier ss, Gagne 3b, Mahoney cf, Kelly p.

The Sacred Heart lineup included Johnson ss, J. Donovan lb, Sweeney 2b, Creedon cf, R. Donovan rf, M. Donovan 3b, Higgins lf, McGuigan ss, Murphy p.

Wollaston Holds Slim Lead Over Morrisette

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Wollaston Legion baseball team, after losing to Morrisette, 5-1, Sunday, rolled by Weymouth, 9-2, Monday night to hold its half-game lead over Morrisette. Morrisette defeated Quincy, 10-5, Monday. Wollaston is 9-3 and Morrisette 8-3 in their Zone 6 division.

Wollaston will play at Milton Friday night at 6, will be at Holbrook Monday night at 8:30 and will be home to Quincy next Wednesday night at 8 at Adams Field.

Morrisette must face undefeated Baintree, leader in Zone 6A, tonight (Thursday) at 8 at Adams and Friday at Baintree at 6 o'clock. It will meet Milton Tuesday night at 8 at Adams.

Quincy hosts Mass. Truck Friday at 8 at Adams, will be home to Baintree Monday at 8 at Adams and will play Wollaston next Wednesday, also at 8 at Adams.

John Comeau (2-0) pitched an excellent game and struck out seven in Wollaston's win Monday over Weymouth. Steve Higgins had a double and drove in three runs and Steve Hogan chipped in with two hits.

Morrisette received a scare Monday from last place Quincy (1-10), which scored two runs in the fourth and two in the fifth to move into a 5-5 tie. However, clutch hitting by Denis Cronin and fine relief pitching from Jack Outerbridge enabled Morrisette to rally for its win.

Outerbridge relieved starter Scott Mele in the fifth with the score tied, after allowing a walk, got the next two batters and pitched hitless ball to record his fifth win in six appearances.

Cronin tripled in two runs in the third, scoring Jack Bolster and Mele and drove in the two go-ahead runs in the seventh with a single scoring Chris Bunker and Bolster. Dan Shea had an RBI double, Chris Marshall an RBI single, Tom Ryan had a single and two RBI and Rich Brooks an RBI single.

Paul Arroyo drove in three runs with a double and single and Vic DiGravio drove in the other two runs with two hits.

Sunday Cronin broke up a scoreless game with a two-run single in the fourth and scored himself after two wild pitches to spark the big win over Wollaston.

Paul Ratti started and pitched his best game for Morrisette, giving up three hits. He ran into trouble in the fifth when Wollaston scored its run and gave way to Outerbridge, who put out the fire and breezed through the last two innings.

Morrisette added two runs in the fifth when Ratti reached on an error, moved to second on a sacrifice by Dan Kelly and scored on Shea's single. Chris Bunker, who had another big day with three hits, drove in Shea.

Mele, who played well at third base, made a brilliant play to start a critical double play which prevented at least one run and possibly more from scoring. Mike Joyce, filling in for Bolster, had a double and Kelly had a single. Wollaston's only hits were by Mark Hubbard, starting pitcher Higgins and Joe Conti.

Wollaston had a perfect 3-0 record last week, edging Carter Post of Dorchester, 2-1, with Hogan pitching his third victory. Hubbard had two hits and Keith Smith drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Wollaston bombed Quincy, 17-3, as Mike Notarangelo pitched two-hit ball and struck out 12 and was backed up by a 14-hit attack. Higgins, Hogan, Smith and Bob McElaney had two hits each.

Wollaston came from behind to score a big 11-3 win over Hingham, which is in the thick of the battle for first place.

Hingham scored three runs off Hogan in the first inning but he breezed over the next six innings, striking out five, for his fourth win. Conti had a triple and single, drove in three runs and scored two and Bob Campbell hit a home run and also had a single.

Morrisette won a wild 18-10 decision over Holbrook, led by the hitting of Bunker and Bolster. Every Morrisette player either drove in a run or scored one.

Holbrook scored four in the first but Morrisette came back to score three and, after Holbrook had taken a 5-3 lead in the fourth, tied the game when Bolster (2-for-3 and two RBI) tripled in Bunker and he scored on Mele's single. In the fifth inning Morrisette sent 13 batters to the plate and scored eight times to put the game out of reach. Brooks had a two-run triple as Morrisette added five in the sixth.

Earlier Morrisette had lost a tough 4-3 decision to Mass. Truck when winning pitcher Chuck Pompeo, with the tying and winning runs on second and third with no outs in the seventh, struck out two batters and got the third on a grounder to get the win.

Luckless Quincy turned in one of its better efforts against Holbrook, which had to go three extra innings to win, 10-5, in 10.

Quincy took a 2-0 lead in the first on a triple by Jim McNamara and singles by Joe Ciardi and Vic DiGravio. Holbrook took a 5-2 lead but Quincy tied it on a triple by Mark Chambers and singles by Mike Kubera and Jerry Arroyo.

Kubera pitched nine-plus innings but ran into trouble in the 10th when Holbrook exploded for five runs.

Quincy also lost to Weymouth, 14-8, as Weymouth scored seven runs in the second inning.

Daskalakis On 'Sportalk' July 16

Former Boston University hockey star, Cleon Daskalakis, who recently signed with the Boston Bruins, will be Patti Myers' special guest on a repeat performance of "Sportalk" Monday, July 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Joining him on the program to talk about the New England Pro-Am League are League Directors Mike and Bob O'Connell, and Joe Lyons, who is a scout for the Boston Bruins and the league's Director of Player Personnel.

Along with NHL players Nick Foturi from the N.Y. Rangers, Joe Mullen from St. Louis, Tom O'Regan and Andy Brickley from Pittsburgh, Daskalakis plays in the League's Senior Division, which features three games at Quincy's Youth Arena starting at 6:30 p.m.

Other highlights of the

season include the appearance of former Action/Boxboro star and Rookie-of-the-Year Tom Barraso in a Jimmy Fund game Thursday, July 26, and an all-star game against the Detroit area Junior Red Wings in August.

25 Advance To Finals In Hershey Track

Over 25 youngsters from Quincy have advanced to the state finals of the Hershey National Track and Field competition. All have been winners in the local competition sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Track Club and advance to the finals by posting one of the top eight finishes from over 30 other local meets state wide.

Winners of the State Meet have the opportunity to advance to the National Finals in Hershey Park, Pennsylvania. The state finals will be held on Saturday, July 14, at Baintree High School.

Pellagrini Baseball Clinic At Adams Field July 19

The Quincy Recreation Department, together with the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton, will sponsor the annual Eddie Pellagrini free baseball clinic Thursday, July 19, at 10 a.m. at Quincy's Adams Field.

The program is open to boys and girls age 6 and above and is conducted as part of the city's playground program.

Assistants to Pellagrini, a member of the 1946 pennant winning Red Sox, are John (Tinker) Connelley of Northeastern University, Bob DeFelise, former minor league catcher and head coach of Bentley College; Dick (Moe) Maloney, head coach of Watertown High and former Boston College pitching coach, and Frank Nilcs, former infielder of the Kansas City Royals.

Recreation Director

Barry Welch said, "Although not on the official clinic teaching staff, Quincy's Dick Donovan, who spent 15 years as a Major League pitcher winning 122 games has made an appearance at the Quincy Recreation Department clinic to work with the hometown youngsters."

Pellagrini is the baseball coach at Boston College, and has held that position since 1954. This is his 11th year doing baseball clinics during the summer months.

The staff will instruct the youngsters on hitting, fielding, pitching, catching and base running, and the Pepsi-Cola Company will provide free beverages for all participants. No registration is necessary.

Jaehnig Club In 43-42 Win

The Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy scored a 43-42 comeback victory over the Troubled Shooters to improve its record to 11-3 in the Ridge Racquet Club summer basketball league.

The Jaehnig Club opened playoff action last night (Wednesday).

The Jaehnig Club, with only five players available, trailed the entire game and was down by 12 points with less than 10 minutes to play. Timely shooting and aggressive defense sparked the comeback as it took the lead with less than a minute remaining. A last-second shot by the losers bounced off the rim.

Mark Jaehnig had 24 points and Jeff Timberlake scored 10 of his 14 in the second half. D. Jaehnig had four points and Steve and Mike Jaehnig played

Earlier the Jaehnig Club had defeated Baintree and the Busters, but lost a 41-35 decision to the Cutters. Chuck Jaehnig kept the Quincy club close in the Cutter game with 21 points.

Andy Walsh Elected QSO President

Andy Walsh was unanimously elected president of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra at the annual meeting held recently at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

This is the second time that Walsh, a violinist with the orchestra, has accepted the position.

As president, Walsh will be responsible for overseeing business development of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

A member of the orchestra for some 12 years, he has been playing the violin since the age of 6. He is the owner of Walsh's Restaurant, 9 Billings Road, in North Quincy.

ANDY WALSH, shown in rehearsal, is the new president of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

Mom & Tot Fitness Program

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy Center, is offering "Mom & Tot Fun & Fitness", a program for mothers and their child aged one and two years old. These classes involve fitness instruction, gymnastics, aerobics, ball skills, stretching coordination, and strength exercises. Classes are held once a week for six weeks Tuesday, 12:15 p.m. to 1 p.m. starting July 10 through August 14 and the fee is $18.00.

For more information please contact Anne Rosa at the YMCA at 479-8500.

Storycrafts Begin July 17 At Crane Main Library

A six-week series of storycrafts will begin Tuesday, July 17 at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq.

The special programs for children ages eight through 12 will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesdays July 17, 24, 31, and Aug. 7, 14, and 25.

Storycrafts demonstrate low or no-cost craft activities that youngsters can do at home. Each craft is related to the stories and book talks that are shared during the program. Portions of each program will be videotaped for later showing on Quincy's community television station, Ch. 3.

There is a wide variety of programs.

The program "Tombstone Tales" features books and stories set in cemeteries. "In And Around Boston" highlights books with a Boston setting or written by Boston authors. "Try This" is a parade of activity and craft books full of ideas for leisure time.

Two popular author-artists star in "The Zany Zemblachs".

An intriguing look at music, musicians, and instruments is taken in "Music: From Books to Bongos".

Paul Goble, author and illustrator, is noted for his works on the Plains Indians. His books and others on Native Americans are the basis for "Teepee Tales".

WEEK OF: JULY 12, 1984

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You and partner are starting to see eye to eye on the matter of finances, but there's still some friction on the subject of relatives. Higherup is attentive to your recent ideas.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Family activities dominate the week - expect the unexpected through this period. If any negotiations are in progress, you may be able to hold out a little longer.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Imagination is strong and this is a good week to advance ideas or even patent an invention. Selectivity is keyword in friendship matters. Romantic expectation may be unrealistic.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Good week for making job applications or going after romantic goal. Real estate matter may be subject to delay. Narrow-minded friend starts to broaden his/her scope.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Delicious rumors you hear are not entirely reliable. Long-term family debate is settled thanks to your light approach. In new relationship, the key is to discover common interests.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Although some of life's good things can come your way this week, you have little time to sit back and enjoy them. Careerwise, be sure you're not lowering your standards.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Budgets are subject to scrutiny through the week. Opinionated relative softens his/her approach. Romantic bond is strengthened through weekend. Decorating project may be launched now.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Scholarship is the accent of the week. At home or away, you enjoy the cultural side of life. You may be asked to share in a family expense.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
A close friend reveals a more serious side of his or her personality, and a family member is unusually supportive. Professional goal appears within view.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Watch tendency to make changes for their own sake. In romance, you should think twice before playing the waiting game. Imagination is uncommonly strong all week.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Domestic tensions increase by the weekend - it may be time to call in an objective arbitrator. Spend ample time reviewing family health needs. Opportunity arises for earning extra cash.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Too many projects may be on your plate and the key this week is to assign priorities to your various tasks. Communication matters improve and payments may arrive at long last.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You know how to make people feel comfortable - and as a result your home is often a drop-in center. You're flexible - which is a plus. But your moods fluctuate a little too much for loved one's comfort. Pet project receives major support through the next twelve months.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 12th, comedian Bill Cosby; 13th, host Dave Garroway; 14th, actress Polly Bergen; 15th, singer Linda Rondstadt; 16th, actress Ginger Rogers; 17th, actress Diahann Carroll; 18th, actor Hume Cronyn.

Williams, Lonborg, Mele On Sun Ch. 8 Thursday

Ted Williams, Jim Lonborg and Quincy's Sam Mele headline a special sports program on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 Thursday, July 12.

The three former Red Sox stars appear in "Fenway Memories" to be shown at 8 p.m. immediately following the Quincy Sun

Ch. 8 7:30 p.m. News Report.

The trio were interviewed by Charles Ross at the Red Sox Old Timers game. Highlights of that game are also shown.

Mele, in another segment, recalls 1965 the year he led the Minnesota Twins to the American League pennant as manager.

He also shows a number of photos from that pennant winning year and others with teammates at Fenway Park.

"Fenway Memories" is sponsored by Colman's Sporting Goods Store.

It will be repeated on Sun Ch. 8 Friday at 6:30 p.m.

Koch Club Flag Day Parade On Sun Ch. 8

The Koch Club annual Flag Day parade and ceremonies will be shown as a special feature on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 Monday, July 16.

The program, "It's A Grand Old Flag-A Koch Club Salute" will be shown at 8 p.m. following the 7:30 p.m. Sun Ch. 8 News Report.

The program, sponsored by the Granite Cooperative Bank, will be repeated Wednesday, July 18 at 6:30 p.m.

During the program, Richard J. Koch, founder and director of the Koch Club reminisces about John F. Kennedy who was the club's only honorary member.

The late President did not like hats but he is shown wearing a Koch Club baseball cap when he was made honorary member.

Patient Services Affected

Hospital, Union At Odds On Staffing

By JOHN NOONAN

Unexpected absences of key personnel providing patient care coupled with the financial restraints of the hospital cost containment law (Chapter 373) may result in a lack of certain patient services on occasion.

That was the answer given by Quincy City Hospital and city officials to charges raised by Union Local 285 (Service Employees International Union AFL-CIO) at the hospital that "understaffing has reached intolerable proportions" in recent months.

Union representatives have been circulating petitions outlining some 28 concerns regarding services to patients and the lack of sufficient personnel at the hospital.

Among the union complaints are:

- Patients receiving poor hygiene due to lack of staff resulting in patients not being shaved, groomed, hair washed, not receiving mouth care, and quick inadequate baths.

- Family members of patients carrying bed pans, changing bed clothing and doing other nursing duties.

- Nurses not having sufficient time to spend talking with their patients to allay patient's anxieties.

Union representatives said some hospital employees had been harassed by managerial supervisors for signing the petition and wearing a purple ribbon to focus public attention on the understaffing concerns of the union.

Hospital Director Mark J. Mundy denies that the hospital is understaffed.

He cites the nursing hours per patient days as one criterion.

"Quincy Hospital is in a very positive position when it comes to nursing hours per patient day and compares quite favorably with other similar hospitals in the area," Mundy said.

Mundy said it is difficult to control problems arising on occasion when key hospital employees who provide patient care are suddenly or unexpectedly absent from their jobs.

The hospital director also said the enactment of the hospital cost containment law (Chapter 372) in 1982 places severe restraints on the operating costs of hospitals and use of revenue resources.

Mundy denied also that there was any existing hospital policy regarding harassing employees for union activities of signing petitions.

He said that if patients are being denied needed services it has not been brought to his attention and that he would certainly request that such concerns be reported to him directly for remedial action.

Quincy Hospital has been managed by the Hospital Corporation of America since January, 1981.

The Hospital has been operating in the black, so-called since 1981 when HCA instituted new management procedures, computerization, and other administrative innovations.

Mundy was asked if the new multi-million dollar hospital rebuilding program and the implementation of cost efficiency measures resulted in a sacrificing of quality patient care.

"It is my firm belief that there is a direct correlation between efficient management and effective health care, the more efficient the management the more effective the health care," replied Mundy.

Mayor McCauley said that he had received some letters and calls from individuals who were concerned with the hospital staffing. He said that he had asked Mundy for a complete up-to-date report on employee staffing.

The Mayor also agreed that Chapter 372, a Proposition 2½ of sorts for hospitals, could result in staffing problems but he was not aware of any at Quincy Hospital.

He had high praise for the calibre of services rendered by the nurses and other personnel at Quincy Hospital and pointed out that he feels the hospital is operating efficiently without diminution of quality patient care.

McCauley Stands Pat

Another Special Council Meeting In Budget Battle

The "Battle of the Budget" continues.

City Council President James A. Sheets has called another special meeting of the City Council for tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.—the second special session in seven days over the budget.

Meanwhile, Mayor Francis X. McCauley shows no signs of budging from his stand on the budget.

He says he will not submit a new budget for $69,544,527 unanimously requested by the City Council last week. "No new request will be forthcoming," he said, flatly.

The Mayor was responding to a council order passed 9-0 requesting him to submit the $69,544,527 figure to cover the city's operating expenses for the remainder of the fiscal year. The new fiscal year which started more than two weeks ago.

McCauley told The Quincy Sun he would be monitoring very closely whatever budget action the City Council may take at tonight's special meeting.

He said he was standing pat because he had submitted what he considered to be the proper budget for $75,866,757 to cover proposed expenditures for the fiscal year. He sent this budget to the council for approval April 17.

The City Council took issue with the Mayor's budget on the grounds that it failed to provide funding for some 13 vacant fire and police positions.

Instead of passing the Mayor's budget as submitted, Council passed an appropriation order in the amount of $6.3 million or one twelfth of the entire budget proposal.

McCauley contends that his budget is the proper and legal budget and so states again in a memo that "on June 5, 1984 City Solicitor Dean P. NiCastro issued an opinion that, based on the Council's failure to take proper action on the budget recommendations, the Mayor's budget in the amount of $75,866,757.27 has taken effect, as submitted, by operation of the law. That opinion was reaffirmed by Solicitor NiCastro on July 10, 1984."

Last week McCauley issued a directive to three department heads, City Auditor Robert Foy III, Treasurer Collector Franklin Jay and Assessors Chairman Elmer K. (Mike) Fagerlund to comply with the $75.8 million budget for the year's operating expenses.

Ordinance Committee To Meet

The Ordinance Committee of the City Council will meet tonight (Thursday) at 6:45 p.m.

Agenda items include: Amending the city ordinance to require that six foot fences be erected

City Auditor Foy, an appointee of the city council, was asked by city councillor Stephen McGrath at last week's special meeting under which budget the city was operating.

Foy said the city was operating under the one twelfth budget approved by the City Council and certified by City Clerk John Gillis. Foy said he was abiding by that budget in carrying on the financial affairs of the city to date.

Councillors John Lydon and Joanne Condon, charged that McCauley was playing games with the budget, city employees and services.

McGrath who is the only lawyer on the city council said he had read the NiCastro opinions in detail and has serious differences of opinions with NiCastro on the budget issue.

McGrath suggested that it may become necessary to seek "another or third impartial opinion" for resolution of the impasse.

McCauley said he hoped there would not be a lawsuit over the budget.

around privately owned swimming pools. The present ordinance calls for five foot fences. The amendment would apply only to newly constructed pools.

Reisberg Named Harbormaster

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has appointed Bernard Reisberg as harbormaster for the City of Quincy.

Reisberg will fill the unexpired term of Ralph Hood who has resigned. He is the owner of Bernie's Modern Formal Shops in Quincy Center and West Quincy. He is a director and past president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Reisberg is a member of several area yacht clubs, Aleppo Yacht Club, Circle

Yacht Club, International Shriners Yacht Club and the Metropolitan Yacht Club. He served as President of the Commodore's Club of America 1977-1978, was President of Quincy Bay Race Week Association 1978 and presently serves as Vice Commodore of the Massachusetts Bay Yacht Clubs Association.

Reisberg is a past instructor and examiner for the Coast Guard. He served as captain of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and was recipient of the Class III Award eight years ago. Reisberg has been an assistant harbormaster for the city for the past eight years.

Landlords Must Pay Interest On Security Deposits

Governor Dukakis has signed into law legislation sponsored by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) that requires landlords to pay tenants interest on rent paid in advance for the last month's rent or security deposit.

In order to assure the landlord payment in case property is damaged or tenants leave without notice, often times tenants are required to pay a security deposit or rent one month in advance.

The new law requires landlords to pay interest on those payments at a rate of five percent per year. The interest will be paid to the tenants at the end of every year. If the landlord fails to pay the interest within one month after the tenancy is terminated, the tenant is entitled to an amount equal to three times the amount of interest.

"While it's certainly legitimate for landlords to require a security deposit or payment in advance for the last month's rent, they should pay tenants interest for the privilege of holding the money," said Brownell.

Budget Battle Campaign Issue?

Mayor Francis McCauley and the City Council are looking more and more like a political version of the Hatfields and McCoys.

The longer the feud over the city budget goes on and the hotter it gets, the closer a councillor may move to the role of Mayoral challenger.

The one most apt to take on McCauley in next year's city election is Council President James Sheets.

Sheets tells friends he has no plans to run for mayor next year. But, doesn't say he won't.

He thinks someone should run against McCauley. And right now, reportedly, is more willing to do it himself if no one else will.

McCauley got a free ride to a second term last year — only the second mayor in Quincy's history to run unopposed for re-election. The first was Mayor Thomas Burgin in 1940.

It's very doubtful McCauley will have that honor against next year. The opposition is out shopping for a candidate right now. Whether they can keep McCauley from a third term remains to be seen but at the very least, they plan to make him work — and spend — for it.

Sheets' entry into the mayoral ring would be propelled mainly by his strong feeling that McCauley is moving toward making the mayorship a dictatorship.

A student of government he firmly believes the two branches — executive and legislative — should be a check and balance on one another.

McCauley has strong convictions too. One that Quincy's Plan A Charter calls for a "strong mayor" type of government. And, he's being a strong mayor. Sheets, however, thinks McCauley is becoming somewhat dictatorial in his dealings with the City Council and at least two department heads who are Council appointees.

McCauley contends that the $75.8 million budget he submitted to the City Council is the "legal and valid" one.

He notes that City Solicitor Dean Nicastro has twice upheld that point.

But the Council approved only one-twelfth of the money in opposition to the mayor not filling 13 vacant fire and police positions. They contend the public's safety is being jeopardized.

McCAULEY

Sheets says that McCauley has twice called City Clerk John Gillis, a council appointee, to his office in attempts to get him to certify McCauley's budget. Gillis has refused.

"He's trying to strip the powers of the city clerk," says Sheets.

McCauley issued a directive ordering City Auditor Robert Foy,

GILLIS

Treasurer Collector Franklin Jay and Assessors Chairman Elmer (Mike) Fagerlund "to comply" with his budget.

He says the directive is based on his responsibilities as mayor and on Nicastro's opinions.

Foy, who is appointed by the City Council, has sided with the council and is complying not with McCauley's budget but with the council's.

Sheets says McCauley is trying to place the city auditor under the mayor.

"That's intolerable," he says.

The budget battle might also move Gillis into the mayoral ring next year. But it is highly unlikely that both Sheets and Gillis would get in. It would be one or the other.

Gillis has flirted with the idea of running for mayor and came close to it last year. There are those urging him to run next year. There is money and other support waiting for him if he says "yes."

But how big an issue is this "Battle of the Budget" among voters? Who is paying close attention to it outside of police, firefighters, and City Hall observers?

Are the voters following all the feuding and fussing or is it all being lost in the shuffle of summer activities — the beach, the pool, vacations, the backyard cookouts? Is anyone really closely following what's going on? Does anyone really care?

SELLING AT A LOSS

QUESTION: It looks like I'm the exception to the rule. I put a lot of money into renovating an overpriced home and now, due to personal problems, I'll have to sell at a loss. Any suggestions?

ANSWER: You might consider renting the house out for at least one year before selling. In that way, the house will be considered a business investment and you can deduct the loss as a business expense from your income. Also, while you're renting it out, you can also benefit from other real estate tax benefits such as depreciation. If you sell a house which is your primary residence and take a loss, this loss is not tax deductible.

THERE ARE WAYS TO soften the blow if you sell your home at a loss.

City Council Committee on Health and Hospitals, said she had not been apprised of staffing problems but as an individual she would check into any understaffing concerns.

what it can do because HCA and the mayor are directly involved in the contractual negotiations with unions.

Toland said that the hospital cost containment law could impact on hospital operating costs, personnel and services.

MHFA Has $114 Million For Low Interest Mortgages

Rep. Michael M. Morrissey (D-Quincy) announces that the Mass. Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) is making available a total of $114 million through its low interest mortgage program for qualified first-time homebuyers.

The funds are available at the fixed 30 year rate of 11.75 per cent and for a minimum downpayment of five per cent.

Of the funds, $40 million will be reserved for general lending and $74 million will be reserved for use in special programs. These programs are designed to assist in the revitalization of some of the older neighborhoods, stimulate new single family home construction and aid persons who have been shut out of the mortgage market because of income or special needs.

The Quincy based banks participating in this program are Multi-Bank Mortgage ($250,000), Quincy Savings ($590,000), and South Shore Bank ($250,000). In total, the Quincy banks will be offering $840,000 for general lending programs and $250,000 for high priority loans.

Applicants for general lending funds will be selected through lender-based lotteries to ensure everyone has an opportunity to apply. Lottery applications will be accepted by these lenders during normal banking hours between Monday, July 30, and Friday, Aug. 3. Each lender will hold a lottery the following Wednesday, Aug. 8, to select a pool of applicants for available funds. Lottery applications can be submitted only once at only one lender location.

High priority loans will be available through participating lenders during normal banking hours on a first come first serve basis starting Monday, July 30. Those eligible for this program include Vietnam Era Veterans, minority households, and the physically handicapped.

In order to be eligible for the programs, the applicant must submit an executed purchase and sale agreement.

Morrissey as vice-chairman of the Housing & Urban Development Committee was instrumental in the development of this program.

"The lottery provides an equitable solution to many of the problems which the MHFA and the participating banks have encountered in the past," Morrissey said. "Last year, the general lending program operated on a first come first serve basis and the banks were overwhelmed by the large number of people who anxiously waited in line for the start of the program. Many applicants were upset because they were unable to obtain loans after having waited outside their respective banks for several days.

"Also, banks complained that the large crowds disrupted daily banking business. I believe that the lottery system will help alleviate the long lines and large crowds at the participating banks."

Morrissey urged a continued support for a well balanced systematic voucher system to ensure a fair and equitable review of all mortgage applications.

For further information contact Morrissey's office at 722-2470.

Houghs Neck Loses Bid For Woman School Principal

Houghs Neck residents apparently lost out in their bid to have Miss Elizabeth Garrity, a teacher in the Quincy school system for 42 years, named principal of the newly enlarged Atherton Hough School.

The Quincy School Committee refused to reconsider its appointment of H. Forrest Wilson to the post and Committeeman Col. Warren E. Sweetser proposed a resolution that only men be named schoolmasters.

There were two other women principals of Quincy schools, Miss Margaret Sweeney of Gridley Bryant School and Miss Lucy Hennigar of Willard School.

CRIME RATE DOWN

Police Chief Ernest H. Bishop, speaking over Radio WNAC in Squantum, proudly announced that Quincy has less vice and liquor traffic than any city of its size in the country.

"We have had very few serious crimes in the last few years and it is a saying among the crooks that you had better keep away from Quincy," said Bishop.

"We claim that Quincy is free of vice and liquor trafficking than any city of our size in the country and this claim is endorsed by federal officials."

FORE RIVER UNAFFECTED

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams said that President Hoover's order to suspend construction of cruisers applied only to government shipyards and would have no effect on the $11 million cruiser slated to be built at Fore River.

Meanwhile, the John A. Boyd Camp of United Spanish War Veterans was spearheading a campaign to have the new cruiser named "Quincy" in honor of the city in which it was to be built.

Harriet Goldman Re-elected Head Of Mayor's Commission

Harriet G. Goldman, a Quincy native and Holbrook school teacher, was recently elected head of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Also elected were: Carol Ann Speranzo, co-chairman, owner of a Wollaston Optical Company; Phyllis Rudnick, secretary to the Board, real estate agent; and Sarah Philips, secretary to the Board, Harvard librarian.

The Commission is a volunteer group appointed by the Mayor which conducts workshops, support groups and special functions geared toward women's issues. The Commission served in a community Outreach Program at both the Beechwood Community Center and Squantum Women's Club.

Highlights of this year's program have been Women's Health Day in cooperation with Quincy City Hospital and Quincy Cooperative Bank, and the 7th Annual Women to Women Day hosted 300 women at Woodward School for Girls with Sarah Anne Shaw of WBZ-TV as Keynote Speaker.

The Commission was a motivating force behind DOVE and this fall will be instrumental in forming a Latch-Key Day Care Program on Tuesday afternoons for school age children at Beechwood Life Center.

Any persons interested in the Commission should call Harriet Goldman at the Mayor's Office in Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The next time a bid for cooperation is stressed, in any sort of venture, the following illustration might be used to excellent advantage.

A concert is enjoyed only when each musician does his part. Individual renditions when given separately from the over all orchestration, are never as interesting or exciting. In any sort of venture, people working together create a working team similar to a good orchestra. Each player in the symphony is an individual with his specified part to play. Any foul up by the individual detracts from the finished result - or product. Similarly, every worker in a team is important with his own function to perform.

Each player in the symphony has to keep in mind the listener, playing his part so well that the listener can find nothing to criticize. Similarly, each worker in any venture must think of the person who will use his product or service.

ONLY when this is done can each participant have a common joy in a finished product or service. . . . Much of today's criticism of service and/or products can be completely avoided if this sort of illustration is remembered - and stressed.

'Trust Beyond Belief' Sermon Topic At Bethany

During the summer at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy, there will be only one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Trust Beyond Belief," based on the scriptural text from 11 Corinthians 12:1-10. Jean Ross will be the lay scripture reader.

Joan Drelles and Carol Massey will sing the duet "Be Thou My Vision," based on a traditional Irish melody. Bethany's Director of Music, Peter E. Krasinski, will be at the organ console.

The Church School is closed for the summer. However, nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided.

The service will be broadcast by delayed tape at 11 a.m. over radio station

WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to share in both the worship and the fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's ministry and program, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

'Act Of Faith' Sermon Topic At Squantum Church

"An Act of Faith" was the title of the sermon preached at both services Sunday at the First Church of Squantum by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

It was the second of two sermons that Dr. Langevin has been preaching on the subject of Christian baptism.

At the early service Mary Ruth Scott provided the guitar accompaniment for the hymns. Marie Hurd and Michael Stamos were the ushers.

At the later service Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. For the offertory, Janet and Lewis Townson sang Cesar Frank's "Panis Angelicus" in Latin. Mary Ruth Scott accompanied on the piano.

This Sunday there will again be two services, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Seven-Up, one of the youth groups for high school students in the church, continues to meet each week Fridays at 7 p.m. The Steering Committee of Seven-Up will meet this Sunday night at 7 p.m.

Vacation Bible School At United Methodist

Vacation Bible School at Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 40 Beale

'The Silent Disease' QCH Program

The Health Promotion Department at Quincy City Hospital invites the public to attend a Luncheon Wellness Program on "The Silent Disease," high blood pressure, in the hospital conference room Friday, July 20, at noon.

Participants may bring their own lunch or purchase one at the hospital. Complimentary beverages will be provided.

According to the hospital, high blood pressure is silent because it has no reliable symptoms and people with elevated blood pressure can feel perfectly normal.

Yet this disease directly affects an estimated 60 million Americans or more than one out of four.

Uncontrolled high blood pressure contributes to almost a million deaths every year and is a major factor in the 500,000 cases of stroke in the United States.

Blood pressure should not be a problem because it can be easily and painlessly detected in less than an minute and can be controlled through simple daily treatment, the hospital says.

During the program there will be a viewing of the videotape "The Silent Disease" produced by the Quincy Community Television Coalition as part of their "Healthvision" series. A handout, "High Blood Pressure, Facts and Fiction" will be available. Those attending may have their blood pressure taken.

For more information on this free Health Promotion, contact Jane Mudge, R.N., M. Ed. at 773-6100, ext. 344.

Harold Hosting Mondale Victory Party

State Senator Paul D. Harold, (D-Quincy), will host a Democratic Convention victory party at his home Thursday night, when city Democratic leaders will gather to hear Democratic Presidential nominee Walter Mondale deliver his acceptance speech.

Harold is a Mondale delegate, and has supported the Mondale candidacy for the past year. He was asked to host the party as a kickoff for the Mondale-Farraro campaign in the area.

Harold participated with Mondale Monday night in a conference telephone call with delegates hosting the convention victory events across the nation, and received Mondale's thanks for sponsoring the event.

Quincy Police Cookout For Retarded July 25

The Quincy Police Betterment Association will sponsor their 14th Field

Day and cookout Wednesday, July 25, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Personnel from the Traffic Department donate their off duty time on this special day to entertain more than 300 retarded young adults, nursing home patients, Happy Acres summer campers, South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens, special need youngsters from Milton, Hingham, Braintree and Weymouth Park Departments and residents from the Fernald, Wrentham and Paul A. Dever State Schools.

There will be games, educational demonstrations and rides of all kinds.

Fund Raiser For Tanner

A fund raiser and reception for Tom Tanner, Democratic candidate for the office of state representative from the Third Norfolk District, comprising a part of Weymouth and Quincy Point, will be held Sunday.

The event will be held at the Great Escape Restaurant (Escape Room), Washington St., Weymouth, from 3 to 6 p.m.

The function will feature complimentary champagne, beer and selected delicacies. Donations are $25 per couple. Tickets may be obtained at the door or may be reserved by calling Committee chairman George Shores at 335-3601.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Morrisette, Wollaston In Showdown Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette and Wollaston Legion baseball teams continue to battle it out for first place in Zone 6.

Following last week's games Morrisette, which handed Braintree its first loss of the season after eight wins, was 10-4 and Wollaston was right on its heels at 10-5.

Friday night at 8 p.m. Morrisette and Wollaston collide in a big one at Adams Field. Morrisette defeated Wollaston, 5-1, in their first meeting. Wollaston ace Steve Hogan will pitch.

Quincy will play at Randolph Friday at 6. Monday Randolph will meet Wollaston at 8 at Adams. Morrisette will beat Hingham and Canton will face Quincy at Adams at 6 and next Wednesday Morrisette will host Randolph at 8 at Adams. Wollaston will be at Mass Truck in Weymouth and Quincy at Carter in Dorchester at 6.

After Braintree had topped Morrisette, 6-4, last Thursday, to make its record 8-0 in Zone 6A, Morrisette coach Ray Cattaneo called upon his standout center fielder, Chris Bunker, to pitch at Braintree the following night to help out a weary pitching corps.

Bunker, one of the league's top hitters, responded with an excellent pitching effort and continued his outstanding hitting as Morrisette scored nine runs in the third inning, sending 14 men to the plate and collecting 10 hits, seven in a row, for an 11-3 victory.

Jack Bolster hit a hom run over the center field fence in the inning. Danny Shea had a two-run double and Bunker drove in two with a single to go along with his other hits, one a long homer in the fifth.

Tom Connolly had two hits, Tom Ryan went 3-for-3, and Rich Brooks 2-for-3, while Dan Kelly also drove in a pair of runs.

The previous night Braintree scored six runs in the first two innings, then held on for a 6-4 win over Morrisette at Adams Field.

Morrisette's comeback was led by Shea's two-run homer along with a triple and a single which drove in Chris Marshall, who had replaced Scott Mele, who had seven stitches taken in his leg after being spiked.

Paul Ratti and Jack Outerbridge shut Braintree down after the second but Morrisette couldn't quite catch up.

Morrisette also defeated Weymouth, 6-3, last week with John Christiani getting the win and Outerbridge the save.

Denis Cronin and Shea had two hits each and Connolly, coming off the bench to replace Kelly, hit a 400-foot homer to center field. Bunker had a run-producing single and Brooks tripled in a run.

Wollaston lost two games last week before defeating Milton, 6-1, to remain a half game behind Morrisette.

Steve Higgins pitched a complete game and struck out 10 last Friday in the win over Milton. He was never in danger as he pitched his best game of the season.

Mike Notarangelo drove in two runs, Rob McElaney had two hits and Brian Gibbons played an outstanding game.

Wollaston dropped an 8-6 decision to Canton as Joe Conti, pitching well, encountered trouble in the fifth as he hit a batter and walked two. John Comeau relieved and was touched up for a three-run double.

Conti's RBI double and Notarangelo's RBI single had given Wollaston a 4-3 lead before Conti faltered on the mound.

Earlier in the week Wollaston dropped a tough 3-1 decision to Braintree. Hogan pitched an outstanding game, getting out of several jams and blanked Braintree in every inning but the second. A wild pitch with the bases loaded and a two-run single gave Braintree its only runs. Conti drove in Wollaston's only run with a long triple.

Monday night Wollaston went to Holbrook only to find out the game was called due to the field being unplayable. However, the umpires appeared and declared the field playable. A decision will be made whether to award Wollaston a forfeit win or have the game made up.

Quincy continues to have little luck and last week lost to Milton and Mass. Truck by 7-0 scores to drop its record to 1-12.

Hurley North Soccer Coach

Mike Hurley has been appointed boys' soccer coach at North Quincy High, replacing Paul Bregoli who recently resigned.

Bregoli, who will continue as girls' basketball coach, brought the Raiders along fast. Last fall they had a 10-2-5 record, their best in seven years, and made the state tournament. Two years ago they were 9-4-4, barely missing a tournament berth.

Russ Hennebury was named assistant coach and will direct the junior varsity squad and work closely with

Hennebury coached in the Quincy Youth League since it began in the fall of 1979.

"North Quincy is fortunate to have him," said Riley. "He knows the players better than I do because he coached many of them in the youth league."

Hennebury took a team of 11 and 12-year boys to Ottawa, Canada, last month. They played a Canadian team that will come to Quincy Aug. 17 for a return set of games.

Hot Shot Competition To Start July 23

The Quincy Recreation Department Summer Playground Program will once again participate in the Pepsi Hot Shot NBA Basketball skills program.

In cooperation with the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton, the Recreation Department will conduct four district competitions and a city championship.

This activity is open to boys and girls age 9 to 18 years, and do not play high school or college varsity basketball. In Pepsi Hot Shots, participants are timed as they attempt to make baskets from five hotspots each worth different points. Bonus points are awarded for attempting shots from all locations and infractions such as walking, double dribbling result in subtraction of points.

The Quincy Recreation Competition is the first step in the national program.

Barry J. Welch, Director of Recreation said, "Quincy youngsters have a very realistic opportunity to advance in this program. In past years, our city champions have advanced as far as area finals in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and many have competed at pre-game and half-time at Boston Celtic games at the Boston Garden."

All Quincy youngsters are invited to participate even if they do not regularly attend playgrounds. All competitions begin at 10 a.m. at playground locations. Contestants may only compete at one location.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380, ext. 204. Call to find the location of the Pepsi Hot Shots Competition nearest you.

The schedule:
District One, Monday, July 23, Welcome Young Playground; District Two, Thursday, July 26, La-Breque Playground; District Three, Tuesday, July 24, Fanno St. Playground; District Four, Friday, July 27, Elm St. Playground.

Track Club Members In Good Performances

Several members of the Quincy Track Club made outstanding showings in the recent seventh annual Kendall Women's Classic at Boston University.

Helen Balauras set a meet record in the discus with a toss of 118-6 in the 16-17 age group.

The Quincy club finished third in the meet behind Boston International and Liberty AC.

Other Quincy TC scorers were: Amanda Janice, second in the 7 and under long jump at 4-8; Susan Curtiss, third in the 8-9 softball throw at 69 feet; Patricia Barrett, winner of the 14-15 two-mile in 11:30.2; Julie Supple, third in the 16-17 high jump at 5-2; Michelle Millane, winner of the 18 and over discus at 128-11 and third in the shot put at 41-3; Dana Stone, third in the 18 and over discus at 119-5 and sixth in the shot put at 38-11/4; and Debbie D'Entremont, fourth in the shot at 41-2/4 and sixth in the discus at 112-2.

More than 1500 girls and women in age groups from 7 and under through masters 40 and over took part in 83 different events in two days.

O'Brien Named Norwich Rookie Of Year

Bill O'Brien of North Quincy was named rookie of the year of Norwich University's varsity baseball team.

Although a freshman, he was the starting catcher for the university.

O'Brien was the lead off hitter with a batting average of over .290 and one of the leaders of his team in stolen bases.

He threw out over 60% of the basestealers.

Coaching Vacancies At QHS

Several coaching vacancies exist for the fall season at Quincy High School.

They are:
Head coach for boys and girls cross country; head coach for girls swimming; assistant volleyball coach and ninth grade football coach.

Applications should be mailed to Carl Leone, Coordinator of Athletics, Quincy Public Schools, 70 Coddington St., Quincy.

Striders Night

Road Race July 21

The South Shore Striders will hold their seventh annual midsummer night road races Tuesday, July 21, starting and finishing at Weymouth South High School.

A one-mile race for those 10 years of age and under will start at 5:45 p.m. and 10-mile, five-mile and two-mile races will begin at 6:30. There is no entry fee for the one-mile race, a $3 fee for the two-mile and a $4 fee for the five and 10-mile runs. Post entry fees are $5 for the two-mile and $5 for the five and 10-milers.

Check-in time will be 5 to 6 p.m. at Weymouth South High. The races are sanctioned by the Athletic Congress.

• Pro-AM Hockey

Kiley, Herlihy Lead Islanders

Gerry Kiley of North-eastern scored with eight minutes left and Jim Herlihy added an open net goal, to lead the Islanders over the Nordiques in the Senior Division of the N.E. Pro-AM Hockey League.

Going against a heavy laden NHL roster, the college-dominated Islanders couldn't have been more thrilled to come out the victors versus the likes of Joe Mullen, Andy Brickley, Phil Bourque and Rich Costello.

Joe Cappelano of BU scored twice and Tim Mitchell, Dan Craig, Kevin Hould and Kevin Stevens were the other Islander scorers.

For the Noriques, Bobby Hehir and Ed Rausco had two each, while Rich Costello and Mike Golden the others. Joe Mullen and Phil Bourque had two assists each in the losing cause. Bruce Gillies earned the Islanders victory.

Scott Harlow took over sole leadership in the scoring race with five goals and one assist and Dave Livingston had three goals and three assists to pace the Clovers over the Bruins by a surprising 13-5. Ralph Cox also had two goals and David Jensen, Dom Campedelli and Chris Delorey added each. Steve Salvucci had five assists. Steve Lyons and Kevin Mutch had one goal and one assist for the Bruins and Neil Shea (two), Tom O'Regan and Dan Potter were assist makers.

The Devils took over first place (3-3-1) by topping the Whalers, 9-3. Art Yeomelakis had one goal and four assists and David Burke and Tommy Benson of Norwich had two goals and one assist each. Bob DiPronio, Doug Brown, Dan Griffin and Randy Wood added the others. Brown and Keith Carter added two assists each.

Plaza In Hat Trick As Badgers Upset Sioux

Charles Plaza had a hat trick and Mike Brennan scored two, to lead the Badgers over the previously undefeated Sioux by a score of 10-4 in the High School West Division of the N.E. Pro-AM Hockey League.

The game stayed close until unanswered goals by Brennan, Tim McGowan, Mark McCabe, Plaza and Brennan again in the second period broke it open for good. Chris Marshall and Ed Yalmokas finished off the Badgers' scoring while Joe Ambrele, Bart Blaescr, Jeff Blaescr and Chris Conway scored for the Sioux. Bart Blaescr also had two assists for the losers. A good crowd watched the first place matchup.

In other games, Brian Geary of Rockland scored three goals and Mike Martin two as the Tigers won their second game of the season, 7-4, over the Bulldogs. Alternate Mike Flaherty, also of Rockland, had two assists, while Steven Currie had a hat trick for the Bulldogs and Steven Connors added a goal and three assists. Goalenders Fred Abraham and Bill Lee of Norwood combined for the victory.

The final game of the night saw two goal efforts by Jim Duche, Scott Barker and Tom Kennedy leading the Pioneers over the Gophers 8-3. Ed McElaney added two assists for the winners, while Greg McGlame had two goals and an assist and Mike Haynes three assists for the losers.

Meade's Goal Gives Terriers Edge

Paul Meade, first line center for Rockland High School, scored at 13:40 of the second period to lead the Terriers over the previously undefeated Huskies by a score of 2-1 in the high school division of the N.E. Pro-AM Hockey League at Quincy Youth Arena.

Paul Delano had the other Terrier goal while David Fappi scored the lone goal for the Huskies. But the game was not without scorers. The game highlighted goalenders Mike Gentile and Matt Perron of the Terriers and Paul Hickey and Matt Higgins of the Huskies. All four showed why they are capable of leading their high school teams this fall.

The Friars jumped on the opportunity to take over first by exploding over the Beacons, 11-6. Matt Glennon scored four goals to lead the league in scoring, and Vin McDermott added two, while Ken Sweezy, Brian Kennedy, Steve LaRossa, Mark Macauley and Tim O'Toole had one each. For the Beacons, John Ahern had a goal and two assists and Ricky Lyonnais had two goals. Danny Fleming, Robert Lyons and David Peterson had one each.

Mike McDonald, with goaltender Eric Cambra out of the net for a sixth skater, scored at 14:37 of the third period and enable the Eagles to tie the Wildcats, 3-3. Assists went to Dennis Shea and Scott McNeil. Other scorers were John Carroll and Jeff MacLean for the Eagles and Andy Power, Dennis Connors and Mike Roberts for the Wildcats. Cambra and Bob Warford put on quite a goaltenders battle throughout.

Panthers Cheerleaders Registration July 30

Registration and practice for the Quincy Point Panthers cheerleaders will be held Monday, July 30, at 5:30 p.m. at Fore River Field.

Sign-ups are open to all area girls ages 11-14 (grades 6-9).

Following a four-day practice session, tryouts will be conducted and a varsity and junior varsity squad will be chosen by a panel of judges. The Panthers' staff does not select the cheerleaders.

More than 20 girls will be placed on their respective squads, according to the needs of the team.

For tryouts, candidates must perform two mandatory cheerleaders and three stunts, individually.

Practices and tryouts are being held early this season in order that the girls selected may attend the cheerleading camp, sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department on August 13-17.

The cheerleaders are under the direction of Patti and Kathy Myers.

Malone Fans 13 As Bryan Blanks Golden

Bryan VFW Post held on to its American League lead with a 15-4 record as it blanked Golden Print, 11-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Michael Malone, who struck out 13. He has struck out 40 in 24 innings.

Ron Fletcher had a triple and single, Steve Austin a double and single, Chris Cody a double and Jay Rodriguez and Mark Molloy a single each.

Steve Minichiello and Tom McDonald had the only hits for Golden Print.

Bryan defeated the Elks, 4-2, as Cody improved his record to 8-0, giving up only two runs in the first inning. He has struck out 58 in 57 innings.

Joe Innello, Cody, Malone, Jamie McArdle, Rodriguez and Billy Mulken sparked the attack and Rob Cinquegrano drove in the winning run. Austin's catching and second baseman Cinquegrano's excellent play keyed the defense.

Tom Logan pitched well and had two hits to spark the Elks. Brian Roche, Sean Gately, Bob Laracy and Billy Murphy also had hits.

Bryan also edged Golden Print, 5-4, as Fletcher struck out eight. With the game on the line Fletcher struck out the side in the last inning.

Malone had three hits including a triple and double, Mulken doubled and McArdle singled. Austin caught another fine game.

Minichiello had three hits, Jay DeBartolo two and Taylor, McDonald and Tim Riordan one each for Golden.

The Police Club, which started off slowly, has come on strong in the final part of the season and won four of its last five games.

Police defeated Local 1139, 4-2, with T. J. Steen pitching a four-hitter, striking out 15 and not issuing a walk.

Robbie Fitzgerald drove in two runs with singles, Joe Mulvey singled home a run and Tony Orlando followed Tad Sheets' double with one of his own for the other run.

Mark DiMattio struck out five and he, Rob MacDonald and Steve Haggas had hits for Local 1139.

The Police also walloped Hancock Bank, 9-1, with Tom Reilly allowing only four hits and striking out eight.

Police collected 12 hits with Dan Overby, Orlando, Steen, Mike Ainsley, Mulvey, Sheets and Billy Bellew leading the way. Mike Cronin, Tom Roberts, Steve Patch and Wayne Chambers all played well.

Hancock, which was plagued by injuries, received strong defense from Chris Higgins, Steve Connolly and pitcher Mark Farrand. Chris LaForest had three of the four hits.

Police lost to Barry's Deli, 6-4, despite fine pitching by Ainsley in relief of Overby. Steve Rabs got the win for Barry's as Bill and Bob Roche had singles along with Bill Burkhead. Karlyle Staskiewicz played well behind the plate for Barry's.

Police defeated Bryan Post, 7-5, last Sunday, then edged Bryan again the following night, 2-1.

Fitzgerald and Orlando shared the pitching Sunday. Overby had three clutch singles and Steen, Ainsley, Orlando, Chambers, Mulvey, Patch and Bellew also had hits. Jim Ward, Tom Roberts and Mike Cronin played well. Fitzgerald had a homer in the fifth.

For Bryan Post Austin pitched well and Rodriguez and Innello played strong defense.

Monday Steen again pitched outstanding ball, allowing five hits and striking out 14.

Fitzgerald tripled and Ainsley had a pop infield single to drive in the winning run.

Malone pitched a three-hitter for Bryan but was a hard-luck loser. Malone tied the game with a triple in the fourth inning, followed by a passed ball.

Innello, Austin, Fletcher, Molloy and Cinquegrano played well for Bryan.

Joe DiNardo and John Fraceschini coached the Police Club, which faces Houghs Neck Legion today (Thursday) at 5:30 at Merrymount Field.

The Elks breezed to a 14-0 victory over Golden Print to improve their record to 12-6.

The Elks are in second place in their division.

Bob Laracy pitched a complete game, giving up only four hits and walking one in 100-degree heat. He was given good support at the plate as the Elks collected 17 hits.

Laracy helped his own cause with two singles and scored two runs. Tom Logan hit a long grand slam homer and also had a single. Brian Roche had a double and two singles and scored three runs; Matt Ostiguy had a triple and single and caught a fine game, Peter Tufts had a single, scored twice and played a strong game in center field; Bob Bubencic and Bill Murphy each had two singles. The Elks inserted their 13-year-old players early in the game and all performed well. Scott Logan had a double and scored a run, Mike Routier singled and scored a run as did Mike Joe Gately. Bob Buttner had a walk and scored a run and Sean Gately made two fine plays at second base while completing double plays.

For Golden Steve Minicello, Tom McDonald and Balducci had the only hits, with Balducci having two.

The Elks also defeated Hancock Bank, 5-2, with Sean Gately pitching five-hit ball and striking out eight.

Ostiguy had a triple and single and scored a run. Roche tripled and scored twice, Tufts had a triple and scored a run and Tom Logan scored a run and made some fine plays at first base. The Elks were slow getting under way after a two-week layoff but their long ball bats came alive in the sixth inning when they scored three runs and added two insurance runs in the seventh.

Triple A All-Star Game

The Triple A baseball league will play its annual All-Star Game Monday, July 22 at McCoy Field at 7 p.m.

Players selected are: Steve Sumpter, Chris Byrne, Joe Baker and Jason Doyle of the Braves.

Chris Polito, Bob Moriarty, Mike Doherty and John Clarke of the Dodgers.

Dorsey Dugan, Chris Fleming, Frank Cavino and Karen Miller of the Indians.

Tom Sullivan, Jim McCarthy, Ken McGrath, and John Grennon of the Mets.

Jason Buchanan, Jamie Tapper, David McManus and Brian O'Malley of the Pirates.

Mike Duran, David Gripp, Tony Blake and Tommy Cosseboom of the Tigers.

Marina Bay Power Boat Race Saturday

The first annual Marina Bay 100 Offshore Powerboat Race, which was fogged out June 30, has been rescheduled for Saturday at noon starting at the Marina Bay, Squantum.

Host for the event, the premier powerboat race of the summer, is Event New England.

At 11:30 a.m. Saturday an expected fleet of 35 of the fastest offshore powerboats on the East Coast will parade out of Marina Bay through Boston Harbor for the start of the race.

The race will begin at noon with the major part of the race course stretching off Nantasket Beach.

The Marina Bay 100 is run under the direction of the National Powerboat Racing Association and is the second in a series of seven races held in the Northeast. Several Quincy skippers are entered.

The public is invited to watch with no admission. Among the best viewing areas at Marina Bay and Nantasket Beach. The race will pass before the beach area six times from start to finish. The U.S. Coast Guard has designated a large spectator boat area off Nantasket.

The events of the weekend include a cocktail party Friday at 7 p.m. at Marina Bay, the race at noon Saturday and an awards presentation at Marina Bay following the race at 7 p.m. The public is invited to all these events.

For further information call Race New England at 545-3479 or 925-9025.

• Triple A White Sox Takes Top Spot

The White Sox, with a record of 13-4, moved ahead of the Pirates to take over first place in the Triple A Baseball League.

The rest of the standings: Pirates, 11-4; Indians, 10-6; Braves, 10-7; Dodgers, 8-7; Mets, 2-12 and Tigers, 1-15.

The Pirates edged the Dodgers 13-12 in a slugfest to keep within a game of the league-leading White Sox. Jason Buchanan was the winning pitcher with 13 strikeouts.

Pirate Brian O'Malley paced the attack with two singles and a homerun while teammates Dave McManus and Bobby Loughlin had two hits each.

For the Dodgers, Bob Moriarty had three singles and a triple, Mike Doherty had two triples and John Clarke contributed a single and a double.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

LIGHTNING!

When you're out on the golf course for one open area) and lightning fills the sky, where do you go? Apparently, not many people know the answer, since lightning kills more children and adults each year than hurricanes and tornadoes combined.

To protect yourself, seek shelter in a house, large building or a hard-topped car before the rain begins. If you can't get in, get down. Stay under a clump of trees (not a single isolated tree) or, as a last resort, crouch down in the open with only your feet touching the ground. Avoid hills, wire fences, exposed sheds, golf carts and anything that might conduct electricity or that could fall on you.

If lightning strikes one of your companions, give immediate mouth-to-mouth resuscitation (breathe every 5 seconds for adults, every 3 for children) until medical help arrives. Revival is possible. Anyone simply stunned but breathing will probably recover on his own.

WEEK OF: JULY 19, 1984

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
New relationship, likely a platonic one, is spotlighted. Dealings with financial adviser are time-consuming but productive. Travel includes some delightful detours.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Travel is accentuated this week, for business, pleasure, or both. Romantic situation improves gradually — don't rush the matter. Family reunions offer opportunities for reconciliation.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
The intellectual side of your relationship is currently highlighted. Be alert to trends in work environment as career path may be taking a gradual turn. Written agreement can be finalized.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Platonic friendship is established or renewed through this period. If traveling, watch leaning toward excesses in the departments of food and sunshine. Domestic disagreement is resolved.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
You're chosen to arbitrate in a career or neighborhood dispute. In matters of friendship and romance, adaptability is essential. Domestic dilemma intensifies before solving itself.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Accent is on learning new things about old interests. Romance is in a temporary slump but you're almost too busy to notice. Visitors and hobbies are on current agenda.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Career or other ideas are generally well-received — be sure you present them with imagination. Key friendship may be launched now. Creative interest proves surprisingly costly.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Special interests may bring you in touch with people from faraway. Money-making opportunity should be studied before committing yourself. Family matters require prompt decision.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
If making any significant purchase, be sure to do careful consumer research. Loved one is more open-minded about your recent ideas. Sensible diet can be launched now.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Award or rewards come your way by the end of this period. Recent project is stalled and it may be time to move on to an all-new interest. Family member warms up to your ideas.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Delayed family activities are back in motion by the weekend. Education plays a large part in week's program. A serious-minded friend astounds you with his/her current sense of fun.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
The theme this week is one of change. Travel plans may be revised, or a high-therp may change his or her approach. A problematic relationship shows signs of dramatic recovery.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're generous with your money, your ideas, and most of all with your time. This year spend more of everything on yourself — carefully making a careful blueprint of your goals. Ingenuity is at an all-time high through the autumn months.

BORN THIS WEEK

July 19th, singer Vikki Carr; 20th, actress Diana Rigg; 21st, actor Don Knotts; 22nd, actor Orson Bean; 23rd, singer Marie Cortez; 24th, actress Ruth Buzzi; 25th, composer Henri Lalande.

Pageant Results On Computer

The 1984 Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will have the benefit of more than $30,000 worth of computer equipment.

Polcom, a Hingham based computer company, has donated a complete DEC computer system that will tabulate the contestants' scores and make the results of each category available in a matter of seconds.

Pat Jones, pageant chairwoman, called it one of the most significant advancements in the pageant's history.

"Along with the computer system, Polcom is custom designing a software program that will specifically address the needs that this form of competition is based upon," she said. "The contestants are judged in swimsuits and evening gowns. The categories include poise, personality and overall beauty."

"With this type of technology available, I've been able to expand the categories as well as the judging panel. As an example, we will be able to do a statistical analysis on how our South Shore contestants compare with the national averages of recent pageant winners.

"This year's pageant will award two surprise categories in addition to the five finalists, and the Judges Panel has been enlarged to nine."

"Polcom has designed a program for exclusive use by the Major League Baseball Players Association that has been in use for more than six months." With the degree of professional expertise necessary to handle those statistics, I have no concerns about the pageant," said Miss Jones. "This most generous donation from Polcom adds a whole new dimension to the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant. It also eliminated what seemed like a never ending wait for results."

Miss Quincy Bay Special Programs On Sun Ch. 8

Quincy Sun Ch. 8 will spotlight the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant in two special features this week and next week.

"Who Will She Be?", a preview of this year's pageant, will be shown Wednesday at 8 p.m. following the 7:30 p.m. News Report.

The program, sponsored by Bernie's Modern Formal Shops, will be repeated

Thursday and Friday at 6 p.m. following the 5:30 p.m. News Report.

The 37 contestants will appear in swimsuits and be introduced. There will also be interviews with Tricia Markakos, Miss Quincy Bay of 1983 and Debra Neary, current Miss Massachusetts-USA.

Highlights of the 1983 pageant will also be shown. Sun. Ch. 8's TV cameras will videotape this year's pageant Friday night at 9:15 p.m. at Quincy Center Plaza for a special program to be shown Monday, July 23 at 8 p.m. and Wednesday, July 25 at 8 p.m. following the 7:30 p.m. News Report.

The program is being sponsored by the Quincy Cooperative Bank and Bernie's Modern Formal Shops.

Miss Quincy Bay Pageant Live On Ch. 3

Quincy Community Television, cable Ch. 3, will air the annual Miss Quincy Bay pageant live Friday, July 20 at 8 p.m. from Quincy Center Plaza.

Community Producer Dale Solander, assisted by an all volunteer crew trained in Quincy Cablesystems' television production workshops, will direct this year's cablecast.

Cablesystems program director Steve Marx notes this is the third year cable Ch. 3 viewers will see the entire contest, the oldest and largest beauty pageant of its type in this area. Featured on the program will be 37 contestants. Emcee will be Barrie Rhind, general manager of the New England Institute Dale Carnegie Courses.

Quincy Community Television will repeat the program on Friday, July 27 at 4 p.m.

Bishop Law, Fr. Heery Guests On Cable Talk

Bishop Bernard Law and Fr. Cornelius Heery, Sacred Heart Church pastor, will be guests on Cable Talk (Channel 3 QCTV) Thursday (July 19) at 9 p.m. and Sunday (July 22) at 9:30 p.m.

Fr. Heery talks to John Noonan, program host, about the highly successful Parish Mission conducted at Sacred Heart Church through the cooperation of the clergy and laity. The mission was designed to interest lay persons who had lost interest in their religion.

Fr. Heery discusses the informational campaign used to bring the mission to the attention of the general public.

Bishop Law is interviewed on a wide range of religious and social issues. The newly installed Archbishop was the principal element and guest homilist at the mission.

Cable Talk is a weekly public affairs program produced by an all volunteer workshop production public access crew of Quincy residents. Bob Gohl is producer assisted by George and Nancy Santry, Edna Solander and Hugh MacLeod.

This is the mattress designed by professionals who understand the design of the human body - the Posture Committee of the International Chiropractors Association. The critical center 1/3 of the Spinal-Guard mattress has been specially reinforced with heavier coils. Its special construction gives extra support to the heaviest part of your body. Helps keep your body in a firm, level sleeping position all night long. You wake rested. And Spinal-Guard could relieve the discomfort of a backache caused by sleeping on a saggy mattress. You not only get Extra support, but extra sleeping comfort, too, thanks to Spinal-Guard's luxurious layers of cushioning. And that's edge-to-edge comfort because of Spinal-Guard's Flex-edge non-sag support construction.

Both Sides Claim Budget Victory

Mayor Hopes Tax Bills Out By Sept. 30

The battle of the 1985 fiscal year city budget has been laid to rest and as the smoke of battle clears both sides are claiming victory.

At the second special meeting of the City Council on the budget held within one week, the council approved an appropriation order amounting to $69,325,443.93 to cover the city's operating expenses for the fiscal year July 1, 1984 through June 30, 1985.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said now that the dust has settled the city can get on with the business of setting a tax rate and preparing tax bills for mailing by Sept. 30. Business and property owners would then have 30 days or until Nov. 1 to pay the money due the city.

Before the bills are mailed the city assessors must update their files which are now computerized and the classification of properties, as approved last spring by the city council, must once again be confirmed.

As to who won the budget controversy, it all depends on who is being asked. There are those who say the city of Quincy, the taxpayers, city employees, the Mayor, and the city council are the final victors in this eight week hassle which began last April.

The Mayor, as is customary under the Plan A form of government, submitted a budget of $75.8 million. On May 24 the council approved an appropriation order of $6.3 which was one twelfth of the budget submitted by the Mayor.

Councillors took the one twelfth budget action to cover expenses for the month of July, the first month of the new fiscal year.

Cambridge Firm Awarded Burgin Extension Contract

The Department of Public Works voted Wednesday to award the contract for construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension to Marden Continental Construction Co. of Cambridge, according to Sen. Paul Harold.

Marden's bid was $9,925,000.

The low bidder, Cruz Construction, a New Jersey firm, was disqualified because it did not have proper certification of minority hiring as required by the federal government.

That company bid $9,478,000.

Sen. Harold said the change in contractors should not delay the construction schedule. Ground breaking is still on schedule for Monday, Aug. 6 at 2 p.m., he said.

It is expected that Cruz Construction will seek an injunction to stop the award, said Harold.

The largest job in the state this year, it could take one to one and a half years to complete, he said.

The Burgin Parkway Extension will run from the Route 3 ramps in South Quincy to Granite St., Quincy Center, giving travelers from the south better access to downtown Quincy.

Union Spotlights Understaffing Mayor Critical Of Hospital Public Protest

By JOHN NOONAN

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has taken sharp exception to a local union and some hospital employees staging a public protest over staffing at Quincy City Hospital.

The Mayor questioned what useful purpose was served by alarming unnecessarily Quincy area residents who use the local hospital facility.

Representatives of Local 285 Service Employees International Union (AFL-CIO) went public Saturday, during the annual Sidewalk Bazaar which attracted thousands of visitors to downtown Quincy, to focus attention on what the union considers "intolerable understaffing" at the hospital.

Janet Leon, a hospital LPN and union spokeswoman, said the action was taken to enlist public support for additional personnel, particularly those who provide nursing care.

"This is not just a union gripe but a concern of other hospital personnel as well," Leon said.

She said that when the problem of understaffing is raised with hospital officials she is met with a variety of statistics.

Leon said if the understaffing continues to grow, providing adequate patient care will be impossible.

The union representatives were joined in the public protest by other technical and professional personnel at the hospital.

Mayor McCauley reiterated his previous position that there has been a slight decrease in hospital personnel but that the decline was not sufficient to reduce appreciably the quality of medical and patient care being provided.

He said the hospital is operating under a Proposition 2½ type of its own in the form of a budget cost containment state law (Chapter 372) which places stringent restrictions on budget income and expenses.

McCauley said he is monitoring the situation very closely and has asked Hospital Director Mark Mundy for an up-to-date report on hospital personnel present staffing and future needs.

"The city has been through this kind of a situation with Proposition 2½ when it became necessary because of budget constraints to reduce fire and police personnel as well as school teachers," McCauley said.

2 Workers Injured As Roof Support Collapses

Two workers were injured, apparently not seriously, when a roof support collapsed Tuesday morning at the Quincy Ave. construction site of a new Bradlees/Medi Mart building.

Michael Marshall, 23, of Quincy and Jeffrey Roop, 20, of Billerica were transported by Bay State Ambulance to Quincy City Hospital.

Both were treated and released.

Dep. Chief Joseph Jackson of the Quincy Fire Dept. said the two men fell about 20 feet when the support, known as a bar joist collapsed.

Work, being done by L&L Construction of Dracut, a subcontractor for White Builders, was not halted as a result of the accident, according to a construction foreman. He said that construction has been underway for three months and will continue for about two months more.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald was to investigate the cause of the support collapse.

meet tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers to discuss metered parking problems in downtown Quincy.

School Committee To Set Creedon Hearing Date

The Quincy school committee was scheduled to hold a regular open meeting last night (Wednesday) to act on several routine matters as well as to set a date or dates for a hearing on three complaints against Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon.

The committee was expected to meet in executive session to discuss the hiring of legal counsel for one of the complainants against Dr. Creedon.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley who also serves as chairman of the school committee said that it was an accepted state-wide practice for school committees to hire legal counsel for plaintiffs who issue complaints against school personnel.

He said that the legal counsel so engaged is considered to be the counsel for the school committee and is therefore paid for by the school department.

The purpose in hiring legal counsel for the complainant, he said, is to provide the school committee with complete details of the complaint in the proper legal manner.

McCauley said he expects the school committee will announce the date of the hearing on the complaints against Dr. Creedon at the conclusion of the executive session in open public meeting. Discussion of the hearing will be held in executive session, McCauley said, because the complaints were heard in executive session.

McCauley said the name of the attorney to be hired for the complainant will also be made known following the executive session. It is up to the school committee, Dr. Creedon, and the complainants to reach a decision as to whether the August hearing will be held in open or executive session, the Mayor pointed out.

School committee member Frank Anselmo requested that the legality of paying the fees of the legal counsel for the complainant be placed on the agenda for discussion at the meeting.

Three complaints against Dr. Creedon have been brought to the attention of the school committee. The first involves a charge of sexual misconduct brought against the superintendent by a high school student and her father. The incident allegedly took place in a classroom in April.

A second complaint allegedly took place two years ago and the third complaint, which the committee was to discuss last night, goes back 20

Routine matters on which the school committee was to act upon in open session last night included reports of special committees, reorganization of Quincy Junior College, and appointments.

Among the gifts to be presented to the school department will be $5000 from the Furnace Brook School teachers organization and eight computers and TV monitors, and a video cassette recorder from the Atlantic Middle School Parents Council.

Mayor McCauley also planned to discuss the city capital projects program with the committee members. This program involves some $2 million which the city has received for the sale of vacant school buildings and land in the last two years.

McCauley said part of this money will be used for school department buildings and schools in need of maintenance repairs.

Recently Dr. Creedon reported to the committee that several buildings were in immediate need of repairs. The needed repairs have not been done because of lack of school budget funds for such purposes.

Sidewalk Bazaar 'Outstanding Success'

By VALERIE NEWMAN and BOB BOSWORTH

Downtown Quincy merchants agree that the 14th annual Sidewalk Bazaar was a healthy shot in the arm for summer business.

With rare exception, they said they found this year's bazaar very successful, even surpassing last year's.

"Outstandingly successful" was how Kenneth P. Fallon Jr., executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, described the three-day event.

He said this year's bazaar was "one of the better ones". A major factor contributing to its success, he said, was the warm, sunny weather that made ideal conditions for shoppers and browsers.

Comparing the 1984 bazaar to last year's, Fallon said that the bazaar was "just as good as last year's."

He said the QCBPA surveyed merchants participating in the bazaar and found them to be "very happy with the results."

Other comments:

Burton Cook, owner of Tag's Furniture, and chairman of the Sidewalk Bazaar said business was "excellent".

"It was 20 per cent ahead of last year's business, and went beyond our expectations."

Ray Schmidt, manager of Remick's: "We had excellent returns. Sales were up in general from last year, even within the store. People were ready for this bazaar, and it was favorable all around."

Jack London, owner of Quincy Furniture: "Business was good. It was ahead of last year's, and one of the best bazaar's that I can remember."

Ron Bender, manager of Casual Concepts: "Business was good, but we're on a roll right now anyway. Business in the store was greater than outside business, though, probably because of our air conditioning. Business was up from last year, but especially inside our store."

Jerome Hurwitz, owner of Sawyer's Campus Shop: "The bazaar was very, very good, better than last year's. The traditionally slow Saturday went very well because of the rain. People who were shopping outside went scurrying inside when the rain came. It was a very good day business wise."

Charles Ryder, owner of Ryder's of Quincy: "The bazaar was terrific. The sidewalk sale was better than last year's because of weather and bargains."

Irwin Slotnick, manager of Cummings: "The Bazaar was very good for us. It was very successful; we have no complaints. We sold a lot of merchandise, and we did much better than last year."

Edward Elkins of Cheap Feet: "We're thrilled. Sales were up 25 per cent from last year."

Tom Murphy of Child World: "Business was very good. Actually, it was excellent...very exceptional. It was far better than last year's."

Robert J. Colman of Colman Sporting Goods: "It was a success, up a good deal from last year."

Marion Feldman of Jason's Luggage & Music: "Business was excellent, much better than last year."

Tina Falco of LaBilancia: "We weren't here last year, but this year was excellent."

Diane M. Eldredge of Posh Hairstylists who was not here last year found things the opposite: "We weren't in business last year, but business was lousy at this year's bazaar."

James Clifford of Creative Flowers: "Business was off a little bit compared to the rest of the year, and compared to last year's bazaar."

Harold Sadoff of Eileen's Special Sizes: "The bazaar was very successful. Our business moved up a couple of notches compared to last year. The weather was a key factor in its success."

McCauley To Fill 7 Police Vacancies

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to make seven appointments to the Quincy Police department to fill vacancies caused by recent retirements.

He said he has called for a list of eligible candidates who qualified through state Civil Service examination.

Eligible candidates will be interviewed and appointments to the vacant patrolmen's positions will be made some time next week, the Mayor said.

Readers Forum Francis Galligan Enriched The Lives Of Many

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

When saintly Francis Julian Galligan passed on to his eternal reward recently, it was almost like the end of an era in the Presidents Hill sector of our fair city.

For, save for his good friends Tom Burgin, Joe Grossman, ever-loyal John Murphy and possibly others, there are precious few remaining "up on the Hill" in Mr. Galligan's age bracket - 83 years young.

All too frequently when one outlives a closely-knit family, the declining years can be devastating; melancholy, lonely and lingering. Brightened only now and again by cherished 24-career memories of a loving family, steadfast friends and neighbors and of those innocent and carefree days of growing up in "the old neighborhood."

In Frank's case that meant his beloved South Quincy. But for Frank Galligan, his gracious and courtly manner - ever the gentleman - endeared this noble and kindly soul to all whose lives he reached out and touched. And they were considerable.

This brilliant former attorney was imbued with a passionate love for his church (St. John's), for his legion of solicitous friends and neighbors and for historic Quincy where he spent his entire life. But not to forget baseball - from the dusty sandlots of South Quincy with the Jenkins, Prout, Maver, Birnie, Nicolls, Mundie, Canniff, Horrigan, Craig, Collins, Bishop, Diack boys, and others, to Fenway Park where he established an enduring friendship with Duffy Lewis.

The latter, a member of the vaunted Speaker, Lewis and Hooper outfield (touted by most aficionados as the "best ever"), took a "shine" to the well-mannered Quincy lad delivering paraphernalia to the Red Sox for a sporting goods firm circa World War One. Thus a rich relationship ensued that lasted until the master of "Duffy's Cliff" was promoted to Baseball Heaven a few years ago.

Blessed with a remarkable ability to recall poems and inspirational passages, chapter and verse, could it have been a premonition when friend Frank recently recited for me a Nathaniel Emmons quotation? It was: "Death stamps the characters and conditions of men for eternity. As Death finds them in this world, so will they be in the next."

Most prophetic, for this learned man who represented a kind of noble serenity, slipped away in his sleep shortly thereafter. Rest assured Frank Galligan's star still shines brightly, only now it's in "the land beyond the sunset."

A God-fearing embodiment of honesty, integrity, lofty ideals and a sterling moral character, Francis Galligan will be sorely missed. For he enriched the lives of countless who were privileged to call him "friend."

McCauley To Seek Third And . .

In case you like to look ahead, Mayor Francis McCauley will seek a third term next year -- as long as his health is good.

And, it's good, thank you.

A couple of weeks ago he donated his 25th pint of blood over a six year period.

"I'm looking forward to running for a third term," he says. "The only thing that would keep me from doing so would be if my health wasn't good. But I feel fine."

McCauley enjoys being mayor.

"I like the job," he says. "I like getting out and meeting people."

In fact he enjoys being mayor more than when he was a bank president.

It was good timing for him when he decided to run for mayor. The children were grown. And now, as mayor, his wife, Sandra, is able to accompany him to most civic, social and political functions.

She isn't a "political widow" which keeps life at home happy.

His battle over the budget with the city council hasn't dampened his enthusiasm for the job.

"I keep on a speaking relationship with the councilors," he says. "You can't let things like this (budget battle) get to you."

"I set the tone for myself before I took office: don't let the job get to you."

Would McCauley like to match or surpass Amelio Della Chiesa's mayoral longevity honors.

Della Chiesa served six terms as mayor -- four under Plan A and two under Plan E. (Under Plan E, the mayor was like the city council president and elected by the council. A city Manager was the Chief Executive.

"I don't know about that," says McCauley. "Six terms under Plan A would be a long haul."

Well, what about four terms?

"I don't know about that for sure," he says. "We'd have to wait and see."

One thing he doesn't want to do is to stay in the mayor's office too long.

"If you get to the point where you go to the office on Monday wishing it were Friday it would be time to get out."

But he goes to the office Monday looking forward to Monday.

TOM HENSHAW, who covers City Hall for The Sun, missed the two special city council meetings on the controversial budget issue. He was in South Shore Hospital where he underwent major surgery.

At the first meeting (before surgery) and at the second (after surgery) Council President James Sheets asked his colleagues to stand and offer a silent prayer for Tom.

His many other friends will be happy to hear that he came through the surgery in great shape, is recuperating at home, and itching to get back to work.

HENSHAW

THERE WERE A few smiles and chuckles at the second special council meeting when Councillor John Lydon started telling Asst. City Solicitor Jay McRitchie in rather strong terms why he objected to Mayor Francis McCauley's budget. McRitchie was standing in for Solicitor Dean Nicastro.

In attempting to reinforce his position, Lydon started to quote Chapter 44 Section 33 of the state law. Lydon asked McRitchie if he was familiar with that section and McRitchie paused momentarily before answering. Lydon, thereupon, offered his law book to McRitchie who declined the offer.

McRitchie then went back to his own seat, picked up his own copy of the state law and read the section.

Koch Club Charitable

Activities Continue

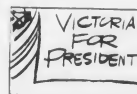

The Koch Club of Quincy continued in its charitable program providing a family dome tent and 10 sleeping bags at the request of a hispanic community organization in the South End who will provide inner city children with weekend camping trips away from the city.

The Koch Club has also coordinated the collection and distribution of hundreds of articles of good used clothing and used furniture to a church in Boston for its parishioners.

and a social service organization in the South End of Boston.

During the past 11 years the Koch Club has been assisting community, social service and health agencies in the needy areas of Boston where thousands of used toys and tons of clothing have been delivered for distribution to those in need of help.

The project described is in addition to the Koch Club Christmas Charity Program in the Quincy and South Shore Area.

The action was also to protest a lack of adequate funding by the Mayor to provide for 13 vacant police and fire positions which had been dropped from the overall Mayor's budget.

The controversy began to heat up when Mayor McCauley asked City Solicitor Dean P. Nicastro for an opinion as to the legality of the one twelfth budget approved by the council. The Mayor contended that by failing to approve his budget the council acted improperly and that the budget as he submitted was legally in operation to pay the city's bills.

Councillors argued the budget they passed was the only legal budget because it had been approved by the council and certified by City Clerk John M. Gillis.

During the impass a meeting was held on neutral grounds in the office of the State Department of Tax Revenue. Commissioners of the state tax office were asked to render an opinion on the issue. The officials said both sides could be correct but they failed to go any further.

Nicastro issued two opinions on the matter both in support of the Mayor's contention that the Mayor's budget was the only proper and legal budget.

Arguments about the budget seasawed between the Mayor and the members of the city council for over two months until the final action of the council last Thursday when the Council, after cutting some $220,000 from various accounts, passed the $69.3 million appropriation order.

The crux of the controversy was the council and its attempts to have Mayor McCauley restore the 13 vacant fire and police positions which the Mayor claimed were mostly supervisory and not needed. The Mayor estimated it would cost an additional $400,000 to fund those 13 positions.

Mayor McCauley said he was happy that the budget conflict has been at last resolved.

In claiming a victory the Mayor said it was not a question concerning what the council finally did, but rather what the council did not do. McCauley took exception to the budget cuts made in the legal, unemployment compensation, auditor's, and the Furnace Brook Golf Course tax agreement accounts.

He said he could live with these cuts which amount to three tenths of one per cent of the overall budget. He was quite happy that the city council did not pass appropriation of $400,000 to cover the funding for the vacant fire and police positions.

"By not doing so the City Council upheld the Mayor's prerogative to initiate appropriations and that is the key issue in this controversy," McCauley said.

Council president James A. Sheets said the budget issue has united the council as it has never been united before in recent years. He said that during the eight week hassle the members of the council conducted themselves with dignity.

"It was their finest hour," Sheets said.

Sheets said the cherished principle of separation of city government powers, mayor and council, had been preserved by the council's action.

Sheets cited the Mayor's directive to City Auditor Robert E. Foy and City Clerk Gillis as examples of executive interference. In his directive McCauley asked the two city department officials, both appointees of the city council, to comply with the Mayor's overall budget in conducting the financial affairs of the city. Gillis and Foy both refused to follow the Mayor's directive.

Sheets said the Mayor on two different press conferences proclaimed his budget was the only true budget. The two appropriation orders, less the $220,000 cut by the council at last week's meeting, as approved by the city council and certified by the city clerk constitute the 1985 fiscal year budget, Sheet concluded.

Council Won't Pay Parking Rent Hike

The City Council once again refused to appropriate money to cover the rent increase demanded by Hia Pearl Co. for land leased by the city as a parking area to the rear of stores on Hancock St.

The city had been paying $175 a month but Hia Pearl July 26-Aug. 1 1937 raised the rent to $300 a month as of April 1, 1936. The company claimed it was owed $1,125 for unpaid rent in 1936 and $2,100 in 1937.

City Council President David S. McIntosh urged that the city pay up.

"The $175 per month rent only about covers the actual annual taxes on the property," he said, "and, like every other landlord, that company is entitled to a fair return."

Golden Calls For Hearing Here On Water Authority

Richard D. Golden, candidate for state senator, has called for the Committee on Housing and Urban Development to hold an open hearing in Quincy on pending legislation to establish the new Metropolitan Water Authority.

In a letter to the committee, Golden said: "I feel it very important that the people of Quincy be allowed direct input into this monumental legislation."

The Committee on Housing and Urban Development is currently the Committee handling the proposed legislation.

Golden added:

"The Committee should listen and take testimony from community members . . . who live with the day-to-day problems created by an inefficient and ineffective sewerage system. "A hold initiative (by the Committee) to reach out to the community members for input could signal the kind of cooperative effort legislation of this magnitude demands."

"I will continue to push for financial relief for those hurt by a polluted Quincy Bay. If a new mechanism is created for assessing user charges, then the same mechanism can build in relief for the people whose business has suffered because of a polluted Quincy Bay.

"There are people in Quincy who have dedicated years of hard work staying abreast of the pollution problem. The Committee should listen and work with them before passing judgement on the pending legislation. It is incumbent upon the legislature to seek out community input before decisions are made."

"An open legislative process is essential to preclude rash treatment of an issue as vitally important as creating the mechanism charged with the clean-up of Quincy Bay."

City Council Approves Quincy Ave. Condo Project

The City Council has given approval to final plans to convert what is considered an eyesore into a $27 million, high rise condominium development to be called "The Falls in Quincy", on Quincy Avenue.

The site of the new project is the junkyard now occupied by the Ace Auto Parts.

The council approved a needed zoning change and a special zoning permit which was required to allow the developer John J. Rodolph of Weymouth to proceed.

Plans for the project had been approved last month by the Planning Board.

The developer must also prepare a detailed state environmental impact report. It is estimated that construction will begin in about a year.

The project derives its name from a waterfall which would be built on the steep ledge at the entrance of the property overlooking Quincy Ave. and Southern Artery.

The development would consist of 298 units in four, seven story buildings. Recreational facilities including a swimming pool and clubhouse would also be provided.

2 Residents Enrolled At Chamberlayne

Barbara Conwick of 37 Parsons St., and Lee Anne Noble of 11 Fairview Rd., both of Quincy, have enrolled at Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston for the fall semester, announced James F. Mulligan, director of admissions.

Barbara will be in the Fashion Design program and Lee has chosen the Interior Design program.

Simone Riman Got Over Nervousness

For Miss Quincy Bay, A Dream Came True

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

When Simone Beth Riman of Randolph was a little girl, she used to watch the Miss America and Miss Universe Beauty Pageants on television and ask her mother for a crown of her own.

It took a little time, but the brown-haired, brown-eyed beauty who celebrated her 20th birthday Wednesday finally got her wish as she was crowned Miss Quincy Bay of 1984 last Friday night in downtown Quincy.

The pageant, highlight of the annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar, was co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

Simone, daughter of Carol and Richard Riman, was selected from among 37 contestants in the annual pageant at Quincy Center Plaza which attracted a crowd of 1,000 people.

She was crowned by last year's winner, Tricia Markakos, and will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 1-5.

Runnersup were Kathleen Hunt, 20, of Weymouth, first; Sharon Birolini, 17, of Braintree, second; Joanne Hernon, 18, of Quincy, third; and Diane Campagnone, 17, of Braintree, fourth.

Simone will also receive the largest share of more than $5,000 in prizes which will also be divided among the four runners-up.

Two new awards were also given this year. Paulette Harwood, 19, of Weymouth was voted most photogenic in a poll of media photographers.

Barbara Carlisle, 16, of Weymouth, was presented an award for outstanding public talk given at the pre-pageant banquet.

Simone, a 1982 Randolph High School honors graduate, considers the pageant one of the best experiences that she's ever had.

"I couldn't believe how much fun it was," she says of her first beauty pageant. "It was incredible."

"Some of the girls were so nice," says Simone, "we were all helping each other put on make-up backstage."

Though she admits to being a bit nervous before the start of the pageant, once she got on stage she felt at ease.

"Going in front of people is a terrific way to feel a lot better about your self," notes the 5 foot, seven, 124 pound beauty. "It's good to get over being nervous in that situation."

For the swimsuit competition, she wore a pink, purple and blue V-necked suit made by her mother.

A one-shouldered, black gown with diagonal rhinestones was her choice for the evening gown competition.

Her favorite moment was when she was crowned Miss Quincy Bay, and looked out at the audience to see her mother crying and her father cheering.

Afterwards, she went with her family and friends to a champagne reception at McDonald's on Southern Artery and was greeted with cheers when she entered.

She enjoyed the pageant so much that she is considering modeling part-time.

That is, if she can find time while operating her own business, The Frame Man, on Main St., Randolph, which she operates with her mother.

She started the business three years ago during a work-study-time in high school.

Customers can either have things framed or learn to frame them themselves.

"It's fun. I love the business," says the outgoing Simone. "People come in with the most beautiful things."

One of her most beautiful memories will undoubtedly remain of the pageant.

SIMONE B. RIMAN, 20 of Randolph, walks down the runway after being crowned Miss Quincy Bay of 1984 last Friday night in downtown Quincy.

After finally getting to sleep about 3 a.m. following

36 On Suffolk Dean's List

Thirty-six Quincy residents were recently named to the Dean's List at Suffolk University in Boston.

They are:

Jean-Pierre Saliba, freshman; Gina Macchia, Anne Hogan, Paul Berlinguet, Christopher Canniff, Lina Schepis, Kathryn Doherty, Karen Lischinsky, Danielle Hanson, sophomores; Donna McKenna, Maureen Molloy, Scott London, Michael Furey, Margaret Fahey, Carolyn Dunn, Joan Donahue, David Devine, Stephen Cady, William Andrews, Stephen Walsh,

KATHLEEN HUNT, 20, of Weymouth, was selected first runner-up in the annual Miss Quincy Bay Pageant which attracted a crowd of nearly 1,000 people.

the pageant, she awoke the next morning and ran to the kitchen where she had left her trophy and red roses from the pageant and boyfriend Richard Stone, 20, of Boston.

"And everything was still there," she smiles.

2 Receive Point $200 Alumni Scholarships

Debra Bonvie and Eric Jolley, both 1984 Quincy High School graduates, were recently awarded $200 Quincy Point Alumni Memorial Scholarships.

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of Quincy Point Junior High School in 1953, a scholarship was established with the hope that a $100 scholarship could be awarded to a member of the Silver Anniversary Class in 1956.

That scholarship was awarded and over the years, through the efforts of school staff, parents, students, and alumni, the fund increased to the point where it is self sustaining.

Debra, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bonvie, will attend Suffolk University. Eric, the son of Mrs. Geraldine Jolley, will attend the University of Lowell.

Col. James J. Dugan, 81 Had 32 Year Military Career

A funeral Mass for Col. James J. Dugan, 81, a former resident of Quincy and Milton, was held Monday in St. Ignatius Church in Hickory, Md.

Burial was in Trinity Church Cemetery, Churchville.

Mr. Dugan died July 20 at Perry Point Veterans Administration Hospital in Perryville after a brief illness.

His military career spanned 32 years of active and reserve duty. He was a former commanding officer of the 2nd Infantry Battalion at the Boston Navy Yard. During World War II, he was an executive officer with the 1st Marine Detachment in Northern Ireland. He also had been a member of the Marine Corps Reserves.

Owen H. Dugan, had operated the O.H. Dugan Leather Co. on Baxter Rd. in Quincy.

Born in Bangor, Maine, he moved to Quincy as a youth. He had lived in Quincy for 35 years and in Milton for 25 years. He had moved to Maryland in 1970. He was a graduate of Boston College High School and a 1926 graduate of St. John's College in Annapolis, where he was captain of the football, baseball and basketball teams.

He was a catcher with the Chicago White Sox briefly in the late 1920s. He also played in the Massachusetts Twilight Baseball League and played football for the Quincy Trojans in the 1930s. While on the football team, he played under the name of Red Polaski.

He was a member of the Quincy Neighborhood Club, the Milton Hoosic Club, the Military Order of World Wars, the Massachusetts Military Historical Society and the Reserve Officers Association.

Husband of the late Sue Pattison (Weisheit) Dugan, he is survived by a son, James J. Dugan Jr. of Boston; three daughters, Martha Hopkins of Maryland, Susanne Thale of West Germany and Jane Love of Maryland; eight grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; a nephew, Owen Henry Dugan of Wellesley; and two nieces, Sheila Block of Milton and Patricia Hines of Weyland.

Arrangements were made by the Tarring Funeral Home, Aberdeen.

Memorial donations may be made to the Heart Association.

John P. Matthews, 63, Specialist In Alcohol, Drug Rehabilitation

A funeral Mass for John P. Matthews, 63, of Quincy, a specialist in alcohol and drug rehabilitation treatment, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Matthews died July 21 in Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after a brief illness.

Born in Bath, N.Y., he had lived in Londonderry, N.H., before moving to North Quincy.

He was the chief executive officer and major stockholder of Beech Hill Farm Hospital in Dublin, N.H., from 1968 until it was sold in 1980. Founded in 1948, the hospital was the first freestanding alcohol treatment facility accredited by the Joint Commission of Hospital Accreditations.

Under his leadership, the hospital became a world renowned facility for the treatment of alcoholism and drug abuse.

For the past two years, he was a consultant to the Abraham Gosman Medeplex Group of Newton, an alcohol and drug abuse treatment center.

He was a member of the Association of Labor and Management on Alcoholism, the National Association of Treatment Providers, the American College of Administrators, the National Council of Alcoholism and the New Hampshire's Governor's Advisory Council on Alcoholism.

He attended the University of Buffalo, the University of New Hampshire, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Yale School of Alcohol Studies.

A World War II Army Veteran, he had received numerous awards for bravery. He was a member of the tank battalion that spearheaded the drive into Germany under Gen. George Patton.

A testimonial gathering in his honor in June at the Marriott Hotel in Burlington was attended by 500 friends and associates. Letters and telegrams were sent by President Ronald Reagan, N.H. Gov. John J. Sununu and Mass. Gov. Michael Dukakis.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen C. (Keeffe) Matthews; a son, John P. Matthews Jr., of Westmoreland, N.H.; a daughter, Elizabeth Matthews of Manchester, N.H.; a step-daughter, Ellen Elizabeth Lyons of San Francisco, Calif.; a brother, Joseph Matthews of Somerset, and two nieces.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was at Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Donations may be made to the John P. Matthews Scholarship Fund, in care of Jack Connors, Commonwealth Energy, 675 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge 02139.

Anthony P. Napolitano, Suffered Attack While Driving

A funeral Mass for Anthony P. Napolitano, owner of Nap's Philatelic Service, was held Wednesday in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Napolitano died July 21 when the car he was driving hit a utility pole on Morrissey Boulevard in Dorchester after he had apparently suffered a heart attack.

Born in Boston, he lived in Dorchester before moving to North Quincy 12 years ago.

He was also co-owner of the Napoli Wrecking Co. in Boston with his two brothers.

He was a Korean War Marine Veteran.

He is survived by his mother, Lena (Fiandaca)

Napolitano; two brothers, Joseph M. Napolitano and Philip Napolitano; two sisters, Christine Napolitano and Stephanie Napolitano, and several nieces and nephews, all of Quincy. He was also the son of the late Philip Napolitano.

Arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Donations may be made to the American Heart Association, 1105 W. Chestnut St., Brockton 02401.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Gloomy pessimists predict an autocratic form of government will eventually replace our democracy... We disagree.
Our democracy will exist as long as the belief exists that the individual is important. It will exist as long as you have the right to either commend or condemn those in office. It will exist as long as you have the right to think for yourself and to express your thoughts openly. It will exist and thrive even if the quick and glib tongue speak without thinking - as foolish people sometimes do.
Dislikes and hatreds of course exist in any form of government. But history has proved criticism in a democracy is actually a creative force. Criticism creates and sustains individual rights and liberties even if the criticism of government is unjustified. Truth and troubles are invisible in autocratic government but are plainly seen, debated and tolerated in a democracy. In fact, is this not one of the main reasons why, in spite of occasional claims to the contrary, we actually have more and better human relations in our country than anywhere else in the world?

WHICH OPINION IS RIGHT?

QUESTION: I think my home is worth $70,000, my neighbor says it's worth $85,000, but a prospect claimed it was not worth a cent more than $60,000. Who's opinion should I trust?

ANSWER: The value of your home is not what YOU think it should be, or your neighbor or even a casual prospect. It is determined chiefly by the location, the neighborhood and the current market. Nobody, but nobody, is more acutely aware of the current housing market than your local REALTOR. Put your faith in his hands and he'll recommend the best possible selling price.

Rev. Harold McSwain Union Congregational Interim Minister

After interviewing several applicants for the position, the Pastoral Search Committee of Union Congregational Church, 136 Rawson Road, Wollaston, has selected the Rev. Harold McSwain as interim minister.

Rev. McSwain will start his employment Sept. 1 and will serve as interim minister until the search committee can present to the congregation a candidate for full time pastor.

He will serve Holy Communion Sept. 2.

Rev. McSwain will also serve as pulpit supply minister Aug. 19 and 26.

He is currently serving as pastor of UCC of Oakdale, Conn., a position he has held since Sept. 1982.

Rev. McSwain is also serving as chaplain at the John B. Gates Correctional Facility, Niantic, Conn.

He received a degree from the Lamberth College of Jackson, Tenn., and two degrees from the Methodist Theological School of Delaware, Ohio.

'Unexpected Company' Sermon Topic At Bethany

During the summer at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., QuinCY Centre, there will be only one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon Sunday, July 29, entitled, "Unexpected Company," based on the scriptural texts from 11 Samuel 3:1-10 and John 21:1-14. Barbara A. Carr will be lay scripture reader.

David S. Carr, a member of Bethany's chancel choir, will sing two solo selections.

As the offertory, he will sing "Does Jesus Care?" by J. Lincoln Hall and a special presentation, "Living for Jesus, Oh What Peace!", a composition by C.F. Weigle. Bethany's Director of Music, Peter E. Krasinski, will be at the organ console.

During the service, the sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Heide Lynn Cutler, daughter of Lawrence W. Cutler and Linda Jean (Clark) Cutler.

The Church School is closed for the summer.

However, nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided.

The service will be broadcast by delayed tape at 11 a.m. over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to share in both the worship and fellowship.

For more information about Bethany's ministry and program, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

Former Wollaston Priest Has Radio Program

Fr. Mike McNamara, a priest of the Archdiocese of Boston, and originally from St. Ann's Parish, Wollaston, offers a program entitled, "Come and Worship" Saturday mornings at 9:15 on station WKOL (95.0).

The program, based on preaching the Bible readings for the next day (Sunday), challenges its listeners to greater participation in their worship with its insights into the scripture and theme of the day.

The program is sponsored by "Servants of Christ Ministries," P.O. Box 283, Hingham, 02043.

HIGH CHAIRS CAN BE DANGEROUS

It happened in Philadelphia. A highly active 6-month old child was just about to be fed in his high chair when the disbell rang. His mother left the child to answer the door. The hungry child rocked, rolled, and cried for his dinner. Ultimately, both the child and high chair toppled over. The child smashed against the stove resulting in a serious head injury requiring hospitalization.

Older high chairs may be dangerous to the children who use them. In one 18-month period, for instance, there were 485 reported injuries to babies who fell out of, tipped over or were caught in their high chairs.

Parents buying new high chairs should check the back or seat bottom for the "Approved High Chair" label recently established by the Juvenile Products Manufacturers Association. Models with the seal have been tested for, and do not display, such hazards as sharp edges, splinters, coils and dangerous holes. The chairs also resist tipping, collapsing and scissoring, and do not rely on the feeding tray to keep an infant securely in place.

Morrisette, Wollaston, Hingham Bunched

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Legion baseball regular season is due to end Saturday and teams are busy this week making up games.

The Zone 6 race is still up in the air with defending champion Morrisette, Wollaston and Hingham bunched at the top.

Morrisette, after losing to Hingham Monday night, is 13-6 and Wollaston, winner over Randolph Monday, is 12-6. If these teams stub their toes this week, Hingham, at 11-6, could move in and take the title.

Braintree (15-1) is walking away with Zone 6A and has already clinched the crown once again.

This season the winner of both divisions qualify for the state playoffs. In the past the winners met in a three-game series to decide the overall crown. Last year Morrisette won again in Zone 6 but was outclassed by Braintree in the playoffs for the overall title.

Morrisette hosted Randolph last night (Wednesday), will be home to Canton Friday night at 8 at Adams Field and will finish up at Canton Saturday at 2 o'clock.

Wollaston, rained out of two games last week, began a tough schedule Tuesday night against Holbrook, met Mass. Truck last night, will meet Carter Post tonight (Thursday) at Adams and will wind up Saturday at 5 o'clock by meeting Braintree at Adams Field.

Wollaston must win all of its last four games and hope for a Morrisette loss to win the Zone 6 crown. There is a distinct possibility the two rivals could finish up in a tie for first.

Morrisette had a chance to remain a game and a half ahead of Wollaston Monday night but Hingham scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning at Hingham for a 6-5 victory.

Jack Outerbridge suffered his second loss of the season. Morrisette scored three runs in the first and two in the second and had a 5-3 lead after five innings. Hingham had scored its three runs in the first.

Denis Cronin drove in two runs with a single and the other three Morrisette runs were unearned.

Sunday Morrisette defeated Carter Post of Dorchester, 7-2, putting the game away with five runs in the third inning. Mike Joyce picked up his second victory of the season.

Morrisette had key hits from Chris Bunker, with a double and two RBI, a two-run single by Cronin and a long RBI triple by 15-year-old Chris Marshall.

Morrisette suffered its first shutout of the season as Mass. Truck of Weymouth won, 3-0, with Chuck Pompeo pitching a five-hitter.

Paul Ratti and John Christiani pitched well for Morrisette. Dan Kelly went 2-for-3 and Bunker had a double, the only extra base hit.

In its previous game Morrisette topped Wollaston for the second time, 3-2, as Bunker made his second pitching start and hooked up in a fine duel with Wollaston's Steve Hogan. The two were North Quincy High teammates.

Morrisette scored its three runs in the opening inning and barely held on as Bunker scattered five hits and gave up both Wollaston runs in the third.

Morrisette scored its runs when Danny Kelly led off the game with a double. Dan Shea was hit by a pitch and Bunker reached on a fielder's choice. Jack Bolster walked. Cronin singled in a run. Bunker scored on a wild pitch and Scott Mele singled in Bolster.

Wollaston's two runs came when Paul Campbell walked. Mike Notarangelo hit a long triple and he scored on Ken Runge's single. Kelly had two hits as did Morrisette.

Earlier Morrisette had edged Milton, 2-1, scoring both runs in the first inning. Outerbridge and Milton's Steve McCarthy were involved in an out-standing mound duel as hard-luck loser McCarthy gave up just three hits and struck out nine.

Shea opened the game with a double and Bolster cleared the left field fence for a two-run homer and that was all for Morrisette. Shea's single in the fifth was the only other hit. Outerbridge, winning his sixth game, allowed five hits and gave up Milton's lone run in the fourth. Outerbridge was given outstanding support by his mates.

Wollaston defeated Randolph, 9-5, Monday night with Steve Higgins pitching six innings. He ran out of gas in the sixth and Vin Christiani was roughed up a bit and Joe Conti came in and gained his second save of the week.

Hogan went 3-for-3, Conti had two hits and Rob McElaney and Keith Smith had fine games. Smith gunned down a Randolph runner at third base with a perfect throw from right field to kill a rally.

Wollaston defeated Quincy, 6-1, with Notarangelo pitching six innings for the win and Conti getting the save.

Notarangelo also had two hits as did McElaney as Wollaston scored two in the first, one in the third and three in the fourth.

Quincy continues to have trouble scoring and was shut out by Randolph, 6-0, being held to three hits and falling to 1-13 for the season.

summer, was hosted by Race New England and attracted 35 of the fastest offshore powerboats on the East Coast.

Thousands of bathers at Nantasket Beach had the best spots to view the race, which passed the beach six times.

Girls' Teams Qualify For Hershey Finals

Two girls' relay teams from Quincy qualified for the Hershey Track Meet national finals next month in Hershey, Pa., after winning state titles recently in Braintree.

Qualifying were the girls' 9-10 age group relay team of Lindsay McGovern, Amanda Young, Katie O'Shea and Amelia Janus, which won the state crown in 1:02.40, and the 11-12 relay team of Karen Cashman, Holly Rendie, Chrissy Kelly and Dana Guilfof, which won in 58.28.

Both teams qualified for the nationals when their winning times were compared with the times in other New England qualifying meets.

The N.E. regional team, which will compete in the nationals, includes 21 from Massachusetts.

Quincy had two individual winners in the state finals. Nancy Flukes winning the 13-14 softball throw at 47.45, and Janus, who won the 9-10 400 in 1:10.20, but were behind the winning times and distances of other New England qualifiers.

Several other Quincy entrants did well in the state finals in Braintree.

In 9-10 Christian Cavallo was third in the boys' 400 and Tara Miles was second in the girls' softball throw.

In 11-12 the boys' 400 relay team of Anthony Stafford, Chris DiGiacomo, Mike Jones and Sean McCarthy finished third. Karen Cashman was second in the girls' 400 and Kelly Wirtz took third in the softball throw.

In 13-14 the boys' 400 relay team of Steve Shop, Dan Hobin, Mike Flibotte and Paul McLellan took third. Francine Rogers was second in the girls' standing long jump and the girls' 400 relay team of Patty Feeney, Francine Rogers, Robin Guilfof and Mary Powers took second.

Thirty-two Quincy boys and girls qualified for the state finals after winning the local competition sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Track Club and posting one of the top eight finishes from over 30 other local meets state-wide.

• Triple A

White Sox Finish On Top

The White Sox finished first in the Triple A Baseball League for the second year in a row, finishing with a 14-4 record.

The White Sox clinched first place by winning their last three games.

They defeated the Indians, 12-5, with Brett Carter pitching a three-hitter.

Jeff Bell had three singles and Phil Cosgrove and Rickey Riggs each had a double. For the Indians Miller and Loud had doubles.

In a makeup game the Sox again defeated the Indians, 9-6, with Russ Connolly the winning pitcher and Dorsey the loser.

Riggs had a towering home run over the right field fence, Joey DiChristofaro had two singles and Carter had a triple. For the Indians Chris Fleming had a double and Keady two singles.

The White Sox finished up with a 14-2 romp over the Mets with Riggs pitching a three-hitter.

Bell had one of his best games with two doubles, two singles and four RBI. Riggs had three doubles, Cosgrove two singles and a double, Carter three singles and Jason Vega two singles. Christine Barrett played outstanding defense at second base.

Playing for the White Sox were Jeff Pugliese, Vega, Chris Roche, Cosgrove, DiChristofaro, Bell, Carter, Amy Baker, Joey Nabstedt, Ronnie Boudreau, Connolly, Riggs and Barrett, Jim Nabstedt and Buddy Boudreau were the coaches and Sonny Pugliese the manager.

• Junior Baseball

Houghs Neck Bombs Foley, 10-3

Houghs Neck exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning and walloped Foley Chrysler, 10-3, in the Junior Baseball League.

Lance Gilbert was the winning pitcher and Sean Mulhern the loser.

Peter McLaughlin had a single, Billy Monteith a double and single, Brian Taylor two singles, Peter Lyons two singles, Mark Bogan a double, Gilbert a double and two singles, Mike Connors, Kevin Manville, George and Casta Resentitis and Dave Gamsby all played strong defense.

For Foley Mulhern had three singles, Greg Clifford a home run and double, Richie Brooks two singles, and Brian Comeau and Bevilaqua singles.

Kiwanis wound up its regular season with a 16-11 victory over Rotary with David Hutchings the winning pitcher.

Hutchings struck out nine and had a big day at bat as he drove in six runs with his sixth home run of the season and two doubles. Timmy Roche had a double and two singles, Mike McManus a double and single and two RBI, Mike Shinnick a triple, Kevin McPartlin a double and David Thompson and David Edwards a single each.

Ben Smith at third base, catcher Thompson, Edwards in right field and John Fahey at second base played strong defensive games.

N.L. Edges A.L., 8-7

The National League held off an American League rally in the last inning and edged the Americans, 8-7, in the annual Triple A Baseball League all-star game last week.

Tom Sullivan had a double and single and played excellent defense in center field, Ricky Riggs and Frank Cavino had a double and single each.

John Clarke had two hits and played strong defense at third base, Jason Doyle had a triple, Brian O'Malley, Steve Sumpter and Mike Duran had a double each and Sumpter, Mike Doherty and Jason Doyle all pitched well.

Sullivan was named the American League's MVP and Clarke was the National's MVP.

Windsurfing Intro Lesson Aug. 4

The Quincy Recreation Department William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility will offer a special one day introductory program of windsurfing on Saturday, August 4, with two hour classes from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Windsurfing has been offered at the Black's Creek Facility for the past two years, and has proved a very popular addition to the rowing, sailing, and canoeing activities," according to Barry J. Welch, Director of Recreation.

On Saturday, Aug. 4, there will be an additional staff, and a reduced rate for this introductory lesson. The charge is $2 for the 2 hour small group lesson, and if the participant wishes to continue, the $2 will be put toward the regular boathouse membership.

Enrollment is open to Quincy residents age 15 to adult. No previous sailing experience is necessary. Registration can be made in person at the boating area at the rear of Merrymount Park or by calling 773-1380, ext. 204.

Thelma Berman Ponkapoag Winner

Thelma Berman of Quincy won the recent "Three Blind Holes of Nine Holes" tournament at the Ponkapoag Golf Club.

Lillian Bogue was second, followed by Sally Barr and Marion Dale, tied for third; Hila Appel, Renee Borgia and Laura Lynch, tied for fifth.

Dale was the winner of a "par-bogey" point competition, followed by Nancy Carlton, Stephanie Rizza and Berman tied for third, and Appel.

The Ponkapoag Ladies' Inner Club holds its first ladies invitational tournament today (Thursday) and members of all area clubs are invited.

Koch Broad Meadows District Awards Night

The Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club will close out its 23rd season boys' baseball and girls' softball Tuesday, July 31, at 6:30 p.m. at the Broad Meadows Middle School Field, 50 Calvin Rd. with the annual parents and awards night.

Recognition will be given to those boys and girls who by their attendance and participation proved reliable and dependable team and league members.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. Delmonico, founders of the Broad Meadows District in 1962, will direct the awards presentation, assisted by the umpires and coaches in the ceremonies.

The Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club is second in seniority to the 34-year-old parent North Quincy District of the after supper youth recreational program.

The Koch Club North Quincy, Montclair and West Quincy Districts have completed their 1984 activities and the Broad Meadows District will complete the Koch Club summer activities.

Bryan Edges Hancock For A. L. Pennant

Bryan Post VFW clinched the American League pennant in the Babe Ruth League by edging Hancock Bank, 4-3, on Joe Innello's towering home run.

Chris Cody improved his pitching record to 9-0 as he struck out seven, including five of the last six batters, for Bryan, which finished at 16-6. Cody has struck out 65 in 64 innings.

Bryan broke the ice in a very well-played game with two runs in the fifth on hits by Steve Austin and Cody. Hancock battled back with three runs in the bottom of the inning on singles by Rich and Steve Connolly, Joel Rogers and Chris Higgins.

Bryan scored the two winning runs in the sixth on Rob Cinquegrano's single and Innello's long homer.

Innello, Austin and Cody had two hits each and Cinquegrano, Billy Mulhern, Gary Silverman and Mark Dwyer had one each.

Austin caught a fine game and Jay Rodriguez, Chris Standing, Mulhern, Silverman and Dwyer played fine defense.

Hancock was led by Joel Rogers and Rich Connolly with two hits apiece. Bob Higgins pitched an outstanding game, striking out 11. He received sound support in the field, especially from shortstop Chris Higgins.

The Elks finished second in the American League with a 14-8 record after two wins last week.

The Elks defeated Morrisette Post, 8-3, behind the four-hit pitching of Sean Gately, who struck out three and also walked three. He was afforded outstanding support.

Tom Logan had a 360-foot home run with a man on base, one of the longest home runs this season at Adams Field. He also played a fine game at first base. Bob Laracy had two singles and a walk and scored three runs. Matt Ostiguy had two singles and scored a run. Brian Roche singled and doubled and scored a run and also played strong defense at shortstop. Bill Murphy had two singles, Peter Tufts and Gately had singles and Bob Buttomer walked and scored a run.

The Elks also topped the Sons of Italy, 8-3, with Laracy striking out eight and walking only one. The S of I scored three runs in the sixth, snapping Laracy's scoreless inning streak at 15.

Roche had a big day with two singles, a double and home run and scored three runs. Logan and Ostiguy had singles and both scored runs. Murphy singled, walked and scored a run and Tufts and Laracy each scored runs.

For the Sons of Italy Chris Ricciutti, John Pennellatore and Ross all had two singles and Swanson and Flavin had singles. Larry Taglieri pitched well.

CHERYL WENCEK displays tickets she won for Summer Olympics in Los Angeles.

Quincy Woman Wins Trip To Olympics

Cheryl Wencek of Quincy has won an all-expense paid trip for two to the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles.

Wencek is one of five employees of the Hartford Insurance Group to win the week-long trip which includes air transportation, meals, lodging, and tickets to three Olympic events. She will attend Track and Field, Soccer, and Free-style wrestling.

The five winners were selected from a list of Hartford employees who were "Gold Medalists" in a countrywide, Olympic-theme competition sponsored by the Hartford's Quality Control department.

"I was so surprised to learn that I had won," laughs Wencek, "because I never win anything. I've always wanted to go the Olympics, but never thought I'd be able to go, so I'm really excited about it," Wencek says.

Wencek is an assistant to the underwriter in the Hartford's Boston regional office.

Quincy Therapist Aiding Summer Olympics Athletes

Joe Carroll, a Quincy therapist who works in the Sports Medicine Clinic at Brintree Hospital, is taking part in the Summer Olympics, but won't be playing any sports.

Carroll, 25, is spending this week at a clinic in one of the Olympic villages treating the casualties of pre-game training.

He is taking care of the tennis players and gymnasts taking part in the Games. In exchange for his services he gets a uniform, lunch and a bus pass-but no pay.

He also is given two free passes to watch any events he likes, but won't be able to take advantage of them because he must return to Brintree before the opening ceremonies.

"I'm really excited about this, it's a once in a lifetime opportunity," said Carroll.

"This is the first time I'm going to be involved in this level of competition. Pretty much all I've been involved with is high school, college and recreational athletes."

He is one of the few therapists working at the Olympics "not presently working in California. He learned of the chance from a friend he met several years ago while working at the South Bay Hospital in Los Angeles, his first job after graduating from BU.

His responsibilities include working with team physicians of the various tennis and gymnastics squads in the village, especially helping those who injure themselves preparing for the Games.

"I'll just work with pre-existing problems or acute injuries they suffer in training," he said. "I'll be involved in their rehabilitation process in conjunction with their physicians."

Legion All Star Game July 30 To Benefit Muscular Dystrophy

The fourth annual American Legion All Star Baseball game to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at Adams Field.

The game matches the best players from Zone 6 Morrisette, Wollaston, Quincy, Hingham, Weymouth, and Carter Post of Dorchester against the stars from zone 6A Brintree, Randolph, Holbrook, Milton, Canton, and Mass. Truck of Weymouth.

In 1978, Morrisette started playing teams from throughout the state to benefit MDA, but in 1981 the league decided to play the all star game within its own zone.

Zone 6 has won all three games so far.

In the six years Morrisette Post has hosted the games, more than $3,000 has been raised for MDA.

The game is sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and hosted by the Morrisette Legion Team.

Ryan Gets Look Over From Major League Scouts

Over 100 young men recently gathered in Waltham to compete and be looked at by baseball major league scouts.

Among these young ballplayers was Quincy's Tom Ryan, 15 Buckingham Rd., who plays first base for the Morrisette Legion Post, coached by Ray Cattaneo. Tom was seen on TV Channel 4 Sports News that night, running the 60-yard dash, and playing first base.

while Dick Foley, one of the major league scouts, was being interviewed about the happenings of the day.

"These major league scouts travel throughout the country to observe young talent. Attention is given specifically to speed and fielding ability. The scouts, after tryouts, selected enough players, plus a number of pitchers, to play a scrimmage game, so that these particular players could be closely observed by the scouts."

Ryan, 17, was the youngest player on the field, playing the entire 15 innings, and batting against 30 pitchers. The teams were made up primarily of college students or college graduates. Ryan did an outstanding job on first base, and was highly commended by one of the major league scouts the opposing first baseman being a graduate of Tampa University. Foley informed the media that any young man who happens to still be in high school can be sure of being tracked and having a watchful eye kept on him this year.

Going into his senior year at Naverian Brothers High School in Westwood, where he has played baseball and hockey the past three years, and recently being selected by the faculty as a member of the distinct Naverian Leadership Institute, Tom has already been the recipient of a letter from the head coach at U. Mass, Amherst, stating that he was recommended to them as student athlete, and wanted him to think about attending that college.

Tom's just in the thinking stages right now of choices and decisions about college. He'll be thinking about many, while his summer months are being spent playing first base for Morrisette, and keeping busy as a recreation leader at O'Rourke Field for the City of Quincy.

The Eyes have it.

Patriot Girls' Volleyball Teams Shine In National Meets

The Mass. Patriot girls' volleyball teams, with a large number of Quincy girls, performed well in two national championships, the USVBA nationals in Rhode Island and the AAU National Junior Olympic championships in Chicago.

The 17-and-under team, coached by Quincy High coach Ray Whitehouse, surprised by winning pool play in the Rhode Island meet by defeating West Los Angeles, 15-12, 15-11; City Chicago, 8-15, 15-4, 15-3; South Florida, 15-7, 15-2, and Front Range Gold Colorado, 15-6, 15-13.

Heading into double elimination playoffs, the Patriots lost to Heart of America, Iowa, 15-12, 15-8, and Sports Performance of Chicago, 15-12, 15-5, to finish 13th out of 44 in the country.

South Shore players were Christine Gallery, Karen Marnell and Kathy McGregor of Quincy, Lori Hanley of Milton and Karen Mackinaw of Brockton.

The 15-and-under team coached by Quincy High assistant coach Chris Prendiville, drew the toughest pool in the competition and gave their own good matches, finishing fourth in the pool.

The Patriots lost to Bay Club, California, 15-11, 12-15, 15-4; Windy City, East Chicago, 15-6, 15-11; Sports Performance, Chicago, 15-12, 15-12, and Bergen, N.J., 15-7, 10-15, 15-8. They defeated Rocky Mountain Rainbows, Colorado, 17-15, 15-12.

In the consolation championship, they fared better, beating Front Range Crimson, Colorado, 15-4, 15-9; Front Range Blue, Colorado, 15-9, 9-15, 15-5, and Santa Barbara Calif., 15-3, 15-6, before bowing to Bergen and California to be eliminated.

The team included Quincy's Marlo LeVangie, twins Terry and Ginny Duggan, Lauren Standing and Pam Austin.

The 13-and-under team coached by Brookline's Ellen Lewis, finished fourth out of 11 in the country.

The Patriots played Newport Beach, Calif., Windy City Chicago, Muncie, Ind., Chicago West and Connecticut to advance them to the playoffs.

In playoffs the Mass. squad defeated Meriden, Conn., 15-6, 15-4, and was finally eliminated by the Rajun Cajuns, Louisiana, 15-6, 7-15, 15-9, and Newport Beach II, 15-10, 9-15, 15-4.

Among those playing on this team were North Quincy's Chris Venezia, Barbara Carroll and Eileen Campbell and Squantum's Erin Murray.

In the AAU Junior Olympics in Chicago the three Patriot teams saw a lot of action and did well against strong competition.

The 17-and-under team was hampered considerably by the loss of Christine Gallery, an all-scholastic at Quincy High, who was ill. This team defeated OK Jr., Okalahoma, 15-3, 15-2, and Big Bend, Fla., 15-3, 15-7, and lost to Sports Performance, 15-7,

In seeding single games the Patriots defeated Northside, Ill., 15-7, and Circus, Ill., 15-10, and lost to Kalamazoo, Mich., 15-6.

In playoffs Mass. defeated HAC, Fla., 15-12, 15-5, and lost to Sports Performance, 15-1, 13-15, 15-6. The team finished ninth out of 52 in the country.

The 15-and-under team defeated Jefferson, La., 15-7, 15-7; split with Belleville, Ill., 15-8, 7-15, and Edmond Bulldogs, Wash., 15-13, 13-15, and lost to Spikettes, 15-3, 15-10, and KVC, Hawaii, 15-8, 15-8.

In playoffs the Patriots defeated the Victas of Michigan, 15-3, 15-3, before being defeated by Sports Performance, 8-15, 15-9, 15-4. The team placed 17th out of 47 in the nation.

The 13-and-under team lost to Belleville, Ill., 17-15, 15-13, and Challengers West, Ill., 15-3, 15-7, and split with Big Bend, Fla., 18-16, 18-8.

In seeding games the team defeated Austin, Tex., 15-6, and JAVA, Mich., 15-12. They were eliminated by Nerid, Chicago, 15-8, 15-8, and finished 17th out of 32 in the country.

The coaches thank those who supported the program. The Patriots finished the highest ever in national competition. Many of the South Shore players trained under the direction of Dr. Alfred Roncarati at the Professional Service Center in Quincy.

Jaehnig Club In 2 Playoff Wins

The Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy scored two heart-stopping one-point playoff victories to move into the finals of the Ridge Racquet Club summer basketball league against the defending champion, Pete's Pizza.

In the quarterfinals Jaehnig started slowly and trailed by as many as 14 points in the second half. It battled back by using an aggressive full-court press and, with only three seconds left, Mark Jaehnig picked up a deflected shot and laid it in for a 43-42 win.

Chuck Jaehnig had 18 points and Jeff Timberlake 14, while Jim Evans and Mike Granahan sparked the defense.

Against the North Quincy Manets in the semi-finals, the shoe was on the other foot as Jaehnig opened up a 12-point lead early in the second half, only to lose it as the Manets staged a furious comeback and led with less than a minute to play.

Timberlake sank two of his 16 points with 10 seconds left and Jim Jaehnig's two free throws kept the game.

Mark Jaehnig had 14 points and Steve Brustin and Mike Jaehnig excelled defensively as the team improved to 13-4.

Chip Bunker led the Manets with 12 points and Will Smith and Jim Timmons played strong games.

Lawrence Yerdon Named Chairman Of Quincy Arts Council

Mayor Francis McCauley has appointed Lawrence Yerdon director and curator of the Quincy Historical Society, as Chairman of the Quincy Arts Council.

The Council has been expanded to include six more representatives from arts and community organizations throughout Quincy. There are currently 14 members appointed to administer the approximately $40,000 in arts lottery revenue allocated to Quincy each year.

Members in addition to Yerdon are: Garry Brennan, David Erickson, Nancy Johnson, Mary Kennedy, Carol Pisano, Lorraine Quinn, Ronda Winderl, Eugene Creedon, Sandy Dennis, Paul Doherty, Robin McGoff, Andrew Nelson and Frank Santoro. The Megabucks game is responsible for returning approximately $3 million in local funds to cities and towns throughout the state, McCauley said. Recent recipients include such local groups as the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, the Quincy Choral Society, and the Quincy Arts Association who used their allocation to help open an art center on High School Ave. last spring.

WEEK OF: JULY 26

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Recent personal disappointments are reversed this week. Thursday-Saturday accent buying and selling - you may be acquiring an important antique. Workload lightens after Monday.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Relationship should not be taken for granted. Make a point of pampering your favorite friend, or plan a quiet trip together. Week is favorable for planning large-scale functions.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Short-term goals may be realized during this productive and entertaining period. Romance is featured too. Some surprise expenses are scattered through the weekend - you may have to resist a bargain.

TAURUS - April 21-May 21
Partner's optimistic approach may be somewhat misleading but avoid tendency to pry. Moving and vacation plans are spotlighted, avoid tendency to do too much in a short time period.

GEMINI - May 22-June 21
Emotions run high this week; you'd be wise to keep your distance from possessive individuals. Intuition is strong too. Opportunity for career advancement is worth exploring.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Recent plans benefit from further refinement. Small financial sacrifice may be necessary on or just after the weekend. Long-distance news requires prompt follow-up.

LEO - July 23-August 22
You may find it hard to convey your bright ideas - look for a new medium. Changes are accentuated over rests, especially if those changes are to a favorite romantic destination.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Emotions may interfere with financial judgment; objectivity should be the keyword through the week. Thanks to your recent support, a good friend realizes a major goal by Wednesday.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Tendency to reveal your plans prematurely; discretion is all-important this week. Signs of positive financial reversal may appear by Tuesday. The fun side of travel is accentuated.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Encounter with a VIP may lead to professional development. Friend is unusually competitive while you're in a philosophical mood. Parties you host now earn points for creativity.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Romantically upbeat cycle can be launched this week. Financial partnerships may require some thorough review. You find that vacation does not necessarily mean relaxation.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Commitments made now have long-term implications. Recent romantic uncertainty can be cleared if you take a down-to-earth approach. Financial news-brightener arrives by Wednesday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Your sense of style and sense of drama are admirable, and you treasure the limelight. Self-improvement is accentuated over the next several months. Highly influential people take an interest in your work late in the year.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 26th, singer Mick Jagger; 27th, producer Norman Lear; 28th, actress Sally Struthers; 29th, actor William Powell; 30th, singer Paul Anka; 31st, actor Don Murray; August 1st, actor Geoffrey Holder.

2 Quincy Groups Receive $12,500

Sen. Paul Harold announces that the Massachusetts Council on Arts and Humanities has awarded $12,500 in state grants to benefit two Quincy cultural groups.

The Quincy Historical Society has been awarded $5,000; the Studebaker Mime Co. of Wollaston, $7,500.

"Quincy has a strong cultural and historical heritage," said Harold, "and I am pleased that these efforts will be assisted by the additional funding we included in the new state budget."

Summertime! art search⁸⁴

The Quincy Department of Planning and Community Development is seeking original works of art on what summer means to you. One art work will be developed into a poster entitled SUMMERTIME! which will be printed and distributed throughout the City as one means of celebrating Summertime! in Quincy. All entries will be put on display in the lobby of City Hall in the early fall.

Summertime! Art Search 1984 is open to all Quincy residents age 15 years or younger. The following guidelines are to be followed in the Summertime! Art Search 1984:

- Theme: Summertime! Blue sky, flowers, baseball, house painting, grass-cutting - whatever describes Summertime! to the individual.
- Type of Art Work: Anything relatively flat and two dimensional, such as crayon drawings, pen and ink sketches, collages, paintings and so on.
- Maximum Number of Colors: Three, of the individual's choosing.
- Maximum Size of Art Work: 2' x 3'. Number of Art Works Allowed per Individual: Unlimited.
- Age Limits: Individuals submitting entries should be age 15 or younger.

- Art Work Due Date and Place: By August 31, 1984 to the Department of Planning and Community Development, Third Floor, City Hall. Art works should be identified by name, address, age and telephone number of individual.

- Return of Art Works: All art works, except for the work selected for the poster, will be returned to the individual. It will be the responsibility of the individual to pick-up his/her art work on or after October 15, 1984.

- Prize: The individual whose art work is selected will be presented with a $25.00 gift certificate to the General Cinema Complex in the South Shore Plaza.

- Inquiries: Any inquiries regarding Summertime! Art Search 1984 can be addressed to Ms. Roberta Fitzgerald at 773-1380, extension 379.

Has Educator Plans In Pri Creedon: 'I Want To

By TOM HENSHAW
Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, who retired as school superintendent last week amid accusations of sexual misconduct, plans to remain in Quincy working as an educator "in a broad sense" for private industry.

Creedon, 52, a Quincy native who headed the school system for 16 years, categorically denied the allegations that were lodged against him by three school girls involving separate incidents.

"Obviously," he told The Quincy Sun in an interview, "I'm tremendously upset and devastated by the whole situation. As far as I'm concerned there is no substance to any of it. It all just seemed to mushroom."

He said he had been contemplating retirement for three or four years, ever since the advent of the revenue-cutting Proposition 2½, and the current situation simply provided the impetus for it.

"For the past several years," he said, "things in public education haven't been all that positive. Twenty-five per cent of the superintendents in the state have retired since Proposition 2½.

"It has gone through my mind periodically since then.

"I was approached several months ago by a colleague who did the same thing (retired) about three years ago. He has periodically approached me that it is time for us to move forward on a joint venture.

"So, with all the furor, I said I guess this is the time."

...est Of My Life'

Creedon declined to spell out the joint venture in detail.

"It's a private undertaking," he said. "It's not in the public sector. It's in education in a broad sense but it's not dealing with schools or colleges. It's dealing with industry.

"I have no immediate plans to leave the area. It will depend on the business opportunity. This particular work

Validated Parking Grosses $40,000 In First Full Month

By TOM HENSHAW

The new controlled parking system in downtown Quincy, including merchant validation of parking stubs, grossed $40,413 during the month of June, the first full month it was in operation.

Arthur Foley, the Mayor's administrative assistant, projected the figure into $480,000 for the 12-month year, taking into consideration that the summer months are not a hot shopping time in the city.

"So far, it's a healthy situation," he said. "The figures are in line with what we predicted."

Under its lease with Kinney Systems, which manages the parking areas, the city will receive a base rent of $67,000 a year for the parking lots plus 50 per cent of the gross over $300,000 and 75 per cent of the gross over $500,000.

In the last year of metered parking, said Foley, the city took in $131,200, a figure that could have risen to just under $200,000 if everyone complied with the rules of feeding money into the meters.

The new parking system, often referred to as "validated parking", began in mid-May and Kinney Systems reported taking in $19,107 for that first partial month.

Foley said the number of merchants now validating parking stubs for their customers has now reached 101, up considerably from the 60 who validated from the start.

There are now 335 monthly parking tickets sold, Foley said.

Concerns Raised

License Board To Meet On Dacey's Merrymount Plans

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Dacey Bros. Dairy Inc., at 213 Samoset Ave., Merrymount would like to move its operation across the street and add a take-out section for deli sandwiches.

But the newly elected ward councillor and some residents of the area are concerned there will be an increase in traffic and other detrimental effects on the neighborhood.

Both sides will have a chance to discuss the issue at a special summer License Board meeting today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

who represents Dacey's, said the convenience store is proposing a move to 200 Sea St., a former garage, because the lease at the present location will run out soon.

Macomber said Dacey's will spend "hundreds of thousands of dollars" to renovate and expand the structure; and that a common victualer license for take-out only is an economic necessity.

As the License Board had advised in June, representatives of Dacey's and the Merrymount Association met a few weeks ago to discuss the plans. They had a "very excellent meeting," said Macomber.

Francis Whelan, association president, said that the board of directors voted not to oppose Dacey's plans after listening to both sides.

Whelan said the association then sent ballots to members, explaining that those who did not send back the ballot would be considered in favor.

There were 22 negative votes received out of 277, said Whelan.

"If Dacey's doesn't come in as a very obliging neighbor," said Whelan, "who else will come in. What kind of neighbor will be coming in."

However, Ward Councilor Michael Cheney said "the community is split on which way to go."

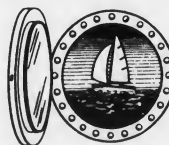

"Most want to oppose the c/v license because of an increase in traffic and they don't like expansion of the building.

"There is a safety factor with kids crossing the street, and I don't think the neighborhood warrants another take-out service," said Cheney.

"We support Jerry Dacey himself," said Cheney, "and we'd like him to remain in the neighborhood. He provides a valuable service."

Macomber doesn't feel the c/v license will generate (Cont'd on Page 22)

Groundbreaking For Burgin Extension Aug. 6

Modern Continental Construction Co. of Cambridge has been awarded the contract for construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension.

According to Sen. Paul

Harold, the State Department of Public Works awarded the contract Monday to Modern Continental after resolution of an injunction granted last week to Cruz Construction of New Jersey.

Cruz was low bidder with an offer of $9,478,000, but was disqualified because it did not have proper certification of minority hiring as required by the federal government.

Modern's bid was $9,925,000.

Groundbreaking is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 6, at 3:30 p.m. at the intersection where the Burgin Parkway Extension will meet Granite St., Quincy Center.

The Extension will run from the Route 3 ramps in South Quincy, giving travelers from the south better access to downtown Quincy.

The largest job in the state this year, it could take one to one and a half years to complete, Harold said.

all over the country so the location is not of critical importance.

"I have lived here all my life. My family and my ties are here. So at the present time I have no plans to relocate."

Creedon said he regards the whole matter as closed.

"I have retired so far as I'm concerned I have no need to explore the thing any further," he said. "I want to get on with my new career opportunity.

"I have no desire to pursue the matter of clearing myself at the present time. I want to take time to think about the whole situation. But right now I plan to focus my energies on the business opportunity."

Creedon also declined to comment on the School Committee's handling of the situation.

"In 16 years as superintendent, I have never commented on an action taken by the School Committee," he said. "I don't think I'll begin now. I don't see that there is anything to be gained by my commenting."

"I just want to get on with the rest of my life."

Creedon surprised the School Committee July 25 by announcing his retirement from the $55,000 a year post, effective Sept. 25, at the conclusion of the regular meeting. It was accepted by a 7-0 vote.

He will receive full retirement benefits.

Asst. Supt. John A. Osterman will serve as acting superintendent until a new one can be chosen.

Formal disciplinary hearings on two of the three complaints against Creedon are scheduled to be held later this month by the School Committee but Mayor Francis X. McCauley, the chairman, said they probably will be dropped.

7 New Police Officers Sworn In

By JOHN NOONAN

Seven new police officers including one woman have been appointed to the Quincy Police Department by Mayor Francis X. McCauley to fill existing vacancies.

The new officers, selected from a Civil Service qualifying examination listing, are:

The new appointments become effective Aug. 30 with a starting salary of $20,604.

The new officers will spend three days at police headquarters to acquaint themselves with police regulations, city ordinances, and the department communications center.

The officers were chosen from a list of 15 eligible candidates and have undergone extensive psychological evaluation and physical examination. They will also attend additional police academy training before receiving a regular police assignment.

The appointment of Officer Susan Perch brings to four the number of women officers in the department.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn said the addition of the new officers raises the patrol officer complement to 160. In addition there are 23 sergeants, 12 lieutenants, five captains and the chief.

Finn said the department personnel ratio of superior officers to patrol officers is near normal.

He said two and possibly three vacancies due to retirement may occur within a couple of months and up to a total of six retirements may take place by the end of the year.

The present patrol officers qualifying civil service list expires this month and a new two-year list will be used to fill future vacancies.

Relatives and friends of the seven new officers Tuesday attended swearing in ceremonies by City Clerk John M. Gillis in the Mayor's office at City Hall.

Wollaston Manor Tenants Receive $69,000 Rebate

By JOHN NOONAN

A lawsuit brought by tenants of Wollaston Manor two-and-a-half years ago has resulted in a rebate check of $69,000 to be shared by those overcharged on rents.

Beginning next month, rents in the 164-unit subsidized elderly apartment complex on Clay St. will also be reduced.

The lawsuit, filed with the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, contended that the landlord improperly charged tenants for the cost of repairs to correct a sewerage problem.

HUD officials agreed with the tenants a year ago, but allowed several appeals by the landlord.

The rebate will be based on the amount of overpayment to the landlord, but will average about $420 per unit.

Tenants who live in the apartment complex will be paid first, followed by those who have moved away.

An escrow account will be set up for those who are not immediately located, said Atty. Susan Cohen of Boston Legal Services who represented the tenants.

236 Permits For $432,871 In Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports the Department of Wire Inspection issued 236 permits, for an estimated cost of $432,871 in wiring for the month of June.

The department collected $7,856.75 in fees.

Major projects for which permits were issued during June include the remodeling of the former Willard School at Furnace Brook Parkway into office condominiums, and the electrical upgrading of 67 four family dwellings for the Quincy Housing Authority at Germantown.

WHY A TITLE SEARCH?

QUESTION: Why is a title search necessary when you buy a home?

ANSWER: Skipping the title search is like buying a car without a warranty — except the stakes are higher. Although you may be the only buyer, others may also claim rights to the property. There may be an easement to restrict the use of your land or unpaid taxes. An heir to a former owner may claim a share of the property.
A title search will check for any such possible claims and determine if the title is clear. Your deed does not eliminate claims that others may have. It simply transfers the seller's right of ownership to you.

A TITLE SEARCH will check for clouds on the title.

Ferraro Stirs Interest Here

Congresswoman Geraldine Ferraro has stirred a wave of political excitement across the country as the first woman vice presidential candidate for a major party.

It may be reaching Quincy.
"There's no doubt she's going to have some impact here," says City Clerk John Gillis.

For one thing, he thinks she's going to bring out a lot of new women voters.

"In just the past week," he notes,
"we had 43 new voters register for this fall's election. Of these, 28 were women and 15 were men."

Most of them registered as Democrats.

KENNEDY

Quincy, of course, is now a Democratic stronghold. It started to move in that direction in the mid-1950's with John F. Kennedy's Senatorial campaigns.

Before that, Quincy was the land of the Elephant as was all of Norfolk County. Republicans held every elective office.

As of this past July 1, Quincy had 45,136 registered voters. Of these, 30,438 were Democrats, 6,034
Republicans and 8,664 Independents.

Democrats in Quincy far outnumber Republicans and Independents combined.

And, women have quite a lead over men in the numbers department.

There are 7,260 more women voters in Quincy than men — some 25,689 women to 19,438 men.

Gillis thinks that with Ferraro on the Democratic ticket the number of Democrats and women voters will increase considerably.

Nationwide, will she make the difference in this year's Presidential sweepstakes?

"I don't know," says Gillis. "But unless she fouls up somehow, she's going to be a big help to Mondale."

McCAULEY

MAYOR Francis McCauley and City Council President James Sheets haven't seen eye to eye on much of anything lately.

But the two do agree on one thing:
the battle against muscular dystrophy is a very worthy cause.

The pair are putting aside their political differences and uniting to serve as co-chairmen of the annual

"If a man is gracious and courteous to strangers, it shows he is a citizen of the world."

SPEAKING of His Honor, he's as good at landing fish as he is at bringing in votes.

During the Burgin Platner Fishing Derby off
Wellfleet, McCauley reeled in the biggest fish of the day
-- a 16-pound, four ounce bluefish.

Witnesses aboard the Burgin chartered boat included
Dave Leitch, host, Fred Sullivan of the Bank of Boston, McCauley's administrative assistant Arthur Foley and Henry Cheney of Work, Inc.

McCauley brought his prize home to Sandra.

RON IACOBUCCI is already off and running in another bid for a City Council at-large seat. Although the next city preliminary election is 14 months away, Iacobucci is campaigning -- on both sides of Neponset Bridge.

Iacobucci was busy shaking hands at the Pope's Hill Neighborhood Association annual picnic and found a lot of people from Quincy there -- former Dorchester residents.

He also met a lot of Dorchester residents who have relatives or friends living in Quincy.

Iacobucci's campaign coordinator, John Walsh of Squantum, a former Dorchester resident himself introduced Iacobucci around.

THE DEATH OF Ruth Brett, wife of former state
Rep. - City Councillor Joseph Brett saddens all who knew her. She was one of those "nice people", the kind the world should have more of. She was always pleasant, never took politics that seriously, never had a bad thing to say about anyone.

She and Joe were married 48 years and it was a good marriage. During his political campaigns and while he was in public office, she preferred to stay in the background.

And from there she had this favorite tribute to Joe:
"He's my Brett and better."

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Belfast Youngster Becomes Part Of Quincy Family

By VALERIE NEWMAN

Paul and Susan Holland, of Quincy, along with their three children, are the host family of Pearse Morris of Belfast, Northern Ireland.

The nine-year-old youngster is one of 27 children who arrived in Boston June 25th for a six-week stay. The children, ages nine through 12, are sponsored by the Greater Boston Irish Children's Fund. This organization is one of many that bring children yearly to Boston and the surrounding areas.

Pearse has enjoyed many of Quincy's historical sites. He especially enjoyed the children's grandparents' summer home in Scituate. The Holland children have shared Boston's points of interest, and have introduced Pearse to miniature golf, bowling, movies, and breakdancing. Pearse's favorite activities have been learning to breakdance and watching the Fourth of July fireworks over Boston Harbor.

Pearse, who is the youngest of four children,

THE HOLLAND children, of Quincy, enjoy the company of Pearse Morris (seated center) of Belfast here on a six-week visit, sponsored by the Greater Boston Irish Children's Fund. With him are Elizabeth, Joseph and Paul Holland.

has reversed roles here in America, and is now the big brother to Paul, age six, Elizabeth, age three, and Joseph, age one.

Has Pearse become part of the family? "The children have become attached to one another," says Mrs. Holland. "When Pearse learned that children under two can fly for free, he asked if he could bring Joseph home with him. He's leaving Aug. 6, and the children will be tearfully counting the days they will be able to spend together."

Paul and Susan Holland have also gotten very close to Pearse.

"The first week of Pearse's visit was challenging because it was a hard adjustment for everyone," says Mrs. Holland. "But now he's a part of our family. We all got much more attached to him than we had expected we would. We've enjoyed having an older child with us, and we've loved his sense of humor."

The Holland family enjoyed Pearse so much that they have already decided to reapply to host a child next year.

Pearse's visit was a learning experience for everyone.

"Our children learned that people in different countries live differently than we do," says Mrs. Holland. "Our whole family learned to appreciate the fact we live in a country of peace. Pearse learned about American culture, and our way of life. He has made a scrap-book of pictures of the places he's been and the things that he's done."

Pearse will bring his scrapbook and many happy memories back home to Belfast.

Crackdown On Quarry Parties

Police Chief William Ferrazzi announced that 10 members of the Auxiliary Police will be assigned to weekend duty in the vicinity of Faulkner's and Cashman's quarries for the rest of the summer.

The area in West Quincy has been the scene of noisy parties, nude swimming and brush fires in recent weeks.

The fire menace was such that Fire Chief Thomas F. Gorman Jr., urged residents to form a "vigilante committee" to help apprehend those who start fires that threaten the 50 homes in the neighborhood.

CARNIVAL PLANNED

Swimmers at Heron Beach, Adams Shore, were making costumes in preparation for the water ballet and comedy skit at their water carnival, to be directed by Miss Ellen Flaherty.

Performers in the comedy skit included Jack McDonald, Thomas Connelly, William Trainor, Jean Delmonico, Patricia O'Neil, Carol Verlicco, Nancy Roberts, Annette Loud.

CARNEY CHALLENGED

Willis A. Neal of Canton, formerly of Quincy, demanded that the State Ballot Law Commission rule George P. Carney of Quincy off the ballot for clerk of courts.

Neal claimed that Carney's nomination papers referred to the office as "Clerk, Norfolk County Superior Court," when they should have said "Clerk of Courts, Norfolk County."

Tourist Center Open For Season

If you have visitors coming this summer, or you'd just like to know more about the area yourself, the Tourist Information Center at City Hall Annex may be the place for you.

The center, which officially opened recently for the second year in a row, has free brochures from 34 Massachusetts counties and other New England areas.

Hours at the center are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday until Labor Day. Information is available by calling 770-1167.

The Quincy Tourism Association, with the help of volunteers and Mayor Francis McCauley, opened the center which handled about 1,000 tourist inquiries and 9,000 inquiries about city departments in eight weeks in 1983.

It has processed close to 300 tourist inquiries in the past three weeks.

Loren Strout, association president, expects an increase in tourists in Quincy this season because he feels the association has been getting the word out to the right places about historic Quincy.

At the opening, Strout presented the Mayor with the first copy of the association's brochure about historic Quincy.

About 40,000 brochures, produced at no cost to the city, have been distributed since late March.

Patricia Shaheen is Tourist Information Center Committee Chairwoman.

The Quincy Tourism Association is a non-profit organization supported through membership dues and contributors.

Other locations for tourist information in Quincy are First Parish Church, Presidents' City Motel, Quincy Bay Inn, Village Nook, Saturdays; Presidents' City Motel, Quincy Bay Inn, Sundays.

Tourism volunteers are Kay Buchanan, Helen McInnis, Betty DiMeo, Adela Cooperband, Mary Modestino, Letty Garofalo, Alice May Jacobs, Harriet Weaver, Nina Picardi, Donna Crane, Walter Crane, Chandler Garland, Loren Strout, Pat Shaheen and Peter Kenney.

PHARMACY TOPICS

Treating all cases of hypertension — even mild ones — could save 45,000 lives a year in the United States, according to experts on the subject. First treatment should be dietary salt restriction, they say.

Because theobromine, a natural chemical in coffee, is similar to theophylline, a popular anti-asthma drug, asthmatics who drink a lot of coffee have intensified side effects from the medication. Recent study on this was reported in Medical World News.

Radiation therapy following surgery for rectal cancer offers significant gains in survival rates, doctors at New York University School of Medicine found.

Leucithin is being tested as an alternative to lithium in the treatment of manic-depressive psychosis. It seems to cause fewer serious side effects.

First aid: adhesive tape will adhere better if you rub a moist bar of soap across the edge of the tape after a bandage is smoothed in place. Soap soaks the tape as it dries.

QHS 1930 Classes Award 2 Scholarships

The Quincy High School classes of February and June 1930 recently awarded $200 scholarships to seniors Shelley Somontes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Somontes of 24 Delford St., and Faith Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Brooks of 1001 Furnace Brook Pkwy.

Miss Somontes graduated from Quincy Vocational Technical School and plans to study Building Construction Technology at Wentworth Institute of Technology.

Miss Brooks graduated from Quincy High School and wants to study at Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School to be an executive secretary.

The scholarships this year are in the memory of James Walsh, a former corresponding secretary of the Alumni Committee, who died in 1983.

Contribution towards the scholarships were sent by class members from all across the country.

Since the 50th anniversary reunion, the classes have awarded two scholarships each year. The group hopes to continue awarding the scholarships in the future.

The original reunion committee of 14 members has been meeting two or three times a year to formulate scholarship plans and fund raising efforts. Committee members are:

Allen Folger, chairman; James McGinnis, treasurer; Dorothy O'Brien, secretary; Ralph Aker, Gerald Gherardi, Elizabeth Dunlavy, Teresa Harcourt, Helene Johnson, Andrew Lund, Florence McDonnell Goodman, Charles Vanner and Aric Pimentel.

HOW MUCH ARE YOUR POSSESSIONS WORTH...AT TODAY'S PRICES?

In the event of a loss, would your insurance cover the cost of replacing your furnishings at today's inflated prices?

Perhaps not, because many policies provide protection for your property based on depreciation, according to its age and condition. You could end up disastrously underinsured.

Today's Replacement Cost coverage pays what it costs to replace your home's contents at the current value of the items without depreciation.

Patricia J. Ceriani City's First Woman Assessor

A funeral Mass for Mrs. Patricia J. (Shaw) Ceriani, 45, of West Quincy, the first woman assessor in Quincy's history, will be held Friday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Mrs. Ceriani died Monday following a long battle against cancer.

She was appointed the first woman assessor in 1977 by Mayor Arthur Iobin and reappointed by Mayor Francis McCauley in 1983.

Mayor McCauley and Assessor Chairman Elmer (Mike) Fagerlund had strong praise for her service to the city.

A native of Boston, she attended Blessed Sacrament High School in Jamaica Plain and the University of Hawaii.

She was a real estate broker and had worked for Jack Conway Realtors and New Home Brokers of Braintree prior to her appointment as assistant city assessor in March 1978.

She was past treasurer of Stella Del Nord.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We all live by the clock and calendar. The "right time" is a way of life for a society caught in the throes of technological advancement. Working hours and business appointments are established. On the lighter side, many lives are regulated by TV soap opera, game shows, special programs and sports events.

Surprisingly, some people find themselves in a state of boredom for want of something to do. This is regrettable because there is always something one can do to expand one's mind, or to help someone else. Wasted time is the rejection of the gift of time. Wasted time irrevocably passes on into an unyielding, unrecoverable past.

Speaking of time, the right time to discuss or plan "pre-arrangements" is AHEAD of time. It saves a worrisome, confusing and sorrowful situation for others at a difficult time. That is why "our time is your time" - anytime you wish for such discussion. Even now - today. No obligation, naturally.

$2,500 Reward Offered For Conviction

30 Gravestones Vandalized At St. Mary's Cemetery

The Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's parish, says his parish is offering a $2,500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of vandals responsible for the desecration and damages to thirty granite grave stone markers in the church's cemetery.

Fr. McMahon said it could cost as much as $10,000 to put the markers and stones back in place. To date there is very little information to go on as far as who caused the vandalism.

The Quincy Police department is investigating the incident.

Fr. McMahon said the vandalism occurred last week end and that at least four individuals may have been involved.

Most of the damaged markers, with carved inscriptions going back more than 60 years, weigh more than a ton and were knocked completely off their granite bases by the vandals.

The last such incident of vandalism in the church cemetery took place 17 years ago.

Fr. McMahon said that there was evidence of beer drinking and use of marijuana cigarettes at the scene last week.

The cemetery has been used by youths as a place to congregate in the evenings, Fr. McMahon said.

He appealed to parishioners and interested individuals to make financial donations to assist in the cost of restoring the markers and stones damaged by the vandals.

General Dynamics, Quincy Shipbuilding Division, for its first time, led by Leroy Bennet and Tim Muir.

Howard Johnson Company in Quincy, for its first time, led by Linda Fasoli; and Multibank Financial Corporation in Quincy, for its first time, led by Frank Belangen.

These pacesetters will set examples for hundreds of employee groups to follow.

United Way pledges will support 183 health and human care agencies serving more than one million people in eastern Massachusetts.

Organizations 'Set The Pace' For United Way Campaign

Massachusetts Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore, a United Way agency in Quincy, is running a "PaceSetter" campaign for the United Way of Massachusetts for the fourth year in a row, after an award-winning campaign in 1983. Led by Thomas Zukauskas, this organization will "set the pace" this summer, prior to the annual fall fund-raising drive that aims to raise $35,230,000.

Other PaceSetter organizations include the Bank of New England - Hancock in Quincy, for its third year in a row and another 1983 award winner, led by Charles Sullivan.

Bernard Haugh Accepted To Summer Show Choir Camp

Bernard Haugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haugh of Quincy, is participating in the 1984 Midwest Summer Show Choir Camp, with over 400 students and teachers from a 26 state region.

The camp is held at Bowling Green State University, Ohio, July 29 -

Aug. 4, consists of a week of singing, dancing, special concerts, and workshops.

This year's star attraction will be the Phil Mattson Singers, winners of the Great American Choral Festival. A final concert will be presented by the camp participants Saturday at 2 p.m.

GASOLINE ON SWALLOWING

What do you do if your child swallows some gasoline? If he also spilled it on himself, get the wet clothing off and wash him with warm water and lots of soap to prevent chemical burns.

Then call a poison center or doctor right away. Get those numbers now and keep them by the phone so you don't waste heart beats looking them up. If there's no poison center in your phone book, get the number in advance from the operator.

Now what not to do. When someone has drunk gasoline, do not make him throw-up unless the doctor or poison center tells you to. Sometimes throwing up can make it worse. The same is true for kerosene, lighter fluid, and fuel oil.

Of course, prevention would have been better. Keep gasoline away from children. When you have the gas can out, do not leave them with it for a second. One teaspoonful can be fatal to a small child. And never start syphoning by sucking on the hose. Kids aren't the only ones who get poisoned.

'Community Of The Forgiven' Sermon At Bethany Church

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, August 5, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

The summer schedule is in effect. There will be only one service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Community of the Forgiven", based on the scripture texts from Ephesians 4:25-32 and Matthew 18:23-35. Folmond A. Aluisky will serve as the lay scripture reader.

Thomas R. Vozzella will be at the organ console. The duet of Anita Benson and Vivian Miller will sing as the offertory, "I Am Resolved" by J. H. Fillmore, and as a second selection Will L. Thompson's composition, "Softly and Tenderly".

The service will be broadcast by delayed tape at 11 a.m. over radio station WJDA at 1300 kc.

The Church School is closed over the summer. However, nursery care for babies and toddlers will be provided during the worship hour.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to come and share in both the worship and fellowship.

For more information about Bethany's ministry and program, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

Fr. James Radochia To Celebrate 40th Anniversary Of Ordination

Rev. James J. Radochia, pastor of St. Rita's Parish in Haverhill and a former associate pastor of St. Mary's Parish, West Quincy, will celebrate the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood Saturday, Aug. 11.

Parishioners of St. Rita's Parish invite friends of Rev. Radochia to join them in a Mass of thanksgiving and celebration Saturday at 4 p.m. to mark the memorable occasion.

A committee of parishioners will serve home-baked Italian pastries and other refreshments at a colation to be held in the church following the liturgy.

Fr. Radochia was educated in Somerville schools, Boston College and St. John's Seminary in Brighton. He was ordained to the priesthood Aug. 10, 1944.

2 Sunday Services

At First Church Of Squantum

This Sunday will be the last Sunday until Sept. 2 in which there will be two Sunday morning worship services.

The guitar service will be at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m. After this Sunday, there will be only a 9:30 a.m. service for three weeks.

Last Sunday church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached at the first service on the topic, "God Wants You To Be a Troubleshooter." Guitarists

Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie provided the music. David Williams and Kim Olsen were the ushers.

At the second service, the sermon was entitled, "Jesus Is The Way." Paul Frazer and John Strumwasser sang a duet for the prelude, "Sound the Trumpet" by Henry Purcell. For the offertory anthem, they sang "Lord, My Trust Is In Thee." Mary Ruth Scott accompanied them on the organ. Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were the ushers.

The two services to resume Sept. 2 will continue to be at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The fall schedule of services will not begin until September 9. On that day, there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single worship service at 10:30 a.m. The new church carpet will be dedicated that day.

On Sept. 16 the regular fall schedule of two services at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. will resume.

Thomas Koch To Rekindle Family Ties With Germany

Thomas P. Koch of 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, will travel to Oberammergau, West Germany with Fr. Charles Higgins and a group of Sacred Heart parishioners in mid-August to observe the Passion Play on its 350th anniversary.

An extra production is being held to commemorate the anniversary year. The Passion Play is normally enacted once each decade.

In his trip to Germany, Koch will visit the town of Burghaun, West Germany, where his grandfather was born. He will meet with town officials and second cousins and present them several recognitions and mementos from Quincy.

Koch's father, Richard J. Koch, Sr., received historic mementos from the Mayor of Burghaun, Leo Palmowski in 1983 including a pewter plate with the landmark of Burghaun, a handpainted coat of arms of the town and several books containing the history of the 700 year old West German community.

Koch, Sr. has exchanged Christmas cards with his first cousins Mathilda Koch and Elizabeth Schneider of Burghaun for a number of years although they have never met. Thomas will be the first of the second generation to visit the birthplace of his grandfather and meet his cousins from Europe.

The first Richard Koch left Germany in the early 1900s while in his teens and lived with an aunt and uncle in Roxbury.

On the 35th anniversary of the Koch Club in 1983, Koch, Sr., founder and director of the organization, sent an anniversary emblem and tabloid newspaper with Robert Dano of Quincy who was visiting Germany to deliver the mementos to town officials and relatives.

At the time, Germany was commemorating the 300th anniversary of Germans immigrating to America and recognized the Koch Club and the Koch Club Family History with its Burghaun ties in its town newspaper in the German language.

Thomas, whose middle name is Peter, is named after his great grandfather of Burghaun and he will visit the family cemetery lot during his visit.

The original Richard Koch migrated from Burghaun, Germany, and married Agnes B. Delaney. The second generation contact with the German cousins was lost.

Why pre-planning your funeral is one of the kindest things you can do for your family.

The most inevitable fact of life is that it will end one day. The kindest thing you can do for your family's peace of mind is to make sure that arrangements and financing are made well in advance of that day.

Pre-planning spares your family any additional concern and anxiety when the inevitable actually happens. It gives positive assurance that the arrangements will represent your personal wishes. It also relieves those you love of any financial stress, assuring them that funds will be available to completely cover funeral expenses.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-financing, write for our free booklet, "No Greater Kindness For Those You Love." If you have any questions, give us a call or stop in.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

47th Year

Record Turnout Expected For QBRW

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Bay Race Week, now in its 47th year, keeps growing.

Race Week Association President Al Boyd feels this week's races will be another record breaker for participants.

Last year's turnout was the biggest in four years with more than 1000 boats making the competition keen in all classes.

The popular Marine Parade had a record 150 boats entered (there were 100 two years ago). Boyd feels this year's parade may be smaller because of a late afternoon start but it should be just as colorful.

"Interest in sailboating is increasing all the time and I feel we will have more boats than in the past several years," Boyd said. "Last year we had fine weather with only one day's racing cancelled and I'm just hoping for good weather again this week."

The ocean racing, which has been getting more popular every year, will be held Saturday and Sunday off Hangman's Island.

Race Week hit its peak in 1970 when a total of 1800 boats went to the starting lines.

Interest had begun to decline but has taken a decided turn for the better the past several years.

There is also renewed interest in junior activities among yacht clubs and sailing programs.

"The starting time for the Marine Parade has been changed from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. this year because of the tides," Boyd announced.

Rendezvous Night will be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Town River Yacht Club with Boyd and Town River Commodore Richard Burgess as hosts.

Trophy Day will be held Sunday, Sept. 16, at 3 p.m. at the Quincy Yacht Club when the Race Week prizes will be handed out.

Off Hangman's Island

Ocean Racing Set For Saturday, Sunday

Ocean racing, one of the most popular features of Quincy Bay Race Week, will be held Saturday and Sunday at 10 a.m. off Hangman's Island.

Because of increasing interest in this type of racing, it was extended to two days four years ago.

More and more boats have entered each year with record turnouts the past four years. Another record is expected this weekend.

The City of Boston Bermuda Cup, a beautiful and historic punch bowl, has been in the custody of Quincy Yacht Club for more than 50 years. It was presented to the City of Boston around 1905 for a yacht race from Boston to Bermuda.

This race was never held and in 1911 the city again put the cup up for an ocean race to be held on Labor Day, 1911 to become the permanent possession of the winner. That race was won by Hollis Burgess, a QYC member, in his sloop Marie L.

Burgess generously made Quincy Yacht Club trustee of the cup which was placed in annual competition as a perpetual trophy. In 1968

Quincy Yacht Club presented the trophy to the QBRWA for Race Week competition.

This beautiful and valuable trophy is presented to the annual winner to be held by him until the succeeding Race Week. The winner is to be presented a suitably engraved keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

The trophy will be on exhibition this week at the Wessagussett Yacht Club.

The 1983 winners were Steve Mehl, Division A; John Coancy, Div. B; and Frank Manning, Div. C.

The Harry Warner Memorial Trophy was presented to the QBRWA in 1968 by the Warner family and the Town River Yacht Club as a perpetual trophy to be raced for by cruising type trimarans.

It is annually engraved and held by the winner until Race Week of the following year when it is to be returned to the association. A suitably engraved keeper trophy is to be awarded the winner for his permanent possession.

This trophy was not raced for a year ago.

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB officers, Fleet Captain Thomas McAleney, Rear Commodore Joseph Clabby, Commodore Henry Lamb, Vice Commodore Joe (Al) Ross.

Sailors Of All Ages Eye Coveted Trophies

Several handsome and coveted trophies will be competed for by hundreds of sailors men, women, boys and girls during this week's 47th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week.

Among them:
The Captain James Berwick Finlay Memorial Trophy: Presented to the Quincy Yacht Club in 1948 by Albert W. Finlay, his father, for competition during Quincy Bay Race Week. Presented in loving memory of a son who during his lifetime did much to advance the sport of yachting on Massachusetts Bay, the trophy is awarded annually to the yacht or yachtsman considered to have made the most outstanding record or to have performed some single act of sportsmanship during Race Week.

It is annually awarded suitably engraved and remains in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club. An engraved keeper trophy is awarded the winner for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Mike Horowitz.

The Fred Hunt Memorial Trophy: A perpetual trophy presented annually since 1966 by the Patriot Ledger in memory of a man who served the newspaper for more than three decades as a yachting writer and its yachting editor. A deep water sailor and a racing enthusiast, Hunt played a major role in the success and growth of Quincy Bay Race Week and the sport itself.

This trophy is awarded annually to a person who has demonstrated a high degree of sportsmanship and a willingness to help others in the advancement of the yacht racing sport and who has contributed to the success of Quincy Bay Race Week. The trophy is held until the succeeding Race Week by the home club of its winner who is awarded a suitable keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Don Mathewson.

The Reynolds Memorial Trophy: A perpetual trophy presented to the QBRWA in 1966 by the family of John Reynolds, an ardent supporter of and skipper in the Day Sailor Class until his untimely death in 1965.

The trophy is to be awarded annually to the Race Week winner in the Hustler Class and is held by him until Race Week of the succeeding year when it is returned to the association. An engraved keeper trophy is awarded to the winner for his permanent possession.

Joseph Carven, Jr. was the winner last year, as he was the year before.

The Coke Trophy: Presented for the first time two years ago by the Coca-Cola Company to stimulate interest in overall competition.

Sheila Orcutt was the winner a year ago.

The 1300 Trophy: Presented each year since 1960 to the QBRWA by radio station WJDA to demonstrate its interest in Race Week and to aid in the stimulation of racing interest among the junior class.

The trophy is awarded annually to the winning skipper in the Turnabout Class and becomes his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Robbie Healy.

Commodore Isadore Bromfield Trophy: Presented eight years ago to the QBRWA by the Metropolitan Yacht Club. The trophy is awarded annually to the Race Week winner according to the deed of gift. The winner is presented an engraved keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

The winners last year were Dick Callahan, Ronnie Pletsch and Jerry McMann.

Commodore Charles Wing Memorial Trophy: Presented to the QBRWA three years ago by his friends and family as a perpetual trophy to be awarded annually to the winner in the Red Fleet on Town River Yacht Club's Day of Race Week.

The winner last year was Hugh MacIsaac.

The Governor's Trophy was won last year by Sheila Orcutt.

SOUTH SHORE Yacht Club officers, Rear Commodore Jim Ingrams, Vice Commodore George Jackson, Commodore Harry Roberts, Fleet Captain, Daniel Barrett.

South Shore Yacht Club New Member

The Quincy Bay Race Week Association this year has grown to eight clubs with the addition of the South Shore Yacht Club.

This is the first addition to the association in 10 years as South Shore joins Braintree, Quincy, Squantum, Wollaston, Metropolitan, Wessagusset and Town River.

Defeats Morrisette 9-6

Wollaston Wins First Zone Title In 40 Years

By TOM SULLIVAN

It came down to a playoff game Monday night to break a first place tie and decide the American Legion Zone 6 baseball title.

The game matched Morrisette, which had won 22 zone titles since 1945, and Wollaston, looking for its first zone crown in nearly 40 years.

The rivals had finished in a first place tie with 15-7 records after Wollaston won five of six games during the stretch and Morrisette had won its last two games last weekend over Canton.

Wollaston, after a "must" win Sunday over Mass. Truck of Weymouth, came from behind twice in the playoff game before a huge crowd Monday night at Adams Field to upset Morrisette, 9-6, and clinch the zone crown.

The victory was especially sweet for the Wollaston players, who had dedicated the season to coach John Belcastro, who had brought the team along in the last two seasons and was eagerly looking forward to this season when he died just before the season opened.

Three members of the Belcastro family joined veteran coach Dick Travers to handle the team, John's son, Steve, his nephew, Frank Belcastro, and his son-in-law, Kevin Cahill, whose father, Charlie, had played on Wollaston's last zone title in 1948.

Wollaston hosts Zone 9 championship Fairhaven Friday night at 7:30 at Adams Field in the opening game of the state playoffs. The second game will be played at New Bedford Saturday at 2 o'clock and the third game, if necessary, will also be at New Bedford Sunday at 2.

Meanwhile, Braintree meets Zone 10 champion Brockton in its opening series.

The winners of those two series advance to the state finals at Holyoke and the survivor of this double-elimination tournament goes on to the Northeast Regionals at Unica, N.Y.

Following Monday's big win, the players signed the ball and gave it to Dolores Belcastro, John's widow.

"The boys really wanted to win for John," Kevin Cahill said. "They really loved John and his untimely death hit them hard. They were determined to win the zone title for him. It is just great."

Wollaston starter Steve Hogan was roughed up for three runs in the third inning Monday, highlighted by Jack Bolster's two-run triple.

In the bottom of the inning Hogan tripled home Rob McElaney and scored on a wild pitch to make it 3-2. Wollaston went up, 5-3, in the fourth on a three-run triple by hot-hitting Mike Notarangelo.

Morrisette bounced back with three in the fifth as Scott Mele hit a two-run double, went to third on an error and scored on a Chris Bunker sacrifice fly. Notarangelo took over for Hogan and stayed out of trouble through the sixth.

Wollaston won it in the bottom of the sixth when Steve Higgins singled in a run and, with the bases loaded, McElaney hit a two-run single. Joe Conti relieved Notarangelo in the seventh and nailed down his fourth save.

Wollaston forced the playoff game by topping Mass. Truck, 3-1, Sunday, behind the fine pitching of John Comeau (4-0) and solid relief by Conti.

Notarangelo had three hits and Keith Smith and Bob Campbell two each as Wollaston scored all its runs in the fifth inning.

Notarangelo made a catch in deep center field and made an unbelievable throw to first base to double the runner off, and Hogan made an incredible catch of a line drive at shortstop.

Wollaston faced a "must win" situation Sunday after being blanked by Zone 6C winner Braintree, 4-0, Saturday.

Wollaston was held to one hit by Bill Cummings. Higgins pitched an excellent game in defeat, giving up just one earned run.

Earlier in the week Wollaston had come from behind to top Carter Post of Dorchester, 11-7. Wollaston took a 4-0 lead but Carter came back to take a 6-4 lead and led, 7-6, at the end of five innings.

Wollaston rallied for five runs in the sixth to clinch it. Ken Runge singled, pinch runner Paul Cahill scored on an infield single by McElaney to tie it, Mark Hubbard singled, stole second, Smith singled and the last two runs scored on a ground out and a sacrifice fly.

In its previous game Wollaston had a 5-1 lead over Mass. Truck but the

Weymouth team rallied to tie it at 5-5. The game was replayed Sunday.

Morrisette had its hands full Saturday before defeating Canton, 9-6, for the second time in three days.

Canton took a 6-5 lead in the sixth with two runs. Chris Bunker relieved John Christiani and put out the fire.

Morrisette rallied for four runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the needed victory. Denis Cronin drove in two runs with a bases loaded double and Mele drove in two insurance runs with his second double. Cronin, whose single was his fifth game winning hit, had three hits and three RBI. Chris Marshall, Bunker and Bolster had the other hits, Bolster's being a double. Bunker made two outstanding plays, one a diving catch in right-center and the other a great throw to the plate to cut down a runner.

Two nights earlier Morrisette had another battle but defeated Canton, 12-7. Bolster made his first pitching start of the year but tired in the third and was relieved by Jack Outerbridge, who went the rest of the way in improving his record to 7-2.

Morrisette scored five runs in the second on five hits, a sacrifice, a walk and a hit batsman. The key hits were a two-run single by Dan Shea, who went 4-for-4 and drove in four runs, an RBI single by Bolster, who had three hits and two RBI, and a two-run single by Mele. Bunker had two hits and an RBI and Tom Ryan drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Earlier in the week Morrisette had lost to Randolph for the second time, 9-4, making the two wins over Canton a must.

Randolph had nine hits and took advantage of three damaging errors, six walks and a hit batsman.

Shea, Dan Kelly and Bunker had run-producing hits and Mele and Paul Ratti also had hits.

• Babe Ruth

Reilly, Steen Lead Police Club

Tom Reilly and T. J. Steen led the Quincy Police Club to an extra inning 5-3 victory over Local 1139 in the first game of the Babe Ruth League playoffs.

Steen struck out 14 of the 30 batters he faced. He set down the first nine batters but Mark DiMaggio spoiled the no-hitter in the fourth. Mark Bilton singled in the fifth and Robbie McDonald doubled in the sixth but Local 1139 failed to score until the bottom of the seventh when it rallied to tie the score.

Sanda singled to start the seventh. Danny Santry reached on an error and Bilton walked to load the bases. Steen struck out Joe Manning but Kevin Snow drove in all three runs.

The Police Club scored its first run on singles by Tony Orlando and Rob Fitzgerald. It added a run in the fourth on hits by Fitzgerald, Ainsley and Wayne Chambers and scored a run in the seventh on a single by Ted Sheets, a sacrifice bunt by Joe Mulvey and Dan Overby's sacrifice fly.

In the eighth inning Steen led off with a single, stole second and third and Reilly hit a towering home run to win the game, one of the best in playoff history.

In the bottom of the eighth Steen struck out two and got Sanda on a pop fly.

The Police Club had a tough time making the playoffs. In a do-or-die situation it shocked first place Sons of Italy, 13-1, as it drove one of the league's fastest pitchers, Larry Taglieri, out of the box in the second inning.

Overby, Chambers, Fitzgerald, Sheets and Mike Cronin all had clutch singles. Reilly doubled and Steen had two triples.

Steen was again outstanding with 13 strikeouts in pitching a five-hitter. Taglieri and Ross each had two singles and Jim Riccati had a triple and scored the only run for S. of I.

Bill Bellew, Tom Roberts, Jim Ward, Mulvey and Cronin played outstanding games.

The Police faced the Sons of Italy in the second game of the series Tuesday night.

First Marine Band Concert Dedicated To McIntyre

The First Marine Band was scheduled to perform last night (Wednesday) in a Summerfest '84 concert in honor of the late James R. McIntyre, former Quincy mayor, senator and senate counsel.

The free concert was to begin at 7 p.m. at McIntyre Mall, Quincy Sq.

Dedication of the concert was suggested by Joseph J. LaRaia, president of the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission, according to T. Owen Trainor, commission vice president and chairman of the Summerfest committee.

"The first Marine Band concert was selected," explained Trainor, "because former Mayor McIntyre was very attached to the Marines."

McIntyre was a Marine Lieutenant and saw action in Korea where he was wounded.

Trainor said that a chaplain from the Marine Corps was to give an invocation, and members of the McIntyre family were to be introduced.

The commission, as well as Mrs. McIntyre and family invited the public to attend.

H.N. Center Planning Sox Trip, Youngsters Program

The Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., is planning a trip to a Red Sox game Aug. 4 and a "Summer Sails" program for youngsters Aug. 6 to 27.

A bus will leave the center Aug. 4 at 12:45 p.m. for the Red Sox vs. Texas game at Fenway Park.

A limited amount of tickets are available because that date is Youth Group Day.

This will be the last trip to a Red Sox game that the center will sponsor unless the team is in a pennant race.

The four-week "Summer Sails" program is for youngsters ages 5 to 7.

Held Mondays 1:30 to 3 p.m., the course will offer make-a-game and puppet making classes and math and language skills.

Rita Brutto will be the teacher.

To pre-register, which is required for both events, call Patricia Riden at 471-8251.

THREE QUINCY RESIDENTS, Stephen Rayne, Jessica Hoel and James Waterman display their prize winning drawings aboard Massport's Howard W. Fitzpatrick Fireboat. The three youngsters entered the coloring contest following a tour of Logan International Airport with their classmates from the Parker School. As three of nine winners, they received a special behind-the-scenes tour of the airport followed by lunch and a Boston Harbor excursion on the Fireboat. At right is Pam Weidner, Massport public service representative.

Recreation Instructors In MDA Swim-A-Thon

City Arts, Crafts Display On McIntyre Mall

The annual Arts and Crafts display featuring projects made by participants of the city's 26 supervised playgrounds will be held today (Thursday) and Friday, on McIntyre Mall.
The display will be open from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and the public will be asked to cast a ballot on their favorite project. The project receiving the most votes will be designated "City Champion" and participants from the winning park will receive gift certificates provided by area merchants.

The business providing prizes for this year's competition are McDonalds Restaurant, Baskin Robbins Ice Cream and Friendlie's Ice Cream.

Members of the Ryan Boating and Sailing facility will also provide special wind surfing demonstrations on a wind surf simulator during the two day exhibit.
The display is under the supervision of the Arts and Crafts specialists: Karen Robertson, Margie Cristiani and Lori Prescott.

WEEK OF: AUGUST 2

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Person in charge reverses a recent decision, to your ultimate advantage. Medical instructions may require clarification. Weekend offers delightful opportunity for settling a debate or argument.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Friendship is renewed by Wednesday, and small parties are accentuated during the week. Memory plays tricks now; refer to the facts before making any statements of note.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
If too cautious, you may miss out on exciting social opportunities. If hosting a party, accent is on details, not quantity. Colleague is supportive—but strings are attached.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Despite minor delays at home or in the workplace, you make significant advances toward a key goal. Mechanical mishaps require the skills of a pro.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Romantic spirits may sag, but sense of humor saves the day. Matters blocked since the spring begin moving again. Solution to communications problem is simpler than you may believe.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
A good time for mingling, for making resolutions, for traveling to new destinations. Some financial tangles need prompt attention. Affections are at their sweetest through the weekend.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Organization and research are your key activities now. Loved one will help—but please provide some clues. Friend takes you every word very seriously.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Communications tie-ups begin to untangle, but double-check that the mails are working properly. Cultural activity can influence your thinking. Allow extra hours when dealing with officials.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Important people are backing you, but the key is to become more self-confident. Education demands are more time-consuming than planned. Youngsters can be inspiring travel companions.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 22
Your mind works like a computer now—storing and sorting all manner of information. In romance, however, facts hardly matter; act from the heart—and don't hesitate to pamper partner.

SAGITTARIUS — November 23-December 22
Platonic relationship is spotlighted through the week. New approaches are emphasized regarding domestic and/or career difficulty. Discoveries are made in unlikely places.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
You're ready to take charge in this week's crisis, but plan your actions meticulously. Key domestic decision can be made this week. Favorite hobby can be developed commercially.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're a born leader—independent, assertive and inspiring. Watch a tendency to dominate the limelight. Shared glory in fact is the theme of the fall months. Unusual travel ideas can be turned into reality early in 1985.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 2nd, actor Carroll O'Connor; 3rd, actor Martin Sheen; 4th, poet Perry Bysshe Shelley; 5th, actress Loni Anderson; 6th, actress Lucille Ball; 7th, singer Lana Cantrell; 8th, actor Dustin Hoffman.

DANIEL TROMBLEY

6 Promoted At Quincy Savings Bank

Trustees and corporators of Quincy Savings Bank elected John A. Fanciullo senior vice president and named James L. Chiccino, William B. Parker and Daniel G. Trombley as vice presidents at the bank's recent annual meeting.

Fanciullo, a 1972 graduate of Suffolk University, joined the bank as auditor in 1974, was elected treasurer in 1980, and vice president in 1983.

Chiccino, previously an assistant vice president, joined the bank as consumer loan officer, also in 1974.

Formerly assistant vice president, Parker began his career at Quincy Savings Bank in 1961, serving for the past ten years as personnel officer. He also is responsible for the administration of 10 bank locations.

Until 1981, when he was elected assistant vice president, Trombley was operations officer.

Also promoted were mortgage origination officer Anne F. Craigs and mortgage servicing officer Brenda Ricciardi, who were elected assistant vice president and assistant treasurer respectively.

In an illustrated talk, guest speaker James P.

DeRossi, director of field services for the Mutual Savings Central Fund, Inc., compared Quincy Savings Bank's performance during the past five years with that of its peers. The comparison graphically showed how the bank managed to have a record year in 1983.

In other business, Charles A. Pearce, board chairman and chief executive officer of Quincy Savings presented a plaque noting the dedicated service of long-time trustee Bernard V. Dill who has reached the mandatory retirement age for board members.

Peter O'Connell Elected To South Shore Bank Board

Peter F. O'Connell, president and co-founder of O'Connell Management Co., Inc. and O'Connell Brothers Construction, Inc., was recently elected to the South Shore Bank Board of Directors.

Announcement was made by William B. Austin, Jr., president of the bank.

As head of one of the area's major construction-development companies, O'Connell has guided a number of commercial and residential real estate development projects in the

PETER F. O'CONNELL
Quincy area. Most notable of the projects recently completed by O'Connell are the Commercial Union Office Building, the Boston Financial Data Services Building, Howard Johnson Plaza and the Bayside Exposition Center.

"Mr. O'Connell has indeed played a major role in the development of the Quincy area, and we are indeed pleased to have his experience and insight on our Board," Austin said.

O'Connell and his wife, Marcia, and their four children live in Quincy.

Barron Realty Reports $4.5 M Sales In First Year

John Barron, owner of Barron Realty and Investments, 587 Hancock St., has announced that his firm sold or purchased more than $4.5 million worth of properties in Greater Boston during its first year.

"We're pleased with the new company's performance," said Barron, who is also a member of the Quincy Planning Board, "but more importantly it was gratifying to accept the responsibility that so many people gave to us."

"The firm was started with the idea that people need professional and personal service in the field of real estate and we had hoped to fill that need."

The Barron company

specializes in the sale and acquisition of all types of real estate and mortgages. It also has several consulting contracts with local developers and attorneys.

Barron, a former chief of staff to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, is an instructor in real estate at Quincy Junior College where he also serves on the board of trustees.

Donald Moscone Re-elected AGC President

Donald S. Moscone of Moscone, Inc. of Quincy, was recently re-elected president of the Associated General Contractors of Massachusetts for the 1984-85 year.

He is a resident of Quincy. AGC of Massachusetts represents over 250 general contractors, suppliers and support firms which perform approximately 75% of the commercial, industrial and public building construction in the state.

more traffic.
"We don't attract people from Braintree or Milton. We're a neighborhood store. People stop to and from work."

"Our customer list is not going to change. We're going to give more goods and services to the same people."

Macomber also noted that it is economically necessary for Dacey's to increase hours from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.

"It's a very expensive operation to build a building, put in plantings, fix a wall. That extra hour a day is important to us."

"We can control the trucks that will be in and out delivering at an early hour."

"If the 6 a.m. opening disrupts sleep after we get it, we'll certainly be glad to move it to 7 a.m."

A number of residents in the area are circulating a petition stating their opposition to Dacey's plans.

Among those opposed is Gertrude Keating of 30 Pontiac Rd.

"The traffic is terrible now, it's very dangerous, and there is no sidewalk where the new Dacey's store proposes to go," she said.

"I'm worried about children who might cross over there."

Ed Duval of 57 Pontiac

Rd., an abutter to the new proposed location, said he was "very much against" the request for a number of reasons.

Included among them was that fire engines might have a hard time getting down already congested Narragansett Rd., and that the expansion would come within several feet of his property cutting off the air flow to his backyard.

Duval also feels the area has plenty of take-out places in Houghs Neck and Southern Artery.

"It isn't like everyone is going to starve to death," said Duval, "that's for sure."

Robert Willard In West Germany

Army Pfc. Robert C. Willard, son of Eisle F. Thomlinson of 102 Intervale St., South Quincy and Theodore C. Willard of 38 Thelma Rd., Dorchester, recently arrived for duty in Butzbach, West Germany.

Willard, a military police specialist with the 364th Military Police Company, was previously assigned at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Proposes New Ordinance

Condon Seek

JOANNE CONDON

City Councillor Joanne Condon wants to abolish "happy hours" in Quincy drinking establishments.

She has requested City Solicitor Dean Nicastro to draw up an ordinance change similar to that adopted in Braintree last April 21.

Braintree not only has banned so-called "happy hours" and any discount prices for alcoholic drinks but it also forbids the Ward 4 councillor who led the campaign to roll back closing hours at drinking spots to 1 a.m. said she will introduce the proposed ordinance at the next City Council meeting.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting is Sept. 4.

Braintree's new regulations governing liquor licenses include

'Happy Hours'

• The so-called "Happy Call" will be made 20 minutes before the closing time of the bar.

• All glasses shall be removed from the bar and tables by 15 minutes after the bar closes.

• There will be no selling of alcoholic beverages and drinks at half-price.

• There will be no dispensing of two or more alcoholic beverages or drinks when the patron pays for less than the number dispensed to him or her (i.e. "two for one").

• There will be no selling of alcoholic beverages or drinks at a price which is less than the maximum price charged by that licensee for that same beverage or drink at other times during the week.

• The dispensing of alcoholic beverages or drinks to patrons free of charge will not be allowed.

• No contests shall be held which involve the practice commonly known as "chug-a-lugging" or other similar methods for consumption of alcoholic beverages and drinks.

• The sale of beer or alcoholic beverages by the pitcher will not be allowed.

Burgin Extension Hailed As Catalyst

By JOHN NOONAN

The long-awaited construction of the 1.2 mile Burgin Parkway Extension at a cost of $9.9 million is being hailed as a vital catalyst for the future growth and economic development of the downtown Quincy business district.

City and state officials attending the official groundbreaking exercises for the new road Monday were unanimous in their predictions of the importance of the new project to the overall future of Quincy in terms of additional jobs and revenues. The project is scheduled for completion in 18 months.

Governor Michael S. Dukakis, featured speaker at the ceremonies, said, "The stimulus this new road will provide is a perfect example of the sound infrastructure to our economic health."

"This project will be a tremendous boost to the revitalization of downtown Quincy, which for too long has lacked convenient or adequate access to the state's major roadways."

Former Mayor and Senator Thomas S. Burgin, for whom the roadway is named, was the guest of honor at the ceremonies. He told the gathering:

"Let us remember that today's program is tomorrow's challenge to continue Quincy's growth and progress. We shall meet it."

Quincy's 82-year-old elder statesman noted the groundbreaking coincided with the 60th anniversary of his first being elected to public office in 1924 as a member of the City Council as a young man of 22.

Mayor Francis McCauley was optimistic in his assessment concerning the impact of the new roadway on existing and future plans results of a court hearing yesterday (Wednesday) before deciding whether or not to evict a family accused of harassing another family in Germantown.

"We are not going to stand for anything like that," said QHA Director John P. Comer. "If these are new incidents, we would throw them out in a minute. But we're going to wait and see."

A temporary restraining order was issued in Norfolk Superior Court last week against nine persons from Germantown, Brockton and Hull forbidding them to harass Steven and Rose MacKenzie.

Steven MacKenzie testified against two of the persons named in the restraining order and they were convicted in the fire-bombing of the home of a black mother and her children on Sept. 9, 1982.

Since then, according to the office of Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti, the nine people named in the restraining order have repeatedly harassed the MacKenzies with assaults and threats.

The hearing yesterday in Superior Court involved whether a preliminary injunction should be issued in the case.

"We will be watching the case closely," said Comer. "Most of the incidents reported happened quite a while ago and some of the people already are on probation for them."

"If there are any new ones, out they go."

Comer said only two of those named in the complaint - Patricia Tilton of 38 Taffrail Rd. and Karen Tilton of 20 Bicknell St. - live in QHA housing, although two others, Lawrence Tilton and Steven MacDonald, also give QHA addresses.

Others listed in the restraining order are Robert Butler of 52 Berlin St., Wollaston, Sandra and Bradley Poor and John Tilton, all of Hull and Lisa Tilton of Brockton.

John Tilton and Bradley Poor were convicted of fire-bombing the public housing home of Regina Campbell in 1982. MacKenzie testified he saw them running from the Campbell home seconds after the explosion.

Ironically, said Comer, Mrs. Campbell and her children have left Germantown and now live in public housing in Weymouth.

Comer said it is up to him to decide whether or not Patricia and Karen Tilton should be evicted. He said the authority has never before had any problems with Karen Tilton.

$184,800 In New Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports that his department issued 88 permits for wiring estimated to cost $184,800 during the month of July.

The inspector issued 75 certificates of approval to the Massachusetts Electric Co. and collected $2,650.25 in fees.

The major projects for which permits were issued were a four-unit condominium at 19-25 Harbourside Rd., a three-unit condo at 12-16 Brigantine Lane, a seafood restaurant at 588-592 Washington St., and a fire alarm system at Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave.

Blaze Under Investigation

Mother, Daughter Need Help After Fire

By BOB BOSWORTH
 Jean Marie (Irvine)

Camillo and her daughter, Jennifer, 4, are in desperate need of any donations that will help them recover from a suspicious fire that forced them out of their home July 31.

"We lost practically everything. Clothing, furniture, pots, pans, appliances. Anything that wasn't burned was lost because of smoke and water damage," said Mrs. Camillo.

She and her daughter, along with five other families, were forced from the three-story apartment building on Arthur St., West Quincy. Mrs. Camillo firmly believes the fire was set.

She has received aid from the welfare department. They have given her a voucher for a week at Quincy Bay Inn, clothing, and a refrigerator when they find a place to stay. However, they still need help.

"I'm really concerned about my daughter's welfare. She's too young to understand the situation. She's all that I have now," Mrs. Camillo said.

Those wishing to help the Camillos are asked to send their donation to St. John's Rectory, care of Rev. William McCarthy, 21 Gay St., Quincy, MA 02169.

People can also drop off contributions at the rectory. "We will gratefully appreciate anything," Camillo said. The fire was the second one in two days and some tenants of the building believe both fires resulted from a quarrel between a woman who lived in the building and her former boyfriend.

Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti said there was no source of ignition and believes the fire must have been set.

The blaze started in the attic and worked its way down the building's wooden structure. Mrs. Camillo, who lived beneath the attic on the third floor, was alerted to the fire when she heard a neighbor screaming to get out. She said she saw flames under the attic door and then they were everywhere in her apartment. Firefighters had to knock down all the walls on the third floor.

Estimated damage is more than $35,000.

None of the tenants were injured, but Fire Lt. Joseph Walsh was treated at Quincy City Hospital for smoke inhalation and released.

The building is owned by Harry Horgan of 18 Graceland Rd., Quincy.

The fire is being investigated by Quincy fire prevention bureau, Quincy police and the state fire marshal's office.

A smaller basement fire July 30 is also under investigation for arson.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE
 Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

McCauley Suggests Look At QJC Chain Of Command

By JOHN NOONAN

The time may have come when some thought should be given to the governing of Quincy Junior College, Mayor Francis McCauley suggests.

McCauley was commenting on a recent report of the New England Association of Colleges and Schools which evaluated and accredited Quincy Junior College.

The report made several recommendations including the suggestion that the chain of command involving the QJC President, the Board of Trustees, the Superintendent of Schools, and the school committee be looked at for possible restructuring.

Presently the QJC President reports to the superintendent and the school committee as provided by state law.

McCauley said that since the college now has its own enterprise account status and receives very little money directly from the city or School Department, the time has come to take a look at the college governing.

McCauley said he was commenting as an individual and that the other members of the School Committee will be holding a regular meeting Aug. 22 to deal with opening of school matters and that the governing matter could be put off until after school opens.

McCauley said that one item on the agenda for the next school board meeting would be procedures to follow in selecting a permanent superintendent of schools to succeed Lawrence Creedon.

Senior assistant superintendent John Osterman is filling the position on an acting basis.

McCauley To Appoint At Least 3 Firefighters

McCauley said that Donald Hanson, Director of Personnel, will be assisting in the evaluation of the candidates.

Candidates will undergo further testing, psychological evaluation, physical examination and interviews.

The starting salary for a firefighter is $22,604.

Mayor Francis McCauley plans to appoint at least three firefighters to the Quincy Fire Department to fill existing vacancies.

McCauley said he has called for the list of candidates who have passed a civil service qualifying exam. The list contains 14 names.

McCauley said that the full complement of firefighters is 177 and that by the time the evaluation process is completed it may be necessary to consider appointing two or more additional firefighters to bring the department to full strength because of further anticipated retirements.

Broad Meadows Land Transfer Hearing Aug. 15

The State Division of Capital Planning and Operations will hold a public hearing Wednesday, Aug. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall on the proposed transfer of 108 acres of land in Broad Meadows to the city of Quincy.

Peter Kenney, the Mayor's executive secretary, called the hearing "strictly a legal formality."

Tunney F. Lee, deputy commissioner of Capital Planning and Operations, said that "due to the natural features of the property, the division intends to convey the property to the city of Quincy with conservation restrictions."

Kenney said final conveyance of the land to the city will take place around Sept. 15.

The property, much of it marshland, was owned by the city until 1971 when it was transferred to the state for the purpose of constructing a South Shore Community College. The college was never built.

The state Board of Regents has determined the property to be surplus to its needs and the property has also been declared surplus to other state needs.

The State Department of Mental Health has proposed building a facility on the site but the move was stymied when the city declared it to be open space and set about obtaining its return.

License Board Decision Sept. 4 On Dacey Permit

The License Board will take action Sept. 4 on a request for a restaurant license that would permit the Dacey Brothers store at 213 Samoset Ave., Merrymount, to sell take-out sandwiches.

Daceys plans to move its location to 200 Sea St., the site of a former gasoline station, which will be expanded to help handle the take-out food. The store will open an hour earlier, at 6 a.m.

The License Board

postponed a decision on the license last week to enable Daceys to meet once again with area residents, some of whom attended last week's meeting to speak for and against the license.

City Councillor Michael Cheney raised the question of traffic safety around the store and suggested that Daceys withdraw its bid for a license until a traffic study is made. Daceys declined.

Rep. Thomas Brownell spoke against the license, saying it would threaten the residential character of the neighborhood and create a serious traffic problem.

Louis Mezzini told the Board that 280 members of the Merrymount Association were polled and 48 were against the license.

Jack Devlin's Death Recalls Days Of Quincy Evening News

By TOM HENSHAW

How many remember the old Quincy Evening News?

The News flourished (it that is the word) for eight years back in the 1930s as former Mayor Perley Barbour's challenge to the established Patriot Ledger.

The News lost the fight, vanishing in 1936, but not before it produced a dazzling array of reporters, including Lin Raymond and Percy Lane who went on to the Ledger; the Devlin brothers, Jim and Jack, who made their mark in New York, and Homer Jenkins, who went to the United Press, Colliers Magazine, and the Boston Herald Traveler.

The subject came up the other day when word filtered back to Quincy of the death July 25 of John C.
(Jack) Devlin, 74, who retired after a quarter century with the New York Times.

His body was cremated and the ashes scattered over Long Island Sound where he sailed for years out of Rowayton, Conn. That brought back memories.

I worked with his brother,
Jim, in the New York bureau of the Associated Press. I drank with him at Eddy's on 51st St. And, 20 years ago, I was one of those who chipped in, not for flowers, but to rent an airplane to scatter Jim's ashes over New York Harbor.

"They loved the sea, especially Jack," said Bob Devlin of South Quincy, the sole survivor of the four Devlin brothers.

"I remember, back in the 30s, Jack went down to the dock to see a friend off, got a job on the ship himself and sailed to Europe and the West Coast and around the world."

The fourth Devlin brother, Dick, 71, of Braintree, a senior designer at Stone and Webster in Boston, died 10 days before Jack.

The Devlins were born in New Jersey but moved to Quincy when they were young. Their father was a draftsman at the Fore River Shipyard.

Jack and Jim both started at the old Evening News and when that folded Jack went to the Patriot Ledger. He was in the Army Air Corps in World War II, flying the Hump in the China-Burma-
India theatre. After the war, he did public relations with the Carl Byoir agency and joined the New York Times about 1947.

"He did a lot of interesting things with the Times," said Devlin, who is a draftsman at Stone and Webster.

"He went down on a two-man submarine for a story.
He covered the hunt for the Thresher, the atomic submarine that sank. He did a lot of stories in Connecticut. He knew
Lindbergh and Roger Tory
Peterson, the bird watcher.
He wrote a biography of Peterson."

Jack lived in South Norwalk, Conn. with his wife, Grace, an associate editor of the Readers Digest.
She died a few weeks before her husband.

He leaves his brother,
Bob, and three children

Starting Aug. 18 and not at the Houghs Neck Community Center as previously announced.

Who Will Succeed Creedon?

The departure of Dr. Lawrence Creedon as Quincy school superintendent leaves one big question to be answered:

Who will succeed him?

The speculation has already begun.

Three names are being mentioned as possibilities: John Osterman, Dr.
Richard Chrystal and Dr. Carol Lee
Griffin.

Osterman, senior assistant superintendent, was unanimously named acting superintendent by the School Committee after Dr. Creedon asked for and was granted retirement, bringing a sudden—and surprise—ending to the case involving three misconduct complaints against him.

As assistant superintendent, Osterman was in charge of Personnel, Business and Plant.

As acting superintendent he could have the edge in the final selection.

Dr. Chrystal is assistant superintendent in charge of Curriculum.

Dr. Griffin is Director of Pupil Personnel.

Two other questions also await answering, however:
Will the School Committee pick from within the system or go outside? And, how long will it take to find the man or the woman the committee wants?

It would appear that Osterman could be acting superintendent for sometime before the search is completed and the field narrowed down to the final man or woman.

It took a year before Dr. Clayton Johnson was named president of Quincy Junior College.

Osterman, seems to have a lot of early support and the longer it takes to fill the post permanently, the stronger his support could become.

Whether he is interested or would accept the job is, of course, still another question to be answered.

And for that matter, is Dr. Chrystal interested? Is Dr.
Griffin?

There should be a lot of speculation before final decision time.

Burgin Extension Hailed As Economic Catalyst

the Greenleaf building on Hancock St.

"The Burgin Parkway Extension will provide immediate access to downtown Quincy. It is a very positive step for the city and it is a catalyst for present and future development in the downtown area," McCauley said.

McCauley said the new roadway will also run parallel to Hancock St. and open up the downtown district to the entire South Shore through the connections with Route 3 and Route 128 in Braintree.

Former Mayors, Walter Hannon, Arthur Iohn, and the late James McIntyre were praised by state officials for their cooperation over the years in the Burgin Parkway and the Extension planning stages.

Senator Paul Harold, a long-time proponent of the entire Burgin Parkway plan, said, "I am delighted to see the start of this momentous project connecting Quincy Center with the Expressway. This is the greatest improvement for Quincy Center in the past twenty years."

Harold was also praised for his efforts in clearing legislative obstacles and financial problems which caused some delay in getting the extension construction underway.

Harold called for passage of the Governor's Massbank legislative proposal which he said is needed to ensure economic health and public safety throughout the state.

Massbank is legislation to provide for an independent agency to fund construction and repair of state roads, bridges, and water and sewerage systems.

Sen. PAUL HAROLD
"This is the greatest improvement for Quincy Center in the past 20 years."

Former Mayor THOMAS BURGIN
"Let us remember that today's program is tomorrow's challenge."

Mayor FRANCIS MCCAULEY
"It is a very positive step for the city and it is a catalyst for development."

Rep. Michael Morrissey said, "This road is of course, important to the downtown shopping district, but more importantly, however, the drainage work will be done now, and over the next few years, will greatly help to alleviate the flooding problems in South Quincy."

Modern Continental

Construction of Cambridge was awarded the Extension construction contract following disqualification of the low bidder for failure to comply with minority contractor rules.

Also participating in the groundbreaking exercise were Reverend Steele Martin, Christ Church of Quincy; Fr. William McCarthy, St. John's Church; and State Public Works Commissioner Robert Tierney. Associate DPW Commissioner Martha Reardon served as hostess and introduced the various guest speakers and other dignitaries in the audience.

Excise Taxes Due In 30 Days

Motor vehicle excise taxes will be due 30 days after the excise bill is sent starting January, 1985.

State Senator Paul D. Harold reported recently.

Under new legislation, the former 60-day due date is reduced to 30 days for excise taxes levied after January 1, 1985, to help cities and towns receive revenues sooner. The amendment makes no change in abatements for vehicles registered only part of the year, but raises the minimum excise tax from $2 to $5.

License Board Denies Fuel Storage Permit

The Licensing Commission refused to grant a permit to Thomas H. Reardon Jr. of Somerville to establish a storage depot for gasoline and fuel oil on Hancock St. near the Neponset River.

The Commissioner, which was composed of City Clerk Emery L. Crane, Fire Chief Alfred L. Mead and Police Chief Ernest H. Bishop, issued the following statement:

"While the Board has no desire to restrict the development of the waterfront of Quincy, they feel that it is a grave question whether an oil storage plant would not hinder, rather than help, the proper development of the waterfront."

The storage facility would have included seven tanks to hold 227,500 barrels of gasoline and one tank for 32,500 barrels of fuel oil.

UNLUCKY THIRTEENTH

James Wood, a driver for the Whiting Milk Co., returned to the barn from his daily rounds with the vow that "never again will I work on Friday the 13th."

Wood had barely started on his route that morning when his wagon was upset while making a turn and $30 worth of milk spilled out on Houghs Neck streets. He returned for a new load.

Then his horse bolted and crashed into the side of a house owned by Herman Erhardt, 46 Center Rd., causing $100 damage to the wagon and tearing a 12-inch hole in the living room.

NEW LIGHTS ON HANCOCK ST.

Mayor Perley E. Barbour directed the Quincy Electric Light and Power Co. to proceed with the installation of new and more powerful lights on Hancock St. from Dimmock to School Sts.

"They will eventually take the dark spots out of Hancock St. and intensify its illumination," said John F. Scott, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who had sought the lights for 15 years.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON CLOSINGS

Petitions were circulated requesting all merchants in Quincy Center to close their stores Wednesday afternoon all year round instead of just during the summer months.

Clerks in many of the stores were working 10 hours a day, five days a week, and 13 to 14 hours on Saturday.

Dr. Ben Wayburn, 72, Quincy Orthodoxontist

A funeral service for Dr. Ben Wayburn, 72, an orthodontist who for 25 years practiced on Coddington St., Quincy, was held Aug. 5 at Scholberg-Goldman-Solomon Funeral Chapel, Canton.

Dr. Wayburn died Aug. 3 at Massachusetts General Hospital after a long illness. Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park.

Born in Dorchester, Dr. Wayburn lived in Quincy 25 years before moving to Stoughton. He graduated from the University of Massachusetts, Harvard Dental School and Harvard School of Orthodontics.

During World War II, he was an Army captain in Europe and North Africa. He received a Bronze Star for valor.

He was a member of the Harvard Dental Society and Massachusetts Dental Association and past president of the South Shore chapter.

A musician, Dr. Wayburn played saxophone and organ and sang in the Canton chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

He was also a member of the South Shore Camera Club, a skier, bicyclist and golfer, and for many years was a member of Blue Hill Country Club, the Thorney Lea Golf Club and the Palm Beach Country Club in Florida.

He was a member of Temple Beth El, Quincy. He leaves his wife, Yvonne (Kafka) Wayburn; two sons, Ronald Wayburn of Sharon and Stephen Wayburn of Stoughton; a daughter, Lila Wayburn of Stoughton; two sisters, Zella Bornstein and Shirley Okun, and two grandsons.

Louis S. LaVena, 94, Cut President Kennedy's Hair

A funeral Mass for Louis S. LaVena, 94, a retired master barber at the Court House Barber Shop who cut the hair of John F. Kennedy and Joseph P. Kennedy, was said Tuesday at the Star of the Sea Church, Squantum.

Mr. LaVena died Aug. 3 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Messina, Italy, he lived in Dorchester before moving to Quincy 11 years ago.

He retired as a master barber 29 years ago. Previously he worked for the Oyster Harbor Club in Osterville for nine seasons.

He was a Navy veteran of World War I, stationed on the USS Covington. The Covington was torpedoed by a German U-Boat, leaving LaVena disabled.

He was a 58-year charter member of the Thomas Roberts American Legion Post in West Roxbury.

Husband of the late Anna B. (Balsama) LaVena, he is survived by one daughter, Louise V. Doherty of Squantum; one nephew, Gennaro LaVena of Quincy; eight grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Rosindale.

Donations can be sent to St. Jude's Children's Hospital, Memphis, Tenn.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Today tolerance is very much on the lips of modern man. Too many times it means, "I will go my way with my beliefs, my ideas, my views and you go your way! Let us not annoy one another with dissent or arguments." Is this true tolerance?...Of course not. This is a weak, wish-washy type of tolerance...if, indeed, it can be called tolerance at all. For true tolerance is a very vital matter, intellectually defensible and capable of bringing forth good fruit.
John Cogley expressed true tolerance very beautifully, this way: "Tolerance does not lie in denying the possibility of truth or its claim on man, as some would have it. To deprive a man of the right to live according to the truth, as he understands it, is to rob him of all that makes life human... Each man has to serve the truth, even though some men who think they are serving the truth are, in fact, bound to superstition or ignorance. False ideas have no claim on tolerance. The central figure in tolerance is the person, infinitely worthy of respect"... (Your comments are always welcome)...

GUADALCANAL DAY IN Quincy was proclaimed by Mayor Francis X. McCauley to honor the local Marines who participated in the bloody battle for the 90 mile South Pacific island in 1942. At the proclamation signing were (seated) former State Rep. Herbert Hollis holding the town of Milton proclamation; signed by Selectman James Mullen, Mayor McCauley; William McLaughlin, past national president of the Guadalcanal Campaign Veterans, holding the Senate citation by Senate President William Bulger. Standing are Donald Hollis, Michael DiMattio, Larry Reynolds, an organizer of the 1st Marine Division Association; State Chaplain Charles R. Manfredi, Marine Corps League; Tim Coffey, Nick Albanese, Past State Commandant Leo P. Cardarelli, Marine Corps League; Barney McNulty and Harold Donahoe.

City Hails Marines On Guadalcanal Landing

Mayor Francis X. McCauley observed the 42nd anniversary of the Marine landing on Guadalcanal Tuesday by proclaiming that the city of Quincy salutes the "brave men" who participated in the invasion.

The Marine landing on the island in the Solomon chain on Aug. 7, 1942, marked the first time in World War II that the Allied forces began to win back land from the Japanese forces.

"It was the turning point in the war in the Pacific," said McCauley.

"The most bloody fighting took place on the 90-mile island with seven major naval and 10 pitched land battles against innumerable odds. The Marines proved that the invincibility of the Japanese in jungle fighting and hand-to-hand was false."

Olympics Inspire First Church Sermons

The recent successes of the American athletes at the Olympic Games in Los Angeles were the inspiration for Pastor Gene Langevin's sermons at each of the morning worship services Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

Rev. Gene Langevin spoke on the subject "Athletes for God." Sarah Mildram and Steven Catton were the ushers.

The sermon at the second service was entitled, "Persistence." Guest organist for the morning was Carlo Errichiello. Stewart Scott and Lore Wallin were the ushers.

This week there will be only one service at 9:30 a.m. The preacher will be Charles Lester. On Aug. 17 the sermon will be given by John Herbert. On Aug. 24 the service will be led by some of the young people of the church.

The schedule of two services will be resumed on Sept. 2 at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The fall schedule of services will not begin until Sept. 9. On that day, there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single worship service at 10:30 a.m. On Sept. 16 the regular fall schedule of two services at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. will resume.

Joan Lotti Heads Juvenile Program

Joan Lotti, most recently the supervisor in the Quincy Court division of Norfolk County District Attorney William D. Delahunt's Juvenile Diversion Program, was recently appointed director of the program.

A graduate of Cambridge College with a Master's Degree in counseling psychology and management, Lotti has been with the Juvenile Diversion Program since its inception, and played a major role in its development. Initially serving as a caseworker in the Quincy Court, she later served as Court Supervisor in Wrentham, and two years later returned to Quincy to act as supervisor there.

Quincy Nursing Home Honors 90 Volunteers

Quincy Nursing Home recently held its annual luncheon which honored more than 90 volunteers who contributed their time and talents to residents during the past year.

Rev. J. William Arnold, pastor of Bethany Congregational Church, received special recognition for the outstanding care and concern shown through his ministry.

Plaques representing many hours of volunteer entertainment, religious and community services were presented to South Shore Eye Openers; Belles and Beau Club; Weymouth Senior Citizen Choral Group; St. John's Solidarity; Sunshine Club; Salvation Army Corps; Capt. Gerald Stephens; and Para Lous, Inc.

Outstanding volunteer efforts were recognized by Rev. Joseph Raacke of St. Joseph's Church; Denis Fox, R.S.V.P.; Barbara Houston and St. John's Hi-Ho Luncheon Group.

New volunteers receiving name pins were Florence Schwartz and Julie Murray, a Junior Volunteer.

Core volunteers who received "Years of Service

NANCY LIBBY, activities director at Quincy Nursing Home, awards a special recognition certificate to Rev. J. William Arnold of Bethany Congregational Church for his outstanding care and concern shown through his ministry. At right is Ila Williams, Director of Nurses.

Pins were:

MaryAnn Chamberlain, seven years; Eva Gorbeg, six years; Constance Morris, four years; Ruth Sylvester, three years; Barbara Houston, two years; and Denis Fox, one year.

Individual certificates were presented to all who attended.

Organizations and individuals who received framed recognition certificates in appreciation of their ongoing services were the Quincy Police Department; Glastonbury Abbey; Central Baptist Church; Pioneer Girls; and staff volunteers Annabelle Donavan, Thomas Kelly, Marilyn Newton and Ellie Miller.

Sen. Paul Harold's participation in the Heart fundraising efforts of the residents was recalled with a framed photo memento.

Ray Welliver Receives Eagle Scout Award

Ray Paul Welliver of 309 Sea St., has become the first scout from Troop 25 to be named an Eagle Scout.

An Eagle Court of Honor was recently held for him. Welliver earned the honor as a result of his Eagle Project, which consisted of building a portable handicap ramp for Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

The ramp will provide easier access to the Church's lower hall, where many functions are held. Welliver organized a troop cake sale to finance the project.

The Lady of Good Counsel Church is Troop 25's sponsor.

Welliver has been active in scouting since he joined the cub scouts at age seven. He has earned the ranks of tenderfoot, second class, first class, star, life, and now the highest rank of Eagle Scout.

He has earned 22 merit badges throughout his scouting career, and has held the positions of patrol leader, senior patrol leader, and junior assistant scoutmaster.

Welliver spent last summer at Storer Scout Reservation in Barnstead, New Hampshire, as the Handicraft Director. He has returned to the Reservation this summer as Dining Hall Steward. He plans to continue as assistant Scoutmaster.

Perhaps the person who can be most proud of Ray Welliver is John Randall, who was the Scoutmaster for Ray's troop for 11 years.

Welliver is a graduate of Archbishop Williams High School, and will attend the University of Lowell in the fall.

'Mysteries Of Hope' Sermon At Bethany Church

Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, will hold only one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary during August.

The Rev. Joel E. Huntington, associate pastor, will focus on the parables of Jesus Sunday, Aug. 12 in his sermon entitled, "Mysteries of Hope," based on the three parables of Matthew 13:24-35. Evangeline V. Brennan will be the lay scripture reader.

Thomas R. Vozzella will be at the organ console.

Professor Robert Howard of Eastern Nazarene College will be the guest soloist for the morning. There is no Church School during August, but nursery care for infants and toddlers is available.

The service will be broadcast by delayed tape at 11 a.m. over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to share in both the worship and fellowship.

For more information about Bethany's ministry and program, contact Rev. Huntington or the church office at 479-7300.

Stay Alive!

BARBITUATE ABUSE DANGER

Barbituates are used medically as tranquilizers or sedatives to induce sleep or reduce daytime tension and anxiety. They should be considered highly dangerous when taken without medical advice and prescription. In higher doses, the effects resemble alcohol: drunkenness, confusion, slurred speech and staggering. The body's tolerance level for these drugs increases rapidly, so that constantly increasing doses are necessary to maintain their effect.

Users may become confused about how many pills they have taken and die on an accidental overdose. In fact, barbituates are a leading cause of accidental poison deaths and also one of the main methods people choose to commit suicide. When taken with alcohol, their effects are greatly increased. In such a situation, a normal dose could become a lethal dose. It's something to think about.

Burgin: 'Today's Program Tomorrow's Challenge'

Former Mayor-Senator Thomas S. Burgin for whom the Burgin Parkway is named, had these thoughts at Monday's groundbreaking ceremonies for the roadway's extension to link with Rts. 3 and 128 in Braintree:

"Approximately seven years ago by a unanimous vote of the City Council, and approved by the mayor, the former Upland Road from Adams St. to Granite St. was re-named in my honor. Also, in the order was a provision that the proposed extension to the Southeast Expressway bear the same name.

Appropriate dedication ceremonies were held in November of 1977 with my family, city and state officials, and many friends in attendance. This tribute was sincerely appreciated and will never be forgotten.

"Today we are gathered here for an entirely different type of ceremony—one of great progress in the future growth and development of the City of Quincy. The ground-breaking of the Parkway Extension culminates years of planning by both state and city officials who have worked so hard towards its accomplishment. To all who have participated in any way we owe a deep debt of gratitude.

"Having been invited to participate in the program is deeply appreciated as a lifelong citizen of Quincy. To His Excellency, Governor Michael Dukakis, Senator Paul Harold, State Officials, Honorable Francis X. McCauley Mayor, City Officials, and others, I express my sincere gratitude.

"In closing, may I be pardoned when I mention my age of eighty-two years and the fact that by coincidence today's program in 1984 marks my sixtieth anniversary in first being elected to public office in 1924 as a member of the City Council as a young man of twenty-two years of age.

"Let us remember that today's program is tomorrow's challenge to continue Quincy's growth and progress! We shall meet it!"

Softball Doubleheader Aug. 16 To Benefit MDA

The annual softball doubleheader for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy will be played next Thursday night, Aug. 16, at Adams Field. The Quincy firefighters will play the police at 6:30 and the Quincy City officials will meet the News Media All-Stars at 8 p.m.

Mayor Frank McCauley and City Council President

Jim Sheets are co-chairmen of the event to help Jerry's Kids.

Tickets are on sale for $1 at The Quincy Sun and may be purchased at Adams Field the night of the game.

DID LIZ PIETRZAK GET TO WORK ON TIME?

Liz didn't get to work on time on May 22, according to the Patriot Ledger. Neither did many thousands of Red Line commuters. But, it's not only May 22nd. It seems the Red Line is in a breakdown mode every day.

And the Southeast Expressway is no better. It's probably worse. Imagine, spending an estimated 90 million dollars of taxpayers' money to improve the Expressway --without increasing its capacity by a single motor vehicle.

TOM TANNER will work to get Liz, and all the other South Shore commuters, to work on time. TOM TANNER will make South Shore transportation a top priority.

TOM TANNER PLEDGES:

"I will insist on being appointed to the Transportation Committee so that the South Shore commuter will finally get action and not the usual empty promises."

Wollaston Facility Shows Profit

The 92-acre Wollaston Recreational facility has shown a profit for the third year in a row.

According to Norfolk County Commissioners chairman James J. Collins, income was a record $333,392 with a surplus of $37,676 for fiscal 1984.

That brings to more than $154,000 the total amount of money returned to the county in the past three years.

Commr. George B. McDonald of Quincy said there has been an increase in rounds played and overall increases in income at the golf and tennis operation.

Thomas McDonald VFW Convention Committee Member

Thomas M. McDonald of 24 Vershire St., North Quincy was recently appointed a member of the 1984 Convention Committee on Veterans Service by Clifford Olson.

Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U.S.

The committee will meet during the 85th Annual National Convention of the VFW, Aug. 17 - 24, in Chicago.

'A Perfect Week'

Weather, Competition Highlight QBRW

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last week's 47th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week was a huge success without a single race being halted because of weather conditions.

"This was just a perfect week and the weather couldn't have been better," said QBRW President Al Boyd, a member of the Braintree Yacht Club. "Every race went on as scheduled and there was some fierce competition."

The annual Marine Parade, always one of the week's highlights, had a few less boats than a year ago due to a late afternoon start, necessitated by the tides. But it was as colorful as ever.

For the first time in Race Week History one club took all top honors in the Marine Parade. Braintree again had the most boats entered, the most decorated boats. Braintree's Lee Benoit was the winner and he also had the most original theme, a Pilgrim theme. Braintree also won in the auxiliary boat class. Overall theme for the Marine Parade was "The Spirit of Massachusetts."

Another highlight of the week was Joe Carven Jr. of Weymouth winning the Hustler title for an unprecedented fifth year in a row.

It was family week for the Schuchards of Hingham and Cohasset as they sailed their boat Tax to the 210 title. It was a repeat performance of the 1981 series with father Walter and son Peter sharing the skipper's duties.

Other members of the family taking part during the week were brother Dave, cousin Sean Harrigan and sister Peg Soltesz.

Race Committee chairman Ray Regan counted 1120 registered starters, a gain of more than 100 over last year's figures.

Trophies will be presented Sunday, Sept. 16, at 3 p.m. at the Quincy Yacht Club.

Rendezvous Night was held last Saturday night at Town River Y.C. with Boyd and Commodore Richard Burgess as co-hosts.

The other QBRWA officers are vice president Aaron Prelak, secretary Ed Simpson and treasurer Jack White.

ALL SET FOR the Marine Parade Sunday were Simone Riman, 20, Miss Quincy Bay of 1984 and Kathleen Hunt, 20, first runner-up in this year's pageant.

Carven Wins 5th Straight In Hustler Class

Joe Carven Jr. of Weymouth won an unprecedented fifth straight Quincy Bay Race Week title in the highly-competitive Hustler fleet.

Carven won the Hustler trophy by skipping 'Dandy' to two firsts, two seconds and a final day fourth place finish.

"It just seems strange that every time we come to Quincy bay, things just seem to work out for us," Carven said. "I couldn't give a reason for that. Maybe it is consistency because I always try to stay in the top five."

47 Years Of Tradition

Quincy Bay Race Week is marked by 47 years of tradition.

QBRW has been an outstanding success since it was established in 1938 by Quincy, Wollaston and Squamant Yacht Clubs, which formed the association.

In the years following, Town River and Wessagussett joined to make the event an area success.

Ten years ago Braintree and Metropolitan clubs were added and this year South Shore Yacht Club has joined, completing the present eight-club association.

• Legion Baseball Wollaston Edged 9-8, Bows Out Of Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN
The Wollaston Legion baseball team, after winning its first Zone 6 title in nearly 40 years, lost out in the opening round of the state playoffs but didn't go down without a fight.

Wollaston last Sunday lost a tough 9-8 decision to Zone 9 champion Fairhaven in the third and deciding game of their series.

Fairhaven thus moves on to a three-game series with Braintree, Zone 6C titlist, which eliminated Zone 10 champion Wollaston in two straight games, 14-11 and 6-2. The winner of this series moves on to the state finals in Holyoke.

Sunday's loss was hard to take as Wollaston had an 8-7 lead going into the eighth inning. But a long two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth gave Fairhaven the win and the series at New Bedford.

Wollaston scored its eight runs in the first four innings as Joe Conti had a two-run homer in the second inning and Steve Hogan and Bob Campbell each had two hits. Conti was pitching well in relief but was the victim of the game-winning homer.

Mike Notorangelo was the starting pitcher. He moved to center field when Conti took over and had no chance to catch the homer, hit over 350 feet. Saturday he had leaped over the fence to make a brilliant catch.

Saturday Wollaston won, 18-8, at New Bedford to even the series at a game apiece.

Mark Hubbard went 4-for-6 and had eight runs batted in. Campbell was 4-for-5 with two RBI and Steve Higgins went 3-for-5.

Hogan got the win in relief of John Comeau and Conti picked up his fifth save of the year, striking out the side in the ninth.

In the opening game last Friday night Fairhaven erupted for five runs after two were out in the second inning off Higgins and went on to a 9-2 victory at Adams Field.

Wollaston scored a run in the fourth on a hit, a walk and an RBI single by Hubbard, but Fairhaven put the game out of sight with three runs in the fifth, again after two were out. Wollaston was held to five hits, two by Paul Cahill.

Wollaston finished at 17-9, the most wins by a Wollaston team in recent memory.

In a season dedicated to Coach John Belcastro, who died just before the season opened, Wollaston won six of seven games during the final week and defeated Morrisette in a playoff for the zone crown. Wollaston had lost twice to Morrisette during the regular season.

Wollaston will lose several of its top players, Hubbard, Conti, Hogan, Brian Gibbons, Notorangelo, Campbell, Cahill, Keith Smith, Rob McElaney and Vin Christiani, but will have Comeau, Higgins, Steve Constat, Ken Runge, Bob Pitts, Bob Kozlowski, Greg McGlance and Chris Rossi back next season.

brother Bill of Wollaston.

Maver Resigns As Quincy Head Coach

Bill Maver has resigned as head football coach at Quincy High and Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone is accepting applications for the position, which pays $3465 for the season.

Applications must be in by next Monday. The Presidents, along with North Quincy, will open practice Aug. 27 and the opening games will be Sept. 15.

Maver, who last year took over as head coach after several years as an assistant coach, was one of many Quincy and North coaches who lost their teaching jobs due to Prop. 2½.

He had been hoping to get his teaching job back and he has accepted a position at Acton-Roxboro High School, where he will be in the physical education department. He also will be assistant football and baseball coach.

"I was looking forward to coaching this fall, as Quincy has a good nucleus returning," Maver said. "But I've wanted to get back into teaching and I am delighted to get the chance at Acton-Roxboro."

Maver was an all-scholastic end at Quincy High and later starred at the University of Connecticut.

• Junior Baseball

Quincy Wins Pair In Tourney

The Quincy II team won two games last week in the annual Junior Baseball League invitational tournament at Stoughton.

Quincy edged Brockton, 3-2, with winning pitcher Joey Russell pitching one-hit ball and striking out 10.

Brian Taylor's two-run homer in the top of the sixth inning won the game. Russell also had another hit, Bob Austin had a triple, Taylor and Peter Lyons two hits apiece and Kevin Daley and Greg Clifford one each. Brandon Farrell and Keith Oliver were outstanding on defense. Quincy also defeated North Attleboro, 9-2, with Lance Gilbert pitching a two-hitter and having a no-hitter through five innings and he struck out 10.

Austin's grand slam homer in the fourth inning broke the game open. Taylor and Kevin Burke also had home runs. Russell had two hits, Taylor and Gilbert had three each, Austin two and Lyons, Farrell and Clifford one each.

Austin crashed into the center field fence taking away a home run and Jim Monroe made a diving catch of a low line drive. Other fine defense plays were made by Steve Kavol, Bobby Crispi, Pete McLaughlin and Tim Roche.

Summer Sing For Quincy Choral Society

The Quincy Choral Society will hold a special summer sing Monday, Aug. 13 at 7:45 p.m. at East Milton Congregational Church.

Several aspiring conductors will work with the group in a number of familiar pieces as part of the Choral Society's plans to find a new music director for next season.

Former conductor, Robert L. Brown of Wollaston has resigned but will continue to direct the Quincy Symphony Orchestra next year.

All regular Quincy

Choral Society members are urged to attend to assist the Selection Committee in its efforts to replace Brown.

Regular rehearsals for the Quincy Choral Society will begin Monday, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m. at East Congregational Church.

Prospective members are invited to try out for the choral society. Tenors and basses will be particularly welcome.

Four concerts are planned by the Choral Society for the 1984-1985 season.

Fireman's Muster To Benefit MDA

The Quincy Fire Department will sponsor a Fireman's Muster Sunday, Aug. 19 at O'Rourke Field, West Quincy to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The event begins with a fire apparatus parade at 12:30 p.m. starting at Shaw's Supermarket parking lot and proceeding down Hancock St. to Furnace Brook Parkway and Quarry St.

There will be refreshments for children and adults. Balloons will be given out to children.

STARSCOPE

WEEK OF: AUGUST 9

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Thursday-Saturday emphasize the lighter side of friendship, but the weekend may be devoted to serious discussions. At work, newcomers may need more guidance than you may realize.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Friends are helpful—perhaps overly so—and too many hands can make for a chaotic week. Partner is unusually spontaneous, while colleagues seem to talk in riddles.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Creative writing is a strong point; attempt a story or poem, even if this is a new area for you. First impressions are not consistently correct through the weekend.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Consumer research is all-important if shopping for a luxury item. Travel information may not be entirely reliable. Career or education plan can be implemented after the weekend.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Teamwork brings good results by Tuesday-Wednesday, but family discussion can become unexpectedly emotional. It may be your turn to mediate. Romancewise, partner is more accessible.

CANCER June 22-July 22
Creative interests can lead to new friendship. You and colleague are more comfortable, but don't reveal any secrets. Some of life's good things come your way this week.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Serious discussions with young relatives prove mutually helpful. Long-distance communication solves some puzzles. Healthwise, a good week for taking a family inventory.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Recent idea backfires and loved one is preoccupied. But self-esteem grows, thanks to the support you receive from highly respected friends. Financial prospect shows signs of brightening.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Signs of financial gain appear through the week. In romance, a combination of honesty and intelligence is the key. If planning an event—minor or major—flexibility is all-important.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Thursday-Saturday accent home improvement and other household activities. Weekend offers a second chance in relationship. Throughout the week, be sure not to underestimate your talents.

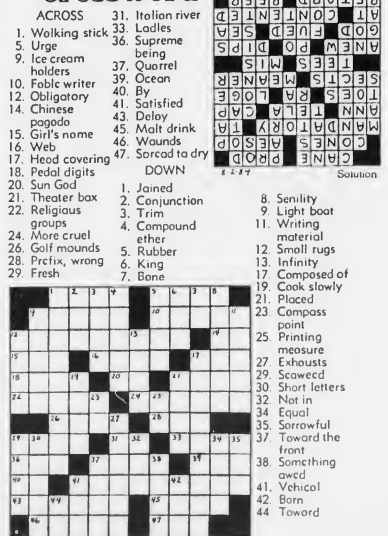

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Partner is surprisingly subtle; it may take added time to interpret his/her words. Week favors change in scene as well as change in direction. Traditional approaches work well on the job.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
A variety of projects comes your way; the keyword here is selectivity. Shaky relationship is stabilizing. Young friends make you feel generally more enthusiastic.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Very generous and highly enthusiastic, you bring out the best in people. On the flip side, you tend to be too fixed in your opinions—and are sometimes too picky in your choice of friends. Partnership activities are highlighted through 1984. Early '85 shows signs of improved lifestyle.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 9th, comedian David Steinberg; 10th, singer Eddie Fisher; 11th, actress Arlene Dahl; 12th, actor George Hamilton; 13th, actor Neville Brand; 14th, actress Susan St. James; 15th, Actress Wendy Hiller.

Gazelle Restaurant Receives Award

The Gazelle Restaurant, One Monarch Drive, North Quincy, has received a first place award in Restaurant Hospitality Magazine's 1984 Interior Design Awards Competition.

Approximately 100 entries were submitted by independent restaurants, chain restaurant units, hotel, motel and resort foodservice operations, and clubs from the United States and Canada.

The Gazelle is owned and operated by Barry Kaplan, whose credentials include general manager for the Riviera in Las Vegas, and the Hacienda Hotels. Vowing to make The Gazelle

"The Most attractive restaurant in the Boston area," Kaplan had the restaurant designed in shades of dusty rose, aubergine, grey and plum in contemporary art deco style.

The Gazelle just celebrated its first anniversary in May.

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

QUESTION: Doesn't it make sense for me to sell my house on my own? This way I can pocket the Realtor's commission. Right?

ANSWER: Wrong! It's not that simple. For one thing, the typical buyer is no fool. He'll expect you to deduct the commission for HIS benefit before you even start serious negotiations. Then you're on your own to handle some tough bargaining, curiosity seekers, credit checks and intricate financial arrangements. In the long run, you'll find that a Realtor will sell it for the best price and in the shortest amount of time. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to sell it the professional way.

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE THE BUYER. Sell the professional way.

Junior Bruins, Red Wings To Play Here Aug. 17

The New England Pro-Am Hockey League announces the beginning of a new hockey series with the Michigan Detroit Junior Red Wings.

The series will be held Aug. 17, 18 and 19 at the Quincy Youth Arena, where the Pro-Am League plays its games.

The Pro-Am all-star team will be known as the Junior Bruins and will wear Boston Bruins uniforms. Bruins General Manager Harry Sinden will drop the first puck.

The Junior Red Wings are composed of players selected by Coaches Chris Coates and Morrell Promosost, former Detroit Red Wing NHL all-star and Hall of Famer, who will be here with the team, from junior teams in the state of Michigan.

Three Quincy players will be playing for the Junior Bruins. Paul Marshall of Northwood School, Danny Shea of Boston College High and Tim O'Connell of the U. of Lowell.

The rest of the squad will include David Lefino of Lowell, David Deltano of LaSalle Academy, David Buckley of Trinity-Pawling, Jack Capuano of Kent, Scott Drevitch of Maine, Tom Healy of Abp. Williams High, Chris Kliene of Springfield Olympics, Jay Rose of Clarkson, Tom Ryan of BU, John Butterworth of Avon Old Farms, Mike Chighisola of Catholic Memorial, Clark Donatelli of BU.

Also J. P. Gillen of New Prep, Kevin Heffernan of Northeast, Steve Leah of UNH, Tony LoPilato of Lowell, Jon Morris of Plattsburg, Brian Noonan of Plattsburg Jr. A. Mike Rossetti of UNH, Tom Sasso of Babson, Chris Stapleton of BC, Jim Vesey of Merrimack and Scott Young of St. Mark's.

The series will establish the N. E. Junior Cup series that is expected to grow into a home and home series every other year between the teams.

Culminating the event will be the all-star awards banquet at the Lantana in Randsboro, Sunday, Aug. 19, with the Junior Red Wings as special guests.

Ad fans are invited to the banquet. Tickets are $15 each and the players will be admitted free.

The ticket prices for the games will be $3 per game or $5 for the three-game series.

For additional information contact Bob O'Connell at 471-6864 or Mike O'Connell at 871-1837.

Elks, Local 1139 In Showdown

The Elks and Local 1139 are meeting in a five-game series for the championship of the Quincy Babe Ruth League.

The series got underway Tuesday at Adams Field and will continue daily at 5:30.

The Elks moved into the finals by eliminating Bryan VFW in the semifinals. The Elks defeated Houghs Neck Legion in their opening playoff series. The Elks won the opener, 4-1, behind Bob Laracy's four-hit pitching. Laracy walked only one.

HN scored first on a triple and an error but the Elks tied it when Bill Murphy walked, stole second and went to third on an overthrow and scored on a perfect squeeze bunt by Bob Bubnick.

The Elks took the lead in the sixth when Bubnick was hit by a pitch, moved to second on a fielder's choice and scored on Tom Logan's single up the middle. The Elks added two insurance runs when Matt Ostiguy, who played a great game behind the plate with four assists and two putouts, doubled Logan to third and both scored when Laracy beat out an infield ground ball.

Bob Callahan pitched well for HN and also had a double in the seventh inning. Dennis DeCoste and Wright also had hits.

The Elks swept the best-of-five series with a 9-3 win to advance to the semifinals against Bryan Post, first place finisher in the American League.

Sean Gately pitched the complete game in the deciding game with HN.

striking out eight and walking three.

The Elks scored first when Bubnick walked, Ostiguy singled and Laracy's sacrifice fly to left scored Bubnick. HN tied it on an error and Jay Lespasio's single.

The Elks scored twice in the second on an error, fielder's choice and singles by Murphy and Brian Roche. HN again tied it in the bottom half on a single by Jim Phalen, a triple by Scott Crowley and singles by Terry McKinnon and DeCoste, who had three singles. The Elks scored the game-winner when Ostiguy singled, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on another sacrifice fly by Laracy. The Elks clinched things with five runs in the sixth. Peter Tufts, who also had a single, walked as did Murphy and Mike Routier followed by back-to-back triples by Roche and Logan, who scored on Laracy's third sacrifice fly. Gately struck out three pinch hitters in the seventh to end the game.

The Elks won the opener against Bryan Post, 9-7, scoring five runs in the seventh to pull out the win after trailing, 6-4, going into the inning. Ostiguy was the winning pitcher over Chris Coody.

Sean Gately, who caught an excellent game, had two doubles, a single and scored a run. Ostiguy walked three times, and scored three runs. Bubnick and Roche had back-to-back triples and each scored. Laracy had a single, scored a run and drove in the tying and go-ahead runs with another sacrifice fly on which a bad throw allowed the second run to score.

Logan played a fine first base and scored a run. Tufts and Joe Gately each had singles and ran down some long flying balls. For Bryan Cody, Austin, Fletcher and McArdle had singles and Rodriguez and Cinguerano had doubles.

The Elks clinched the series with a 4-0 win, with Logan allowing only two hits and striking out five. He also aided his own cause with a 350-foot home run, a triple and a single. The Elks played errorless ball and turned in two double plays. Bryan pitcher Mike Malone pitched a fine game in a losing cause.

The Elks scored a run in the first when Logan, Ostiguy and Laracy all singled to load the bases with two outs and a run scored when Ostiguy reached third on a force attempt.

The Elks added two in the fifth on a ground rule double by Roche and a two-run homer by Logan. In the sixth Tufts walked. Murphy singled. Roche walked to fill the bases, and Tufts scored on an infield grounder.

Bryan loaded the bases in the third but failed to score when Steve Austin hit a tough short-hop grounder to Laracy at first and he threw to Logan covering for the final out. They also loaded the bases in the sixth.

Joe Gately, who played left field in the series, is only 13 years old and made a fine decoy play on a short fly to force a runner at second in the last inning. He also made a fine catch to end the game.

THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT DEPARTMENT
Norfolk Division
Docket No. 84P1903-P1

To DANTE DIBONA of Quincy in said County and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by ANNETTE DIBONA of Quincy in the County of Norfolk representing that she holds as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows: The land in that part of said Quincy called West Quincy, with all the buildings thereon, containing about 20,383 square feet, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the land of one Loud, formerly of Joseph W. Robertson, on Willard Street, and bounded westerly on said Willard Street, about two hundred and ten (210) feet to Crescent Street, formerly Cemetery Street, on which street it is bounded southerly forty-two feet and five inches to land of heirs of Michael and Patrick Carey, on which land it is bounded easterly one hundred sixty-four (164) feet to land of said Loud, on which land it is bounded northerly about one hundred and seventy-six (176) feet to said Willard Street and the point of beginning; setting forth that she desire that all of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than One hundred and ninety thousand dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esq., First Judge of said Court at Dedham, July 13, 1984.

NOTICE
PUBLIC HEARING CONVEYANCE OF STATE OWNED PROPERTY TO THE CITY OF QUINCY

Pursuant to Section 40-1 of Chapter 7 of the General Laws, the Division of Capital Planning and Operations will hold a Public Hearing on the proposed conveyance of the 108.17 acre Broad Meadows property, located in the City of Quincy. The property was originally obtained from the City of Quincy in 1971 for the purpose of constructing a South Shore Community College. The Board of Regents has since determined the property to be surplus to its needs, and the property has also been declared surplus to State needs.

Due to the natural features of the property, the Division intends to convey the property to the City of Quincy with conservation restrictions. A Public Hearing of the property conveyance to the City will be held on Wednesday, August 15, 1984 at 7:30 P.M. in the Second Floor Conference Room in City Hall at 1305 Hancock Street in Quincy.

For further information, please contact Linda Whitlock, Director of Capital Planning and Operations, 1 Ashburton Place, Boston, MA 02108 (617) 727-0408.

Daniel Hagerty Honored For Heroism At Bank Robbery

Boston policeman Daniel Hagerty of Quincy was among those honored recently during a State House ceremony for heroism and bravery.

Hagerty was awarded the George I. Hanna Medal of Honor for Bravery after he risked his life when he stopped an armed robbery at the Shawmut Bank, Boston, Feb. 7, 1983.

He and his partner,

Stephen Chin, wounded one of the suspects and recovered more than $13,000 taken in the holdup.

Hagerty was among nine officers awarded medals or citations after being selected by a group of law enforcement professionals.

Planning Board Hearing On Great Hill Zoning

The Planning Board was scheduled to hold a public hearing last night (Wednesday) on proposed change of zoning on the Great Hill School property from residential to open space.

The change was proposed by new Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney who said he did not expect any opposition to the action.

Cheney also plans to call a public hearing later this month to give residents the chance to suggest what should be done with the property.

The Bayside Youth Organization, which runs recreational programs for Houghs Neck youths, would like to create an outdoor recreational area on the site.

The organization, which is circulating petitions asking the city to lease the site to Bayside, would hold a fund-raising drive to build and maintain the area.

Included would be a jogging track, basketball and tennis courts, batting cage, bandstand and skating rink.

Mayor Francis McCauley said he wants a neighborhood recreation area at the site of the school which burned down three months ago.

After the school was closed in 1980 because of budget cuts and declining enrollments, the city council zoned the fields around the school for open space.

Summertime!

art search⁸⁴

The Quincy Department of Planning and Community Development is seeking original works of art on what summer means to you. One art work will be developed into a poster entitled SUMMERTIME! which will be printed and distributed throughout the City as one means of celebrating Summertime! in Quincy. All entries will be put on display in the lobby of City Hall in the early fall.

Summertime! Art Search 1984 is open to all Quincy residents age 15 years or younger. The following guidelines are to be followed in the Summertime! Art Search 1984:

- Theme: Summertime! Blue sky, flowers, baseball, house painting, grass-cutting - whatever describes Summertime! to the individual.
- Type of Art Work: Anything relatively flat and two dimensional, such as crayon drawings, pen and ink sketches, collages, paintings and so on.
- Maximum Number of Colors: Three, of the individual's choosing.
- Maximum Size of Art Work: 2' x 3'.
Number of Art Works Allowed per Individual: Unlimited.
- Age Limits: Individuals submitting entries should be age 15 or younger.

- Art Work Due Date and Place: By August 31, 1984 to the Department of Planning and Community Development, Third Floor, City Hall. Art works should be identified by name, address, age and telephone number of individual.
- Return of Art Works: All art works, except for the work selected for the poster, will be returned to the individual. It will be the responsibility of the individual to pick-up his/her art work on or after October 15, 1984.
- Prize: The individual whose art work is selected will be presented with a $25.00 gift certificate to the General Cinema Complex in the South Shore Plaza.

• Inquiries: Any inquiries regarding Summertime! Art Search 1984 can be addressed to Ms. Roberta Fitzgerald at 773-1380, extension 379.

McCauley Names Fantucchio To Assessors Board

By TOM HENSHAW

Marion Fantucchio, a career employee and administrative assistant to the Board of Assessors since 1976, has been named a member of the board to fill the unexpired term of the late Patricia Ceriani.

"There will be no on-the-job training for Marion," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley in announcing the appointment Tuesday. "She can step in and go to work immediately."

At the same time, McCauley named Lynn P. Fox of South Quincy to Miss Fantucchio's old job with a change in title to head administrative clerk and a lower salary of $20,263.

The administrative assistant's job paid $23,335, the assessor's post $28,561.

McCauley said Miss Fantucchio will take a leave of absence from the administrative assistant's position to fill Mrs. Ceriani's term which expires on the first Monday in February, 1986.

If a new mayor is in office at that time and fails to reappoint her, said

MARION FANTUCCHIO

McCauley, Miss Fantucchio "reserves the right to move back into her old position."

Miss Fantucchio received a Massachusetts Accredited Assessors rating in 1976 and has been secretary treasurer of the Massachusetts Association of Assessing Officers since 1979.

As an active member of the MAAO, she participated in rewriting tax law and assessment administration manuals. She has taught assessing tax law and administration at seminars and classes throughout the state.

She has received the MAAO Distinguished Service Award and the MAAO Past President's Award.

A lifetime resident of Quincy and a graduate of Quincy High School, Fantucchio was first employed by the city in 1952 as a clerk-accounting machine operator.

She became head clerk in February, 1960, and administrative assistant in August, 1976.

Fox, who worked as a parttime clerk in the assessors office for three years while she was a student

McCauley Plans To Fill All Fire, Police Vacancies

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he plans to appoint "as many firefighters as it takes to bring the Fire Department up to a full complement of 177 men."

McCauley announced last week that he planned to name three new firefighters from a Civil Service list of 13. Then he changed the

Since then the possibility has opened up for more vacancies.

"When we finish screening the 13 on the list," he said, "then we will look at the number of vacancies and act accordingly."

The Mayor said one fire deputy, Thomas Andrew, retired at the end of July and there is a possibility that a captain will go out on disability, meaning promotions and job openings at the bottom.

McCauley said there will be no more loss of positions in the Fire and Police Departments due to attrition and he promised the City Council that he would fill the jobs when they became vacant.

$1,925,462 In New Construction

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald reports that he issued 126 permits for building estimated to cost $1,925,462 during the month of July.

Receipts were $40,804 plus $559 for public safety inspections.

Two permits were issued for mercantile buildings at $930,000, one for a garage at $7,000. 76 for residential alterations at $303,308, nine for other alterations at $506,500, five removals at $13,200, 17 signs at $21,975 and 16 miscellaneous at $143,479.

One new dwelling unit was added through alterations.

Lobsters

Stolen

Two racks of 100 lobsters each, valued at $900, were reported stolen Monday from the Quincy Lobster Co. on Granite St.

Police said two men pulled a gray van up to a side door and loaded the racks after engaging the manager in conversation.

One of the men was described as about 25, 5-foot-3 with black hair. The other was about 30, 5-foot-10 with red hair and a mustache.

United Way Serves 35,749 Here

The United Way of Massachusetts Bay served 35,749 Quincy residents in 1983, according to a recent report released by the United Community Planning Corporation, the United Way's planning partner.

Overall, last year the United Way served more than one million people through its 176 health and human care agencies in 86 eastern Massachusetts communities, a 15 per cent increase above 1982.

Some local United Way agencies include Domestic Violence Ended (DOVE), Quincy Visiting Nurses Association, South Shore Council on Alcoholism and South Shore Day Care Services.

Reader's Forum GOP Must Rebuild

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It is not too difficult to figure out where the state Republican Party is going because it's been sliding downhill since the late sixties.

The recent creation of British-style shadow cabinet is a novel idea but just so much puff stuff. Rather than shadow cabinets, the Republicans should be electing candidates who will appoint real cabinet members.

Success for the state GOP has been limited since the downfall of Yankee Republicans. The party was never able to attract the various ethnic groups to replace and refurbish the state Republican apparatus.

Today, Massachusetts is a one party state by default. The Democrats just happen to be catching the political fallout. A revolution of ideas is needed if Republicans are to take back some semblance of political power.

The party must rebuild from the bottom up and from left to right. It must become the party of ideas and not of reaction.

Sincerely,
Sal Giarratani

Stay Alive!

PREVENTING ACCIDENTAL BLINDNESS

About 5 per cent of all blindness is due to accidents. Injuries from BB guns, slingshots and bows and arrows cause 17 per cent of those. Sharp objects alone account for 20 per cent; blows, 20 per cent; and falls, 20 per cent. Foreign objects, such as cinders, metal and wood cause about 7 per cent.

When buying eye-glasses, I strongly suggest safety lenses. They protect against virtually all kinds of eye injuries and cost only slightly more than ordinary lenses.

Some advice concerning eye injuries... In case of a blow to the eye, apply cold packs, using clean cloths and tap water.

If a chemical is spilled into the eye, douse it immediately with water - and only water.

Consider the need for medical attention in all cases of eye injury, especially if an object, however tiny, has penetrated the cornea.

'Well, It's About Time!'

THE APPOINTMENT of Marion Fantuccio as assessor was greeted by most City Hall observers with a, "Well, it's about time!"

It definitely is one of Mayor Francis McCauley's best appointments and one of the best by any mayor in a long time.

The fact is that Miss Fantuccio who has been head clerk in the assessors office for nearly 25 years, knows her business.

And there's been more than a few assessors down through the years who have gone to her with questions on how-to-do-this and how-to-do-that.

Not to mention a mayor or two.

The feeling is that Miss Fantuccio should have been named an assessor years ago. Unfortunately it comes to fill a vacancy created by the death of Mrs. Patricia Ceriani, a most able assessor herself.

They tell this story of Marion around City Hall: A few years ago, the three members of the Board of Assessors came to Mayor McCauley and told him they planned to go to UMass in Amherst to take a course in some particularly sophisticated point of assessing practice.

"Okay," said McCauley, "as long as I can call Marion if there's any problem."

"I'm afraid you can't," said one of the assessors. "Marion is teaching the course."

MARION

TWO OF THE principals at the Burgin Parkway extension ground breaking ceremonies share a footnote in Quincy's history.

Former Mayor Thomas Burgin for whom the roadway is named and Mayor McCauley are the only two chief executives in the city's history to run for re-election without opposition.

Burgin was the first in 1940 and McCauley the second in 1983 - some 43 years later. Ironically, both are Republicans.

When Burgin did it, Quincy was a Republican city. McCauley turned the trick long after the city turned Democratic.

Coast Guard Academy Accepting Applications

The United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., is accepting applications from both men and women for appointment as cadets in the Class of 1989 starting in September, 1985.

Appointment as Coast Guard cadets are given solely on the basis of a nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographic quotas.

Applicants must be submitted to the director of admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15.

Applicants must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations from a prior marriage and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1985.

They must be assured of graduation from high school by June 30, 1985.

Registry Offices To Close At Night

Effective Aug. 31, Registry of Motor Vehicles offices will discontinue evening operations.

Registry offices across the state will maintain uniform hours - Monday through Friday from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"We hope to concentrate personnel to provide better service during the day," said Registrar Alan Mackay.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

FORMER Quincy Hospital Director Anthony DeFalco was among the guests at the Elliot Richardson fund raising reception at Pier 4 in Boston last week.

Guest of honor was former President Gerald Ford who announced his endorsement of Richardson for the U.S. Senate.

DeFalco has been active in Republican circles and served as State Commissioner of Administration and Finance under former Gov. John Volpe.

Incidentally, it was Quincy Sun Ch. 8's John Noonan who asked Ford the big question at the pre-reception press conference: Do you think former President Richard Nixon should apologize to the American people for Watergate?

Ford said he did and it made all the TV newscasts that night and the headlines the next day.

DE FALCO

FORMER City Councillor Leo Kelly has taken his mother,

Kathleen, on a trip to her native Ireland. She and Leo's father, the late John Kelly, came from Bantry in County Cork.

After visiting her hometown, they will visit all of Ireland. It will be her first such tour of the country, although she visited home five years ago.

The hotel they are staying at in Cork City is the very one Mrs. Kelly used to purchase cloth from merchants for a clothing store where she worked before coming to the U.S. 58 years ago.

While in Ireland, Kelly will renew acquaintances with the 13th Kildare Scouts from Clane that visited St. Boniface Troop 5 a few months ago. Kelly is bringing greetings to them from Mayor McCauley.

Kelly is paying his own way but is taking his mother on a monetary gift given to him at a testimonial at the Bryan VFW Post.

"The trip for my mother," he says, "is a gift from my friends."

Incidentally, Mrs. Kelly who used to operate Kelly's Market in Houghs Neck with her husband and after his death is now 82. But a young 82.

She does her own gardening, even put in a little stone patio at her home last year and still drives a car.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What unique role in Quincy history was played by Margaret Sweeney?

2. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 12 Densmore St.?

3. What is the name of the city solicitor of Quincy?

4. The City Council Chamber at City Hall is also known as: Charles H. Porter Hall? Harry W. Tirrell Hall? Joseph L. Whiton Hall?

5. Wharf St. is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The eight yacht clubs that took part in the 1984 Quincy Bay Race Week are: Quincy, Wollaston, Squantum, Town River, Metropolitan, Braintree, Wessagusset, South Shore.

2. The Rev. John J. McMahon is the pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

3. Sweeney Funeral Service is located at 326 Copeland St., West Quincy.

4. The Goliath crane at the Fore River shipyard weighs 1,200 tons.

5. Thornton St. is located in the Wollaston section of the city.

Carolyn Jensen Wins Free QJC Course

Carolyn Jensen of Braintree, a former Quincy resident, was the winner of the free course awarded by Quincy Junior College at Quincy's Sidewalk Bazaar.

Mrs. Jensen was one of 200 people who signed up at Q.J.C.'s booth to win the prize.

She will be able to take any general credit college course in September, either day or evening.

Mrs. Jensen, who lives with her husband and her three children, has been thinking of returning to school.

After she was graduated from Quincy High School, she spent eight years in the investment business and then stayed home to raise her family.

Mrs. Jensen's oldest child is working at the restaurant at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston after completing her degree in journalism. She says she may follow in her daughter's footsteps and study Hotel Restaurant Management at Q.J.C.

Animals Must Have 'Sanitary Environment'

Persons who keep animals will now be required to provide them with a "sanitary environment" in addition to other legal requirements according to State Senator Paul D. Harold.

Under an amendment to the "cruelty to animals" law effective next month, anyone who has charge or custody of an animal must provide proper food, drink, shelter, and a sanitary environment.

The law applies to people who keep pets as well as draft animals, Harold said.

Failure to provide the necessities, as well as cruel treatment, is a crime punishable by a fine of up to $500, and a jail term of up to one year.

PHARMACY TOPICS

Psychiatrists at the National Institute of Mental Health seem to have discovered a physiological basis for anorexia nervosa. Patients produce abnormal levels of vasopressin, an antidiuretic hormone that also has mental effects.

New genetic test can spot babies with PKU through amniocentesis, and can determine if other normal children in the family are carriers. Condition is treatable with diet if it is diagnosed at birth.

Scientists at Harvard Medical School and the University of Washington Hospital in Seattle are testing a portable pump that will inject needed hormones in women who do not ovulate. Several pregnancies are credited to the new device.

New research at the University of Texas Health Science Center indicates that monounsaturated fats, such as those in olive oil and avocados, lower cholesterol as well as polyunsaturated fats.

Mothers have always been able to "read" baby's cries and diagnose a wet diaper or a hungry tummy. Now DOC-TORS are learning to listen and discovering they can identify illnesses and physical conditions from the sound of cries.

We "read" baby's needs, too, at

Randalls Escape In Boating Mishap

The family of City Solicitor Douglas A. Randall narrowly escaped drowning when their 39-foot cabin cruiser Eroica capsized in heavy seas and went on the rocks at Westport, Mass.

Volunteers waded out to rescue the Randalls and their five children and Mrs. William A. Hey of Seattle and her two children. Mrs. Hey is Mrs. Randall's sister-in-law.

Eroica, which lost her rudder in the heavy seas, was listed as a $7,500 loss.

OLD COLONY SUBSIDY OKAYED

Gov. Foster Furcolo said he will sign a bill calling for $900,000 in public service payments from 38 communities to keep the Old Colony commuter railroad line going after next July 1.

The subsidy bill passed the State House by a margin of 119-87, with Rep. William W. Jenness (R-Quincy) voting against it. Rep. Carter Lee (R-Quincy) unrecorded and the others in favor.

BICYCLIST ARRIVES

Terry Timmins, 18, of Long Beach Calif., arrived in Quincy to a tumultuous City hall welcome after bicycling 3,400 miles from his home on the West Coast in 60 days.

Timmins also was feted by officials at the Fore River Shipyard since he was carrying a gift from his home city to the nuclear cruiser Long Beach, under construction at the yard.

Ruth M. Pabst, 65,

Worked In Clerk's Office

A funeral Mass for Ruth M. (Coleman) Pabst, 65, a clerk in the Quincy city clerk's office for 10 years, was said Monday in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mrs. Pabst died Aug. 9 at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

Born in Cranston, R.I., she lived in Quincy for more than 25 years before moving to Orleans and Venice, Fla., where she most recently resided.

She worked in the Quincy clerk's office before retiring in 1973.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph A. Pabst; a brother, Kenneth R. Coleman of Cohasset, radio voice of the Boston Red Sox; and four nephews and three nieces.

Arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the Jimmy Fund, 44 Binney St., Boston, 02115.

Mary A. Luongo, 65

A funeral Mass for Mary A. (Iazetti) Luongo, 65, of Quincy, was said Monday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mrs. Luongo died Aug. 10 at Quincy City Hospital. She was born in Boston and had lived in Quincy for 45 years. She was a member of the South Shore Stroke Club.

Wife of the late William A. Luongo, she is survived by three sons, William J. Luongo of Brockton, Robert J. Luongo and Anthony F. Luongo, both of Quincy; a sister, Flora Sasso of Boston and one grandson, David Luongo.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St., Quincy. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Forest Hills.

Donations in her memory may be made to the Dialysis Equipment Foundation, Brigham and Women's Hospital Development Office, 10 Vining St., Boston, 02115.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Donald M. Deware

No one likes to be unhappy. None of us like to be sorrowful. But too often when sorrow strikes us we close not merely the windows of our houses, but the windows of our souls. We sit in the dark with our grief. We keep away from the light, from the things that gives us happiness. It was whittier who wrote: "The window of my soul I throw wide open to the sun" He had learned the secret of peace of mind—of joy. He expressed this truth in another poem: "God's ways seem dark but sooner or later, they touch the shining hills of day."

If you have ever been seriously ill, you know that thrill that comes when you are getting better... that your health is coming back. So it is with suffering. It but breaks the shell... It makes you conscious of the beauty in the world. It is as though you were a small bud that the sunlight is just opening.

How different the world would be if people felt free to enjoy life. To say: "I'm happy" and to spend more time thinking of that happiness, no matter how simple, is easier than to ponder on the sorrow that preceded it.

Be happy. You can be, if you will but open the windows of your soul to God's sunlight...

John Herbert To Give Sermon At Squantum Church

A sermon based on the travels and teachings of St. Paul, was preached Sunday at the First Church of Squantum, by Charles Lester, a member of the congregation.

Deacon Katherine Hansen led the worship service. Ushers for the day were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott.

The hymns sung in the service were "Morning Has Broken," "The Church's One Foundation," and "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

This week there will be only one service at 9:30 a.m. The sermon will be given by John Herbert, former editor of The Patriot Ledger and the Boston Herald-Traveler. On Aug. 24 the service will be led by young people in the church with Bonnie Adams, Susan Scott and David Williams preaching.

The schedule of two services will be resumed Sept. 2 at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The fall schedule of services will not begin until Sept. 9. On that day, there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single worship service at 10:30 a.m. On September 16 the regular fall schedule of two services at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. will resume.

LINC Program

At H.N. Community Center

The Houghs Neck Community Center, in conjunction with Quincy Junior College, Quincy Community Television and Dr. Lonnie Carlton, is presenting the LINC (Learning in the Community) program.

It is a series of locally produced TV shows that will serve as a model for other cities.

Participants are asked to serve as "TV critics" after the airing of each show at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays, Aug. 9, 16 and 30.

The center hopes to have Dr. Lonnie Carlton in person at the Houghs Neck Community Center Sept. 6.

The air-conditioned center will be open every Thursday listed above except Aug. 16 at 7 p.m.

If enough interest is shown, cable may broadcast programs of community interest from the H. N. Center in the future.

Residents will be invited to participate as on-camera and behind-the-camera personnel.

For more information, call Pat Ridlen at 471-8251.

HN Legion Post Community Blood Drive Saturday

A Houghs Neck Community Red Cross Blood Drive will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Houghs Neck American Legion Post Home, 1116 Sea St.

The drive is being held in an effort to alleviate the constant depletion of the community blood bank during the summer months. The Houghs Neck American Legion Post is sponsoring the drive for the entire community. Persons between the ages of 18 and 65 in good health, who have never had hepatitis or any major illness and haven't donated within the past 8 weeks are eligible blood donors.

Call the Post Home after 12 noon at 479-6149 for an appointment, or walk-ins are also welcome.

Stop & Shop Superstore Opens Here On Sunday

A new era in super-marketing will be unveiled in Quincy Sunday at 12 noon when the expanded Stop & Shop joins the ranks of the superstores.

The new store, located at 495 Southern Artery, Quincy, brings to 13 the total number of Super Stop & Shops in the chain. On the same day, a simultaneous opening of the first Super Stop & Shop in Warwick, R.I. will be celebrated.

In today's fast-paced world where consumers are looking to spend a minimum of time and effort shopping, they will find the new superstore's one-stop shopping environment perfect for their needs, a spokesman said. In addition to all their food needs, customers will have a bigger and better selection of general merchandise departments.

Major new departments are:

- Barnes & Noble Discount Book Store - including all books on the New York Times Hardcover Best-Seller List at 33% off publisher's price and 10% off on all paperbacks.

- Housewares - a variety of Pyrex, Mirro and Ekoware baking and cookware; Libby glassware; and Rubbermaid bath and kitchen accessories.

- Greeting Cards - an extensive selection of cards for all occasions, plus gift wrap, party needs and personal stationery.

- Small Appliances - including coffee makers, toasters, toaster ovens, mixers and irons. These may be charged with a $10 minimum purchase on MasterCard or Visa.

- Health & Beauty Aids - a much larger department than the conventional supermarket with over 3,500 items.

The new superstore has a "street-of-shops" approach. From the moment shoppers enter the store, they encounter a succession of smartly designed service food departments where the emphasis is on food, appetizingly and attractively displayed. Multicolored stripes running on perimeter walls change color by departments and the use of canvas awnings creates the shop effect. The new specialty food departments include:

- Nature's Harvest - features natural foods including grains, pasta, nuts, and candies. Over 180 bulk items to choose from with a variety that will satisfy just about everyone.

- Food Bazaar - an island of 150 imported and domestic cheeses surrounded by an extensive array of specialty foods including over 50 types of teas and 12 bulk varieties of coffee beans. Also featured are 60 varieties of specialty cookies and crackers as well as an entire line of natural vitamins.

- Bake Shop - a full service bakery with coffee bar, offering today's consumers who demand "old fashioned" goodness in bakery products a wide selection of breads, rolls, cookies, bagels, donuts, muffins, danish, cakes and croissants, all freshly baked each day in the store.

- Green Grocer - shoppers may choose from a large selection of loose fruits and vegetables from near and far, plus fresh exotic foods. Each week new and different recipes will be available for shoppers.

- Salad Bar - a smorgasbord of over 50 items where shoppers may create and take home their own salads; a Juice and Melon bar and free pineapple coring upon request.

- Butcher Shop - offering USDA Choice Beef, White Gem Poultry, Big Eye Pork, and a "Something Special" meat section with extra thick chops, steaks and cutlets, plus fancy roasts and a "Stir Fry" section. Italian sausages are made fresh daily in the store and are available in four varieties including hot, sweet, garlic and cheese, and Polish.

- Foods To Go - this new department will feature 20 varieties of freshly made pizza (oven ready) in four crust styles.

- Corner Deli - featuring barbecued spareribs and chicken, fried chicken and kielbasa as well as a new line of "top shelf" salads, cold cuts and cheeses sliced fresh to order.

- Service Fish Market - large quantities of fresh fish on ice; lobsters and trout swimming in their own tanks; plus stuffed jumbo shrimp and stuffed file of sole.

- Family Florist - a landscape of florals and plants. A professional florist will assist the shopper with arrangements for special occasions, including weddings and bar mitzvahs. Customers may also use MasterCard or Visa on purchases of $10 or more. In addition, we offer "flowers by wire" service.

The new store is equipped with 16 scanning registers to ensure fast and accurate checkout. As a special community service, the Super Stop & Shop has a large meeting room available to community groups at no charge. Complete facilities for the handicapped include special carriages for shoppers in wheelchairs, wider checkout aisles and well-marked handicapped parking spaces.

Local dignitaries will join Stop & Shop executives to open the new store in a ribbon cutting ceremony. Store Manager, Roland Poitras will also be on hand to welcome customers on opening day.

The Quincy Super Stop & Shop will offer customers the added convenience of 24-hour-a-day shopping. Store hours will be Monday, 7 a.m. to Saturday Midnite, Sunday, noon to 9 p.m.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
THE TRIAL COURT
THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT
Norfolk Division
Docket No. 84PI914E1

Estate of RICHARD H.
SUTHERLAND late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk
NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that the last will of said decedent be proved and allowed and that ALBERT J. MARCHIONNE of Quincy in the County of Norfolk be appointed executor named in the will without surety on the bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on August 29, 1984.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Dedham, the first day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighty four.

Weight Losing Program At Quincy Hospital

The Health Promotion Department at Quincy City Hospital invites the public to attend a Lunchtime Wellness Program on "Winning Ways to Lose".

The program will be held in the hospital conference room Tuesday, Aug. 14, at 12 noon.

Participants may bring their own lunch or purchase one at the hospital. Complimentary beverages will be provided.

Some of the winning ways to lose weight will be discussed. Also, a videotape on weight loss entitled "Winning Ways to Lose" will be shown. This tape was produced by the Quincy Community Television Coalition as part of its "Healthvision" series.

A handout, "You, A Guide to Food, Exercise & Nutrition", will be available free to those attending.

For further information, contact Jane Mudge, R.N., at 773-6100, ext. 344.

South Shore YMCA Now Has Nautilus Center

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, announces the addition of "The South Shore Nautilus Center," which has 21 pieces of nautilus equipment, as well as three bicycles.

Specially trained staff will be on duty at all times of operation to demonstrate the use of all equipment and answer any questions.

The South Shore YMCA will be conducting a seminar on nautilus training for those interested in gaining or increasing their knowledge of nautilus today (Thursday), at 7 p.m.

There is no fee for the seminar which is open to the public. Topics will include the mechanical and physical benefits of Nautilus.

Cronin, Barrett Home Run Race Winners

Members of the outstanding North Quincy High School girls' track and cross-country teams dominated the women's division of the 1984 Home Run 10k road race—formerly the Dry Run—held Aug. 10 for the benefit of the Quincy Youth Commission Group Homes.

There were 250 starters. Patricia Barrett was the overall women's winner. She and two North teammates, Tricia Leary and Lee Ann Fitzgerald, finished 1-2-3 in the 15 and under division.

In the 16-19 group three more North standouts, Mary Ann Kelleher, Meg Leary and Sharon Barrett, finished 1-2-3.

In other women's divisions, Jennifer Langhinrichsen, Karen Hollender and Mary Marsters placed 1-2-3 in the 20-39 group, Beverly Smith, Mary Corbin and Ellen Scanlon were 1-2-3 in 40-49 and Mary Roever was first in the 50 and over class.

FORMER PATRIOTS star Jim Nance, left, waits to fire the starting gun to get the Home Run road race underway.

The overall men's winner was Michael Cronin. He, Greg Stone and Tim Archibald were 1-2-3 in the 20-39 division.

Harry Morash, Matt Corcoran and Dennis

Keohane were 1-2-3 in the 15 and under group; Greg MacDonald, Ed Willis and Brian Shea were 1-2-3 in 26-19; Con Doherty, Joe Drogan and Ed Donovan 1-2-3 in 40-49; Douglas by the Wollaston Credit Union and sanctioned by the New England Athletics Congress. It began and ended in Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Defeat Local 1139

Elks Win Babe Ruth Crown

The Elks defeated Local 1139, three games to one, to win the Quincy Babe Ruth League championship.

Local 1139 won the opening game, 5-3, but the Elks came back to win the next three for their first championship.

The Elks won the second game, 10-1, with Sean Gately pitching four-hit ball and striking out six over six innings. Bob Buttimer, 13 years old, pitched the seventh and allowed one hit.

Brian Roche had a great day reaching base five times and scoring four runs as he had two singles, two walks and reached on an error. He also played a strong game at shortstop. Tom Logan had a double and single, walked and scored two runs. Bill Murphy had two singles and a walk. Bob Laracy singled in a run and walked. Sean Gately, Joe Gately, Bill Dinneen, Scott Logan and Bob Bubencick all singled and Bubencick scored a run. Peter Tufts, who made a fine throw from centerfield to the cutoff man to nail a runner, walked and scored twice and Mike Routier walked and scored a run.

Robbie McDonald pitched five innings and Toland the last two for Local 1139. Dan Santry, Mark DiMattio, Mark

Bilton and Toland had the hits, all singles.

The third game went to the Elks, 3-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Matt Ostiguy, who struck out seven and walked three. The lone hit was Bilton's single in the fifth inning.

Logan led the Elks with two doubles and a single and he scored a run. Dineen had two singles. Murphy singled and walked twice and scored a run. Tufts singled. Roche walked and scored and Laracy and Bubencick each had walks. Sean Gately saved a run by blocking the plate and making the tag on Bilton in the fifth. The Elks played strong defense.

The Elks clinched the series and the city title with an 11-6 victory. Logan was the winning pitcher going the distance, striking out two and walking only one.

The Elks got off to a two-run lead in the first when Bubencick walked. Roche singled and Logan singled in Bubencick. Roche scored on a fielders choice.

Local 1139 scored a run in the third on an error, a fielders choice and singles by McDonald and DiMattio, and tied it in the fourth on a single by Bilton and two errors.

The Elks broke the game open with six runs in the fifth off two Local 1139 pitchers. Murphy was hit by a pitch. Dineen walked. Bubencick walked and Roche, Logan, Ostiguy and Laracy all singled.

In the sixth the Elks added three when Murphy reached on an error. Dineen singled. Bubencick walked. Roche reached on an error as Murphy scored. Laracy was hit by a pitch forcing in Bubencick and Ostiguy reached on a dropped third strike with Roche scoring.

In the bottom of the seventh inning the Elks put in their five 13-year-olds, taking out some of the starters so they could get a round of applause. Local 1139 scored three runs in the seventh. Bilton driving in two with a triple and scoring himself on a fielders choice.

The Elks finished the season at 21-9 and went 7-1 in the playoffs. The coaches were Joe Wilkenson, Bill Ostiguy and Dick Laracy.

The roster included Logan, Roche, Ostiguy, Laracy, Bubencick, Tufts, Sean and Joe Gately, Murphy, Dineen, Scott Logan, Buttimer, Routier and Scott Campbell. The pitching staff of Laracy, Logan, Ostiguy and Sean Gately was one of the best in the league, walking very few batters, while the defense was outstanding. Logan had seven home runs, most going over 350 feet. The catching was handled by Ostiguy and 14-year-old Sean Gately. Both have fine arms and allowed few stolen bases.

The outfield of Dineen, Tufts and Bubencick, with Joe Gately, filling in, also was outstanding. The infielders, Murphy, Roche, who helped the team turn it around when he was moved from second base to shortstop, Sean Gately, Laracy and Logan were among the best in both divisions. Logan, Buttimer, Routier and Campbell, all 13-year-olds, did everything asked of them when called upon.

The Elks will hold a breakup cookout, which includes a father-son softball game. A team banquet also will be held as well as the league banquet, at which the players will receive their championship trophies.

Cobban North Backfield Coach

Kevin Cobban, a former Raider star who was an outstanding quarterback and Most Valuable Player at Bridgewater State College, has been appointed defensive backfield coach at his alma mater North Quincy High.

Cobban led North to its only win over Brockton in 1977, his junior year. Last season he was an assistant coach at Weymouth North High, coaching the freshmen and scouting.

Kevin is the brother of Fred (Coagie) Cobban, who also was a North Quincy quarterback and who was known for calling the plays for North's undefeated 1966 Greater Boston League champions.

Head Coach Ken McPhee, a standout lineman on that 1966 team, is pleased that Kevin will be with the Raiders. "He will be a great help to our backs, especially the quarterbacks," McPhee said.

"I appreciate the opportunity to be back home at North," Cobban said. "It will be great working under Coach McPhee, with his staff, and coaching a great group of boys."

HIGH SCHOOL ALL STAR TOURNAMENT

Zone 6 All-Stars Win In MDA Benefit Game

The Zone 6 all-stars continued their domination of the Zone 6A stars, winning the fourth annual Legion baseball all-star game for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy, 7-4, at Adams Field.

The Zone 6 stars, coached by Morrisette's Ray Cattaneo, have won all four games played in the series. Randolph's John Mariano coached the Zone 6A stars.

The game had everything, good fielding, clutch hitting and some outstanding pitching, which saw 21 strikeouts, 11 by Zone 6 and 10 by Zone 6A.

Quincy all-stars played prominent roles in the victory. Jack Holster of Morrisette had two doubles and an RBI, Chris Bunker of Morrisette a double, Mark Chambers of Quincy a two-run single, and Steve Higgins and Steve Hogan of Wollaston had singles.

Others taking part were Joe Conti, Paul Campbell and Mark Hubbard of Wollaston, Scott Mele and Dan Shea of Morrisette and Paul Arroyo and Chris Connolly of Quincy. Steve Belcastro of Wollaston assisted Cattaneo.

Junior B Team Splits In Stoughton Tourney

The Quincy Junior B baseball team split last weekend in the Stoughton invitational tournament and is still alive in the double elimination event with a 3-1 record.

Quincy, following two wins the previous weekend, lost to Parkway II of West Roxbury, 7-5, then came back to defeat Hingham, 9-6, to keep its title hopes alive.

In the Parkway game Brian Taylor had a three-run homer, his third in three games, Bob Austin had two hits and Brandon Farrell and Greg Clifford one each. Joe Russell had eight strikeouts in a losing cause.

Lance Gilbert was the winning pitcher against Hingham and had six strikeouts. Pete Lyons pitched a fine relief, coming on in the fifth with two men on and no outs. He promptly struck out the next two batters and forced the next batter to ground out. He then retired the side in order in the last inning.

Austin, Farrell, Lyons and Taylor had two hits each and Kevin Burke, Steve Karol, Russell, Jimmy Monroe and Kevin Daly one apiece. Gilbert, Bobby Crespi and Tim Roche played strong defense.

A.L. Defeats N.L., 5-3 In Merchants All-Star Game

The Quincy Merchants Softball League held its first all-star game recently before a packed house at Rotary Field with the American League topping the Nationals, 5-3.

Steve Koslowski of the Niners was named the game's Most Valuable Player, leading Larry Curtis of Brewster Ambulance and Bob Bowie of the Niners.

Koslowski drove in two of this five runs with a double and a triple. Curtis pitched an outstanding game, coming on in relief of starter Lou Graham of Martin's Plumbing. Curtis pitched five scoreless innings. Bowie went 3-for-3 and played excellent defense.

The National League

received strong games from the Sedators' Bob McKenzie, who went 2-for-3 with a triple off the top of the fence in left center field, driving in two runs.

The American League was coached by Jim Hanna of Martin's and Doug Young of the Niners. The National's coaches were Roger Hohmann of Roman Gardens, Roy Perkins of Woodward Springs and Paul DeMarco of the Bashers.

The game was covered by Quincy Cable Systems, Ch. 3, which will air the game during the last week of August.

The league playoffs began last Thursday. In the American League Brewster met Martin's and Trucks of Quincy faced the Niners. In the National League it was Bashers vs. Roman Gardens and Sedators vs. Woodward's.

The final league standings:

American League—Martin's Plumbing, 20-2; Niners, 13-9; Trucks, 13-9; Brewster Ambulance, 9-13; South Shore Bank, 3-19.

National League—Roman Gardens, 20-2; Woodward Spring, 14-8; Sedators, 13-9; Bashers, 10-12; Milton Hospital, 8-14.

City Cheerleading Camps Continue

The Quincy Recreation Department summer sports camps program added a week-long cheerleading camp to its summer schedule, which started Monday and ends Friday.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said, "The camp directors, Jean Feeney and Donna McDonald, coordinators of the St. Ann's cheerleaders, and Patti Myers, director of the Quincy Point Panthers, have worked for several months to make this first Quincy Cheerleading Camp the finest possible offering to all cheerleaders or would-be cheerleaders age nine through 15."

The New England Patriot cheerleaders attended yesterday (Wednesday) and instructed professional sideline chants and presented pom-pom routing demonstration.

Friday a mini-competition will be held. The event is open to family members and friends. Trophies will be presented to the most spirited and most improved participants.

Recreation Dept. Has Soccer Camp Openings

The Quincy Recreation Department has limited openings in its instructional soccer camp, to be held daily Aug. 20 through Aug. 24 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This is the 10th and final sports camp offered as part of the summer activities of the Quincy Recreation Department.

The camp is under the direction of Paul Begoli, former head soccer coach at North Quincy High School, and John Osgood, head coach at Norwell High School.

Open to boys and girls age 9 to 14 years, the camp will focus on the fundamentals of soccer with a particular emphasis on skills of passing, heading, dribbling, and shooting. Cost of the self-supporting program is $17 for the week. The camp will utilize the stadium soccer field and North Quincy High School in the event of rain.

Those interested may register in person at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380 ext. 204.

Little Loop Registration Starts

Registrations are now being accepted for the 31st anniversary season of the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, which starts Saturday, Oct. 12, at 9 a.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome.

The league is open to all boys 11 through 16, regardless of residence.

A charge of $2.50 per week includes bowling, shoes, awards dinner, entry fees for Mass. state bowling tournaments and adult supervision and instruction. Two weeks of roll-offs will determine averages and will precede the opening of team competition.

Morrisette Baseball Banquet Aug. 20

The annual Morrisette Legion Baseball banquet will be held Monday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Morrisette Post, with a catered dinner by Basile caterers.

Donation is $10 and returns should be made to Frank Osborne, 98 Gilbert Street, Quincy.

Awards to the players will be made and there will be a guest speaker.

The banquet is open to the public and anyone wishing tickets should call Osborne at 773-5436.

The Morrisette team, which has won 22 Zone 6 championships, tied Wollaston for first place this season but lost a playoff game, giving Wollaston its first zone crown in more than 30 years.

Youth Soccer League Referees' Course Aug. 25

The Quincy Youth Soccer League, which is getting ready for its fall season, will sponsor a referees' training course Saturday, Aug. 25, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, corner of Harvard and W. Squantum Sts., Monclair.

The course is open to men, women, and teenage boys and girls. John Weil, a Mass. Youth Soccer Association official will conduct the $20 course.

Persons successfully completing the course will be eligible to officiate at Quincy Youth Soccer League games.

For more information call Rick Fennessy at 770-3326, Kevin Flynn at 471-8038 or Tom Hendsbee at 328-5649.

Buchanan New Haven Veteran

Mark Buchanan, a former Quincy High star, is among the returning lettermen on the University of New Haven football squad.

Buchanan, a 5-11, 190-pound senior linebacker, will be a key man this fall as the Chargers hope to rebound from a disappointing 2-8 record last fall.

Special Features Coming Up Sun Ch. 8 News Report Taking Week's Vacation

The Quincy Sun Ch. 8 News Report is taking a week's vacation.

The nightly 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. video News Reports are being suspended to allow necessary maintenance of camera equipment.

The News Report will resume Monday, Aug. 27 at 5:30 p.m.

During the week, however, special programs requested by viewers will be shown Monday through Friday at 5:30 p.m.

The schedule:

Monday, Aug. 20: "Sentimental Journey," an interview with former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin on his 82nd birthday, sponsored by Quincy Savings Bank.

Tuesday, Aug. 21: "It's A Grand Old Flag" -- "A Koch Club Salute On Flag Day," sponsored by the Granite Cooperative Bank.

Wednesday, Aug. 22: "Fenway Memories," featuring Ted Williams, Sam Mele and Jim Lonborg and action from this year's Red Sox Oldtimers game, sponsored by Colman's Sporting Goods.

Thursday, Aug. 23: "Miss Quincy Bay 1984," highlights of this year's beauty pageant, sponsored by the Quincy Cooperative Bank and Bernie's Modern Formals.

Friday, Aug. 24: The "Home Run" 10k road race, spotlighting the race itself and awarding of trophies, sponsored by the Wollaston Credit Union.

'Home Run' Road Race On Sun Ch. 8 Friday Night

The "Home Run" 10k road race will be shown as a special feature on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 Friday, Aug. 17 at 6 p.m. immediately following the 5:30 p.m. News Report.

The half-hour special spotlights the race itself and the awarding of trophies.

The program is sponsored by the Wollaston Credit Union which also sponsored the race.

The special will be repeated on Sun Ch. 8 Friday, Aug. 24 at 5:30 p.m.

The "Home Run" road race was the fifth annual event. It was formerly known as the "Dry Run" road race.

Community TV Closes Aug. 20-26

Quincy Community Television will close for inventory Monday, Aug. 20 through Sunday, Aug. 26. Quincy Community Television will reopen and community programming will resume Monday, Aug. 27.

Gloria Stevens Hosts Dance For Heart Aug. 18

Gloria Stevens of Quincy, 173 Parkway, Quincy, will host a Dance for Heart program in its salon Saturday, Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The event will include

"Acrobatic Week," a week-long program devoted to the acrobatic dance and exercise at the Quincy salon.

The Dance for Heart program is a nationwide event of the American Heart Association and intended to encourage people to investigate acrobatic dance exercises as a lifetime activity and to include it in their cardiovascular fitness routine. The monies raised will help fund the research, education and community service programming of the Heart Association, while strengthening the hearts of millions across the country.

Anyone who would like to participate, sponsor a dancer or just be a part of the event should contact Debbie Parsons of Quincy Gloria Stevens at 472-8925.

Anna Mae Hawco Opens HN Dance School

Anna Mae Hawco announces that she will open a dance school for youngsters Monday, Sept. 17, at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

There will be classes for pre-school youngsters through teenagers.

Mrs. Hawco, who has taught dance in Quincy for 34 years, recently held a recital in East Junior High School in Weymouth.

For additional information, call 337-7865.

Lynda Rice In Hatch Shell Performances

The 1984 Summer Boston Ballet Ensemble will begin free performances in Boston tonight (Thursday) and a Quincy resident is among 18 chosen to perform.

Lynda Lee Rice, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rice of Germantown will be among those participating in performances Aug. 16 to 25.

The performances begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Hatch Shell on the Esplanade. There will be no performance Monday, Aug. 20.

Among the ballets Miss Rice will perform in are "Big Top," Aug. 16 to 19, and 25th; "Caesura," Aug. 16 to 19, 24 and 25; "Sans Souci," Aug. 21 and 22; and in two Chinese character dances Aug. 16 to 25.

A senior at Quincy High School, she is entering her 11th year with the Boston School of Ballet and has performed in the annual production of "The Cable Rhyme Airs 700th Broadcast

"Rhymes of the Times," the award winning program on Quincy Cable systems starring John M. Lyons, recently aired its 700th broadcast, the longest running program on Ch. 3.

The program won a first place award of excellence in the 1983 National Federation of Local Cable Programmers Video Contest, the Emmy awards of the local cable industry.

The show is viewed at the beginning of each daily Ch. 3 broadcast, usually at 7:28 p.m.

Lyons, for many years director of the Quincy Conservatory of Music and a vocal instructor in Weymouth schools, takes headlines from newspapers and turns them into rhyme in a whimsical or satirical vein.

The subjects of Lyons' short poems range from local and national politics to odd happenings around the country. Pictures are used to add punch and humor to the program.

WEEK OF: AUGUST 16

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
A week in which guests arrive early, friends cancel plans and you're reorganizing your life by the minute. Interesting moneymaking opportunity presents itself by Monday-Tuesday.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
A good week for organizing your priorities over the next month or so. Partner is in the limelight during much of this period. Profit-making idea benefits from refinement.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Quick decisions are not your style this week; your plans benefit from careful deliberations. If decorating, a softer mood is worth considering. Romancewise it's a carefree time.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
An adventurous week and one in which relationships improve, thanks to your willingness to forgive and forget. House-cleaning can lead to interesting discoveries in unlikely places.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Partner responds to your logical approach and work benefits from a new and improved sense of organization. Relatives argue over what's best for you—try to keep out of the fray.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
More time than expected is spent with bureaucrats and other officials. In matters of love and friendship, spontaneity and a sense of perspective are all-important.

LEO July 23-August 22
Learning to discipline yourself is a key task this week—leading to improved career or academic status. Solution to domestic problem may be closer to home than you think.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Influences favor creative expansion. Week sees the resolution of a romantic misunderstanding. Be ready to revise weekend plans at a moment's notice. Confirm facts before making announcement.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Do-it-yourself tasks provide learning experiences through the weekend. Accounting chores dominate much of the week. A modest windfall may arrive by Tuesday or Wednesday.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Week offers a lively mix of recreation, business and travel, with reunions highlighted on the weekend. Partner is surprisingly frank. Romancewise, avoid taking risks until Wednesday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Obligations surround you; the trick is to make the most of free moments. Willpower is strong and you meet with good results if launching a sensible health, diet or fitness program.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Keyword is trust, especially where the actions of older relatives are concerned. Time is right for considering financial future. Wardrobe ideas may be too exotic during this period.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Idealistic, strong-willed, and determined—but sometimes your focus can be a little narrow. Artistic abilities are noteworthy, and creativity is a major theme over the next half-year. Chance to enter politics may come your way in spring of '85.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 16th, actor Robert Culp; 17th, actress Maureen O'Hara; 18th, actress Shelley Winters; 19th, actress Jill St. John; 20th, actor Van Johnson; 21st, jazzman Buddy Coolidge; 22nd, actress Valerie Harper.

FINANCING "HANDYMAN" SPECIAL

QUESTION: I have a chance to buy a "Handyman Special". It is worth $48,000 but I can get it for $40,000 because it needs repairs. I can arrange for the $40,000 financing, but will need another $8,000 for repairs. Any suggestion?

ANSWER: Your answer may be a construction commitment loan based on the future value of your home — after improvements. If the bank agrees to a 75% loan, they will give you $30,000 (75% of the $40,000 sale price) for payment to the seller. It will release the remaining $6,000 (75% of $8,000 improvements) for payment when the work is completed. Be sure you have reliable estimates. Construction costs have a way of escalating.

YOU CAN FINANCE your "Handyman Special" based on the future value — after improvements.

McCauley Names Fantucchio Assessor

 at Quincy High School, became a clerk-accounting machine operator in June 1973.

She was promoted to senior clerk in July 1978 and to principal clerk in April 1983.

She and her husband, Thomas A. Fox, have two children, Kristen and Teresa.

McCauley said he received only two inquiries about the assessor's job, which was left vacant when Ceriani died July 30 after a seven month illness.

One of those who inquired failed to send in a resume, said the mayor, and the other inquired too late after Fantucchio had been chosen. Fantucchio did not apply for the job, he said.

Public Schools To Open Sept. 5

 Lunches will be served.

All teachers are scheduled to be in their buildings for a full day of preparation Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Regular school hours are 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the high schools, 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the middle schools, 8:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. at early elementary schools, and 8:45 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. at late elementary schools.

Students who are new to the Quincy Public Schools should register at their buildings during the week of

Aug. 27-31.

All transportation to and from middle schools and high schools for regular day programs is either arranged privately by students and their families or via MBTA. MBTA student badges may be obtained by students at their schools.

Elementary school transportation is by Quincy Public School buses and schedules are distributed by individual principals in their buildings. Call the local school for transportation schedule and designated pick-up spots.

Walk Saturday On Salt Marsh Trail

Clara Yeomans, former secretary for the Quincy Conservation Commission, will lead a walk Saturday on the Quincy Salt Marsh Trail, Fenno St., Wollaston. The walk, which begins at 10 a.m., is the summer walk in the series of seasonal walks led by Mrs. Yeomans. Participants will meet at the Grossman Memorial at the corner of Fenno St. and Quincy Shore Drive.

Purpose of the walks is to familiarize people with the seasonal changes in marsh and meadow, and to point out opportunities for exercise and enjoyment close to home, according to Mrs. Yeomans.

Garage Break

Assorted items were reported stolen Monday from a garage at the home of Robert Brennan, Cheriton Rd., Wollaston.

Taken were a moped, two bicycles, a snow blower, bug lights and a weed whacker.

Liquor Raid

Thieves broke into the California Restaurant, 79 Parkway, Monday and smashed a hole in the sheet rock wall to get into the liquor store room.

It was not determined immediately what was taken.

Wire Stolen

A quantity of baling wire valued at more than $100 was reported stolen from Sugarman's on Centre St., South Quincy, Saturday.

Drive To Continue

Delinquent Tax Crackdown Yields $4 M

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that his crackdown on real estate and property tax delinquents, begun when he took office in January, 1982, has yielded more than $4 million in back taxes and interest.

The precise figure is $4,070,587 collected between Jan. 4, 1982, and Aug. 10, 1984.

"This figure represents an increase of $2,803,000 or 221 per cent over a comparable 32-month period preceding the start of the crackdown," said McCauley.

The mayor said the city was owed close to $7 million in back taxes when he took office. The first move was to select the top dozen and move their property into tax title.

"The top 12 are pretty well cleaned up now," said McCauley. "Most of the big ones have paid up."

The drive on delinquents is still proceeding under

Treasurer-Collector Franklin Jay.

"Delinquent taxpayers who do not heed the request for payment face foreclosure on their property," said McCauley.

The mayor noted that the crackdown has had an unexpected beneficial side effect.

"Some of the delinquent taxpayers had to sell their property," he said. "Now we are getting the property developed which will mean more taxes for the city."

Opposes Tenure

Mayor Wants School Supt. Under Contract

The School Committee was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) to take the initial steps toward choosing a new school superintendent.

"The first decision we will have to make is whether we are going to look inward to the system or continue with an acting superintendent while we open up a nationwide search," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

John Osterman has been acting superintendent since the retirement of Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, who faced a committee investigation of charges of sexual misconduct with female students.

McCauley said he would like to see the new superintendent placed under contract for a term of three years rather than enjoy life tenure like Dr. Creedon.

"The sense that I get is that we would not want to see a tenured superintendent again," he said. "State law allows a contract up to six years. I would favor something in the vicinity of three years."

Two school committee members contacted by The Quincy Sun were divided on tenure.

"I don't want a tenured superintendent," said Vice Chairman Joan Picard. "Never again."

"There are a lot of pros and cons to tenure," said Christopher Kennedy. "I'm not totally sold on tenure for a top job like superintendent but I would like to look into the matter more."

McCauley declined to disclose his feelings on whether or not the committee should promote from within or stage a nationwide search for the best candidate.

Picard said she is in favor of promoting from within.

"We have enough excellent people in our own system," she said. "And anyone who has worked in the system knows the system. It would take an outsider a while to learn the job."

Kennedy, who deals with school personnel in his regular job at Northeastern University, said he has a rule of thumb he uses to guide such selections.

"I have always felt that if you go outside you had better be certain that the person is much better than those available inside," he said. "It is a needless expense to go outside if you have a capable person inside."

Some of those inside the Quincy school system who have been mentioned as possibilities for the superintendent's post are:

Asst. Supts. John Osterman and Richard Chrystal; Carl Deyoso of Quincy Junior College; Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, director of pupil personnel; Arthur Woodward, director of secondary education; and Wilfred Nolan, coordinator of elementary education.

McCauley said it was possible, but highly unlikely, that the School Committee could choose a new superintendent last night but only if an in-house promotion were made.

"I would have no problem postponing the selection,"

Mails Letter, Loses Car

Mrs. Margaret Wiot of 314 Highland Ave., Wollaston, stopped at the Quincy Post Office on Washington St., Saturday night to mail a letter. She left the engine running in her car.

She told police that a man who was hitchhiking nearby jumped into the car and drove off. The automobile was recovered early Monday morning by State Police in Concord.

he said. "I have no problem with the situation now. Osterman is extremely well qualified."

The mayor said the salary

Wollaston CARD Hearing Aug. 27

The Planning Department will hold a public hearing Monday, Aug. 27, of the new superintendent will be negotiable but it is likely to be somewhere around the $55,025 that was paid to Creedon.

(CARD).

Planning Director James E. Lydon said the expansion includes two properties southerly on Hancock St. to bring the CARD in conformity with the area's Business B. zoning.

Bids To Be Opened Sept. 5 On Quincy Point Road Jobs

Bids will be opened Wednesday, Sept. 5, for a two-phase state road project on Route 53 (Quincy Ave.) and Route 3A (Washington St.) Quincy Point.

The announcement was made by Sen. Paul D. Harold and City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro.

DeCristofaro said the work will include resurfacing Route 53 from the General Dynamics Shipyard to Shaw's Market, starting about Oct. 1.

When that phase is completed, Harold said, work will begin to install sidewalks on Route 3A from Chubbuck St. to the Fore River traffic rotary.

Target date for completion will not be available until the contract is awarded.

Harold said the resurfacing contract will limit the hours of work from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. to eliminate commuter delays.

The state generally does not install sidewalks, said Harold, but it agreed to do the work if the city is responsible for upkeep after completion.

'No Necessity'

McCauley Wants Minority Escort Plan Dropped

Mayor Francis McCauley feels there is no necessity for an escort service for minorities seeking housing in Quincy, and has asked the state to drop the plan.

The escort service is part of the city's affirmative action agreement with the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, and McCauley says he has received adverse reaction to it.

"There has been negative reaction to the escort plan," said McCauley. "and rightfully so."

"We're not a hostile city, there is no big problem, that type of thing is not necessary.

"It's sort of an affront to the citizens of Quincy."

McCauley said he talked Monday with Donald Hansen, City Personnel Director and leader of Quincy's affirmative action effort, about having the escort service removed from the plan.

Hansen contacted the MCAD, according to McCauley, but no decision had been handed back by press time Tuesday.

"I really don't feel it's a major portion of the plan," said McCauley.

"People can come to Quincy and shop and work, and they shouldn't really need an escort.

"Our citizens have a good record in that area."

"Outside of a couple of isolated incidents, there have been no problems with minorities coming to Quincy."

"There doesn't appear to be any major problem which would require an escort service chaperoning visitors."

The plan, signed by the city with the MCAD in June to prevent the loss of federal and state funds, would have Quincy hire college students this fall to accompany blacks and other minorities searching for a house or apartment in the city.

New City Contracts Await State Aid

Negotiations for new contracts for city employees, including school teachers, are marking time until Mayor Francis V. McCauley hears precisely how much additional state aid is coming to the city.

"We haven't made a money offer yet," said McCauley, "but we are still negotiating."

Contracts with unions representing most city employees expired June 30 and the old agreement with the teachers' union is up Aug. 31.

Louis R. DePaolo, vice president of the Quincy Education Association, said last week that it appears the teachers will start the school year in two weeks without a contract.

"We have been told that there will be additional money from the state," said McCauley. "But we don't know how much and we certainly aren't going to spend it until we get it."

McCauley said the most likely figures that he has heard is a little over $900,000, about a half million in reduced expenses and $400,000 in increased revenue.

The mayor said he asked City Auditor Robert F. Foy III and Stephen Moynihan, the school system's business manager, to calculate the cost of a 1 per cent pay raise for city employees for one year.

"The cost came to $435,000," said the mayor. "A 5 per cent raise would come to $2.2 million."

CONSTRUCTION work at the corner of Quincy Ave. and Water St. to make the intersection safer from pedestrians and vehicles is viewed by City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro.

Quincy Ave. Intersection Work Nears Completion

Construction work to enable the intersection of Quincy Ave. and Water St. to accommodate the heavy flow of traffic is nearing completion.

The primary objective of the improvements, which are financed through the Community Development Block Grant program, is to define and channel the traffic flow, said Planning director James F. Lydon.

The improvements consist of street reconstruction, a traffic channelization island, pavement markings, new and reset granite curbing and traffic signs.

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro said that, with the redesign of the intersection, pedestrians and vehicular traffic will find a safer and more orderly flow at the intersection.

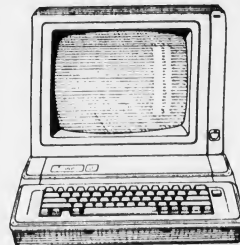

More Than Car Theft

The thief who stole Bessy Kenis' car from the North Quincy MBTA parking lot

Monday got more than just a 1977 Olds Cutlass. Kenis, who lives in Dorchester, told police that an overnight bag in the back seat contained jewelry valued at $5,000 to $8,000.

Harold, Golden Agree To Sept. 10 Senate Debate

Sen. Paul D. Harold and his challenger in the September primary, Richard Golden, have agreed to debate Monday, Sept. 10, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. under the auspices of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Robert Flavell, representing Harold, and Brian Van Riper, representing Golden, said the two sides have reached agreement on everything except the location of the debate.

Van Riper said he proposed the North Quincy High School auditorium and Flavell said that location might be inconvenient for residents of the district who live in Braintree or Holbrook.

Flavell said he proposed Braintree High School as geographically in the middle of the district.

The format agreed upon includes:

- Each candidate will have a three-minute opening.

- Written questions will be submitted by the audience. If the question is posed to both candidates, each will have two minutes to respond with no rebuttal. If the question is directed to a particular candidate, he will have two minutes to respond, his opponent will have two minutes rebuttal and the first candidate will then have a minute rebuttal.

- Each candidate will have a five-minute closing.

Moderator of the debate will be chosen by the two candidates in consultation with the Chamber of Commerce.

Harold and Golden will face each other on the ballot in the Sept. 18, Democratic primary.

New Law Aids Disabled People

The law for the continuity of services for the developmentally disabled persons has been expanded, Sen. Paul Harold announces.

Under new legislation now in effect, a transitional advisory committee, established within the Executive Office of Human Services, has been created.

The purpose of this committee is to assist those disabled persons whose special education programs have terminated or will terminate within two years, and are in a transitional phase.

Harold said the members of this committee will represent various human service agencies and will not be compensated for their services.

Harold noted that this amends and existing law which did not stipulate the establishment of a transitional advisory committee.

Gillis Warming Up?

City Clerk John Gillis is still flirting with the idea of making a run for mayor.

He is far from reaching a final decision or making a firm commitment. He is thinking about it, however, though reluctant to talk about it.

Reportedly a poll was taken recently that was far from discouraging. Nobody is detailing the results but according to one source, it showed that

GILLIS

McCAULEY

In a Democratic stronghold like Quincy, a popular Democrat like Gillis would be a serious challenger to a Republican mayor.

Even though Quincy's municipal elections are non-partisan, party philosophies are still there.

The fact of the matter is that McCauley thinks and acts like a Republican and Gillis thinks and acts like a Democrat. And, the town is pretty full of Democrats.

As previously noted here, Quincy's voter registration as of last July 1 was 45,136. There are 30,438 Democrats to 6,034 Republicans and 8,664 Independents.

Democrats far outnumber Republicans and Independents combined.

A popular political figure like Gillis must think about those numerical figures and find them pretty tempting. He is a long way from deciding. But he has something to think about.

The mere fact that Quincy is in the Democratic ranks is certainly no guarantee for a Democrat running for

Joseph Flynn Receives Ecumenical Award

Joseph F. Flynn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Flynn Sr. of 36 Warren Ave., Wollaston, has been named the 1984 recipient of the Ted Dunn Christian Service Award, the highest honor conferred by the Newman Community at Springfield College.

Flynn was selected by the ecumenical group because of "his leadership in the area of social justice; his volunteering as a tutor at the Hampden County Jail; and his daily example of Christian service to his fellow students at Springfield College."

The award was presented during ceremonies presided over by the Most Rev. Leo O'Neil, Auxiliary Bishop of Springfield Diocese.

Flynn, a 1980 graduate of North Quincy High School, is a senior English major with a concentration in communications and Sports Journalism at Springfield.

Flynn has been especially active in community service. He helped organize and now directs a creative writing class for inmates at the county jail. Captain of the college's varsity soccer team, he also volunteers as a member of the Public Information Committee of the American Cancer Society. He is now organizing an NCAA-sponsored program, known as Volunteers for Youth, in which college students help troubled teenagers.

A Minister of the Eucharist, who assists at campus Masses, Flynn is

When A 'Personals' Column Uncovered A Murder

By ED SPARGO

Why in tarnation can't crack reporter Tom Henshaw of The Sun let old, out-to-pasture newspaper relics lie?

For there I was luxuriating in my annual Summer somnambulism when he ups and resurrects the saga of the late and sometimes lamented Quincy Evening News where I served time from Day One until its demise nine years later.

But Tom's forgiven, for he had a praiseworthy reason for so doing, since his intent was to pay a well-merited tribute to his (and my) newspaper buddy of the long ago - Jack Devlin who passed away on July 25th after retiring from a quarter century career with the New York Times. (And, parenthetically, if I may, I have an especially soft spot in my heart for Jack since it was on our double date at the Neighborhood Club in 1931 that I had my first date with the gal I've called my "bride" for 49 years. Though it only seems like 48.)

Handsome Jack and his equally-dapper brother, Jim, got their start in newspaper work at the News, and, when that folded in May of 1937, hooked on with the Quincy Patriot Ledger. And a most propitious time it was to land a job, even in the midst of the Deep Depression, for the paper was planning a voluminous issue in celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Patriot, launched as a weekly in 1837.

The Devlins were born in New Jersey but grew up in Quincy, whence their father had accepted a job as draftsman at Fore River Shipyard. After the war the Devlin duo made their mark in New York. Jim in the New York bureau of the Associated Press and Jack enjoying a most-rewarding journalistic career with the prestigious Times. Not bad for two Quincy High grads who started on a struggling paper that played second fiddle to the firmly-entrenched Quincy Patriot Ledger - at a time when money was in short supply.

I should know a wee bit about the Quincy News, founded by ex-mayor Percy Barbour in 1928 when he became disenchanted with the Ledger's political policies. For I was there when the sheet was "born" and still hanging on when it expired in May of 1937, some three years after Mr. Barbour gave up the chase and sold out to a couple of non-Quincyite "Dons" - Reynolds and Evans.

Tom Henshaw brought back cherished memories when listing the names of several News scribes who went on to successful careers: Percy Lane, Lin Raymond, the Devlin boys, and Homer Jenks who had a meteoric rise in his chosen field. Regrettably, gentlemanly Homer is the only one of that quartet still with us and he now makes his home in Milton. Just for auld lang syne may I embellish that roster to include several who were darn good reporters on the old News? Such as energetic Ann Gaffey; Sports editor Izzy Zack and conferees Art Ballou, John MacGibbon and Dave Lubarsky; Gil Brett, brother of former politician and now an elder statesman, Joe Brett; plus three members of the well-known McGonnigal clan hailing from Weymouth - Billy, Karl and Jimmy, the latter known as a defensive boxing genius who made an excellent showing in a bout with ex-middleweight champ Jack Britton.

Also Angus MacDonnell, well-known Navy inspector at the shipyard who churned out reams of copy for the News (and later the Ledger) for an eternity as he and his lovely wife toiled to raise a family of 11 offspring. For Braintree correspondents the News had Mrs. Alice Kirby, popular Francis (Mickey) Maguire, for years a member of "Braintree's Finest" until his untimely death and Marion Gillette, a wonderful gentleman with a normally-feminine name. I'll never forget extracting a graph from his "Heard Around Town" column one fine day, and the sensational murder case that ensued after I front-paged the item.

It was a routine squib about "Braintree neighbors offering sympathy to (name deleted) on the death of his wife in an auto accident while they were touring the Maritime Provinces." When we couldn't dig up more details, I ran the brief item on Page One. All hell broke loose when Captain Edward Cahill of the Braintree Police rushed into the news department asking where in blazes we got the information.

The subsequent investigation revealed that the philandering husband had murdered his wife and buried her under a cement floor in their summer cottage at Plymouth. So much for a day at the office - in the Dimmock building now being skillfully renovated by Frank Evans.

Here I've gone far afield and will get back on track to include names of other key members of the News reportorial staff. For how could I forget Frank Keeffe who started out with my dad's Quincy Telegram as City Hall reporter until father's sudden death in 1925? Later Frank filled the exact same role for the Ledger. Another whose expertise was the political realm was the legendary Jimmy Burke who treasured a hole-in-one in a News versus Ledger newspapermen's tournament at the old Stoney Brae (now Furnace Brook) golf club more than any "scoop" he ever engineered for the papers.

Ere I close I should like to mention the distinguished and kindly gentleman whom Percy Barbour induced to leave a lucrative job as general manager of the respected Brockton Enterprise to help launch the News. And when someone warned William DeSoto Shields he might "lose his shirt" on the new venture, his quiet retort was: "I'll have you know I have quite an extensive wardrobe."

The time-worn adage: "We don't make much money but we sure have a lot of fun" certainly held true for those of us toiling at the News for I distinctly remember hiring an honor grad from Harvard for the "munificent" sum of $20, a week, circa 1932, and he was exultant over finally landing a job - after weeks of pounding the pavement.

Recalling those days of dire poverty when you couldn't "buy" a job, let's hope the young folks making megabucks salaries these days are counting their blessings.

Navy Orders 4 New Cruisers Scrapped At FR

Capt. Henry F.D. Davis, supervisor of shipbuilding for the First Naval District, announced that orders had been given to scrap four cruisers on which the Navy had halted construction at the Fore River shipyard shortly after V-J Day.

They were the Northampton, which was to have been launched in a few weeks, the Cambridge, the Kansas City and the Bridgeport. Work on the Cambridge was 30 per cent completed and the Kansas City and the Bridgeport were 20 per cent done.

Meanwhile, the 13,000-ton heavy cruiser Rochester was launched at the Bethlehem Steel Co. yard, the first warship to be sent down the ways there since the end of hostilities.

MEDAL OF HONOR

Army Sgt. Charles A. MacGillivray of 169 Pine St., Wollaston, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor by President Harry S. Truman for his action in wiping out 79 German SS troops in fighting Jan. 1, 1945, near Woelfling, France.

He was the second Quincy man to win the Medal of Honor in World War II, following Marine Maj. Everett P. Pope of North Quincy, who was honored for his heroism at the Battle of Peleliu in the Southwest Pacific.

RAPID TRANSIT WARNING

Mayor Charles A. Ross warned a meeting of South Shore mayors and selectmen that extension of rapid transit to the South Shore would mean assuming part of the Metropolitan Boston debt.

"I feel sorry for the beautiful towns that are to the south and southeast of Quincy," he said jokingly. "I thought we might annex them to Quincy. But with the transportation difficulties they are offering, I am inclined to say no."

HONOR GUARD

Pfc John J. Connell of Randolph, former Quincy High School football star and son of a retired Quincy firefighter, was chosen to be a member of the guard of honor to accompany Gen. Douglas MacArthur when he steps ashore in Japan.

QUINCY-ISMS

Police Chief John J. Avery declared that Quincy police officers who were wounded or injured in the armed services would be returned to jobs they could physically perform. . . . School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard predicted a marked increase in enrollment in Quincy schools, due mostly to the return of many students who had left to work in defense plants. . . . Chicken and chips were 60 cents at Topsy's Chicken Coop, 1143 Hancock St. . . . Maj. Charles W. Hedges, former state representative and city councillor, received an honorable discharge from the Air Force after 39 months service, 33 of them overseas. . . . Rita Lauwers of Squantum, past chairman of the Women Flyers of America, scored the newly relaxed flying rules for pilots as "the most backward step taken since aviation was developed" . . . Maj. Gen. Albert M. Jones of 33 Waterston Ave., Wollaston, commander of American forces in southern Luzon at the start of the war, was liberated from a Japanese prison camp after more than three years captivity. . . . Baloney was 29 cents a pound and three red points at the Quincy Market, 18 Chestnut St. . . . Word was received that Army Lt. Don T. Whitehurst of 25 Appleton St., North Quincy, was killed in an airplane crash July 16 near Windsheim, Germany. . . . Richard Anslow served as auctioneer at the penny sale of the Upper Deck at Wollaston Yacht Club. . . . "Nob Hill," starring George Raft, Joan Bennett, Vivian Blaine and Peggy Ann Garner, was playing at the Art Theater. . . . Mayor Ross proposed a new $85,000 fire station for Houghs Neck to replace the oldest station in the city. . . . Fred J. Doran, recently discharged from the Sea Bees, was named to chair the Veterans Committee of the John Adams Eagles Aerie. . . . Eddie Delaney's orchestra was playing for dancing Friday and Saturday nights in the Australian Room at the Ringside Cafe, 41 Water St., South Quincy. . . . Tech Sgt. Guy Perciballi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Perciballi of 36 Edison Park, Quincy Point, arrived at Langley Field, Va., after 19 months in Europe, ready for discharge with 237 service points. . . . The Quincy Chamber of Commerce was studying sites for a new City Hall, possibly at the Coddington School, soon to be abandoned by the School Department.

5 Residents Receive Appointments At Mass. Maritime

Five Quincy residents have received new appointments within the Regiment of Cadets at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, Buzzards Bay.

They are: Russell Ross, Squad Leader; Thomas Shea, Platoon Leader; Christopher Loeb, Squad Leader; Jean Pillard, Squad Leader; and Robert Pimental, 5th Company Extra Duty Officer.

The appointments were based upon the recommendations of the Commandant's Staff, the Faculty and Professional Staff and incumbent Cadet Officers. During the selection process, consideration was given to the Cadet's overall performance, motivation, conduct, academic achievement, extracurricular activities and contribution to the Academy.

James Provenzano In West Germany

Army Pvt. James P. Provenzano, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Provenzano of 150 Spring St., Houghs Neck, recently arrived for duty in Schweinfurt, West

How much are your possessions worth... at today's prices?

In the event of a loss, would your insurance cover the cost of replacing your furnishings at today's inflated prices?

Perhaps not, because many policies provide protection for your property based on depreciation, according to its age and condition. You could end up disastrously underinsured.

Today's Replacement Cost coverage pays what it costs to replace your home's contents at the current value of the items without depreciation. Let us review your policy today.

'Feminine Mistake' Program At Hospital

The Health Promotion Department at Quincy City Hospital invites the public to attend a Luncheon Wellness Program entitled "The Feminine Mistake" to be held in the Hospital, Board Tuesday, Aug. 28 at 12 noon.

Participants may bring their own lunch or purchase one at the hospital. Complimentary beverages will be provided.

"The Feminine Mistake" is a film that helps motivate smokers to quit the smoking habit. Produced by the American Cancer Society, the film is used in the ACS "I Quit" program. This program will be conducted at Quincy City Hospital in September and participants may register for it at the hospital.

A handout entitled "Quitter's Guide," a seven-day plan to help people stop smoking cigarettes will be discussed and available to participants.

For more information on this free program, contact Jane Mudge, R.N. in the Health Promotion Department at Quincy City Hospital at 773-6100 ext. 344.

Rotary Club Donates $1,000 For CP Building Campaign

The Quincy Rotary Club recently presented a check for $1,000 to Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Area, Inc., for its campaign to raise funds to expand its facilities.

Joseph A. Donahue, Rotary vice president, presented the check to Arthur Ciampa, CP executive director at the organization's center, 105 Adams St.

Volunteers from the center are contacting individuals and members of the business community in Quincy to enlist their support of the project.

Expanded facilities are needed so that developmentally disabled children such as Chrystal Miller and Frank Kelley can receive the proper treatment.

Without an intensive rehabilitation program of physical, speech and occupational therapy, children such as Chrystal and Frank will fall far short of reaching their maximum potential as contributing members of our community, according to the organization.

Anyone interested in making a donation to the building campaign can send a tax deductible donation to Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Building Campaign, 105 Adams St., Quincy, Mass. 02169 or call 479-7980 for more information.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The word "crisis" comes from the Greek word "Krisis." It means "decision," or "to decide," and later, "a turning point." Interestingly, the Chinese translate the word "crisis" by two characters meaning "danger" and "opportunity." So, a crisis presents a great danger, but also an opportunity to act.

We all have many crises in our lifetime. Many people seem to have more in their lives than others. Is it not true that so many times crises seem to bunch together and hit us all at once? To endure these takes integrity, courage, and above all faith in God.

Some do not survive the crises of life and go down in defeat. Those that do are able to do so because of something they have within themselves. They show courage. They show ingenuity. They show self-confidence. They show generosity in dealing with others. They show self-confidence. (Can't it be said that if we do not have confidence in ourselves we cannot have confidence in others?)

Should not our great confidence be in that One who made the world and sustains it? He is more aware of what we are going through than we can ever be. He knows the cause... and best of all he knows the cure...

Developer, MDC Compete For Goldie's Yard In WQ

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a hearing Tuesday, Aug. 28, at 7:45 p.m. in the City Council chamber on a variance that would permit construction of a five-story office building at 821-865 Willard St.

Meanwhile, MDC Commissioner William Geary said the MDC, at the behest of Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, is taking a serious look at buying the land and adding it to the Blue Hill Reservation.

The land in question is the old Goldie's junk yard. Adams Realty Trust plans to build two five-story office buildings on the site which is 65 per cent in Quincy and 35 per cent in Braintree.

The area on the Quincy side of the line is zoned Residence A and requires a variance to build an office building. The land on the Braintree side is industrially zoned.

Morrissey said residents of the area are not opposed to the twin office buildings as much as they are opposed to the total development planned for the land on both sides of Willard St.

A Chinese restaurant is proposed across Willard St. and an apartment house is planned on the hill between the state lottery headquarters in Braintree and the St. Moritz apartments.

"Residents are concerned about traffic and sewer problems from so much development," said Morrissey.

Morrissey said that, as a result of the Prowse Farm controversy in Canton, the MDC has a fund of $13 million with which to purchase land to add to the reservation.

Morrissey said it would cost the MDC between $2 and $3 million to buy Goldie's land.

"Geary said he is taking a serious look at it and make a decision within a week," said Morrissey.

Donald Perdios ROTC Second Lieutenant

Donald S. Perdios of Arnold St., Quincy, recently was commissioned an Army second lieutenant in UMass Boston's Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) program.

The ceremony, was held at the State House.

Perdios, 23, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Perdios.

He entered ROTC in the Fall of 1982 after attending Basic Training with the Army National Guard where he serves in A Battery, 1st Battalion, 101st Field Artillery in Brockton.

He will attend Officer's Basic Courses at Fort Sill,

Oklahoma this summer.

He was graduated from UMass/Boston with a BS degree in Sociology.

Mark DiNardo, A.F. Course Graduate

Airman Mark A. DiNardo, son of Virginia M. DiNardo of 100 Pleasant St., Cohasset, and Donald F. DiNardo of 23 Cranch St., Quincy, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force vehicle mechanic course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

DiNardo is scheduled to serve with the 3461st Transportation Squadron at RAF Alconbury, England.

His wife, Maria, is the daughter of Mary C. Wigmore of 32 Ash St., Cohasset.

He is a 1983 graduate of Cohasset High School.

Bill Ryder Recognized At Scout Breakfast

Bill Ryder was recognized for his service in scouting and the Quincy community at the Mayor's second annual Breakfast for Scouting held to raise money to support the Boy Scouting movement in Quincy.

Ryder has served Quincy scouting for the past 35 years. At the age of 88, he is a member of the Scout Advancement Committee.

As a memento of his service, he was presented with a plaque of merit badges and leadership patches. Each merit badge and patch represents something that Ryder has achieved: The Scouting Coordinator Patch, for his service to Troop 3 as Scouting Coordinator; The District Committee Patch, for his work on the Advancement Committee; The Law Merit Badge, to represent the up holding of the Scout Law and serving on the Eagle Boards of Review; The Citizenship in the Community Merit Badge, for his work with the Meals on Wheels Program in Quincy.

Boy Scouts from Troop 32 St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, provided the opening ceremony with the Pledge of Allegiance and recited the Scout Oath and the Scout Law.

Sen. Paul Harold was master of ceremonies for the breakfast and was presented with the Scout Field Book for his service as vice chairman of the Quincy Scouting District.

Representing Mayor Francis X. McCauley at the breakfast was his wife, Mrs. Sheila McCauley.

After today's news, here's a little something to brighten you up.

Herbert Speaks Out At Squantum Church On New Morality

Deacon Katherine Hansen led the congregation of the First Church of Squantum in their service of worship Sunday morning.

The scripture, taken from the Book of Psalms, was read by Deacon Stewart Scott.

Special music during the service was played by Cheryl Grono, flutist, and Mark Leighton, guitarist, who are members of the Beechwood Chamber players. For a prelude, they played "Alman," by Robert Johnson; their offertory selection was "Pavane," by Faure.

John Herbert, former editor of the Boston Herald-Traveler and the Patriot Ledger, was the speaker for the morning. In discussing the New Morality in America today, he cited four classes of American society affected by changes in moral standards: personal morality, political morality, big business morality and the morality of the mob.

Herbert cited the recent Miss America problem as typical of flaunting the norms of social behavior. He lamented the "spectacle of a vice-presidential candidate equivocating over a financial disclosure requirement." He spoke of the Valois case as "a pretty awful mess right here in Quincy." The battle for control of New England crime following the Patriarca death recently was described as an example of what is morally wrong with America today.

Telling his congregation that it can "do a lot" to help clean up the situation, Herbert urged people to "use your power in the voting places, your power to sway city councils, state legislatures and the Congress with our presence or your personal letters."

He noted that Archbishop

Bernard Law has announced he will "teach" on moral issues and Herbert hailed this as a step forward in the fight against general corruption in America.

"What you need," said Herbert, "is courage to do what has to be done and the confidence you can do it."

This week, there will be only one service at 9:30 a.m. The service will be led by young people in the church with Bonnie Adams, Susan Scott and David Williams preaching.

The schedule of two services will be resumed Sept. 2 at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The fall schedule of services will not begin until Sept. 9. On that day, there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single worship service at 10:30 a.m. On Sept. 16, the regular fall schedule of two services at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. will resume.

Abp. Williams Pledges Over $1,000 To Project Bread

Abp. Williams High School in Braintree recently pledged over $1,000 in support of Project Bread's "Greater Boston Walk For Hunger."

Eleven students and faculty gathered the pledges and made the 20 mile walk through Boston, Brookline, Newton and Cambridge.

A total of over $500,000 was pledged this year to help hunger-relief organizations in the Boston area.

Dean Coletti On Suffolk Dean's List

Dean Coletti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Coletti of 14 Alden St., Quincy, was recently named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at Suffolk University in Boston.

His name was inadvertently omitted from a list published recently in The Quincy Sun.

A marketing major, he will be entering his junior year.

'Faith To Move Mountains' Sermon At Bethany Church

During the summer at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, there is only one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon Sunday, August 26, entitled, "Faith To Move Mountains", based on the scripture text from the Gospel of Matthew 17: 14-20. Joan P. Arnold will be the lay scripture reader.

Ray H. Cahoon, a friend of the Arnolds, will be guest soloist for the morning's worship. Robert E. Brown will be guest organist again this week. Brown is choirmaster and organist at the First Baptist Church of Wollaston and is conductor of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

The Church School is not in session during the summer, but nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided.

The service will be broadcast by delayed tape at 11 a.m. over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to share in both the worship and fellowship.

For more information about Bethany's ministry and program, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

Bob Swain Scholarship Fund Established At Abp. Wms.

Students who would be financially unable to attend Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, now may get a chance to attend that school thanks to the recently established Bob Swain Scholarship Fund.

The fund is being established by the Bob Swain Scholarship Committee in memory of the Quincy Point resident who died May 22.

Mr. Swain was former plant manager at Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, a position he held for 29 years.

Over 250 people attended a "toast" for Mr. Swain in celebration of his 25th anniversary at the school in 1980.

"Throughout these years, many young men have gained, through contact with Bob, life values not found in books... not captured by words," stated the program.

After his death, Mary Mullen Burke, Abp. Williams counselor, wrote, "... Bob Swain's love for the Archbishop Williams community, its students, its teachers lay and religious, its staff, its alumni, its parents and the very building itself - has left its mark on the hearts of those who share that love.

"He fought the good fight and ran the good race, to paraphrase St. Paul."

Contributions, payable to the Bob Swain Scholarship Fund, may be sent to Paul F. Mollica, vice president, Bank of New England-Hancock, 1495 Hancock St., Quincy, Ma., 02169, or Ann McClain, controller, Archbishop Williams High School, 8 Independence Ave., Braintree, Ma., 02184.

Cadet Thomas Ceurvels Trains

Cadet Thomas D. Ceurvels of Beale St., Wollaston, recently underwent two weeks annual training at Camp Edwards, Falmouth.

A member of the Massachusetts Army National Guard's Military Academy, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant upon successful completion of training. Cadet Ceurvels, 21, is employed as a photo-tool technician with Computer-Vision in Bedford. He is a graduate of North Quincy High School.

'Thank You' Theme For DOVE Week

"Thank you" will be the theme of a week-long program of special events planned by DOVE, Inc., the South Shore's only shelter serving battered women and their children, for Monday, Sept. 10, to Thursday, Sept. 13th.

The program will be highlighted by a Gala at the Kennedy Library Wednesday evening, Sept. 12, with the Governor's wife, Kitty Dukakis, as featured guest.

"In the last five years, DOVE has grown from a small group of dedicated volunteers to a recognized, major provider of assistance to the victims of domestic violence," stated Joyce Baker, DOVE president.

"A shelter, hotline, support groups, court advocacy and a children's intervention program are now well established.

"This would not have been possible without the encouragement and support of all sectors of the community—city and county officials, volunteers, business and legal community, police department, and other agencies.

"We, therefore, think it is appropriate to celebrate our fifth anniversary with a number of free activities for the community."

The week, which has already been proclaimed DOVE week by Quincy, Hingham, Norwood and Braintree, and Westwood will begin with workshops, co-sponsored by DOVE's founding group, The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Planned for Monday, Sept. 10, from 7-9 p.m. at The Woodward School, the workshops will focus on Domestic Violence - its cause and effects.

On Tuesday, Sept. 11, Atty. Chester Paris, noted for his defense of the Carolyn Best case, will speak on the legal aspects of domestic violence at the Neighborhood Club from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Free of charge and open to the public, the gala will be held from 6-10 p.m., Sept. 12, at the Kennedy Library.

The week will conclude with an information booth at McIntyre Mall, Quincy Sq. and a panel discussion on the local cable show, The On-Line.

Panel guests will include Joan Quinlan, the Governor's Advisor on Women's Affairs.

For more information on events, call 471-5087.

Cerasoli Supports Elderly Tax Cut

Rep. Robert Cerasoli, who is seeking re-election to a sixth term from the Quincy-Weymouth district, has pledged to continue his fight for a state tax cut for senior citizens.

In a letter to constituents, Cerasoli promised to fight to override the governor's vote of legislation that would reduce taxes on unearned income for those over 65 years old.

"According to the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation," said Cerasoli, "the tax burden on Massachusetts seniors is among the highest in the nation.

"My belief is that this burden on our seniors is blatantly unfair. Therefore, I helped insure a successful fight on the House floor to provide a tax break for our senior citizens."

The tax cut supported by Cerasoli would make the first $2,000 of dividends, capital gains and certain interest tax free for single taxpayers over the age of 65, starting Jan. 1, 1985.

Taxpayers filing joint returns, where one or both are 65 or over, would not pay state income taxes on the first $2,200 of income in these categories.

These changes would save senior citizens up to $215 in state taxes.

Debbie Borromeo

Wins U-Mass Scholarship

Debbie Borromeo of Beach St., Wollaston has been selected on the basis of academic promise to receive one of three University Community Scholarships at the University of Massachusetts-Boston.

A native of the Philippines, she was graduated from North Quincy High School in the top 7 per cent of her class and was chosen to the National Honor Society. She speaks four languages.

Borromeo, who is also a volunteer aide at New England Hospital, will major in nursing.

The University Community Scholarships are supported by weekly donations from more than 200 members of the faculty and staff at U-Mass-Boston.

PENCIL CAN BE DANGEROUS

Pencil punctures frequently occur at schools. Recently, a Wisconsin boy lost the sight of an eye when he bent down to pick up a coin and his face struck a pencil sticking out of a companion's pocket.

Children who fall while they have a pencil in their mouth often require emergency treatment. Usually, these mouth punctures are not too serious. Far more serious, but fortunately rare, are oral injuries involving the soft palate in the region of the tonsils.

According to an AMA report of a study into 25 such cases, resulting in a blood clot in the major throat artery, 25 percent of the patients died and most of the others were left paralyzed on one side.

Parents, remind your children that pencils should not be carried in the mouth or protrude from pockets. When not in use, they should be capped with a plastic shield or carried in a box.

Rd., Quincy, has been recommended to receive honorary recognition and to have his biography published in Who's Who Among High School Students, 1983-84.

Recognition in Who's Who is a national honor for junior and senior class high school students who have demonstrated achievement in either academics, athletics, or extracurricular activities. Only 5 per cent of the junior and senior class students are included in Who's Who each year.

Registration Being Taken For 'Roles Of Women'

Quincy Junior College will offer a course on "Roles of Women in Society" through its Division of Continuing Education beginning Wednesday evening, Sept. 5.

In the course, participants will analyze how women learn to behave inside and outside the roles established for them by society.

Students will learn about the progress of women in political, economic, sexual and cultural areas, discuss the lives and writings of women who have brought about changes in women's lives, and consider social forces which encourage and impede change.

The course, which may be taken for three credits in sociology, will be led by Women's Center Director, Alicia Colletti.

Walk-in registration at Quincy Junior College will be held through Friday, August 31, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dean of Continuing Education, Richard Mula commented, "We are pleased to be able to offer the 'Roles of Women' course again this year because of the increasing number of returning women who are interested in the sociological impact of the many changes in women's lives in the last decade."

Coaching Changes

Quincy, North Open Practice Sessions Aug. 27

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy football squads officially open practice sessions Monday morning at 8:30 with coaching changes at both schools.

Ken McPhee returns for his third season as head coach at his alma mater, North Quincy, but Bill Mayer has resigned as head coach at his alma mater, Quincy, to take a position as physical education instructor and assistant football and baseball coach at Acton-Boxboro High School.

McPhee, who led the Raiders to a 5-4-1 record last year, will have Ted Sadowski, back for his 27th year as a North aide; Mark Mulvaney and Pete Zoia returning as assistants.

Assistant Jack Raymer applied for the Quincy head coaching job. He is a former Quincy player and helped out for several years as an assistant to then Quincy sophomore coach Dave Burke. If he didn't get the Quincy job (the school committee was due to name the new coach last night), his plans were not certain.

"I'm not sure what Jack will do if he doesn't get the Quincy job," McPhee said. "I hate to lose him, he was an outstanding defensive coach, but I'd be happy to see him get the Quincy job, as he deserves to be a head coach."

Kevin Cobban, another former North star (Mulvaney and Zoia are also former North players), has joined the staff as offensive backfield coach.

At Quincy Jeff and Mark Giordani are expected back as assistants, but assistant John Sullivan also applied for the head coaching job and his plans are uncertain if he didn't get the job.

McPhee will greet his squad at 8:30 at Cavanaugh Stadium Monday, will work out until 10:30 and, following lunch, a blackboard drill will be held and the squad will return to Cavanaugh for an afternoon session from 1 to 2:30. This schedule will be followed all week.

With Quincy's new coach unknown as this writing, the practice schedule is uncertain. But the Presidents will report Monday at 8:30 with double sessions at Faxon Field all week.

Mayer, who, like McPhee, lost his teaching job due to Prop. 2½, is happy at his new opportunity at Acton-Boxboro but is not entirely happy to leave Quincy.

"I was looking forward to coaching at Quincy this fall, as we have the nucleus of a fine team and I did all my playing and coaching (an all-scholastic end and an assistant for several years before being named head coach last year) at Quincy," he said. "But I wanted to get back into teaching and I have a fine opportunity at Acton-Boxboro. I've always wanted to coach baseball and I'll be getting my chance there in addition to coaching freshman football." Mayer's team had a 3-6-1 record, including a scoreless tie with North Quincy, last year in his head coaching debut.

This season the Suburban and Greater Boston Leagues have reached an agreement whereby the schools in each league (football only) will pick up three or four games with teams in the other league to fill out their schedule.

This will prevent the schools from having to go far and wide for outside games to fill out their schedules.

This fall Quincy will play only nine games (Weymouth North will fill the open date next season) and will play Malden (a night game Oct. 5), Everett and Revere from the GBI.

North, with will continue its rivalry this fall with Milton and Weymouth North (the games had already been scheduled before the agreement with the GBI.), will face Medford and Somerville of the GBI.

Incidentally, North's home game with Newton North will be played on Columbus Day, Monday, Oct. 8.

The Suburban GBI plan calls for schools with larger enrollments in one league to play schools with larger enrollments in the other. Some opponents, however, will be rotated every two years. No GBI school would like to play powerhouses Brockton and Waltham every season. And no Suburban team looks forward to meeting teams such as Peabody and Medford every season.

Quincy will open its season Sept. 15 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a Suburban League game.

North will start off at Milton on the same date and will play its first Suburban League game Sept. 29 at Brockton.

and $1 for each additional event. T-shirts are given to the first 225 applicants.

Applications are available at the Quincy Recreation Department, branches of the Granite Cooperative Bank and local tennis clubs. The deadline for entry is Aug. 31.

Additional information can be had by calling 773-1380, ext. 204, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Jaehnig Club Takes Crown

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club defeated defending champion Pete's Pizza in two straight playoff games to capture the Ridge Racquetball Club summer basketball league championship.

Jeff Timberlake was outstanding with 53 points in the series.

Jaehnig won the opener, 62-41, as it got out to an early lead and never looked back. Timberlake's 26 points were supported by Mike Granahan's 10, seven by Steve Brustin and Chuck Jaehnig and five by Mark and Mike Jaehnig. Mike Cheney scored 22 for Pete's.

In the second game Jaehnig led, 38-33, at the half and went on to win, 75-61, and clinch the title.

Timberlake had 27 points, Mark Jaehnig 18, Chuck Jaehnig 13 and Jim Evans nine as Jaehnig scored its highest point total of the season. Cheney again had 22 points for Pete's.

City Tennis Tourney Starts

The Granite Cooperative Bank will again team up with the Quincy Recreation Department to sponsor the 14th annual Municipal Tennis Tournament for residents of Quincy.

The tournament starts Sept. 5 and runs for about two weeks. All matches will be at the Vo-Tech courts.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said, "The support of the Granite Cooperative Bank has assisted our department in making this tournament one of the largest municipal tennis tournaments in New England. Their continued assistance assures us of another successful year and provides a valuable recreation activity for our many residents."

There will be 10 divisions of play in this year's tournament, and there will also be a separate consultation tournament for those defeated in the first round of men's singles.

John Franceschini, who has been director of the tournament for the past six years, will again be director. The divisions of play are: Men's 50 and over, men's 35 and over, men's singles, men's doubles, mixed doubles, women's 35 and over, women's singles, women's doubles, boys 16 and under, girls 16 and under.

International Flavor To Tourney

The annual South Shore Junior Tennis Championship at the Quincy Tennis Club had an international flavor to it.

The winner in boys' 16 singles was Joe Lizardo of Manila, in the Philippine Islands, who is staying with his brother, Jose Jr., in Marshfield for three weeks before heading home.

Lizardo, ranked number one in Manila in the age 16 division and fourth in the age 18 category, defeated Shawn Herlihy, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 for the division crown.

"I want to play international tennis at home and play well on the Asian circuit," he said. "I played the circuit last year and got killed, but I want to keep improving. The competition in the United States is strong and I feel if I can do well here, I can do pretty well in the international tournaments."

Susan Feeley won the girls 16 title, defeating Kim Pratt, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4; Kristen Brooks was the girls 12 winner, topping Stefanie

Whiteman, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2; and George Poulos defeated Adam Mandell, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2, for the boys 12 title.

In doubles, Joe Palumbo and Pat Walker defeated Daryle Ruark and Scott Whiteman, 6-2, 6-4, in boys' 16, while Diane Ison and Samantha Shea defeated Linda and Karen McCall, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3 in girls' 16.

QJC Students Aid Olympic Luge Team

Students at Quincy Junior College's summer school spent July assisting the Fitchburg State College Business Education Program's Business Laboratories in a marketing program from the U.S. Olympic luge team.

Marketing students from QJC helped Business Laboratories students at Fitchburg in the initial research for what will become a marketing plan for the U.S. Olympic Luge Association of Lake Placid later this year.

The plan will be developed by the Fitchburg students and will be designed to carry the luge team through the 1988 winter Olympics.

James J. Noonan, professor of marketing at Fitchburg State and a teacher at QJC for 12 years, is director and developer of the Business Laboratories program. "Students benefit from gaining actual marketing skills while the luge team will be provided invaluable marketing plans based on solid research," he said.

Projects undertaken by the students included a preliminary market analysis, a market profile, a consumer awareness survey and development of marketing strategies.

The project was supervised by QJC students Stephanie Caparelli, Nancy A. Ahonen and Kevin Boyle, all of Quincy.

Gambino Leads Quincy Legion To Daley Cup

Leadoff hitter Joe Gambino collected three hits and scored three runs as the Quincy Junior Legion baseball team got off to a 6-0 lead after three innings and held on for an 8-5 victory over Morrisette to win the George A. Daley Jr. Cup.

Capt. Bob Holland scattered 10 hits on the mound for Quincy to take the pitching nod over three Morrisette hurlers, starter Cookie Marini and relievers Dick Burrell and George Papile.

The Quincy lineup included: Gambino lf, Vargus 2b, Fidler 3b, Foynes cf, Holland p, Perseneni ss, Langton c, Curtin rf, Wong lb.

The Morrisette lineup included: Mills 2b, R. Cattaneo ss, Salvucci cf, J. Cattaneo 3b, Leone c, Burrell 1b-p, Papile p, Miller lf, Ryan rf, Marini p-lb.

ROAD RACE UPSET

Veteran marathoners Charley Robbins and Ellison (Tarzan) Brown were the favorites but Tony Medeiros of the North Medford Club fought off Robbins with a late burst of speed to win the annual Quincy Bocce Club 10-mile road race.

Another unknown, Johnny DiCommandrea, also of the North Medford Club, led for seven miles through Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree before he was overtaken by Medeiros and Robbins, who ran with a seven and a half minute handicap.

COMETS PREVAIL

The Quincy Comets got five runs in the sixth inning on four singles, two errors, a stolen base, a squeeze bunt and Warren Driscoll's long double to beat Morrisette, 7-5, at Kincaide Park. Driscoll and Larry Barry limited Morrisette to four hits.

The Comets lineup included: McKinnon 2b, Koury c-rf, Hall 1b-lf, Driscoll p-c, Ameen 3b-cf, Vargus ss, Kerr cf, Gagne 2b, Hokanson rf-lb, Barry rf-p.

MANETS OUT

Jake Casna, boss of the Quincy Manets, turned down a franchise in the City Football League, leaving the loop with four teams — Fred Comparato's Quincy Eagles, Pete Zoia's Varsity Club, Kaiser Oliverio's Warriors and Al Faiella's West Quincy Maroons.

Police, Media Win MDA Doubleheader

The Quincy Police and the Media All-Stars were the winners in last week's annual benefit softball doubleheader for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association at Adams Field.

The Police Department team defeated the Quincy Fire Department team, 15-7, in the front end of the annual doubleheader to even the eight year series at four games apiece. The Fire Department had won the two previous outings.

The Police crossed the plate seven times in the first inning to equal the firemen's total output and scored five more in the sixth to secure the victory in the charity contest.

Bill Brabazon and Gerry Queency delivered the long ball for the police with three home runs while pitcher Jim Buhl posted the win.

Al Trotman rapped out a long home run for the firemen in a losing cause while Chuck Walter and Jack Goddard had two hits each.

Players on the Police squad included: Bob Queency, Gerry Nichols, Bill Brabazon, Tom Malvesti, Jim Buhl, Tom Frame, Bob Kelly, Bill Shea, Jerry Gardner and Gerry Queency, while the Fire Department was comprised of Pete O'Hare, Jim DeVarens, Chuck Walter, Jim McPartlin, Jack Goddard, Jim Kelly, Domenic Conso, Al Trotman, Mike Butts, Ron Shannon.

The Police and Fire Department teams have been personally responsible for over $2,000 in the eight year $6,000 total raised in this one activity for the Muscular Dystrophy Association and its research and patient programs.

This year's doubleheader raised approximately $700 for Jerry's Kids.

• Babe Ruth

N.L. 15-Year-Olds Edge A.L.

The National League edged the Americans, 8-7, in the annual Babe Ruth League 15-year-old all-star game played under the lights at Adams Field.

Mark Farrand was named the Nationals' Most Valuable Player and Pat Harrington was named the Americans' MVP.

The Nationals scored three runs in the third inning on singles by Rick Nabstedt, John Nee, Rick Dondero and Chris Ricciuti. They increased their lead to 5-0 in the fourth on singles by Nabstedt and Dondero.

The American League broke the tie in the fourth on Joel Balducci's single and a two-run single by Bob Callahan, and picked up another run in the fifth on Billy Roche's single and Joe Innello's double.

The Americans closed the gap to 5-4 in the seventh on Billy Burkehead's double. They took a 7-5 lead with three runs in the eighth as Dave Tocchio singled and Harrington drove in the tying and go-ahead runs with a two-out hit. The rally also featured excellent base running by Billy Roche, Mark Carnavale and Innello.

Down, 7-5, the NL rallied for three runs in the ninth to eke out the win. Wes Crowley and Ricciuti had singles and Farrand a game winning two-run double.

The AL fought back in the bottom of the ninth. Steve Minichiello opened with a double, which skipped by the right fielder. Second baseman Tom Tegen recovered the ball and relayed to shortstop Neil Hatfield, who made a spectacular throw to third base and Ferrand dug the throw out of the dirt and made a fine tag to end the threat.

The NL was led by pitcher Larry Taglieri, Nabstedt and Dan Santny. Dondero had three singles and played well at shortstop. He was the top MVP candidate until Farrand's late game heroics.

The AL received nice pitching from Michael Malone, Dennis DeCoste, Callahan, Minichiello, Burkhead, Harrington and Chris Cody. Harrington struck out four in one inning (a dropped third strike gave the NL an extra chance) and, coupled with his big hit and fine baserunning, ran away with the MVP trophy.

Playing for the National League stars were Ricciuti, Taglieri and Chris Swanson of Sons of Italy; Santny, Steve Happs and Scott Hohmann of Local 1139; Rob Fitzgerald and Tom Reilly of the Police; Crowley, Nabstedt and Tegen of Granite City Electric; Brian Canavan, Dondero and Hatfield of Morrisette and Farrand, Nee and Kyle Robertson of Hancock Bank. The team was coached by Lino Salvatore, Sal Salvatore and Ralph Wheeler of Sons of Italy.

The American League stars were Cody, Innello and Malone of Brian Post; Tom Logan, Matt Ostiguy and Brian Roche of the Elks; Callahan, DeCoste and Jim Phelan of Houghs Neck; Burkhead, Carnevale and Billy Roche of Barry's Deli; Balducci and Minichiello of Golden Print; Harrington, Joe Rams and Tocchio of the Firemen. Bryan Post's Jim Higgins coached the team. Commissioner George Derrane presented the awards.

Community Summer Theatre To Present 'Company'

The musical comedy "Company" will be presented by the Quincy Community Summer Theatre Aug. 24-25-26 at 8 p.m. in the North Quincy High School auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door or from any cast member.

The Summer Theatre is under the organization of John McDonald of Wollaston who books up J.M. Productions, and is in cooperation with the Beechwood Community Players, the Quincy Arts Council and the South Shore Cultural Commission. The show is being directed by Martha Galley who brings with her extensive experience from local theatres.

The group hopes to encourage live theatre to be produced in this South Shore area on a summer basis. They are planning to donate proceeds from opening night to the completion of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre and present Miss Gordon with the first annual award for loyalty and support for Quincy and the arts in her name. This award will be given to a Quincy resident each summer who has demonstrated commitment to live theatre.

Ronald Jensen Elected Choral Society President

Ronald W. Jensen of Milton was recently elected president of the Quincy Choral Society at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

He succeeds David R. Coxell, Jr., also of Milton.

Jensen who will lead the Choral Society in its fourth season, is involved with a number of cultural activities in the community.

Among the organizations with which he is involved are The Milton Players, the China Trade Museum, Milton, the Board of Directors of ACCLAIM of Milton, the

RONALD W. JENSEN
People's Theater in Cambridge, the Theater loft of Boston.

Jensen is also moderator of East Congregational Church of Milton, and had the narrator's role in the production of "King David" by the Quincy Choral Society at North Quincy High School.

"Among my priorities will be the continuation of the artistic growth of the chorus, the enlargement of our scholarship fund and a lasting contribution to the arts in the area," stated Jensen.

WEEK OF: AUGUST 23

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Brainstorming sessions bring out bright business ideas. Domestic dilemma benefits from objective opinions. Key this weekend is recognize and exploit your unique gifts and talents

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Pace quickens through the week; you're accomplishing a great deal at home and at the workplace. Neighborhood quarrels come to a happy conclusion thanks to your ingenuity.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Cynical individuals should be avoided wherever possible, spend much more time with kinder, supportive people. Week is generally favorable for trading ideas and for pooling resources.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Energy level peaks; look for a new and worthy goal on which to focus attention. Avoid taking risks—in money matters especially. You and partner see eye-to-eye on a family issue.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
You and partner may be on slightly different wave lengths, and the key is to maintain a good sense of humor. Creative pastimes lead to making important contacts. Festive event is announced now.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
New beginnings are accented; perhaps a key relationship is launched during this period. Relative is surprisingly critical. Financial arrangements dominate your time after the weekend.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Friend needs your support—but also some breathing space. Home situation improves by the weekend. Loved one receives an award of sorts. Your congratulations mean a great deal.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
You enjoy special rapport with a senior colleague or older relative. Late-summer travel has an educational angle. Hunches are generally strong from Monday on.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Unexpected expenses may cause you to postpone the purchase of a luxury item. Unusual messages arrive by the weekend; spend time deciphering them. A new look is accented after Monday.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Don't stand on ceremony in friendship matters; make the next move as your heart dictates. Financial judgment is sharp. Small and unusual acquisitions are spotlighted on the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Someone may win complaints for work that you've done; correct the situation promptly. Romantic hints that you've been dropping are finally picked up by the weekend.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Education is highlighted, with the overlapping theme of travel. Watch tendency to search out flaws in people. Relative is generous; be sure to acknowledge her kindness.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You analyze situations carefully and are critical of even minor flaws. Logic is your middle name. Recently established relationship grows gradually over the next months. Financial ups and downs are seen early in '85, but you can respond admirably to any challenges at this time.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 23rd, dancer Gene Kelly; 24th, actor Dennis James; 25th, actor Sean Connery; 26th, composer Boris Obromov; 27th, actress Martha Raye; 28th, actress Nancy Kulp; 29th, singer Michael Jackson.

Quincy Cooperative Bank Joins VISA International Network

The Quincy Cooperative Bank recently processed its first interstate VISA transaction under its affiliation with the internationally recognized VISA global ATM network.

The transaction took place at the VISA banking center 24-hour teller at 85

Quincy Ave., when a customer of Chase Manhattan Bank obtained a cash advance from a VISA card issued by Chase.

As part of the first global system, the Quincy Cooperative Bank provides its VISA banking card customers access to their checking accounts at 300 VISA automatic teller machines in the United States, Spain and Australia.

By the end of 1984 the network will be expanded to include six countries with 2,500 ATMs.

Quincy Savings Wins National Advertising Award

The Quincy Savings Bank, 1200 Hancock St., has received national recognition for excellence in advertising from the Financial Institutions Marketing Association (FIMA) in its recent competition.

An independent panel of judges awarded Quincy Savings Bank a certificate for a black-and-white newspaper ad, "The Best Offer in Quincy's History," which promoted the bank's 40th anniversary. The cost of publication of the hook was underwritten by the bank.

The designer for the ad was Ken Groppi of Quincy, A. Stedman Murdy, vice president for marketing of the Quincy Savings Bank was the copywriter.

"Innovative advertising and professional marketing deserve special recognition," said E. Paul Jennings, Jr., FIMA chairman in making the presentation at the organization's recent meeting in New Orleans.

A FAMILY DECISION

QUESTION: In your opinion, how much of the home-buying decision should be a family decision?

ANSWER: It's desirable that house-hunting be done by husband and wife wherever possible. However, in the case where a move over a considerable distance is involved, the best arrangement is for either the husband or the wife to look separately and then for both to get together to make the final decision-making inspection. It's not a good idea to involve very young children in the initial house visits. It generally works out that children are happy with a house that makes their parents happy.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS THE TRIAL COURT THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT DEPARTMENT

Norfolk Division
Docket No. 84PJ903-PJ
To: DANIEL DIBONA of Quincy in said County and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by ANNETTE DIBONA of Quincy in the County of Norfolk representing that she holds as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows: The land in that part of said Quincy called West Quincy, with all the buildings thereon, containing about 20,383 square feet, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the land of one Loud, formerly of Joseph W. Robertson, on Willard Street, and bounded westerly on said Willard Street, about two hundred and ten (210) feet to Crescent Street, formerly a Cemetery Street, on which street it is bounded southerly forty-two feet and five inches to land of heirs of Michael and Patrick Carey, on which land it is bounded easterly one hundred sixty-four (164) feet to land of said Loud, on which land it is bounded Northerly about one hundred and seventy-six (176) feet to said Willard Street and the point of beginning; setting forth that she desire that all of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than One hundred and ninety thousand dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale, or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the twelfth day of September 1984, the return day of this citation.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this first day of July, 1984.

Call 328-6622 To Help Jerry's

Sun Telethon Pledge Center For 8th Year

The Quincy Sun for the eighth consecutive year will be the Quincy-South Shore area pledge center for the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon this Labor Day weekend.

Extra telephones will be installed in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. to take donation pledges from the Quincy-South Shore area beginning Sunday night at 9:30 p.m. and continuing until 7 p.m. Monday.

The special number to call to make a pledge is the same as last year's: 328-6622.

Volunteers will man the phones on various shifts during the Jerry Lewis Telethon which will be carried by WCVB-TV (Ch. 5) over the Labor Day weekend.

This year, activities at the pledge center will be carried over a cable television network to eight South Shore communities via American Cablesystems.

The telecast will be carried live on Ch. 3 and Sun Ch. 8 in Quincy and on Ch. 8 in Milton and Randolph from 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. on Labor Day.

It will be seen delayed by video tape from 2 to 6 p.m. on Chs. 11 in Scituate, Cohasset, Hull, Hanover and Norwell.

On camera hosts will be John Noonan, Leslie Thompson and Frank Cammarata.

Quincy radio station WJDA (1300) will carry live progress reports every half-hour from the pledge center starting at 7 a.m. Labor Day. Roy Lind, Win Bettinson, Charles Ross and Mike Ellis will be behind the microphone.

Mayor Francis J. McCauley has proclaimed Sept. 2-3 "Jerry Lewis-Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Weekend in Quincy."

There will be music by Baron Hugo, The Citations and the Quincy High School Alumni Band and a talent show.

Feud May Break Out Again

Mayor Seeks To Restore Budget Cuts

By TOM HENSHAW

The simmering feud between the Mayor and the City Council, which was thought to have been settled with passage of a $69.3 million budget in July, may break out again at the first fall meeting of the Council Tuesday, Sept. 4.

The agenda for the meeting will contain two appropriation orders that were deleted when the Council cut some $220,000 from Mayor Francis X. McCauley's original $75.8 million.

One that is particularly galling to Council President James A. Sheets is an order restoring $10,000 to the Law Department budget to fulfill its contractual obligations to David Grunewald, who is the city labor negotiator under a $35,000 contract.

The second order would restore a $21,083.34 appropriation to pay the tax bill for the Furnace Brook Golf Club, which permits the city to use the club property for golf and skiing in lieu of taxes.

Both sums were deleted from the budget by the Council by votes of 5-4 and can be restored simply by a change in one vote.

"I felt that since both were defeated by 5-4 votes someone might reconsider," said McCauley. "I'll talk to all the negative voters between now and the night of the meeting."

"I am not going to appropriate a single cent for the labor negotiator," said Sheets, who led a united Council in the budget dispute that centered around what the Council felt was the Mayor's refusal adequately to fund the Police and Fire Departments.

"I am not going to give the Mayor a blank check to have the labor negotiator get involved in any legal matter that the Mayor chooses."

Meetings Resume Sept. 4

Dacey Request On License Board Agenda

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board will again take up the issue of a requested common victualer license for Dacey Bros. Dairy, 200 Sea St., at a meeting Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 10 a.m.

The meeting, in the Council Chambers at City Hall, will be the board's first regularly scheduled meeting since the summer recess.

Dacey's request was continued from the special Aug. 2 meeting so that representatives of the store and residents of the area could meet to work out concerns.

Some of the concerns, voiced by representatives of the area, and local residents at that meeting, were of increased problems with a dumpster, compactor, traffic, noise and screening.

Dacey Bros. is proposing a move from 213 Samoset Ave., Merrymount, to 200 Sea St., a former garage, because the lease at the present location will run out soon, according to Atty.

Robert Macomber.

Macomber said the common victualer license for take-out only is an economic necessity.

Other items on the agenda are:

- Request from the Squantum Pharmacy, 746 East Squantum St., for a druggist-retail package goods store-wine and malt beverages license.

- Request for a special entertainment license for Sunday, Oct. 7, 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the Wollaston Theater.

- Request from Mr. Wires Auto Electric, 15 Newport Ave., for a license for storage of 2,000 gallons of gasoline, oil and antifreeze, aboveground, and for repair work.

- Hearing regarding the South Shore Bus Co., 134 Penn St., allegedly operating without a gasoline license granted by the board.

- Request from Yellow Cab of Quincy, Inc., 91-95 Mayor McGrath Hwy., for a permit for rental and leasing of automobiles.

- Request from Taso's Pizza, 1622 Hancock St., for two video machines.

- Request from The Waterfront, 542 East Squantum St., for change of manager from Lawrence J. Corbell to Richard C. Barrett.

- Request from Quincy Point Congregational Church for a permit to hold a flea market Saturday, Sept. 8, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the church parking lot, 444 Washington St.

- Request from Cathy Ploof, 20 Edinboro Rd., Quincy, for a one day all alcoholic license for Friday, Sept. 7, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. for a wedding reception at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Because of the Labor Day holiday, The Quincy Sun will have an early news deadline for the Sept. 6 issue.

All social, entertainment and other releases should be in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., by Friday at noon to assure publication.

Voting Machines On Council Agenda

Quincy may have voting machines ready for the next city election in September, 1985.

The City Council agenda for Tuesday, Sept. 4, contains an appropriation order for $200,000 for the purchase of 500 punch card voting machines.

"They will save a lot of police overtime and counting on election night," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "They will pay for themselves very quickly."

He said the $200,000 figure is an estimate since the purchase will have to put out to bid.

City Clerk John Gillis, who has been looking into various types of punch card voting machines, said the machines would not be ready for the elections this fall.

"But they would be in use for the next city election," he said. Those elections will be in September and November, 1985.

Sheets, Health Depts. Seek New Stable Rules

City Council President James A. Sheets is working with the city and state Public Health Departments to draft new rules and regulations for the maintenance of stables in Quincy.

There is only one stable in the city, the Brookdale Stables at 629 Willard St., West Quincy, and a state inspection of the property Aug. 14 revealed seven "problems" that should be corrected.

Howard S. Wensley, director of the State Division of Community Sanitation, said the inspection revealed that the stable is not licensed as required by law.

"Conditions in and around the building create a serious nuisance condition that must be addressed by the Quincy Health Department immediately," said Wensley in a letter to Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey.

"We have had complaints about the stable," said Sheets. "When the complaints are pointed out, they tend to correct them for two or three weeks and then go back to the problem.

"It is the lack of enduring relief that has led to this."

Sheets said that he is working with Wensley and Dr. Hussey to draft new regulations for stables in Quincy to supplant those that were adopted in 1942.

Two of the new rules, he said, will provide for one-year license to operate a stable, renewable every 12 months, and also for an inspection by the City Health Department once a month.

Now, he said, stables are inspected only when a complaint is received.

Sheets said he has forwarded a request to Robert Ferrare, owner of Brookdale Stables, asking for a meeting with the public health department.

"We want him to begin correcting the problems noted by the state," said Sheets. "If they are not corrected in a reasonable time the license, if there is one, will be revoked.

"Last year, a horse died there of eastern equine encephalitis and we want to clear it up once and for all. I hope the new regulations will be in place by mid-October."

Some of the problems cited by the state at the stable include:

- Extremely heavy fly population both inside and outside the stable that "is impacting nearby homes."

- "The manure is stockpiled in the rear of the building and apparently is only removed every two to three weeks."

- "There are many unregistered, broken down vehicles on the property potentially providing harborage to rodents and insects."

- "There is much debris and litter around the property."

- The wiring in the building should be checked by the wire inspector.

Tanner, Cerasoli Debate on Debate

Thomas Tanner, candidate for state representative from the Third Norfolk District, has challenged his opponent in the September primary.

He said Bay Shore Cable Television in Weymouth has agreed to air the debate Thursday, Sept. 6.

But his opponent, Rep.

Robert A. Cerasoli, said he has not heard from Tanner about the debate and, besides, Sept. 6 would be out because he has a previous engagement.

"I definitely want to debate him," said Cerasoli, "but at a mutually verifiable time, with a neutral moderator and with both of us agreeing to the rules."

28 Women Sworn In To Mayor's Commission

Twenty-eight women were recently registered and sworn in by City Clerk John Gillis to the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women at a ceremony in Mayor Francis McCauley's office.

The mayor complimented the group on the projects and workshops, they have sponsored for the benefit of women in the community. He expressed pride in the many accomplishments of the group.

McCauley invited the members to submit resumes and recommendations to serve on city boards and positions when available.

A champagne reception held after the ceremony was hosted by the Mayor's wife, Sandra, and his daughter, Julie.

Harriet Goldman will serve as chair for the coming year; Carol Speranza as co-chair.

Commission members, who will serve until June 30, 1985, are:

Maureen Arnold-Carmasino, Trudy Buckley, Kathleen Butler, Donna Marie Cassidy, Alicia Coletti, Marybeth Curran, Nancy DiMarrio, Marion Fitzgerald, Mary Ginnety, Harriet Goldman, Arlene Harrison, Shirley Harrow, Kris Irving, Kathleen J. Kroll.

Irene M. Larrington, Jean M. Leslie, Kathleen M. McCormick, Deborah Ormon, Linda A. Perry, Sarah R. Phillips, Dorothy L. Poutre, Phyllis Rudnick, Shirley Schultz, Carol Speranza, Patricia Toland, Kathryn G. Veneto, Arloa Webber, Geraldine Klaiman.

EXTENSION CORD DANGERS

Although short circuits can occur in any house wiring, they happen more frequently in an extension cord. In one typical case, a fire killed five members of one family in southeast Michigan when a light-weight extension cord with a refrigerator plugged into it overheated.

Many extension cords are made of lighter-gauge lamp cord that is not designed to handle the heavy current demands of some appliances. When such a cord is overloaded and overheats, the plastic or rubber insulation gets hard and cracks, especially when it is handled and flexed.

To use extension cords properly, you should know its wattage. (It will usually be printed on the label.) Most extension cords sold in hardware stores carry a rating of 10 amps or 1250 watts. That makes them able to deliver safe current to a number of light bulbs at one time or to a TV set. But a portable room heater may draw more than 1500 watts. Obviously, the average extension cord can't handle this load. You have a fire waiting to happen.

Condon Nears Mayoral Ring

Councillor Joanne Condon appears to be moving closer and closer to next year's mayoral ring.

A $50 per head sitdown dinner fund-raiser is set for Tuesday night, Sept. 11 at the Cathay Pacific in North Quincy.

It is being sponsored by the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon. NOT by the Committee to Re-elect Joanne Condon.

Question: the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon to what?

Sources close to the Ward 6 councillor say she definitely will make a run for mayor next year instead of seeking re-election to the Ward 6 City Council seat.

They say she will not make any announcement Sept. 11. But indicate she will make it official early next year—probably in January.

She's running, they say, regardless of who else is thinking of getting in.

She's ready to challenge incumbent Francis McCauley and run against anyone else.

McCauley, a popular incumbent apparently doesn't awe her and she believes she can win.

The main reason she is running, they say, is a difference in political philosophy and viewpoints.

Condon believes McCauley, who has a banker's background, still thinks like a banker; his main interest is in balancing the books.

Condon, on the other hand, puts the emphasis on public services—that the people should have the basic services—without making every penny balance.

She also thinks "more positive things" should be happening in the city and aren't. "More new things" to revitalize the downtown area, for example.

She also thinks that McCauley likes to resolve problems quickly and get them behind him. But in doing so she thinks the decisions sometimes are too hasty. She still feels the city could have gotten a better deal on the General Dynamics settlement if McCauley had explored more avenues before "surrendering."

She is expected to stress some of this in her January announcement.

January seems to be a good month for making a mayoral candidacy announcement. McCauley picked January in 1981 when he decided to run for mayor—even before incumbent Arthur Tobin decided not to seek re-election.

And by getting in that early he got the jump on former Mayor Joseph LaRaia who would have run himself that year after Tobin stepped out of the race.

Condon will be the first woman in Quincy's history to run for mayor. And, of course, if elected would be making even bigger history.

In addition to a good recognition factor and a loyal following, she has two other political pluses: even though the mayor's race is non-partisan, she is a Democrat in a Democratic stronghold. She is also a woman and women voters outnumber men voters in Quincy.

At the very least it would be a most interesting election year after the ho-hum one of 1983.

INCIDENTALLY, McCauley has made a little Quincy political history himself. A cursory check of the records back to 1889 indicates he is the only person ever to serve in all four elective offices in Quincy: mayor, ward councillor, at-large councillor and School Committee.

He was a councillor from Ward 1 from 1964 through

Registration Underway For Women's Fitness Program

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct registration for its fall session of Women's Body Fitness beginning immediately in the Recreation Department Office, 100 Southern Artery.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said the course will begin Sept. 10, and will run for 10 weeks, Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings with separate times, 9:15 a.m. and 10 a.m.

Instructor for the courses is Mrs. Anita Argyropole. The program will be held at the Fore River Clubhouse, Quincy Point.

Registration will be taken from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. weekdays as long as openings exist. Registration is on a first come, first served basis.

For more information, contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

1967, School Committeeman from 1972 through 1977, councillor-at-large from 1978 through 1981 and mayor since 1982.

POLICE CAPT. Paul Nestor is home after a stay in New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston recovering from two mild heart attacks. Chief Francis Finn is also back from a Florida vacation.

MAYOR McCauley is in Washington this week, not seeking federal funds for Quincy but to see that his daughter, Jennifer, is suitably established as a freshman at American University. Jennifer, who graduated from North Quincy High School last June, is studying broadcast journalism.

CONGRESSMAN Brian Donnelly, who sits beside Geraldine Ferraro in the House of Representatives, says she really didn't think Walter Mondale would pick her as his vice presidential running mate.

But Donnelly thought the odds were in her favor. Sometimes before Mondale made it official, Donnelly told her her chances were "60 to 40" in her favor.

"It was the best move he made," Donnelly says. "She's tough—and a good campaigner."

Donnelly also lives across from her in a Washington apartment building when he's in Washington.

One night he came home, tried to unlock the front door to the apartment building and couldn't. His key wouldn't fit.

A big burly guy was soon beside him wanting to know "who are you" and "what are you doing?"

"I happen to live here," Donnelly said.

The big guy was a Secret Serviceman. The Secret Service had changed the lock on the front door as a security measure for Ferraro but hadn't told the other tenants.

BY THE WAY, Donnelly who has been a two-pack a day cigarette smoker is trying to kick the habit.

Starting this week he says he will be off the butts. To give him incentive, The Sun's Tom Henshaw and this writer each have a $5 bet with him that he won't last without a cigarette until New Year's Day.

Keep an eye on him. He needs help.

While he was in the process of telling us he was quitting cigarettes, he lit up two.

Henshaw and I will both be happy to lose the $5 to him. C'mon Brian, you can do it. (Sure you can... well... maybe)

Quincy Quiz

No winners in The Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Several sections of Quincy have been designated CARD areas as an aid in their development. What do the initials CARD stand for?

2. What is the name of the new president of the Quincy Choral Society?

3. What Quincy business establishment is located at 324 Quincy Ave.?

4. Two of the last four mayors of Quincy were registered Republicans. Name them.

5. Bayfield Rd. is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Mabel E. Adams was the first woman elected to the Quincy School Committee in 1895.

2. Jens Thornton was the last Republican to run against Sen. Paul D. Harold in the Norfolk District.

3. Temple Beth El is located at 1001 Hancock St.

4. True. The highest enrollment in Quincy public schools was 17,080 pupils in 1971.

5. Andrews Rd. is located in the Wollaston section of the city.

Names, Dates Sought For Vietnam Veterans Memorial

O.B.C., Inc. is continuing plans to build a memorial to Vietnam veterans from Quincy, and to men killed in action in the Vietnam war.

The memorial will be built at Marina Bay in Squantum, and is expected to be completed within the next year.

To complete the memorial, O.B.C., Inc. is trying to get a final list of names of men killed in action, and their birth and death dates.

A list of the men known to have been killed in action with their birth and death dates has been compiled. But there are names without known dates.

If anyone has any information regarding birth or death dates, or wrong dates concerning men killed in action, they are asked to call Dusty Rhodes at O.B.C., Inc. at 328-0055.

Following is the list of the Vietnam veterans as it now stands:

Hearing Set On City Incinerator At Quarry

The City Council referred to the Planning Board for public hearing a proposal by Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa to rezone nine acres of city-owned land at Hardwick's Quarry on Quarry St. as the site of a municipal incinerator.

Also referred to the Planning Board was a letter from Rep. James R. McIntyre proposing that the city locate the incinerator near Echo Lake on the Braintree line.

And Councilor George B. McDonald drafted a resolution proposing that the city abandon Hardwick's Quarry and seek an alternative site through a Council committee of three. Council President Charles Shea named McDonald to the committee.

McDonald said any attempt to rezone the quarry would only lead to further litigation that could delay the incinerator for two or three more years.

However, Councilor David S. McIntosh called the Hardwick's Quarry location "an ideal site," noting that it had been picked by a committee named by then-Council President McIntyre, who was now advocating an alternative site.

VETO OVERRIDDEN

The City Council overrode Mayor Della Chiesa's veto of an order granting pensions of about $1,000 a year to 55 widows of former city employees who had worked for no less than 15 years. Councilor Shea, who filled the measure, said it would cost the city about $65,000.

"I would like for you to see how they live, how they eat and how little they have," said Shea. "Anyone who would oppose this measure would see these people starve rather than extend them a helping hand."

The veto was overridden by a 7-1 vote, with Councilor McIntosh voting in the negative and Councilor Carl W. Anderson abstaining.

BACK FROM DIG

The Rev. William G. Dever, minister of Christian education at Bethany Congregational Church, was back from Jordan where he spent two months at the archaeological digs at Shechem, 40 miles north of Jerusalem, long associated with Abraham.

Golden Scores Harold On Escorts

Richard D. Golden, a candidate for the State Senate, has criticized Sen. Paul D. Harold for his "inactivity when Quincy needs him most," a reference to state-mandated escorts for minorities seeking housing in the city.

Golden called the escorts "a slur to our community" by a state agency.

"If I were state senator I would not remain silent while a state agency paints our city with a racist brush," said Golden.

"I would work with the city and the MCAD to amend the city's affirmative action plan and end this outrage once and for all. As state senator I will be there when the people of our communities need me."

Golden said he feels the proposed escorts "presume a problem which doesn't exist."

"Our city has an aggressive affirmative action plan and the escorts are a flaw in it which should be corrected," he said.

"As a former equal opportunity officer for the National Guard's 26th Division, I understand the importance of fair housing practices but escorts are really counterproductive to affirmative action.

"The real issue for Quincy is housing availability.

"As state senator I will work to further the availability of housing for all the citizens of Quincy.

Without adequate housing, opportunities are limited, but certainly not dictated by race."

In new lab experiments in Philadelphia, radio waves are forcing sickle cells into normal blood cell shape. Animal trials have begun, and human testing is expected to follow, with hopes of relieving or even curing sickle cell disease.

People on salt-restricted diets should avoid antacids that contain sodium bicarbonate. Check the label.

Immediate treatment with limolol, a beta-blocker drug, can reduce heart muscle damage after an attack, a medical research group reported. Started within 4 hours, the drug reduced the heart's oxygen requirements.

Doctors may have found a treatment for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, the muscle-wasting condition known as Lou Gehrig's Disease. Tests suggest that injections of thyrotropin-releasing hormone may reverse muscle weakness temporarily.

Doctors at the University of Pennsylvania have invented a device that measures the acidity in the mouth (an acid mouth encourages cavities). Tiny electrodes are fitted to an ordinary retainer.

How much are your possessions worth . . . at today's prices?

In the event of a loss, would your insurance cover the cost of replacing your furnishings at today's inflated prices?

Perhaps not, because many policies provide protection for your property based on depreciation, according to its age and condition. You could end up disastrously underinsured.

Today's Replacement Cost coverage pays what it costs to replace your home's contents at the current value of the items without depreciation. Let us review your policy today.

Msgr. John E. Mullarkey, 84, Beloved Priest 59 Years

A concelebrated funeral Mass for Msgr. John E. Mullarkey, 84, former guest priest at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, which named its social hall after him, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at St. Mary's Church.

Bishop Lawrence Riley was chief celebrant of the Mass for Msgr. Mullarkey who died Sunday at Marion Manor, South Boston.

He was born Jan. 16, 1900 in Quincy to Bernard and Delia (McHugh) Mullarkey, natives of County Galway, Ireland.

Msgr. Mullarkey attended Quincy public schools, was a member of the Boston College class of 1921 and also received a master of arts degree from that college. He studied for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and was ordained June 5, 1925 by the late William Cardinal O'Connell at Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston.

For many years, he and his two sisters, Nora and Margaret Mullarkey lived across the street from St. Mary's Church.

He was baptized, received his First Holy Communion and Confirmation, and celebrated his First Solemn Mass after his ordination to the priesthood at St. Mary's.

He served as curate at St. James Parish, Salem, from 1925 to 1930, and at St. Joseph's Parish, Boston, from 1930 to 1941 when he was also chaplain at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston and Suffolk County House of Correction, Boston.

From 1941 to 1942, he was administrator of Our Lady of Grace Parish, Chelsea-Everett, and from 1942 to 1949 was a faculty professor at Emmanuel College, Boston.

He was curate at Most Precious Blood Parish, Hyde Park, from 1942 to 1944, and director of Salem Catholic Charities Centre from 1944 to 1949.

During that time, he was also spiritual director of North Shore Catholic Charity League and chaplain at the Essex County House of Correction, Salem.

Msgr. Mullarkey served as pastor of St. Mary's Parish, Plymouth, from 1949 to 1955, and as pastor of St. Pius V Parish, Lynn, from 1955 to 1971.

He was nominated by His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing and designated by His Holiness, Pope John XXII for Papal honor as Domestic Prelate Nov. 18, 1960.

Cardinal Cushing appointed him a Pro Synodal Examiner in 1959, when he was also appointed a parish priest consultant, a member of the board and a director of the Missionary Society of St. James the Apostle and member of the Executive Board Clergy Fund Society.

He was a member of the Priests' Senate, Archdiocese of Boston, 1970-1971.

Msgr. Mullarkey retired as pastor of St. Pius V Parish, Lynn, Sept. 21, 1971.

He moved to Marion Manor because of failing health in 1982.

His body reposed in state Tuesday at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St., Quincy.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Quincy.

Donations may be made to the Archbishop Law Charitable Fund.

In Coma 8 Years

Antonio J. (Tony) Quintiliani, Former QHS Football Star

A funeral Mass was to be celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. Clare's Church, Braintree Highlands, for Antonio J. "Tony" Quintiliani, who died Saturday after eight years in a coma.

Quintiliani, 49, who grew up in Quincy and started at football at Quincy High School, was unconscious since suffering a heart attack in September, 1976. He died in Norfolk County Hospital, Braintree.

With him when he died was his wife, the former Jean Fraber.

Shortly after Quintiliani was stricken, a group called The Friends of Tony Quintiliani was formed to set up a trust fund for the family.

Then-Gov. Edward J. King was among more than 2,000 people who attended a benefit organized by The Friends at the South Shore Plaza in 1981.

Quintiliani was graduated from Boston College in 1957 and taught history at South Junior High School in Braintree until he became assistant principal at Braintree High School.

He was an all-scholastic guard on the Quincy High School football team. He later played at Boston College and for the semi-pro Quincy Manets and Weymouth Town Team.

Quintiliani was a past grand knight of the Braintree Knights of Columbus and a member of the K of C's Alhambra Razafa Caravan. He was also a member of the Braintree Sons of Italy.

He leaves his wife, Jean; two sons, Lawrence A. and Gary A. Quintiliani, both of Braintree; a daughter, Leanne M. Quintiliani, also of Braintree; his mother, Nargaria (Cedrone) Quintiliani of Quincy; and a brother, Pompeo Quintiliani of Inverness, Fla.

Funeral arrangements were by the Leo J. McMaster and Son Funeral Home, South Braintree.

Donations may be made to the Friends of Norfolk County Hospital, Washington St., Braintree 02184.

Edmund J. Brennan, 81

A funeral Mass for Edmund J. Brennan, 81, a retired postal supervisor at the south annex of the U.S. Post Office in Boston, was said Monday in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mr. Brennan died Aug. 9 at Milton Medical Center after a long illness.

Born in Boston, he had lived in Wollaston for 46 years.

He had worked for the U.S. Post Office for 42 years, retiring in 1969.

He was a former president of the Postal Workers Mutual Benefits Association.

He is survived by his wife, Alice A. (Gonski) Brennan; a brother, the Rev. Vincent P. Brennan of Atlanta; a sister, Agnes Murphy of Quincy; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was at Fairview Cemetery, Hyde Park.

Daniel A. Toombs, 80, Attorney Over 50 Years

A private funeral for Daniel A. Toombs, 80, of Quincy, a practicing attorney for more than 50 years, was held Saturday in the chapel at the Matthew Hannel Funeral Home, 88 Copeland St.

Mr. Toombs died Aug. 24, at Braintree Manor Nursing Home after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy all his life.

Mr. Toombs was born in Quincy, attended Quincy schools and was graduated from Suffolk University Law School in 1929.

Active in local athletics, he was baseball coach for the Copeland AA semipro team.

Husband of Nellie (Harvester) Toombs, he is also survived by two daughters, Ruth Gump-wright of Weymouth and Beverly Kiernan of Tewksbury; seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Ralph H. Fielding, 87, Retired Electrician

A funeral service for Ralph H. Fielding, 87, of Wollaston, a retired electrician, will be held today (Thursday) at 11 a.m. at Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Mr. Fielding died Tuesday at Quincy City Hospital.

He had lived in Quincy for more than 60 years.

Born in Roxbury, he grew up in Bath, Maine, where he became well known as an amateur olympic style wrestler.

During World War II, he worked as an electrical foreman in the shipyard at Bethlehem Steel.

He later worked as an electrician for more than 20 years at Raymond's department store, Boston, before he retired in 1972.

Mr. Fielding was a long time member of Quincy Community United Methodist Church.

Husband of the late Mrs. Elsie M. (Boulter) Fielding, he is survived by three sons, Vernon Fielding and William Fielding, both of Quincy; and Douglas Fielding of Lauderdale, Fla.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. last night (Wednesday) at Deware Funeral Home.

The Rev. Walter Wack and the Rev. Theodore Romberg will officiate at the funeral service.

Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The symbolism of Labor Day which is just around the weekend corner, has been lost to many in the enjoyment of the good life. Never in history has such a high level of well-being been the lot of so many people. For most of us, the struggle and deprivation of the centuries have faded into the limbo of history and are no longer comprehensible.

Since this is the case, it may be the better part of wisdom to consider at this time some of the more practicable aspects of Labor Day as it is now observed. Coming as it does at the end of summer, it is an invitation to one last "fling" to many. This means countless persons will take to the highways and byways, to mountains, lakes and the sea. An army of attendants, maintenance crews, firemen, police, first-aid and rescue personnel will be on hand to minimize the casualties. Their task is formidable; at best, and unless holiday throngs co-operate, it becomes a hopeless rear-guard action.

After all, there will be other holidays and other weekend trips for the careful. Let us keep it a happy day and, at the same time, a safe day...

Ruth G. Hamilton Guest Soloist At Bethany

Contralto Ruth E. Hamilton will be guest soloist at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday, Sept. 2, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

Miss Hamilton, a native of Atlanta, Ga., resides in Cambridge and has been soloist in numerous Boston area churches.

As the offertory, Miss Hamilton will sing the black spiritual "On My Journey" arranged by Boatner, and as the Communion selection the arrangement by Lawrence of "Let Us Break Bread Together".

She will be accompanied at the organ by Peter E. Krasinski, organist and choir director of Bethany Church.

Holy Communion will be celebrated during the service. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon titled "Gaining Christ", based on the Biblical texts from Philip-pians 3:4-14 and Mark 1:14-20.

Vivian Miller will be the lay scripture reader. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will assist in leading the liturgy.

The service will be broadcast at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape over South Shore radio station, WJDA, 1300 kc. The Communion commentary will be read by Irene Belcher.

Nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided during the 10 a.m. service.

There will be a fellowship hour at 11 a.m. in the Allen Parlor, following the service, at which time persons may greet Miss Hamilton.

The public is invited to share in the worship and fellowship. For more information contact the Bethany Church office, 479-7300.

Youth March To Fight Arthritis

Hundreds of young people will march to fight arthritis in the 1984 Parade to Paragon Park Saturday, Sept. 8.

Marchers backed by sponsors who cover the 12 miles from Quincy to Nantasket Beach will enjoy a free day on the rides and attractions at Paragon Park.

"Arthritis is not just an old folk's disease," said Matt Soigel, the Boston disc jockey who is grand marshal of the parade.

Siegel is also honorary chairman of Youth Against Arthritis, which is composed of teenagers who all have Juvenile Arthritis.

Young People Lead Squantum Church Service

Members of the First Church of Squantum listened to a sermon given by three of their young people Sunday morning.

Bonnie Adams, Susan Scott, and David Williams spoke of Timothy, whom Paul sent to the Thessalonians, to comfort and encourage them.

They called Timothy a "troubleshooter" - a person who is sent in to a situation "when there is trouble, to straighten the situation out."

Timothy was able to offer understanding and concern to those who needed it.

David Williams charged the congregation to be God's troubleshooters, also "not by changing the situation, but by showing our concern for those who are in pain" and to do this "in such a way that people see not only you or me, but the Christ who has sent us to them."

The entire service Sunday was conducted by young people in the church. Sarah Mildram led the Call to Worship and read the scripture. Robert Dixey gave the opening prayer and led the Lord's Prayer.

The pastoral prayer and the prayer of dedication were given by Dianne Ahearn. Andrew Ogilvie greeted the congregation and made the announcements. Head usher, Tore Wallin, was assisted by two other young people, Chris Dixey and David Scott.

Special music for the morning was performed by Lee Sindelar and Diane Lindblad, who sang "Gracious Saviour", by C. von Gluck.

There will be two services this Sunday at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin will preach at both.

The fall schedule of services will not begin until Sept. 9, when there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single worship service at 10:30 a.m.

On Sept. 16, the regular fall schedule of two services at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. will resume.

An outdoor "Coffee Clutch" will be held at the home of Hazel Mayne, 64 Ashworth Road, Squantum, Friday, Sept. 7, from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

Juice, muffins, coffee cake, pastries, coffee, and tea will be included on the menu.

Rain date is Friday, Sept. 14.

St. Joseph School To Reopen Sept. 5

St. Joseph School, Quincy Point, will reopen for the academic year 1984-1985 Wednesday, Sept. 5 at 8:10 a.m.

Students should report at that time, in uniform, to the Curtis Ave. yard. New students will be directed to their classes.

St. Joseph School offers an academic program consisting of: self-contained classes, departmental programs, federally funded programs, physical ed.

program, library science, instrumental music, vocal music, liturgical music, art, arts and crafts, sports and drama.

The first three days will be half days for all. Grade I will remain on half days until Sept. 14 and begin full sessions Sept. 17. Grades 2-8 will begin full sessions Sept. 10.

There will be two new teachers on the faculty this year. Sister Therese Anthony who will teach Grade 6 and Mrs. Ann Chizauskas who will teach Grade 4.

The faculty and student body will assemble for a special Mass to ask God's blessing on the new school year Friday, Sept. 7 at 11 a.m. The Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Joseph Downey and the Rev. Joseph Racke.

Music will be under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Robert Reed, a deacon in the parish.

'Diabetes And Health' At QCH Sept. 5

"Diabetes And Health", a four-week program focusing on the ability of a person to control diabetes and not be controlled by it, will begin Wednesday, Sept. 5, at Quincy City Hospital.

The program, a series of weekly topics, will emphasize the four cornerstones of diabetes management, "What is Diabetes", "Living With Diabetes", "Medications", and "Eating for Health".

The group will meet each Wednesday from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Registration will take place at Out Patient Registration. There will be a registration fee.

For more information, contact Arleen Ferretti, R.N., at 773-6100 ex. 217.

Sheets said he is angry over the Mayor's decision to appeal to Superior Court a Civil Service ruling that the city reinstate with back pay and benefits a 22-year city employee who was laid off during the administration of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

"Mayor McCauley says we are going to use some of the money the City Council appropriates to fight this man," said Sheets. "He was hurt and damaged by the city's action in laying him off and here the Mayor wants to squeeze him."

"I totally disagree. The city has a moral obligation to correct the situation, not to fight it."

Sheets said the deletion of $21,083.34 to pay Furnace Brook taxes was a test to see if the Mayor would accept the Council's cuts or insist that his original $75.8 million budget was passed by default when the Council failed to act on its entirety within the deadline.

"The Mayor's order to restore the cut clearly demonstrates that the City Council's budget is in effect," said Sheets. "I have no problem with passage of the order next Tuesday."

Indications are that the Mayor could get his way on both restoration orders.

The five who voted in favor of the cuts in July were Councilors Sheets, Michael Cheney, Joanne Condon, John J. Lydon Jr. and Stephen J. McGrath.

The four who voted against the cuts were Councilors Theodore P. DeCristofaro, Richard J. Koch Jr., Joseph L. LaRaia and Patricia Toland.

The lineup of councilors was unusual in that DeCristofaro, Koch, LaRaia and Toland usually have supported Sheets as President. In fact, they were four of the five that put him over the top in the original scramble for the presidency.

McCauley would need only a change in the vote of Cheney (who joined the Council in July), Condon, Lydon, or McGrath to restore the deleted funds.

Some other financial orders that will be on the Council's agenda for Tuesday night include:

- $500,000 to the School Department's capital outlay budget transferred from the Sale of Schools account.

- $320,000 to the Fire Department's capital outlay budget transferred from the Sale of Schools account.

- $200,000 to the Election Department's capital outlay budget transferred from the Sale of Schools account.

- $17,000 to the Fire Department's capital outlay budget from the revenue of 1985 for the purchase of a jaws of life.

- $22,200 to the Police Department's capital outlay budget from the revenue of 1985 for the purchase of cars.

- $150,000 to Highway Construction and Maintenance expenses from the revenue of 1985.

Non-financial orders on the agenda include:

- A resolve to the License Board recommending the adoption of a ban on "Happy Hours" in the city's liquor establishments.

- An industrial revenue bond for $5,043,000 for One Parkway Realty Trust (the Ricciardi Co.) for construction of an office building at Adams St. and Parkway.

- Sale of the Pollard School in Quincy Point for $252,000.

- An amendment extending the Wollaston Commercial Area Revitalization District (CARD) to include a vacant supermarket and gasoline station for development.

Flea Market Items Sought

Sun Pledge Center For Quincy-South Shore

(Cont'd from Page 1)

Anyone donating $1 or more to the fishbowl will be eligible to win a microwave oven donated by John Porca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl will receive two tickets to the Wollaston Theatre donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler.

Making return appearances at the pledge center will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Tweety Bird, Sylvester the Cat and from McDonald's of Quincy, Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird plus McDonald's Train.

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee has raised $678,835 the past seven years through special events, telethon pledges and fishbowl donations.

Goal this year is to reach—or pass—the $750,000 mark.

Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun and Hingham

Journal, and Richard J. Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee.

This year's 19th annual national telethon will air live from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas starting Sunday at 9 p.m.

Jerry Lewis will be joined throughout the 21-1/2 hour show by Ed McMahon, Sammy Davis, Jr. and Casey Kasem.

Many celebrities will appear and perform during the telethon, including George Burns, Liberace, Ann Margaret, Milton Berle, Bill Cosby, David Hasselhoff, Joe Piscopo, Freddie Fender and B.J. Thomas.

In the Greater Boston-Quincy area, the show will be carried on Ch. 5 with Natalie Jacobson and Chet Curtis as co-hosts.

Representatives from the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee and pledge center will be among those making appearances on Ch. 5.

Funds raised by the telethon will help finance 600 research projects in the battle against muscular dystrophy and support 240 MDA patient clinics throughout the country where those with any of the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the MDA receive medical care and equipment at no direct cost to them or their families.

MDA clinics serving the Quincy-South Shore area are at Boston University Medical Center, Children's Hospital, New England Medical Center and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Committee.

Communities represented by the committees are Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Randolph, Weymouth and Scituate.

won't be tabulated until the Labor Day telethon at the Quincy Sun pledge center.

Last year $119,090 was raised including $83,231 in special events; $30,206 in telethon pledges and $5,653 in fishbowl receipts.

Goal this year is to bring the eight-year total to close to $750,000—or top it.

Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and

$678,835 Raised Here By Telethon Committee

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee has raised $678,835 the past seven years to fight muscular dystrophy.

The figure represents money raised at special pre-telethon events, telethon pledges and fishbowl receipts up to last year.

It does not include which

Baron Hugo, Citations, QHS Alumni Band At Pledge Center

If you like good music the place to be Labor Day is at the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon pledge center based at The Quincy Sun, Quincy Sq.

Performing will be Baron Hugo, The Citations and the Quincy High School

Alumni Band.

The 16-piece QHS Alumni Band directed by George Vallarini will appear at noon playing Glenn Miller classics and other hits of the big band era, show tunes and today's popular music.

The Citations will take over at 2 p.m. with Paul Ricca on trumpet, Angelo Paglioca, chordaxox; Jim Nicoloro, drums and Joe Contrino singing.

Baron Hugo will move in at 4 p.m., playing and leading a sidewalk singalong.

Local Talent To Perform At Pledge Center

Local talent will be doing their part to help Jerry's Kids by performing outside The Quincy Sun pledge center during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon on Monday.

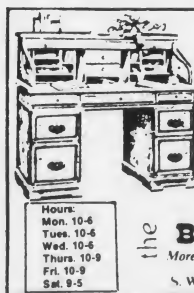

Anyone who can sing, dance, play an instrument or entertain in other ways is asked to contact The Quincy Sun at 471-3100 to be scheduled for a performance.

Activities will be carried over American Cable-systems into Quincy, Milton, Randolph, Hull, Cohasset, Scituate, Norwell and Hanover.

In Quincy, the pledge center activities will be telecast over Ch. 3 and Quincy Sun Ch. 8 Monday from 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m.

Pledge Center On Cable TV Network

The Quincy Sun muscular Dystrophy Telethon pledge center will be carried over an American Cable-systems cable TV network to eight communities on Labor Day.

Activities inside and outside the pledge center will be telecast live from 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. Monday on Ch. 3 and Sun Ch. 8 in Quincy, and Ch. 8 in Milton and Randolph.

Coverage of the pledge center will also be shown by videotape delay on Chs. 11 in Scituate, Norwell, Hanover, Cohasset and Hull from 2 to 6 p.m.

There will be interviews with volunteers manning the telephones, those coming to the pledge center to make donations to the fishbowl, and music by the Citations, Baron Hugo, the Quincy High School Alumni Band and other entertainment.

The Sun is serving as the Quincy-South Shore area pledge center for the eighth year.

WJDA To Cover Pledge Center Activities

WJDA for the eighth straight year will team with The Quincy Sun to help Jerry's Kids.

The Quincy radio station (1300) will provide live coverage of activities at the Quincy-South Shore tele-thon pledge center at The Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

WJDA will begin its coverage at 7 a.m. Monday and continue to the end of the telethon at 6:30 p.m.

Roy Lind, Win Bettrinson,

Charles Ross and Mike Ellis will give progress reports, interview volunteers working at the pledge center and those making donations to the fishbowl. They will also cover special events at the pledge center.

$450 Microwave Oven Pledge Center Prize

Someone who makes a $1 contribution will win a $450 microwave oven at The Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon pledge center over the Labor Day weekend.

The Sharp electronic touch panel microwave oven is being donated by John Porca of Veaco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

This is the seventh consecutive year Porca has donated a large prize to help Jerry's Kids. He has given five other microwave ovens, a color TV set and a color game computer in the past.

Anyone contributing $1 or more to the telethon fishbowl at the pledge center will be eligible to win the microwave oven. The lucky name will be drawn at the end of the telethon Monday.

The Sun pledge center will begin its operation at 9:30 p.m. Sunday night and continue until 7 p.m. Monday.

12 Organizations Sponsoring Telephones

Twelve organizations are sponsoring telephones at The Quincy Sun based Quincy-South Shore Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the Labor Day weekend.

Richard J. Koch, chairman of the Telethon Patron Program, notes that by paying for the use of the extra telephones the organizations are allowing money it would have cost for the phones, to go instead to research and patient care programs for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The 12 organizations doing their part to help Jerry's Kids are:

Quincy Rotary Club, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Quincy Lions Club, Quincy City Club, Koch Club of Quincy, Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, Quincy Municipal Credit Union, Bank of New England Hancock, Granite Cooperative Bank, Colman's Sporting Goods, Riley and Rielly Insurance Agency and A. E. Goodhue Church Goods Store.

Call 328-6622 and you will ring one of the phones.

100 Wollaston Theatre Tickets To Be Awarded

One hundred tickets to the Wollaston Theatre will be awarded at The Quincy Sun based Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Center over the Labor Day weekend.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl at the pledge center will receive two tickets each to the theater.

The tickets are being donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler, owners of the Beale St., Wollaston theater.

This is the sixth year in a row the Chandlers have donated 100 tickets.

The $5 donation for two tickets will also entitle the donors to a chance to win a $450 Sharp electronic touch panel microwave oven being given as a prize by John Porca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

Donald, Mickey, Grimace And Friends At Center

Youngsters again will find some old friends waiting to greet them at The Quincy Sun pledge center on Labor Day.

Making return visits this year will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Tweety Bird and Sylvester the Cat.

And from McDonald's Restaurant coming back will be Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird along with the McDonald's Train.

Making his debut at the telethon this year will be Green O'Grilla.

The lovable characters will be outside The Sun office during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Monday.

Come on down, kids, and meet them.

'It's Great To Be Back' Coaching Quincy A Dream Come True For Raymer

By TOM SULLIVAN

It took quite a while, but Jack Raymer, who played at Quincy High in 1966 and 1967, has finally realized his dream of coaching his alma mater in football.

Raymer last week was named the new head coach at Quincy, replacing Bill Maver, who resigned to accept a position at Acton-Boxboro High School.

"It's great to be back at Quincy," said Raymer, who had been an assistant coach for 13 years. "I went through the Quincy school system, played for two years at Quincy and was a volunteer assistant here for six years."

Raymer, 34, who helped out Dave Burke with the Quincy sophomores for six years and scouted for head coach Hank Conroy, was an assistant coach at rival North Quincy High for the past seven years. He was defensive coordinator for the last three years and his defensive teams were outstanding.

"I don't anticipate any problems here," he said. "I know a lot of the players and I know we have a fine nucleus of veterans. My ambition is to get some stability into the program. Bill (Maver) had the disadvantage, as has Ken McPhee at North, not to have been in the school system (Maver lost his job due to Prop 2 1/2, as did several other Quincy and North coaches).

"Although I am not in the high school, I am teaching at Point Middle School and I will be available to the players. It is really rough coaching and not being in the school system."

Raymer, who attended and played baseball at Quincy Junior College and later assisted Burke as baseball coach there, promises a team that will be interesting to watch.

"I do not consider myself a conservative coach and I can promise we will not be a conservative team," he said. "I don't plan any great changes in our offense. You can't be conservative and wear down powerhouses like Brockton and Waltham, you have to open up the attack."

"This will be a fresh start for me and I am eagerly looking forward to the challenge. I can promise that we will have a team ready and raring to go against Cambridge Rindge and Latin (the Presidents' opening game Sept. 15)."

Raymer will have Jeff and Mark Giordani back as assistants, but John Sullivan, who handled the defense last year and also applied for the head coaching job, has resigned and will go into business with his brother.

At this writing a successor to Sullivan hadn't been named, but Raymer expected one to be named this week, the opening week of practice. The Presidents started official practice Monday.

Raymer has lined up several scrimmages before the season's opener.

North Football Alumni Day Sept. 8

North Quincy Football Alumni Day will be held Saturday, Sept. 8, at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

All former North players from 1933 to 1983 have been invited to attend and watch the current Raiders play Scituate in a regulation game scrimmage.

There will be a special presentation and all former North players will be served refreshments by the Booster Club.

Many former Raiders have said they will be present and hundreds of them are expected to join in the festivities.

"All are welcome," said Coach Ken McPhee, himself a former Raider stand-out. "It will be a great thrill to have former players mingle and reminisce about their years at North Quincy. The players on this year's club are looking forward to meeting many of the former players."

The current North coaching staff has four former Raiders, McPhee, a stand-out lineman on the undefeated 1966 Greater Boston League champions; Mark Mulvaney, a lineman in the 60's; Kevin Cobban, a fine quarterback in 1977 and '78, and Pete Zoia, an outstanding halfback on North's first three teams in 1933, '34 and '35.

Ted Sadowski is starting his 27th season as North assistant and has coached under every North head coach.

Volunteer coach John Muldowney will be helping out for his second year.

Serafini, Peruzzi Win Cade Cup At Furnace Brook

Mario Serafini and his cousin, Tave Peruzzi of Marshfield went three-up after the first four holes and went on to beat Brace Pinney and Bob Devin of Braintree, 6-and-5, to win the 15th Cade Cup member-guest tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

It was a family affair right down the line since their nephews, Ralph Serafini and Paul Iacobucci, who are cousins, served as their caddies.

Serafini and Peruzzi defeated John LaCamera and Joe Lawson of Brockton, one-up, and Pinney and Devin beat John McConville and John Hilton of Wampatuck, 2-and-1, to gain the final round.

Tom Mulroy and Dan Sullivan, unattached, registered a 2-and-1 victory over Ed Ceriani and Jim Collier of Pocasset to take the first flight and Walter Phelps and Gerry Cleave of Wollaston dropped Frank Christofi and Bob Bates of Braintree to win the second flight honors.

STEELERS WIN

Quarterback Kevin Mahoney scored the winning and clinching touchdowns on runs of 25 and nine yards as Coach Dan Mahoney's Morrissey Club Steelers of Quincy defeated the Whitman Town Team 18-6 in a semi-pro football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The undermanned Whitman team controlled the ball for most of the game but ran out of gas in the second half as five of its starters were forced to play on both offense and defense.

The Steelers got excellent running from halfbacks Gary Farina, Butch Mahoney and Donny Aikens. Farina scored the opening touchdown for the Morrissey Club on a four-yard run to climax a 50-yard drive in 10 plays in the first period.

CHALLENGE CUP RETURNS

Bob Danforth of Milton and the Boston Yacht Club staged a garrison finish in his 210 to overhaul Harry McDonough of Columbia Yacht Club and Fran Charles of Hull and bring the Quincy Challenge Cup back to Massachusetts Bay for the first time since 1955.

WEIGHT LIFTER PLAYS

Coach Jack Garrity announced that Dick Loud, a senior weight lifter who decided to play football only last spring, would be starting at right halfback for the Quincy High School team in the opener against Brockton.

JUNIORS NORTH KEY

With only eight seniors returning, including tackle Carl Cipollone, guard Bill Meehan, end Rich Gosselin and back Paul Gearin, Coach Carl Leone was looking to a group of talented juniors to fill the gaps on the North Quincy High School football team.

SPORTS BITS '62

Russ Doherty, Don Curry and Mike Halloran showed the way as the Squantum Yacht Club dominated the annual Town River Labor Day Weekend Regatta. . . The Boston Bruins opened training camp at Boston Garden with a squad of 35 players under Coach Phil Watson. . . Wally McEachern, John Kiley and Bob Zibbel were the batting stars as Keystone bombarded Telephone 16-3 in YMCA softball tournament play at Rotary Field. . . Sue Doherty of Squantum, an 18-year-old freshman at Salem State College, sailed to an amazing win in the National Senior Turnabout Championships at Crow Point Yacht Club in Hingham. . . The Boston Patriots of the American Football league signed Jesse Richardson, a defensive tackle released by the Philadelphia Eagles. . . George Burkes scored 20 points to lead the George Burke Club to a 54-49 win over the Boston Comets and capture the YMCA Senior Summer Basketball title with a record of 24 wins and no losses. . . Activities Chairman Terry Leschmier reported that substitute bowlers were still needed as the Catholic Women's Club of North Quincy opened its season at the Wollaston Lanes on Beale St. . . Don Schwalt pitched a four-hitter and walked only one to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics. . . Gene Nattie, former fullback and linebacker on the Quincy High School football team, reported for freshman football at Dartmouth College. . . Donny Aikens scored two touchdowns and Tom McNamara added a third as the Morrissey Club Steelers whipped the Rochester, N.H., Chargers, 21-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Babe Ruth 15-Year-Old All-Stars Defeat Coaches

The Babe Ruth League 15-year-old All-Stars defeated the league coaches, 15-9, last week under the lights at Adams Field in what is hoped will be an annual benefit game for the Jimmy Fund.

Mike Gormley of Local 1139 organized the event which raised $300 for the Jimmy Fund.

For the all-stars Pat Harrington of the Firemen and Robbie Fitzgerald of the Police had long home runs and John DiNardo of the Police had a bases loaded triple for the coaches.

Pitching for the coaches were Gormley, Jim Higgins of VFW, DiNardo, Peter

Niosi of Granite City, who struck out three in two innings, and John Franceschini of Police, all of whom pitched well until their arms got tired.

Pitching for the all-stars (each pitched one inning) were Steve Austin of VFW, Bob Lacey of the Elks, Tom Logan of the Elks, Pat Harrington of the Firemen, Larry Taglieri of Sons of Italy, Dan Santry of Local 1139, Jay DiBartolo of Golden Print and Billy Roche of Barry's Deli.

Also playing for the all-stars were Dave Tocchio, Firemen; Wes Crowley and Tom Tegen, Granite City; Chris Ricutti, Sons of Italy; Mark Bilton, Local 1139; Terry McKinnon and Steve Picarski, Houghs Neck Legion; Joel Rogers and John Nee, Hancock Bank; Tom Riley, Police; Jamie McArde, VFW; and Steve Minichiello, Golden Print. The team was coached by Bill LaForest of Hancock Bank.

The other coaches playing were Jay Tropica, Local 1139; Dick Lacey and Bill Ostiguy, Elks; Rich Crespi, Golden Print; Dave McMillan, Rick Higgins and Joe Timcoe, Houghs Neck; Steve Buckley, Local 1139; Lino and Sal Salvatore and Ralph Wheeler, Sons of Italy; Lee Staskiewicz, president of the International League, and Tom Mullaney, Granite City.

Driscoll, Stone Fallon Cup Winners

Brian Driscoll who, with partner Kurt Ochs, qualified for the championship flight last year but had to bow out due to a freak accident, returned last week with a new partner, Mike Stone, and they won the championship flight of the 44th annual Fallon Cup tournament at the Wollaston Golf Club in Milton.

Driscoll and Stone defeated Mike Prendergast and Bill Murphy, 4 and 3, in the championship finals.

In the semifinals Driscoll and Stone defeated Paul Anderson and Tom Papoulis, 2 and 1, and Prendergast and Murphy defeated Al Deluca and John Whittemore on the 19th hole.

John Levanchy and Peter McCarthy won the first flight championship with a victory over Paul Kelly and Edward Connolly.

In the semifinals Levanchy and McCarthy defeated Dan Shakespeare and Neil Abbott, 2 and 1, and Kelly and Connolly defeated Phil Flynn and David Saulnier, 2 and 1.

In the second flight Bill and Arthur Bemis defeated Henry Berry and Mike Barr for the championship.

In the semifinals Berry and Barr defeated Paul and Joe Zine, and Bemis and Bemis defeated Charles Chapman and Paul Seddon, 4 and 3.

Paul Dolan and Thomas Martin defeated Bill Johnston and William Prescott for the third flight championship.

In the semifinals Johnston and Prescott defeated Joe Higgins and Frank Bell, and Dolan and Martin defeated Scott Cartwright and Bob Walker on the 19th hole.

In the fourth flight the title went to Lennie Pasciucco and John Havens, who defeated Bill Walsh and Chris Ryan.

In the semifinals Pasciucco and Havens defeated A. D. Fox and Frank Dury, 3 and 2, and Walsh and Ryan defeated Ed Buck and William Daley, 4 and 3.

Mark Conley and Paul Dunphy defeated Joe K. Kelly and Robert McDonald for the fifth flight title.

In the semifinals Kelly and McDonald defeated Frank Barber and Bill Earl, and Conley and Dunphy defeated Henry DiRico and Paul Ochs Jr., 2 and 1.

Koch Women's League Opens 30th Season Sept. 10

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League will open its 30th season Monday, Sept. 10, at 7 p.m. at the Merry-mouth Daylight Alleys, Broad St., Quincy.

Women are welcome to join and participate as regular or spare bowlers and may attend the league's opening session to seek further information or register with the group.

The league will bowl for averages for two weeks before teams are assembled for the 1984-5 season. The league bowls Monday evenings until May of 1985 with an awards banquet and dance climaxing the session.

Officers for the 30th season are Joanne Colluppy, president; Edie Maher, secretary and Ellen McAdam, treasurer.

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League has been an active participant of the Christmas Charitable and Scholarship Fund Activities of the organization for the past twenty-five years.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

Baby Grand Piano

At Beechwood School

Beechwood Music School announces the arrival of a baby grand piano at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston.

Purchase of the piano was made possible by the Mass. Arts Lottery Grant as administered by the Quincy Arts Council, and by donations from the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, the Bryan VFW Post and by the support of friends and families of the Beechwood Music School.

The school has scholarships available as well as private lessons on many instruments.

There will be an open house, Friday, Sept. 14, from 5-8 p.m.

Those interested may register now for classes or do so at the open house.

For more information, call 471-5712.

'Rodney The Ape' Takes Honors In Crafts Display

"Rodney the Ape," a papier mache creation by the children at Kincaide Park captured top honors in the annual Arts and Crafts Display sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department.

The creations of the 26 supervised playgrounds were on display at McIntyre Mall for two days and the public was invited to vote for their top choice as city champions.

Second place went to the children from Russell Park for their reproduction on felt of the city seal. Third place went to "Jenny the Giraffe," a papier mache creation almost five feet tall, made by Shea Rink Park.

The LaBrique Recreation Train was fourth. The event was coordinated by Arts and Crafts specialists Marjorie Cristiani, Karen Robertson and Lori Prescott.

Prizes from McDonald's, Baskin Robbins, and Friendly's Ice Cream were awarded to all of the participants and leaders from the winning playgrounds.

The first place winner, "Rodney the Ape," was created by: Tina Calabro, Steve Davis, George Maize, John Nee, Beth Vacca, and Debbie Vacca.

Second place winners were Christine Barrett, Steven Barrett, Billy Campbell, Brian Campbell, Chris Campbell, John Campbell, Mary Ellen Eddy, Sarah Nelson, Mike Perry, Mark Portesi, Chris Potter, Jackie Potter, and Chris Roncarati. Leaders were Carol Thomas and Vic DiGravio.

Third place winners included Bob Austin, Kevin Daly, Julie Kelley, Rob Manupelli, Marcia Zanardelli, and Nicole Zanardelli. Leaders were Rick Kelly and Iara Dillon.

Fourth place winners were Debbie Brown, Karen Brown, Karen Dwyer, Randi Gaura, Renee Gaura, Robby Kane, Michael Kane, Jennifer McArdle, Kathy McArdle, Mark McMillan, Susan Mackay, Lisa Morrell, Janel Morell, Pam Norton, Karen Picarski, Christy Richmond, Jennifer Richmond, Matt Fratolillo, and Shaun White. Leaders were Cindy Morrell and Peter McCarron.

The P.M. Connection, Quincy Community Television's late day magazine program, begins its second season of programs Friday, Aug. 31 at 5:30 p.m.
The program will feature both live and taped segments. Included on the program will be segments on off-season autumn travel, fingernail painting, school registration procedures for entering high school freshmen and updates on local stories in the news.

Program host is Kathy McDermott. Joining her on the show are correspondents Jim Liedika and Donna Robertson. Producer is James Ladas of Quincy.

Community residents with ideas for segments on upcoming programs may contact Ladas at Quincy CableSystems, 81 School St., Quincy, 02169.

Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Preview On Ch. 3, Sun Ch. 8

The origin and operation of The Quincy Sun based Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon pledge center will be highlighted on OCTV Ch. 3 tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. and Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

Henry Bosworth, Quincy Sun publisher, and Richard Koch, executive director of Quincy Parks-Recreation Board, will be interviewed by John Noonan, host for the weekly public affairs Cable Talk program.

Bosworth and Koch have been co-chairmen of the Quincy - South Shore Telethon Committee for the past eight years.

Bosworth recalls his role in what is considered to be the forerunner of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon. A young boy afflicted with muscular dystrophy appealed to a hospital social worker for a card on his birthday. Bosworth wrote a feature story which appeared on the front page of the Boston Traveler.

The story was picked up by the wire services and carried nationwide and broadcast around the world by ham radio operators. Jerry Lewis saw the story and decided to put on a closed circuit television program featuring top Hollywood stars to cheer the young boy on his birthday.

Koch points out that the Quincy-South Shore Muscular Dystrophy Committee represents the combined efforts of many local civic, veteran, fraternal, business, and union groups to aid the muscular dystrophy fund raising drive.

The Cable Talk program also features highlights of last year's Labor Day telethon which was telecast locally from The Quincy Sun. This year the local telethon will be carried by American CableSystems in other South Shore communities including Milford, Randolph, Hull, Scituate, Cohasset, Hanover and Norwell.

The Cable Talk program and other telethon highlights will be repeated on Sun Channel 8 Friday at 6 p.m.; Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. news, and Monday, Labor Day at 9:30 a.m. just before the live telethon coverage begins at Quincy Sun headquarters.

Cable Talk is produced by Bob Gohl.

Marina Bay Festival To Benefit MDA

"Have a Heart and Give Jerry's Kids a Break" is the theme for Marina Bay's Labor Day Weekend Festival to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

On Sunday, Sept. 2nd, all day at the Marina will be one big celebration featuring popular New England show bands, "Heartbreakers" and "Fat City Band" as well as D.J.'s Mike Janedy and Mike Tucker. Through the day there will be food and drink provided by Bud Light and Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurants.

During the long fundraiser for MDA a Moped cycle donated by Suzuki-Yamaha of Quincy on Southern Artery, and a Wind Surfer donated by Marina Bay will be awarded in drawings.

The clambake and cookout festival will also have jugglers, clowns, balloon sales, magicians, break dancers and a fireworks display at 9 p.m.

Jan Holmes of WCVB-TV Channel 5's Sunday Open House will be at the festival from 4:30 until 6 p.m.

WEEK OF: AUGUST 30

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Your talent this week is in helping friends through hard times. Creativity brings results at home or on the job. It's not too early to plan events scheduled for late '84.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Romantic travel is highlighted through the week, but health issues require prompt review too. Finance is generally upbeat, with a possible windfall landing after the weekend.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
A good week for building relationships; the key is to make one move at a time. Athletics are accented, especially if competition is involved. Financial disagreement needs prompt resolution.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Friends are supportive and loving, though in a platonic way. It's a good week for sorting papers and arranging priorities. Educational planning brings favorable results.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
You have a magic touch for settling arguments—an especially useful trait from Monday on. You may be crossing paths with a one-time admirer—who still admires you quite a bit.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
You're unusually decisive this week and can accomplish a surplus of miscellaneous chores. Loved one is willing to accept your plans, but don't jump to too many conclusions just yet.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Don't hesitate to express your warmest feelings to the people you love and admire; your kind words mean more than you realize. Self-improvement scheme is favored for yourself and a partner.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Some spicy news and unexpected travel make this one of the liveliest weeks of the summer. Partner may reverse stand on a domestic issue. Chance to earn spare cash opens up.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Extra care is required when making investments of any kind. Loved one may be subject to mood changes; be prepared to keep a low profile. Relative is unusually tolerant.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Coming to grips with recent changes is an important challenge this week. Some cancellations are scattered through weekend. Debates and discussions are intellectually stimulating.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
If involved in design or decorating scheme, the keys is to pay maximum attention to finishing touches. Romantic revival is signaled for weekend; partner responds well to your optimism.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Don't hesitate to challenge the motives of friends, family or colleagues. Romance is on the upswing while finances require careful consideration. Keep informed of community happenings.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You have a healthy appetite for hard work and you make responsible, careful decisions. Sometimes you impose your high standards on others. A more logical approach in monetary and domestic matters turns the next months into a financially and personally profitable time.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 30th, actress Elizabeth Ashley; 31st, actor Buddy Hackett; September 1st, actress Yvonne DeCarlo; 2nd, producer Karl DeBoer; 3rd, actress Valerie Perrine; 4th, actress Mitzi Gaynor; 5th, actress Raquel Welch.

Kenneth Rullis Discusses Microwave Control For Water Systems

Kenneth F. Rullis of Quincy recently spoke on "Radio/Microwave Control for Water Systems" at a joint meeting of the New England and New York sections of the American Water Works Association.

His presentation focused on the cost effectiveness and feasibility of using radio and microwave transmission in lieu of leased telephone lines to operate pump stations and monitor tank levels of water distribution.

Rullis is an electrical engineer for Whitman & Howard, Inc., a Wellesley-based consulting engineering firm.

Since joining Whitman & Howard, Inc., in 1969, Rullis has been responsible for the design and engineering of power and lighting systems for a variety of water and wastewater projects throughout New England.

COSTLY IMPROVEMENTS

QUESTION: How far should I go in making major improvements before putting our home up for sale?

ANSWER: An expensive addition or improvement can be the kind of thing that will cost you far more than you get back. True, the house should be spruced up and neat, but it's rare when a large financial undertaking will bring more than its cost in the final selling price. There is always the risk of miscalculation too. Home improvements frequently end up costing a lot more than originally anticipated. You may end up with a faster sale and less inconvenience if you lower the price an equivalent amount.

BEWARE OF MAKING MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS before putting your house up for sale.

$40,044 For Jerry's Kids

By HENRY BOSWORTH

It rained on our parade but it couldn't dampen the spirit.

And when the weekend was over, we were over, too. Over the top, again.

Labor Day started wet and dreary and action at the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Pledge Center based at The Quincy Sun was sluggish. It didn't look like we were going to make it.

But thanks to a lot of nice people we came roaring back to top last year and pass this year's goal.

The pledge center raised $40,044.

It represents $34,844 in telephone pledges and $5,200 in fishbowl receipts.

The $40,044 tops last year's combined pledges-fishbowl figures by $4,196.

And, with some $45,658 realized so far in special events, it brings the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee's total figure for this year to date to $85,702. With more money yet to come in.

The committee's goal this year was to ring up $72,000 in pledges, fishbowl receipts and special events. This would make the eight year total $750,000.

Board Votes 4-1 For Dacey License

By Nancy McLaughlin

Customers of a new Dacey Bros. store in Merrymount will be able to take-out a sandwich as well as their other purchases.

The License Board, which resumed its regularly scheduled meetings Tuesday, voted 4 to 1 to grant a common victualer license for take-out to Jeremiah Dacey for 200 Sea St.

Fire Chief Edward Barry was opposed.

Dacey's request was continued from the board's special Aug. 2 meeting so that representatives of the store and residents of the area could meet to work out concerns.

Dacey Bros. currently has a store at 213 Samoset Ave. and plans to move because the lease will run out soon.

The new location, across the street, is a former garage.

The license was granted with a number of stipulations, including hours of 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Also included are 14 items agreed upon by Dacey and the Merrymount Association covering topics such as enclosure of a dumpster, fencing, deliveries, litter, lighting, landscaping and removal of tanks.

Ward Councillor Michael Cheney said he did not oppose the request as long as the 14 items worked out by the Merrymount Association and Dacey were adhered to.

Cheney also said the traffic commission has recommended improvements to traffic problems on Samoset Ave. and Sea St.

City Clerk John Gillis explained to the approximately 20 residents of the area attending the meeting that Dacey's request for a common victualer license gave the board some control over hours and other facets of the business.

If Dacey's decided to drop the request, said Gillis, it could move into the proposed location and could remain open 24 hours a day if it so chose.

One area resident who did not give his name said that there would be very little protest by neighbors if it weren't for the requested common victualer license.

The resident said he was concerned that there would be an increase in the volume of business and consequently an increase in traffic.

Atty. Robert Macomber, who represented Dacey's, said the store did not expect an increase in volume but that it would attract the same customers.

Chief Barry said licensing of the service station at the site 50 years ago wasn't a good idea, and that the board should do a lot of thinking before granting a common victualer license in the residential area.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald asked whether the city should take the land by eminent domain since there is opposition by Council Angered At Escort Plan Police 'Riot' Unit Next For Quincy?

By TOM HENSHAW

Another facet of the controversial affirmative action program designed to promote housing and employment opportunities for minorities in Quincy calls for development of a Police Community Disorder Unit.

Personnel Director Donald Hansen said he has informed the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination that he does not feel such a unit is really necessary but he has not heard from the MCAD.

Meanwhile, members of the City Council were preparing to take turns Tuesday night assailing the escort service aspects of the plan which they feel casts Quincy in an unfair light as a "racist" city.

"We are not a racist city," said Council President James A. Sheets. "To imply that such a situation exists to the point where an escort service is needed is absolutely absurd."

Both the development of a Police Community Disorders Unit and the escort service for minorities seeking housing are contained in the "educational" section of the affirmative action plan.

Hansen said he pointed out to the MCAD that Quincy police already have a liaison, headed by Lt. Francis Mullen, with the District Attorney's office to handle civil rights cases on an ad hoc basis.

"The relationship is very effective," said Hansen. "It goes all the way back to the General Dynamics strikes a few years ago. It handled the firebombing in Germantown very well."

"My response to the MCAD is that we already have a Community Disorders Unit."

Hansen said that the MCAD wants him, in his dual capacity as Affirmative Action officer as well as Personnel Director, to go out and actively investigate any civil disorders in the city.

"I don't want to be involved in the police field," he said. "The job of the Community Disorders Unit is to quiet racial disturbances. We have none. Even if we did, it's not the job of the affirmative action officer to go out on it."

"The MCAD simply doesn't know how a local government operates."

Sheets and City Councilor Joanne Condon both were outspoken on the escort plan, and some of their anger was directed at Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Hansen.

"I just returned to an angry City Council," said Sheets, who had been on vacation when the escort controversy started.

"They are angry because they read headlines about an escort service into which they had no input and they are getting calls from the national TV networks and they don't have the answers. "Councilors were not informed by the administration on this issue."

Sheets said he has no disagreement with the "carrot and stick" approach under which the city is denied federal and state

Postponement Asked On Pollard School Sale

The sale of the Pollard School in Quincy Point for $252,000 was on the City Council's agenda Tuesday night but planning Director James Lydon said the Council will be asked to postpone a decision.

The proposal by the Burkard Corp. of Boston is to convert the old school building into 22 condominium units but Lydon said the company now wants to increase the proposal to 29 units.

Lydon said it is hoped that the Council would put the order in committee to give Burkard a chance to explain the new proposal.

600 Cards Protest Hospital Understaffing

A dozen hospital workers showed up in Mayor Francis X. McCauley's office at 12 noon Tuesday with some 600 postcards they said were from Quincy residents who are concerned with "serious understaffing" at City Hospital.

The card-bearers reached the outer office of the Mayor but were greeted by closed doors to the inner sanctum.

"We were told that the Mayor was in conference," said Kathy Shaw of Houghs Neck, a laboratory technician, who was the designated spokesman for the group that day.

"If they had been thoughtful and called in advance we could have set up an appointment," said McCauley. I got the cards and sent them on to Mark Mundy, the director of the hospital.

A publicity release distributed by members of Local 285, Service Employees International Union, said the cards ask McCauley to "take steps to assure that quality patient care continues."

"In recent months," it said, "staffing levels at Quincy City Hospital have declined sharply, a fact which has been apparent to employees, their unions, patients, visitors and relatives."

"Hospital Corp. of America maintains that staffing levels are adequate but has refused to release statistics to back this up."

"The hospital is required by law to file such figures with the state Rate-Setting Commission but has so far failed to do so."

"Relatives and visitors have been especially aware of the severity of the situation. They have seen patients waiting for medications, X-rays and other services; and they themselves have been pressed into service to feed patients or carry bedpans."

The union said the root of the problem "appears to be an intense campaign by HCA to cut costs."

"The hospital had an $800,000 surplus last year and at the same time that the number of employees has been reduced to the lowest level ever, the number of management personnel has actually increased," said the union.

"The hospital's ability to deliver vital services to the community will inevitably be impaired by the staffing crisis."

Shaw said that in some cases where four or five nurses were handling 30 patients, now there are two and sometimes one.

City Hospital officials have blamed lack of certain patient services on occasion on financial restraints of the state's hospital cost containment law and unexpected absences of key personnel.

Fishing Gear Stolen

Fishing equipment was reported stolen Monday from a car owned by Thomas Dahill of 15 Samoset Ave., Merry-mount, while it was parked at Louis Cafe on Sea St., Houghs Neck.

Taken were four fishing poles, two tackle boxes, two boxes of tapes, a barracuda jacket. The lock was pulled from the door of the car.

Squantum Pharmacy Withdraws Beer, Wine License Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The owner of the Squantum Pharmacy withdrew his request Tuesday for a wine and malt beverage license for the store after it became apparent the License Board was not going to grant the license.

Gerald B. Springer, druggist and owner of the pharmacy at 746 East Squantum St., withdrew without prejudice his request for a druggist-retail package goods store-wine and malt beverages license after appoints out numbered proponents at the meeting. About 20 residents attended.

He withdrew the request at the suggestion of City Clerk John Gillis.

Gillis explained that if the board denied the request, Springer could not reapply for a year. However, if Springer withdrew the request, he could apply again at any time.

Springer told the board he requested the license as an economic measure. Pharmacy owner for about nine years, he said he has seen traffic in the store decrease over the last 4 or 5 years as business goes to chain stores.

"I run a nice store," said Springer. "I try very hard. I'd like to be there next week."

John Sullivan of 12 Essex St., was among several people who spoke in favor of the request.

"Mr. Springer is one of the hardest working persons I've ever known," said Sullivan. "We'd all be saddened if there was no drug store in Squantum."

Spokesperson for the other side was school committee member Mary Collins who told the board there was considerable opposition to the request.

"No one would be inconvenienced without the license," said Mrs. Collins, who also told the board such a license would not be appropriate in a store frequented by a lot of children.

Gillis noted that Rep. Michael Morrissey, Councillor Joanne Condon as well as a number of area residents were opposed. Councillor-at-large Patricia Toland also said she was opposed.

Mrs. Condon said she didn't think a beer and wine license would solve the store's economic problems, and suggested members of the community meet with Springer and help support the business.

Police Chief Francis Finn disqualified himself from voting because he is a customer of Springer's and felt he was prejudiced in his favor.

"Drugs should be sold in a drug store, liquor in a package goods store," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey said the board should consider all the community opposition in making its decision.

Gillis said he was disappointed that there was no support for such a license for the veterans of the American Legion when they applied.

Fire Chief Edward Barry was also opposed.

MILLY FANTUCCHIO did a little clowning around outside the pledge center to raise donations for Jerry's Kids and then came in to help mail telephone pledges.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to Cathy Ploof, 20 Edinboro Rd., Quincy, for a wedding reception Friday, Sept. 7, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted a special entertainment license to John J. MacDonald for an Irish concert Sunday, Oct. 28, 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the Wollaston Theater.

- Granted a request from James Richman of Mr. Wires Auto Electric, 15 Newport Ave., for a license for storage of 500 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars, oil, and a antifreeze, a boye-ground; and for repair work.

The business was formerly located at 2-46 Safford St.

- Granted a request from Yellow Cab of Quincy, Inc., 91-95 McGrath Highway, for a permit for rental and leasing of not more than six automobiles to be displayed beyond a 15 ft. setback.

- Denied a request from Taso's Pizza, 1622 Hancock St., for two video machines.

- Granted a permit to Quincy Point Congregational Church for a flea market Saturday, Sept. 8, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the church parking lot, 444 Washington St.

No used clothing is to be sold.

- Agreed to send a letter to the South Shore Bus Company, 134 Penn St., to appear at the next meeting and show why it is allegedly operating without a license.

- A request from Howard Johnson Co., One Monarch Drive, for a one day all alcoholic license for a retirement party Saturday, Sept. 29, 5:30 p.m. to midnight was rescheduled to Sept. 18.

Harold-Golden Debate Set For Braintree High School

A toss of the coin has sent the Paul Harold-Richard Golden state senate debate to Braintree High School.

The rival candidates in the Sept. 18 primary had agreed previously to debate Monday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. but the site was left undecided.

Richard Pierce of the Escort Plan: A Gross Insult

Once again, from their ivory towers in Lincoln, Weston and Dover, the editors of the Boston Globe have seen fit to condemn the good, working people of Quincy for what they perceive to be many long years of rampant and unchecked bigotry and racism.

For those of you who were fortunate enough to miss the Globe's editorial last week entitled, "Misperception in Quincy," it damns the whole city with faint praise for its affirmative action plan which contains a pledge to provide escort service for minorities who are seeking housing in the city.

"Quincy should be proud of having taken this step toward openness," said the editorial.

Proud, hell. Quincy was forced to accept this gross insult to 84,743 people under the direct threat of losing $2,765,000 in badly needed federal and state aid. Proud? Whoever said there was the smallest element of pride in knuckling under to blackmail?

One paragraph in the Globe's editorial sticks particularly in the craw of the people of Quincy.

"The city of Quincy has a history of discrimination and racial incidents. But over the years officials and the vast majority of residents have not faced up to the problems of bigotry. The indignation now being expressed is to be expected from a community that is finally confronting itself and actively and openly dealing with the issue of race."

What racial incidents? We can think of only two, the attempt to set fire to the home of a black woman in one of the Germantown housing complexes and the beating of five sailors, three of whom happened to be black, in Houghs Neck. Both incidents were handled with dispatch by the local authorities. Surely, Lincoln, Weston and Dover have had two racial incidents.

The city's affirmative action officer, Donald Hansen, who has dealt the most with the MCAD, said that whenever he brings up the subject of alleged racial incidents, those two are named and then someone brings up the fact that there were only 203 blacks living in Quincy at the time of the 1980 census. Therefore they must be afraid to live here. And, therefore there must be incidents that we never hear about.

True, there were only 203 blacks in Quincy at the time of the last census, but no one points out that the cen. was taken nearly five years ago and no one ever mentions the 122 American Indians, 25 Eskimos, four Aleuts, 45 Japanese, 306 Chinese, 157 Filipinos, 38 Koreans, 122 Asian Indians, 65 Vietnamese, three Hawaiians, three Samoans, one Guamanian and 253 others who were also enumerated. They are also minorities.

(Did you know that, as of 1980, only four Massachusetts cities had a higher percentage of Asians population than Quincy — Cambridge, Boston, Newton and Waltham?)

The Globe sees the indignation that is being expressed in Quincy as that of a city "finally confronting itself and actively and openly dealing with the issue of race." Once again the Globe is wrong. The people of Quincy are indignant because once again their city has been singled out to bear the brunt of an unfair assault.

The first gun was fired back in October, 1982, when David Harris of Randolph, the deputy commissioner of the State Department of Commerce, solemnly asserted that "I have traveled over the entire country and Quincy is probably the most racist city in New England. I can attest to that."

The fact that Harris, as it turned out, could attest to nothing has been lost in the rush of events as men like Alex Rodrigues have fallen all over themselves to paint Quincy with the ugly brush of racism.

And who is Rodrigues? He is the appointed head of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination who somehow seems to have accumulated more power than many elected officials.

"Who is Mr. Rodrigues to say we won't get any money if we don't escort people?" asks City Councilor Joanne Condon. "Who is he to decide? I wonder if the federal government would take away our money if we did not have an escort service?"

Perhaps it's time someone in Quincy stood up to see.

neighbors.

Cheney said the city is not prepared to make such a move. He also said a change in zoning for that property would not be possible.

Police Chief Francis Finn made the motion to grant the license. MacDonald seconded it.

Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey, who had earlier offered to disqualify herself because she is a resident of Merrymount and a member of the Merrymount Association, voted for the license saying it would give the board more control over the opposition. Gillis was also in favor.

2 Significant Changes Coming In Medicare

There are two significant changes regarding Medicare of interest to Quincy senior citizens, according to John Noonan, chairman of the Quincy Council on Aging points out.

The deficit Reduction Act of 1984, signed into law by President Ronald Reagan July 18, stipulates changes relative to physician payment and Medicare assignment under Part B as follows:

- Imposition of a 15-month physician reimbursement freeze covering the period July 1, 1984 through Sept. 30, 1985.

- Establishment of a "participating" physician program for which physicians must sign agreements by Oct. 1, 1984 in order to participate. (to "participate" is to agree to accept assignment for all Medicare cases. To be "Non-Participating" is to continue to accept assignment on a case-by-case basis.)

Noonan said that according to the latest information received from the National Council of Senior Citizens regarding this new law:

- Physicians cannot increase their charges to Medicare patients during the freeze;

- Physician charges will be monitored during the freeze.

Noonan pointed out that between now and the end of September, senior citizens and their advocates have an opportunity to increase assignment rates by asking doctors to sign the participating agreements.

If doctors sign the agreements, none of their Medicare patients will have to pay more than the Part B deductible and 20 percent of Medicare's approved charge.

Noonan cited other aspects of the New Law:

- The baseline to be used in determining whether a physician illegally raised fees will be the doctor's customary pattern of charges during the period April 1 — June 30, 1984.

- Directories of participating physicians will be available to beneficiaries and senior citizen groups.

- A Toll-Free telephone number will be used to give beneficiaries information regarding participating physicians.

- Medicare has sent letters describing these changes to all physicians. Letters to beneficiaries describing the participating physician program are expected to be sent out during October or November.

Anderson Named To Hazardous Waste Board

Public Works Commissioner Paul N. Anderson has been elected to the board of directors of the National Association of Local Governments on Hazardous Wastes.

The association develops policy resolutions for testimony before Congress and the Environmental Protection Agency.

"We are very pleased to have the city of Quincy as a member and to have their representative serve on the board of directors," said Ken Kirk, executive director of the association.

Anderson said he is "grateful for the opportunity to serve on this board since hazardous waste is an issue which must be dealt with conclusively during the coming years."

Commissioner's Corner

In September, 1976, Anne Keating of Quincy, a Commission member, conceived and chaired the Commission Task Force on Battered Women.

For two years, Miss Keating and her committee researched the battered women problem, visited existing shelters, attended lectures and reviewed the scant literature on the subject. The committee presented workshops and special programs on Woman to Woman Day in 1978 and 1979. There was enough interest shown in the subject so the committee decided to invite the public to join the project. Through Miss Keating's presidency of the new group now called DOVE (Domestic Violence Ended) interested and dedicated persons brought their ingenuity and enthusiasm and helped set up the hot line, advocacy and the first shelter in Quincy for battered women which opened its doors Labor Day weekend 1978 with the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women as the sponsoring agent.

On Sept. 10 at 7 p.m., Dove and the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women will co-sponsor a program on battered women at the Woodward School, Quincy Center, as part of the "Thank You" Dove Week. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The commission is proud of Dove's accomplishments.

QUEST

Quincy Encourages Sound Thinking

Think about it — Think before you speak — Give it some thought — What were you thinking about? — A penny for your thoughts — You know what I was just thinking?

It's amazing how many of our common expressions deal with thinking, and yet few of us spend much time thinking about thinking.

The Quincy Sun, in cooperation with the Quincy Public Schools, will feature an article each week which will highlight critical thinking activities and related topics. These activities and suggestions are intended to entertain as well as enlighten people of all ages and backgrounds.

TOPICS

Topics will include: improving your memory, making decisions, organizing your time, developing thinking skills in young children, and many more.

PARENTS

While we believe these articles will be entertaining and educational for everyone, parents in particular are urged to discuss the suggested ideas and activities with their youngsters.

QUEST CORNER

Each week we will also feature a brain teaser, logic problem, anecdote, or mind expander for your enjoyment. Here's a sample:

Place a word in the blank that is a synonym for both the word or phrase before it and after it.

Example:
TWIG — stick POKE
Note: They increase in difficulty as you go on. The answers are below on this page. Good luck!

funds if it does not have an affirmative action plan.

"I disagree with the application of the approach in Quincy where no problem exists," he said. "We are not a racist city. A lot of different people live here in harmony."

"The City Councillors are very upset. They feel the Mayor and Hansen have embarrassed the city and damaged its reputation across the country."

"It's a slap in the face," said Condon, "the way it makes the city look like it's so unsafe for minorities that they need an escort to seek housing in Quincy."

"Many minorities live in the city and they are apparently happy to live here. I have had no problems related to me about housing in Quincy."

Condon said she feels that Alex Rodriguez, chairman of the MCAD, is out to "make an example of Quincy and that's unfortunate."

Quincy has made a good faith effort to comply with affirmative action.

"I wonder if the federal government would take away our money if we did not have an escort service?"

"Who is Mr. Rodriguez to say we won't get any money if we don't escort people?"

"Who is he to decide?"

Housing Rehab Funds Available At 11.75 Per Cent

The Planning Department is accepting applications for the Neighborhood Revitalization Component of the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency's 11.75 per cent fixed interest rate home mortgage program.

Loans will be written for a term of three years.

Applicants must be first time home buyers and meet the following income qualifications: $29,000 for a family of one, $35,000 for a family of two, $38,000 for a family of three, $41,000 for a family of four and upward by units of $3,000.

The homes must be purchased in one of three eligible neighborhoods in the city...the Ward 2, Atlantic and Southwest Quincy target areas.

A minimum of $3,000 rehabilitation to the home is required in addition to the loan amount.

Maximum cost of home purchase, including rehabilitation, cannot exceed $77,000 for a single family house, $87,000 for a two family house, $105,000 for a three family house and $123,000 for a four-family house.

Funds are available on a first-come-first-serve basis.

For further information call Elizabeth A. McElaney at 773-1380, extension 444.

Kelly, State Officials Tour Quarries

Former City Councillor Leo J. Kelly says he sees new hope that the state will take over the Quincy quarries as open space following a tour of the area with Environmental Affairs Secretary James S. Hoyt.

Hoyt, along with representatives of the MDC, the Appalachian Mountain Club and the Friends of the Blue Hills, visited the quarry area Tuesday at Kelly's invitation.

Kelly is chairman of the city's Environmental Control Committee.

"We tried to impress on them (the MDC and Hoyt) the need to acquire the quarries for the people who come after us," said Kelly. "and for the people who came before us and worked in the quarries."

"I think we are doing a better selling job than before. We showed them the views from the top of the quarries, the possibilities as a recreation area, nature walks and picnics."

"The attitude of the state is changing because of the controversy over Prouse Farm in Canton. There is a greater interest in preserving open space while it is still there."

Costly Obsolete State Laws To Be Phased Out

Obsolete state laws, rules, and regulations that cost taxpayers money will be phased out under new legislation co-sponsored by Senator Paul D. Harold, D-Quincy.

The new law empowers the new Division of Local Mandates in the State Auditor's office to review thousands of state mandates and recommend to the legislature those which ought to be changed or abolished.

Harold said Auditor John Finnegan's staff will concentrate on mandates which have "significant financial impacts" on cities and towns.

"The Division of Local Mandates was established as a result of Proposition 2½, to insure that state government does not impose additional responsibilities on cities and towns without providing the funding," Harold notes.

"This additional "sunser" authority will allow the division to analyze state rules on an ongoing basis, and point out those that can be phased out with resulting savings to the taxpayers."

Harold said Finnegan's staff will review the mandates on a five-year cycle, starting with those in force since 1960, the year the Home Rule Amendment took effect.

"I am pleased to have co-sponsored this new initiative with the state auditor, in line with the policy of relieving cities and towns of the costs of what are, in effect, state programs, and reducing outdated and wasteful programs," Harold said.

Charles Pearce Elected

Private Industry Council Chairman

Charles Pearce, chief executive officer of the Quincy Savings Bank, was elected chairman of the South Coastal Private Industry Council at its annual meeting at Walsh's Restaurant, North Quincy.

Paul Delorey, circulation director of the Patriot Ledger was elected vice chairman.

The South Coastal Private Industry Council has 30 members who volunteer their time to establish public policy over the local operation of the Job Training Partnership Act. The South Coastal Service Delivery Area covers 22 cities and towns from Milton to Plymouth.

Fore River Wins Quarter Billion In Navy Contract

The Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard already loaded down with some $250 million in defense contracts, was awarded another quarter billion dollar contract to build four aircraft carriers and six cruisers for the Navy Department.

Shipyard officials, somewhat overwhelmed by the amount of work facing the yard over the next six or seven years, said a large amount of plant expansion will be needed to meet the new contracts.

The new aircraft carriers were to be huge vessels of 26,000 tons each costing $20 million apiece or $120 million in all. The USS Wasp, recently finished at Fore River, was a 14,000-ton ship whose contract was priced at $21 million.

The size of the cruiser contracts varied with the size of the vessels but when the yard was awarded its last cruiser contract in July the prices ranged from $23 million to $18.5 million each, an average of $20 million per ship.

Vessels currently under construction at Fore River included a 35,000-ton battleship.

PROFITS HIDDEN

William Cunningham, a professor at the Harvard Business School, testified before an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing that the New Haven Railroad made "handsome profits" from its Old Colony branch but never credited them to the line.

The testimony came as the State Department of Public Utilities handed down a decision permitting the New Haven to discontinue passenger service to the West Quincy, East Milton and Montclair stations on the West Quincy branch of the Old Colony and save $26,761 a year.

CAMP VANDALS

Mrs. Raymond H. Davis of 120 Phillips St., Wollaston, president of the Quincy Campfire Girls, said police appear to be unable to contend with vandalism at the group's camp on Pine Island in Merrymount Park, target of vandals nine times in less than four months.

QUINCY-ISM

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin and MDC Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman were negotiating to build a flower-studded traffic rotary at the Neponset Bridge that would make "an attractive entrance into Quincy" similar to the circle at the Fore River Bridge ... Charles R. Herbert, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Herbert of 11 Bayberry Rd., Squantum, was named to a post in the Landscape Architecture Department at the Massachusetts State College in Amherst ... Broiled, baked, or boiled lobster dinner was 75 cents at the Anchor-In, 751 Wollaston Boulevard ... The City Council was urged to either repair or demolish the 23-year-old footbridge over the New Haven Railroad tracks at the foot of Warren Ave., Wollaston ... The Saturday bill at the State Theater was "Convicted Woman," starring Lola Lane and Rochelle Hudson; "Sagebrush Family Trails West," by Bobby Clark; and Chapter One of the new serial, "Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe" ... A farewell party was held for John Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilcox of 1066 Sea St., Houghs Neck, who was leaving for Notre Dame to study to become a missionary priest ... Frankfurts were 15 cents a pound at Foy's Market, corner Franklin and Water Sts., South Quincy ... George W. Stafford of 20 Ford St., Merrymount, who enlisted in the Canadian armed forces in August, was injured while drilling with the motor cycle corps in St. John, N.B. ... Lundeen's Orchestra was playing Swedish and American music for dancing at the Adams Cafe, 150 Water St., South Quincy ... Welfare Commissioner Anthony J. Venna said there were 35 openings for boys ages 17 to 23 in the Civilian Conservation Corps ... Christmas seals designed by Felix Martini, a former resident of Cross St., West Quincy, were ready for distribution by the National Tuberculosis Association ... Mrs. Grace Finger was elected president of the newly formed Wollaston Lutheran Guild for young married women.

Kitty Dukakis At DOVE Gala Sept. 12

Mrs. Kitty Dukakis, wife of Gov. Michael Dukakis, will be the featured guest at a festive gala Wednesday, Sept. 12 sponsored by DOVE, Inc., the only shelter serving battered women and their children on the South Shore.

Scheduled for 6 to 10 p.m. at F. Kennedy Presidential Library, the gala is part of DOVE's week-long celebration of its fifth anniversary.

In accepting the invitation, Mrs. Dukakis wrote, "DOVE has an impressive record with regards to what has been accomplished in the last five years since your incorporation as a non-profit organization."

"We are delighted Mrs.

Dukakis will join us in thanking the community for their constant support of DOVE's efforts," stated Joyce Baker, President of DOVE.

"Everyone who has been involved with DOVE can be very proud of the agency's growth and accomplishments."

"It is not easy for a volunteer group to grow into a fully staffed agency with a shelter, hot line and well established support programs in five short years."

"It was the all around support from the city, county, business community, state and the United Way as well as the strong volunteer base that made it reality."

"Everyone involved deserves to be commended and this is the purpose of our gala."

The gala will also feature a film, an ad book, refreshments and music. Honored at the event will be DOVE's past presidents, Anne Keating of Quincy, Esmeralda Santiago of Hingham, Bernie MacPherson of Quincy and Rose Mary Kirwin of Braintree.

The week which has been designated DOVE week by five communities - Quincy, Hingham, Norwood, Braintree and Westwood, also includes workshops, cable TV panel show and an information booth.

QJC In Pilot Financial Aid Program

Quincy Junior College has been selected as a participant in a series of pilot financial aid programs offered by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The programs will allow the College to offer scholarships, low interest loans, and part-time employment to students who are Massachusetts residents.

AFDC recipients in particular would benefit from the Adult Learners Program, a scholarship program which will allow most welfare mothers to attend Quincy Junior College free of charge.

According to Quincy Junior College Financial Aid Director Elizabeth Goreham, about two out of three Quincy Junior College students are currently receiving some type of financial aid.

"These new programs will allow us to help even more people attend college," she said.

Quincy Junior College Admissions Director Richard Pessin said that "Quincy Junior College still has openings for the Fall, 1984 semester in many programs. We will continue accepting applications for both admission and financial aid through the week of September 10th when classes begin."

For further information, contact the Quincy Junior College Financial Office at 786-8775.

PAINT REMOVER AND HEART DISEASE

Paint remover can be hazardous to persons suffering from coronary heart disease, reports the Journal of the American Medical Association. The main ingredient in most removers, methylene chloride, is rapidly metabolized by the body into carbon monoxide.

Even in a healthy person, non-lethal concentrations of carbon monoxide can place a significant stress on the cardiovascular system. But in a coronary heart disease patient, the results could be far more serious. A person who has a cardiovascular problem or a family history of heart disease should try to avoid using paint removers that contain methylene chloride. All paint removers should be used out of doors or in a well-ventilated area.

Samuel 'Eddie' Davies, 71, Well-Known Pianist

A funeral service for Samuel "Eddie" Davies, 71, of Quincy, a well-known local pianist who started his career at the Old Howard Theatre in Boston, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St.

Mr. Davies died Saturday at Carney Hospital, Dorchester, after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy for 60 years.

Born in Alliance, Ohio, he was educated in Quincy schools and was graduated from the Burdette Business College, Boston.

A World War II veteran, he started his career 45 years ago playing piano for burlesque shows at the Old Howard and later played with band leaders Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw when they were in Boston.

Mr. Davies played at the former Elsie of Wollaston Beach and he recorded the original versions of "Moonglow" and "Picnic."

As a member of the Warren Robbins Trio for 30 years and the Earl Rand Trio, he played for weddings, benefits, country clubs, yacht clubs and New Year's Eve dances.

Mr. Davies was a member of the Houghs Neck Legion Post and the Bryan VFW Post, which held a special service for him Monday night at the funeral home.

Until his retirement in 1977, he was an assistant manager for Kidder Products Co. of Avon.

Husband of Evelyn (Welsh) Davies, he is also survived by two sons, Trevor Davies of Weymouth and Rennie Davies of Philadelphia, PA.

Burial was at Knollwood Park Memorial Cemetery, Canton.

Former Warehouses Owner

A funeral Mass for Frederic W. Sheehan of Quincy and Falmouth, an Abington bank director and former owner of Granite Cold and Storage Warehouses in Quincy, will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. in St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mr. Sheehan died Sunday in Carney Hospital, Dorchester, after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy and Falmouth for 50 years. Born and educated in Abington, he was a graduate of Abington High School, St. John's Preparatory School, Danvers, a 1925 graduate of Georgetown University, and attended Harvard School of Business Administration.

A football captain at Abington High School and Georgetown University, he played professional football for the Providence Steamrollers, now the New York Giants.

Mr. Sheehan's name is permanently inscribed at the Athletic Hall of Fame at Abington University.

As an avid baseball fan, he followed the Red Sox to spring training camp at Winter Haven, Fla., for many years and was a member of the Bosox Club.

For 30 years, he was a well-known first-nighter at the South Shore Music Circus, Cohasset.

Mr. Sheehan, who joined the Navy the day after Pearl Harbor, served as commander in the Atlantic during World War II.

A member of the board of governors of the Quincy Neighborhood Club, he was also a member of the Clover Club of Boston and the Knights of Malta.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Webb (McAnaney) Sheehan.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery Quincy.

Donations in his memory may be made to a favorite charity.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It is a commendable fact that Americans are indeed a truly generous people . . . Perhaps more than any other people, they prove the truth . . . "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

D. Scott Deware

Instead of being doomed to brood and suffer in silent agony, countless millions of people in our country and throughout the world have been given nourishment in soul and body by Americans who generously give their time, talent and money for the benefit of others. Why does this happen so often?

Could it be they realize they have no right to be complacent; to believe they have an automatic, inalienable right to moderate or better prosperity? Could it be they realize their own hopes can be pressed down by the needs of daily living; that they have no guarantees they will never need help themselves?

Could it be they - in truth - accept fully and follow the admonition of the Golden Rule? Regardless of the reason, isn't it a pleasant sight to see God's hands at work every time we "lend a helping hand?"

Senator Paul D. Harold

Democrat

A Solid Record of Achievement

Groundbreaking for the Burgin Parkway extension; DPW Commissioner Robert Tierney, Senator Paul Harold and Governor Michael Dukakis.

Over the past five and one half years Quincy has been well served by the energy, leadership and full-time commitment of its State Senator - Paul Harold.

He is dedicated to the job and has built an impressive record of securing state improvement projects and legislation for the city.

- Preservation of Conrail service to General Dynamics and Procter and Gamble.
- Funds for the Burgin Parkway extension, Town Brook flood control and related sewer improvements.
- Monies needed to complete the Quincy Mental Health Center.
- Special legislation for the independent operation of Quincy Junior College and Quincy City Hospital.
- Ongoing improvements at Nut Island.
- Continued upgrading of the Red Line.

He has accomplished all this without compromising the integrity and independence that Quincy voters demand of their elected officials.

At election time, candidates ask for your vote, but Paul Harold is more than a candidate - he has proven himself and is doing the job that you sent him to the Senate to do.

The Boston Jaycees named him "outstanding"; the Massachusetts Municipal Association selected him "Legislator of the Year." You can keep him working for Quincy by supporting him in the Democratic primary on Sept. 18.

Dear Paul,

As a Quincy voter, I'm proud of your record of service in the Senate and want to help in your re-election campaign by:

- ☐ Helping at the headquarters
- ☐ Sending dear friend cards

- ☐ Calling my neighbors
- ☐ Lending my car bumper for a sticker

Contributing:

- $5 pays for 20 Harold brochures
- $10 pays for one Harold sign
- $15 pays for one Harold radio ad
- $25 pays for 100 Harold bumper stickers

United First Parish Resumes Regular Services Sunday

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Centre, will resume regular Sunday services Sept. 9.

The morning will begin with the annual Homecoming Breakfast for friends and members of the Church.

The meal will be a chance to renew friendships over a meal prepared by the Board of Governors. Food will be served beginning at 9:15 a.m.

During the Church

Service, which begins at 10:30 a.m., the annual Water Ceremony will be observed.

This is a special occasion for members of the congregation to come forward with small containers of water brought from summer excursions. Members will speak briefly of the special memories associated with the water as they pour it into a communal container, symbolizing the sharing of summer memories and the joining together again of the church family in the fall.

The rev. Keith Munson will lead the service, which is open to the public.

Social hour, with tea, coffee, juice, and cookies, will follow the service.

A collection will be taken during this time by the Social Concerns Committee for CARE's Drought Relief Fund for the 20 million people in 24 drought-stricken African countries.

'Becoming A Person' Bethany Topic Sunday

The morning worship service Sunday will be at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spears Sts., Quincy Centre.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Becoming a Person," based on Biblical texts from Jeremiah 20:7-13 and Romans 12:1-8. The lay scripture reader will be Louise B. Forsyth.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will lead the liturgy and administer the sacrament of Christian Baptism to Stephanie Anne Nicholson, daughter of George and Linda (Spear) Nicholson. Godparents will be Ann and Philip Nicholson.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E.

Krasinski, organist, will be retiring for the first time this fall. The choir will sing as an offertory "Lead Me Lord" by Samuel Wesley, and as the anthem, "At the Name of Jesus," by R. Vaughan Williams.

Following the worship service there will be a fellowship hour beginning at 11 a.m. in Allen Parlor.

The service also will be broadcast at 11 a.m. over South Shore Radio, WJD A, 1300 kc, by delayed-tape.

Bethany's Sunday School will reopen Sunday, Sept. 16, with registration of pupils at 9 a.m. and a worship celebration for children and adults in the sanctuary at 10 a.m.

This Sunday, Sept. 9, Bethany Church will conduct the worship service at 3 p.m. at the outdoor ecumenical shrine. The Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, N.H., near Mt. Monadnock.

Rev. Arnold will preach a special sermon on "Religious Liberty." The Chancel Choir, augmented by additional voices, will sing two selections under the direction of Peter Krasinski.

Two chartered buses will leave from Bethany Church at noon and will return by 7:30 p.m. It is suggested that persons bring food for a picnic supper following the worship service.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to go on the buses, and to share in the morning worship and fellowship. For more information regarding the services and ministry of Bethany, or to make bus reservations, call the church office at 479-7300.

'Bread Of Life'

Squantum Church Sermon

The pastor's sermon at both services of the First Church of Squantum Sunday was "Bread of Life."

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin spoke on the subject of Christian Bible reading and explained how Christians should read the Bible devotionally.

David Williams and Kim Olsen were the ushers at the guitar service. Mary Ruth Scott provided the accompaniment to the hymns.

At the second service, the ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. Ann Lombardi and Susan Scott sang the offertory "El Shaddai" at both services.

Next Sunday, there will be only one service for all at 10:30 a.m. At 9:15 a.m., there will be an all-church breakfast sponsored by the youth of the church. The new church carpet will be dedicated during the service.

On Sept. 16, the regular fall schedule of two services will resume, with the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School will resume during both services Sept. 16.

Orange Crush will meet Friday at 3:30 p.m. and Seven-Up at 7 p.m. Three other youth groups begin next week at 3:30 p.m. Mello Yello on Monday, Ramblin' Roots on Tuesday, and Pepsi Free—ks on Wednesday.

The Church Council will meet Sunday, Sept. 16, after the second service. First meetings for the church boards are Board of Christian Education, Sept. 10; Board of Trustees, Sept. 17; and Board of Deacons, Sept. 26. All board meetings begin at 7:30 p.m.

Orientation Days For Christian Nursery Schools

Orientation days for a Christian Nursery School Program for three and four year olds will be held Sept. 13 and 14 at the Dr. Charles Djerf Child Development Center 65 Roberts St., Quincy.

Orientation for three year olds will be held Sept. 13 at 10 a.m., and for four year olds Sept. 14 at 10 a.m. Openings are still available for both programs.

On Sept. 17, school will begin for the four year olds 8:45 a.m. — 11:45 a.m. meeting Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

On Sept. 18, school will begin for the three year olds 9 a.m. — 11:30 a.m. meeting Tuesday and Thursday.

Flea Market Sept. 15 At Memorial Congregational

A Flea Market will be held on the lawn of Memorial Congregational Church, 65 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, Saturday, Sept. 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Rain date will be Sept. 22.

Space, with or without tables, will be available for rent to interested dealers.

Space may be reserved by calling the church office, 328-5240, from 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesdays through Fridays.

The public is invited to attend the flea market. There will be a snack bar available.

Co-chairmen are Ruth Mathews and Glendon Crowell.

Cesarean Childbirth Preparation At QCH Sept. 21

Quincy City Hospital will sponsor a two session program, "Cesarean Childbirth Preparation Course", beginning Friday, Sept. 21. The program is designed to guide expectant parents through their Cesarean Birth experience.

The Friday evening sessions will cover prenatal testing information, physical and emotional changes, anesthesia, breathing techniques, operative procedures, labor and delivery, family bonding, and infant care.

The sessions, to be held at the hospital from 7-10 p.m., will also enable parents-to-be to participate in information sharing about their pregnancy and cesarean birth.

Mothers planning a cesarean birth, regardless of hospital affiliation, are advised to call 773-6100, ext. 461 to receive a brochure or register for the course. All coaches and support persons are welcome.

Information about other childbirth preparation courses, breastfeeding or sibling orientation programs sponsored by the Quincy City Hospital Maternity Dept. is available by calling 773-6100 and ask for the hospital's Family-Centered Maternity Unit.

Safe Prisoner Transport Program Becomes Law

Private vehicles and public transportation can no longer be used to transport prisoners in Massachusetts under a new law that makes permanent a pilot program in effect since 1982.

The program, developed by the Massachusetts Sheriffs' Association while Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall was president, corrects what had been determined to be a dangerous practice.

The new law calls for payment of all transportation expense by the state to the counties involved rather than to the individual officers as mandated under previous law.

"Official, fully-equipped and professionally trained staff in county vehicles will provide safe and more secure transport of prisoners and defendants to and from jail to the courts,"

said Marshall.

"Since the pilot program began, Norfolk County taxpayers have had a bonus windfall to help reduce their county property taxes. "In fiscal 1984, Norfolk County received $270,000 in prisoner transportation reimbursements and in fiscal year 1985 it is expected to near $300,000."

DOVE Week To Mark Fifth Anniversary

Two workshops will kick off DOVE week, a celebration honoring the agency's fifth anniversary Monday, Sept. 10 from 7-9 p.m.

A two-part community conference co-sponsored by DOVE's founding group, The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, will be held at The Woodward School, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy, Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Atty. Chester Paris will be the featured speaker at a program for legal professionals at the Neighborhood Club from 6 to 8 p.m.

Monday's conference, which is free and open to the public, will begin with a discussion of how violence affects children.

"Children are the silent victims of domestic violence," stated Joyce Baker, president of DOVE. "Any program dealing with domestic violence would not be complete without an early intervention program aimed at helping the children."

DOVE's Children's Program Coordinator, Susan Caron, will be the speaker.

The second part of the conference will feature DOVE's legal advocate, Josephine Mittina, addressing the Legal System and Domestic Violence - for or against you. Legal options available and how to work with the legal system will be discussed. Free child care will be provided.

Tuesday's program designed for the legal professional will be highlighted by Atty. Paris. He will discuss legal issues of domestic violence and, in particular, The Commonwealth vs. Best case.

Other activities scheduled for DOVE week include a gala at The Kennedy Library, information booths and a cable TV panel show.

Further information may be obtained by calling 471-5087.

Chamber Education Group To Aid South Shore Schools

Directors of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce have endorsed a plan to establish a South Shore Regional Educational Foundation to use its resources to assist education in local communities.

"The South Shore Chamber of Commerce recognizes the need to maintain quality education in every community on the South Shore," said Warren Noble, the Chamber's vice president for community affairs.

"By upgrading specific programs now we can guarantee that our graduating seniors will be equipped intellectually to handle the rigors of a complex society."

The plan, developed by the Chamber's Business-Education Committee, calls for the foundation to disburse its accumulated resources for specific programs in a school district at no cost to the district. However, each district's school committee must agree to the terms and conditions set forth by the foundation.

"The South Shore Regional Education Foundation will consist of five related programs," said Noble. "Two are cash grants in nature; three are non-cash."

"Taken together, the five offer a broad opportunity for the region's educational institutions and business organizations to participate in one or more of several partnership arrangements." Letters have been mailed to South Shore school superintendents to see how many systems will be interested in participating. Letters will be mailed to business firms to determine partnership interest.

Once those contacts have been made with individual businesses, members of the Business and Education Foundation Working Committee will explain each specific program to those people.

Co-chairmen of the Business Education Committee are Dr. Eleanor Gowan, principal of Scituate High School, and Amy Geogan, assistant vice president of Bank of Boston-Norfolk.

Other members of the Working Committee include Mark Cullings of the Hingham School Committee; Peter Mello, coordinator of the cooperative program, Northeastern; Larry Fitch, president, Jobs for Bay State Graduates; and Terry Fancher, manager of community development, South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Chief Michael Kelley Navy Recruiter-In-Charge

Chief Radioman Michael E. Kelley was recently appointed Recruiter-in-Charge at the Naval Reserve Center at 85 Sea St., Quincy.

Commander William W. Wesenberg, Commanding Officer, said "The Quincy Center serves the entire Metropolitan Boston area and trains more than 700 reservists. Chief Kelley was selected to head the recruiting staff because of his experience as a recruiter with a reputation for matching the right person with the right Naval Reserve job."

Kelley, a Quincy native and 1964 Quincy High School graduate, is a regular Navy veteran who also has 11 years as a drilling reservist. His former assignment was Regular Navy Recruiter-in-Charge at the Quincy station.

A graduate of several Navy schools and of Newbury Junior College, Kelley is working toward a bachelor's degree in business administration.

The son of Mrs. Norma Kelley of Weymouth and the late Frank Kelley, Chief Kelley and his wife, the former Frances Poley Cutler, of Mattapan, live in Weymouth.

Cadet Paul Elsmore Attends ROTC Camp

Cadet Paul D. Elsmore, son of retired Air Force Master Sgt. Wayne L. Elsmore of 48 Sea Ave.,

Quincy, received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Bragg, N.C.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

Elsmore is a student at Quincy Junior College, and is attending ROTC at Northeastern University.

Cerasoli, Tanner To Debate Sept. 14

Rep. Robert Cerasoli of Quincy and Thomas Tanner of Weymouth, rivals for Cerasoli's seat in the Sept. 18 Democratic primary, have agreed to debate Friday, Sept. 14.

The debate in the Studios of Bay Shore Cable TV will be taped at 4 p.m. and aired in its entirety for Weymouth viewers only two hours later.

Quincy Cablesystems will not carry the debate.

Joseph Neal of Bay Shore Cable will act as moderator and the ground rules call for each candidate to have two minute openings and closings with 50-60 minutes of questioning by a panel of newsmen.

Parents Council To Meet

The Quincy City-wide Parents Council will have its first meeting of the 1984-1985 school year Monday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at Central Middle School.

Meetings this year will be held throughout the city in the various middle schools.

James Connell Honored

A retirement luncheon was held at Dutton's Restaurant to honor James W. Connell, who recently retired as Superintendent of the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

Among those attending were Mayor Francis X. McCauley who presented Connell with a citation from the City, Rep. Michael Morrissey, who presented a citation from the House and himself, Sen. Paul Harold who presented a citation from the State Senate along with his personal gift of a framed print of sailing ships in Boston Harbor.

Director of Treatment

Systems Robert J. Holthaus presented citations from Congressman Brian Donnelly, Governor Michael Dukakis, and MDC Commissioner William J. Geary. Holthaus also read a letter of appreciation of Connell's 32 years of service to the MDC from Chief Engineer Noel D. Baratta.

George A. Marcham, current superintendent of the Nut Island plant, and William R. Smith, Sewage Treatment Plant Mechanic, thanked Connell for his years of service.

The New England Water Pollution Control Association presented Connell with the following awards:

E. Sherman Chase Award-Outstanding Professional Engineer and Pioneer Treatment Plant Operator, William D. Hatfield Award-Outstanding Annual Reports of Wastewater Treatment Plant Operations, Arthur Sidney Bedell Award-Acknowledged Extraordinary Personal Services Within the Membership Association, and Quarter-of-Century Club membership.

John C. MacPherson, chairman, was emcee at the luncheon. He was assisted in organizing the event by Thomas G. Lawless, Nancy Corbett and Joan E. MacKenzie.

Sun Pledge Center Raises $40,044

The $85,702 so-far-this-year figure brings the committee's eight year total to $764,537. That's $14,537 more than we were shooting for. And with more money to come in from special events it could get a lot closer to $800,000 in the next few weeks.

Two Labor Day weekend special events were biggies.

The Marina Bay Festival sponsored by the Barrett Family Restaurants and Marina Bay Sunday raised $7,500 and, reports Brian Valliere, it could go higher.

Down in Hingham, Jay Tolman held his ninth annual Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Collection Party at his home and hit the jackpot: $11,158.

For the many volunteers who manned the telephones or performed a variety of key jobs, it was a rewarding weekend as the phones started ringing up a storm and a lot of nice people—children and adults—streamed to The Sun pledge center to do their part to help Jerry's Kids.

This year, for the very first time, the pledge center activities were carried over a cable television network thanks to American Cable-systems.

Monday's activities were carried live over Ch. 3 and Sun Ch. 8 in Quincy and in Milton and Randolph and shown delayed via videotape in Cohasset, Hull, Scituate, Hanover and Norwell.

And, of course, long-time good friend WJDA was here for the eighth year broadcasting live progress reports.

Some 2,207 pledges were handled over the telephones here and mailed out for delivery Tuesday.

We sometimes get cynical because, it seems that the crackpots, the thieves, the murderers, the rapists, etc. etc., get the publicity making us sometimes think the world is full of that kind.

But it isn't. There's an awful lot of nice people in this world. Just give them a worthy cause like the fight against muscular dystrophy and they'll be there to help.

They were here this Labor Day weekend. It renews your faith in humanity.

It was a hectic weekend and trying to keep track of everything that happened and every nice thing that every nice person did is impossible. I can't remember everyone by name or act of kindness. And I want to apologize in advance if I don't remember, perhaps, what you did. So, please forgive me. I'm tired as I write this and I know I'm going to forget someone I shouldn't.

But let me try to remember. Let me mention some people like:

Old reliables Rita Kelleher, Joe and Vera Sullivan, Mario Salvatore and John Fantuccio who have been with us from the start—all of them right arms...Harold Crowley of Wollaston, who got us off to a fast-and-good start—with a $25 check on Thursday, three days before the beginning of the telethon, because he was going to be away on Labor Day...The woman who came into The Sun office Friday to donate $10 but preferred not to say who she was. "It's my lucky day," she said. "I won the office pool and I want to share some of it with Jerry's Kids..."Naomi, Edna and Ruth Abbiatti (the latter my teacher at the Pollard School), who donated $25...Elsie Eaton, 87 years old, Quincy who phoned in a $10 pledge to help Jerry's Kids...Lester Glasser who again pledged $18 in memory of his wife, Ida. Eighteen means "life" in Jewish and that's what Lester wants for Jerry's Kids—life...Agnes Morin of Chubbuck St., Quincy, who pledged $40-$10 in the name of each of her four grandchildren, Stacy, Mike, Paul and Chad...the Quincy Park-Recreation Board for the tables and chairs for the pledge center...Remo DeNicola OLD FRIEND Baron Hugo who will be 81 Sept. 11 leads traditional victory march through Quincy Sun Pledge Center with trombonist Ted Kirk.

MANNING THE PHONES on first shift are Richard Koch, Sr., co-chairman of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee; Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., Thomas Koch, Sons of Italy President John Tamasco, Don Wheeler of

of South Shore Television who loaned us two color TV sets so we could see the national telethon on Ch. 5 and the Quincy pledge center activities on Chs. 8 and 3...Bank of New England, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Quincy Rotary Club, Koch Club, Quincy City Club, Sacred Heart Church, Quincy Municipal Credit Union, Colman's Sporting Goods, the Quincy Lions Club and Riley and Rielly Insurance Agency who sponsored telephones at the pledge center to help out costs and free more money for research and patient care...Arthur Chandler of the Wollaston Theater who again donated 100 tickets to that theater as fishbowl prizes and also helped man the phones...City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro and his wife, Betty, who have been with us every year from the start, manned the phones again this year and pledged $25...Weymouth School Committeeman Sulo Soini who was a key worker at the pledge center all day Monday and donated $25...Sandy (Comfortman) Rounseville who dropped down off a building to donate $25 to the fishbowl...Register of Probate Thomas Hughes who came by with a $100 check to give the fishbowl a big push on Monday...Former City Councillor Tom Gilmartin who donated $10 to the fishbowl to help keep things moving...Teresa Grogan of Milton who came in with a sack filled with $76 in pennies she had saved for over a year...Rene Raincourt who sings the National Anthem at the Bruins games, stopped by to do the same for us...Sheila McIntyre, wife of the late former Mayor-Senator James McIntyre, who pledged $200...Burt and Helen Cook of Tags Furniture, both of whom are active with another worthy cause—the Lupus Foundation—shared their love and concern with Jerry's Kids by pledging $50 and challenging Quincy businessmen to match it...Councillor Michael Cheney who donated $50 and worked the phones...Twelve-year-old Cherie Condon of North Quincy who came by to sing...Old friend Rex Trailer who has been very active since 1956 in the fight against muscular dystrophy and many other worthy causes. He took time out on a busy day for him to drop by the Sun pledge center and make a pitch for us on our cable TV network...Sheriff Clifford Marshall who furnished a security guard of deputy sheriffs, helped man the phones and donated $250 from himself and his wife, Louise, Marshall also received a $20 donation from Warren Spencer who was one of Marshall's first political opponents...Retired Police Capt. Frank Vallier who always came to the pledge center to make a donation but couldn't this year because he just had a kidney removed. But he didn't forget us. He telephoned in a $25 pledge...Don Gohl who came by to sing and also donated $25...Carmine D'Olimpio, head of the Quincy & South Shore Building Trades Council, who pledged $100 in honor of working men and women...Former Mayor Arthur Tobin and wife, Shirley who celebrated their wedding anniversary with a $100 gift to Jerry's Kids...Deputy Sheriff Adeline Pompeo who donated her time as part of the security guard and topped it off with $120 for the fishbowl...Lisa Merenda who sang—and quite beautifully—with the Quincy High School Alumni Band...Stephanie and Michael Siteman, who danced for us...Brian Galligan, another fine singer also entertained...The late George Tobin was a long-time favorite at the pledge center, lugging in cans of pennies he would save from one telethon to the next. Tim and Nina Tobin, Charles and Carol Labadie and Dot O'Neil donated $100 in checks and pennies in his memory...Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy, who worked the telephones and pledged $100...Joseph Jones, all the way from Newburyport who pledged $20 and challenged all 10-year-old boys to donate one month's allowance to Jerry's Kids...Victoria Skaff of Braintree who pledged $10 in memory of Nicholas Skaff...Charlie Kane of Kane's Place, Quincy Point who donated $50 and his patrons who matched it...Arthur Mulcahy Family of Weymouth who pledged $100...Mary Cronin who came in with $395 collected from colleagues at Electro Switch in Braintree. She's been collecting for MDA for 11 years...Joseph Manning of Milton, 94 years young, who pledged $25 for Jerry's Kids...Tom McDonald of the Bryan Post and past VFW state commander and one of our right arms at the pledge center every year couldn't make it this time because of having to return to the hospital for a checkup relating to recent bypass heart surgery. But Tom called in a pledge of $100 in memory of late Former Mayor James McIntyre and challenged all of Jim's friend to match it...A good friend, George Parker of the Yellow Cab Co. did it again. Every Labor Day afternoon George strolls in with two checks. As he did Monday, to keep the momentum going. One for $300 from Yellow Cab Co. and a $400 personal check...Former Mayor Thomas Burgin who pledged $25...Mayor Francis McCauley who manned the phones and made a pledge...Win Bettinson and Herb Fontaine of WJDA who broadcast live progress reports over WJDA, and appealed to listeners to help Jerry's

Kids. And Win filled in at the phones... Teresa Grogan of Milton who came in with a bag full of pennies...The parents of Bob Peterson, Jr., who donated $20 in honor of him making Lance Corporal in the Marines and challenged all other parents with children in the armed forces to match it...Quincy Sun Ch. 8's John Noonan, Leslie Thompson and Frank Cammarata for a job "well done" as hosts on the cable TV network...The Quincy Cablesystems production crew headed by Steve Marx and including Keith Nickerson, Tom Dea, Edna Solander, George and Nancy Santry, Walter Engstrom, Brian Sullivan, Doug Nickerson, Gary Peterson and Ken Galvin with a nice assist from The Sun's Bob Gohl...John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., West Quincy, who donated a $450 Sharp microwave oven as a prize to help bring money to the fishbowl and tossed in $25 himself. His wife, Joan, assisted in the pledge center. John has donated five microwave ovens, a computer game and color TV set the past seven years...Agnes Aimola, who pledged $25 in memory of her husband, Alfred...Ken Kelleher, who supervised the Sunday night shift, then came back Monday to lend a big helping hand, all day. Daughter Karin was also here doing her part for Jerry's Kids...Steve Gillis of McDonald's of Quincy who donated enough food to feed an army and gallons of cold drinks. He also had his friends, Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie the Early Bird at the pledge center...George White of the Patriot Ledger who arranged the personal appearance of Donald Duck, Tweetie Bird and Sylvester The Cat...Matthew and Andy Thompson of Milton who donated $12 they had saved...Deputy Sheriffs Tony Albanese, Paul Gagliardi, Robert Zorn, Walter Kaeding, Tony Trubiano, Robert Petzoldt, Adeline Pompeio, Maureen Bamberg, Paul Lydon and Ken Runge who provided security at the pledge center and rushed video tapes of activities here to Scituate to be shown on Cable TV in that area. Ken, who spent many an all-night at the pledge center as a key volunteer before being named a deputy sheriff, got that old feeling again. He stayed on Monday night to escort the fishbowl receipts safely to the bank...The Quincy High School Alumni Band, led by George Vallatini, who played some nice Glenn Miller stuff and show tunes. Members of the band: Joe Pearson, Laurie Aronoff, Tim O'Leary, Michael Preble, Rick Pearson, Lisa Curran-Merenda, Ed McGowan, Pat Sullivan, Ken Anderson, Rick Aramian, Matt Warner, Bobo Coviello (guest trumpet), Dale Solander, Mark Preble, Bryant Carter Jr. After playing a good part of the day, the band collected $62 among themselves for the fishbowl...The Citations, a classy musical unit with Paul Ricca, Angelo Paglioca, Jim Nicoloro, Joe Contrino and Chris Contrino. And Joe also took up a collection. And a young fellow by the name of Baron Hugo, who joined them on the drums and did a little crooning. Baron will be 81 Sept. 11...George Montilio who whipped up special birthday cakes for Baron (designed like a drum) and Mario Salvatore who is "39" and holding on tight...Both Baron and Mario were serenaded with "Happy Birthday" by the volunteers...And Baron led his traditional rousing victory march with trombonist Red Kirk through the pledge center to climax the long Labor Day weekend...The Quincy Sons of Italy gang who are always there when you need them: President John Tamasco, Vice President Dick Realini, Mario Salvatore, Sebastian Papagno, John Fantucchio, and Jim Mastrantonio. And last--but never least--Dick Koch, Sr., a big right arm all year round as co-chairman of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee.

I know I've overlooked many others who helped in many different ways. I always do. But it was a long, hectic and tiring weekend. It's impossible to keep track of everyone and everything.

Every Labor Day weekend refreshes our faith in people. There are so many nice and wonderful people who are there when you need them.

Thank you all, most sincerely. Someday, we hope, there will be no need for a telethon to help Jerry's Kids. That day will come when we have finally licked muscular dystrophy.

It will come--some day--because of people like you.

He was trained in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading and self-defense.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

QUESTION: Do you have any suggestions on how much a home should be lighted when being shown to a prospective buyer?

ANSWER: In my opinion — the brighter the better! Give the prospect the best image you can of the comfort, beauty and livability you are offering. In other words, you want to sell a home not a house. And full illumination is the best way to give your home the "lived-in" look. Furniture, rugs and fixtures take on a warm glow from the proper lighting. Kitchens should always be bright, turn on lights in all rooms and especially in closets and storage rooms. The brighter — the better.

THE BRIGHTER THE BETTER when showing a home for sale. Full illumination gives that "lived-in" look.

At North:

A Good Starting Team But Lack Of Depth

By TOM SULLIVAN

Ken McPhee, starting his third season as head football coach at his alma mater, North Quincy, has what he feels is his best starting team but is concerned about a lack of depth.

"I feel our starting team, both on offense and defense, can play with anyone, but we are very thin and any key injuries could be costly. If we can keep away from injuries and can find some capable backup players, we will be able to give anyone a battle. We are facing our toughest schedule but I am eagerly looking forward to it."

McPhee has a team loaded with veterans. The Raiders will have a line averaging close to 220 pounds and will have a lot of speed.

As North prepares for its season's opener Sept. 15 against oldtime non-league rival Milton, all eyes are on Tri-Capt. Al DiBella, who will be returning as guard on offense and noseguard on defense.

"I feel DiBella is as good as any player in the state and he should definitely be an all-scholastic," said McPhee. "He goes 6-1 and weighs 235 and is very quick."

"But, although everyone is talking about him, we have some other players who should be all-scholastic. We have some very fine ball players."

On offense North has veteran Jerry Coughlin and newcomer Ken Runge as tight ends. Coughlin was a standout last year, while Runge, an excellent athlete, played junior high football but did not play for the Raiders the last two years.

For wide receivers McPhee has Richie Brooks, one of North's best who will also be the number two quarterback, and Rob Bradley.

Other offensive linesmen include Tri-Capt. John Hannan (210), a three-year starter; center Larry Naleitz (195), John Renezy, Bill Doherty and Ted Mulch, all veterans.

Dave Zuroms returns as the starting quarterback and has looked good. He will be backed up by Brooks, who saw considerable service there a year ago.

The hallbacks are led by two veterans, Tri-Capt. Steve Kelly and Joe Bangs, both of whom are expected to have big seasons. Jim Cataldo is another promising halfback and Leo LeMay, who starred for the sophomores last year, is an excellent prospect.

McPhee has two excellent fullbacks, Colin Powers, who weighs 190 but is one of the fastest men on the squad, and Mike Barry.

On defense Runge, veteran Dave Cooke, Coughlin and newcomer Mike Russell are the ends, veterans Joe Morrissey (230) and Steve Dever (220) the tackles, DiBella and Hanna the noseguards, Barry, Doherty and veterans Kevin Sullivan, Kevin McCarthy and Ed Bagley the linebackers, Kelly, Bradley, Rich Horigan, LeMay and Tony Lio the cornerbacks and the defensive hallbacks are Brooks, Bangs and Tim Sullivan.

McPhee, who led the Raiders to a 5-4-1 record, including a scoreless tie with Quincy last fall, has Mark Mulaney, Ted Sadowski and the venerable Pete Zoia back as assistants with newcomer Kevin Cobban, a former Raider quarterback.

Mulaney, who was offensive coach last year, will handle the defense with defensive coordinator Jack Raymer now head coach at Quincy, while Cobban will handle the offensive backs as well as helping with the defensive backs. Sadowski is starting his 27th season as a Raider assistant.

At Quincy:

Offensive Unit Promising, Defense A Question Mark

The Quincy football team is preparing for its season opener Sept. 15 at Cambridge with its third head coach in three years.

New coach Jack Raymer is still getting acquainted with his players.

Raymer, an assistant coach at North Quincy for the past seven years after six years of helping out at Quincy, succeeds Bill Maver, who took over as head coach a year ago and resigned to take a position at Acton-Boxboro High. Maver moved up from assistant to replace Tom Fitzgerald, who stepped down after seven years as the Presidents' head man.

"I am eagerly looking forward to this challenge and I have some really fine boys to work with," Raymer said. "We have a lot of players returning and I honestly feel our starting offensive unit will be one of the best. I really haven't had time to work much on the defense, but we have a lot of big, eager boys working out."

On offense Raymer has Kevin Burke (215) and Mark Callahan (185) at tight end and Joe Conti and John Wholey as wide receivers. All played last season.

The probable starting tackles are John O'Callaghan and Rich Pettinelli, both weighing 215. The guards are Paul Calabro (195), Walter Rollins (190), Pat Duggan and Ed Wholey, and the number one center is Steve Perletta (230).

Bill Shaughnessy is back at quarterback and Raymer expects a big year from him. Backing him up are Larry Taglieri and sophomore Steve Austin.

A pair of speedsters, Darron Tucker and Gerry Frazier, are back at halfback with Paul Miller also looking good. Raymer sees a big season for Big Joe Cullen (215) at fullback. "He's a bull and will be awfully hard to bring down," the new coach said. Sophomore Steve Picarski is playing behind him.

Raymer is not sure of where his players will be on defense but he has a good group of big boys raring to go. Many of the players will be going both ways as the Presidents are lacking depth.

Kevin Duggan and Kevin Devonshire will be nose guards, O'Callaghan, Rollins, Pete Gangi and Steve McNamara (210) will be tackles and Calabro, Burke and Cullen defensive ends.

Miller, John Wholey and Kevin Jolley will be among the linebacksers and among the corner backs, defensive backs and safeties will be Frazier, Picarski, Conti, Tucker, Shaughnessy, Chris Beneto, Mark Porzio, Dan Parry, Mike O'Connor and John Heath.

"I'll be able to tell a lot more after a few scrimmages," said Raymer. "But I'm very pleased with the eagerness of the players and I feel we will have a good, competitive team."

As of last week Raymer had only returned Jeff and Mark Giordani as assistants. No replacement for John Sullivan, who resigned, had been named. Quincy has only a nine-game schedule this fall. Weymouth North will fill the open date next year. by TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy Legion Sees Better Times

The Quincy Legion baseball team won only one game this summer but Coach Vic DiGravio feels the season was not a total loss.

"While we didn't have a good season as a team, I did see a lot of positive things which makes me hopeful for next year," DiGravio said.

Quincy was competitive in most games only to have one bad inning ruin its chances. Errors played a big part in many of the losses.

Quincy did have an outside win, defeating Cooperstown, N.Y., while visiting the Baseball Hall of Fame in July.

The game was played at Doubleday Field, where the annual Hall of Fame game between the Detroit Tigers and Atlanta Braves was played.

"It was a great trip for everybody," said DiGravio. "The Hall of Fame is a wonderful place to visit and the field we played on was unbelievable. The kids really enjoyed themselves and hopefully we'll be able to get back there sometime."

DiGravio will be losing Mark Chambers, Chris Connolly, Vic DiGravio, Denis Downing, Nick Gelsomini and Jim McNamara. Also leaving will be assistant coach Al Campbell, who has decided to step down.

"We are losing a good bunch of kids but we have a good nucleus coming back," the coach said. "I'm sorry to lose Al Campbell, he's been a great help to me the past couple of years."

Returning will be Gerry Arroyo, Jimmy Arroyo, Pat Calabro, Paul Canavan, Joe Ciardi, Dan DiGravio, Mike Draichio and Pat O'Sullivan.

Defeat Adams, O'Leary

Gleason, O'Rourke Cade Cup Winners

Tom Gleason of Furnace Brook and George O'Rourke of Braintree won the 37th annual Cade Cup championship Monday at the Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Gleason and O'Rourke defeated Jon Adams of the Host Club and Jim O'Leary of Warwick County Club on the 21st hole.

The semifinal losers in the championship flight were John Toland and Red Flannery and Jack Guilfoyle and Brian Broderick.

Winners of the championship consolation were Kevin O'Malley and Sean Byrne, who defeated Paul DiFederico and Kevin Mulvaney on the 20th hole.

The first flight was won by Vin Sullivan and John LaCamera, who defeated Brian Morrissey and Mike McCarthy on the 19th hole.

Semifinal losers were Jim McNeice Sr. and Jim

McNeice Jr. and Carl Leone Jr. and Rich Corner.

In the first flight consolation Bud Sullivan and Dick Blomstrom defeated Bert Nogier and Bill Bemis on the 19th hole.

The second flight was won by J. D. Murphy and Paul Mahoney, who defeated Dave Gosselin and Brad Buckley on the 20th hole.

Semifinal losers were Bob MCune and Bob Dennis and Bill Skudris Jr. and Don Lamb.

Jim Reilly and Mike Haynes won the second flight consolation with a win over Dave Bailey and Chris Bailey.

The tournament committee was made up of Frank Foster, John D. Murphy, Bob Donoghue, Paul Ceriani, Kevin O'Malley, Scott Roberts and Tom Tchan.

Jaehnig Club Wins 4th Straight

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club of Quincy won its fourth straight game, improving its record to 6-2, in the Ridge Racquet Club fall basketball league.

Jaehnig, which won the summer league title, has its sights set on a repeat performance this fall. It has been using strong defense and exciting offense.

The team has defeated Hanna Club, Armstrong, DC Club, O'Brien Oil and the Emissions, while losing close contests to Miller A.C. and the Selects.

The highlight of the season thus far was a double-overtime 74-69 decision over O'Brien Oil. Forced to play with only five players, Jaehnig fell behind, 15-4, but came back to send the game into double overtime.

Steve Mele, Bob Eastman, Mike Granahan, Brad Selland and Mark Jaehnig led the club to victory.

Mele, Granahan and John Jameson have led the team in scoring, while Selland, Chuck and Mike Jaehnig and Mike Wilson have played outstanding defense. Eastland has been outstanding at point guard, running the potent fast break.

Youth Baseball Registration Sept. 8

ANTHONY T. DELMONICO, who volunteered much of the work in building the new Quincy Bowling Green fieldhouse, celebrates the opening by taking a turn on the green.

THE COMPLETED new Quincy Bowling Green fieldhouse and tool storage area, which replaces the one destroyed by fire two years ago.

AMONG THOSE attending the dedication of the new Quincy Bowling Green fieldhouse were, Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery; club president Clayton Worden and Anthony T. Delmonico, Park and Recreation Board Commissioner who volunteered the installation of a cement floor, cement block walls and other stonemason work.

Joint Venture Restores Bowling Green Fieldhouse

The Quincy Bowling Green fieldhouse and tool storage area have been replaced in a joint venture by Quincy Bowling Green Club members, the Park and Recreation Board and Park Department.

On September 25, 1982 an early morning fire of undetermined origin destroyed the wood frame structure constructed in 1947 and enlarged in 1970.

Confronted with the fiscal restrictions of Proposition 2½, the Park Department sought a direction used with other organizations utilizing recreational facilities, a sharing of restoration costs.

In the new cement block fieldhouse construction at the Pageant Field Merry-mount Park location, Park and Recreation Board Commissioner Anthony T. Delmonico volunteered the erection of a cement floor, cement block walls and other stonemason work required while the Park Department carpenter and helper were assigned to construct the roof.

The Quincy Bowling Green members contributed $5,200 toward materials for the construction while Clayton Worden, president of the club, and members Louis Motta, Charles MacLeod and Vincent Fraser participated in the finish work including inside carpentry and interior and exterior painting. Quincy Vocational Technical School students were used in plumbing work with the club members providing the materials.

The Park Department absorbed the cost of the 10 foot by 10 foot equipment storage cement block building with Delmonico again volunteering his time for the cement block construction.

The new Quincy Bowling Green fieldhouse is 31 feet by 10 feet and provides a restroom and kitchen facilities for members utilizing the Bowling Green.

Constructed in 1933 and opened for play in 1934, the Quincy Bowling Green is in its 50th season.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery said that the mayor, City Council and Park and Recreation Board members were anxious to provide a structure to replace the burned out facility. The new fieldhouse construction is valued at $12,000 with the materials and volunteer labor cost combined.

North Football Alumni Day Saturday

It is hoped that every one of North Quincy's 51 football teams will be represented at the North Football Alumni Day Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders' first three teams of 1933, '34 and '35 will be represented by at least one player as Pete Zoia, an outstanding back on those teams, is a North assistant coach.

All former players from 1933 to 1983 have been invited to attend and watch the current Raiders play Scituate in a regulation game scrimmage.

There will be a special presentation and all former North players will be served refreshments by the Booster Club.

Jackets Awarded At Morrisette Legion Baseball Dinner

Two former players, Mark Dwyer, who played from 1973 to 1975, the year Morrisette went to the World Series in South Dakota, and Joe Marani, who played from 1970 to 1973, were the featured speakers at the recent Morrisette Legion baseball banquet at the post home.

Dwyer paid tribute to his coaches and said that playing in the Legion World Series in 1975 was the biggest thrill of his life. Both he and Marani, who is a teacher at Newman Prep and an assistant football coach at B.C. High, emphasized the "great Morrisette pride."

Coach Ray Cattaneo was master of ceremonies. Head table guests included post commander Jerade ("Jake") Mahoney, assistant coach Connie Carozzi, athletic officer Frank Osborne, former state Rep. Joe Brett, Morrisette's number one fan, and Tom Sullivan of The Quincy Sun.

Cattaneo recognized long-time Morrisette coach Nick Malvesti, George Page, whom he thanked for his efforts in getting Adams Field ready for games, and Charlie Ward, Norfolk County chairman.

Jackets were presented to the following players: Chris Bunker, Jack Bolster, Jack Outerbridge, Tom Ryan, Scott Mele, Denis Cronin, Chris Marshall, John Christiani, Paul Ratti, Mike Joyce, Danny Shea, Dan Kelley, Rich Brooks and Tom Connolly.

Jackets also were given to bathboy Mick Cronin, Osborne and scorer Richard "Berger" Ryan. In a special presentation Cattaneo presented a jacket to Augie Bergonzi, who helped Cattaneo in a variety of ways.

Koch Club Men's League Seeking Bowlers

The Koch Club Men's Bowling League is seeking new bowlers for the 1984-85 season.

Those interested in participating as a regular or spare bowler may contact President Paul Koch, Secretary Bill Dowling or Treasurer Tom Koch at 241

Newbury Ave., North Quincy.

The league will open its 35th season Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 7 p.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome, Quincy Shore Drive.

One of the oldest activities of the Koch Club, the league was formed in September, 1950 at the former Norfolk Downs Alleys in North Quincy with 30 participants.

The Men's Bowling League will hold weekly sessions through April of 1985 and close out the season with an awards banquet and dance in May.

The league will bowl for averages for three weeks preceding the formation of teams and team competition. All those registering in the league will participate.

Quincy Team In World Mud Bowl

The Headlock Cafe mud football team of Quincy will compete in the 11th annual World Mud Bowl Sept. 14, 15 and 16 at North Conway, N.H.

This is the second year the team has worked its way to the championship playoffs. Fran Conroy, a former coach in the Quincy school systems, coaches the squad.

The Headlockers were upset by P.J.'s Pub Mudharks for their only loss of the season in a recent tournament in Ipswich. The 29-6 score is no indication of the game as P.J.'s scored two touchdowns near the game's end when Headlock inserted a new "trick" defense.

The first 39 minutes of play were close with both teams exchanging trips up and down the field. Headlock's only score came on a pass play from Gerry Mulvey to Buddy Barton. The team is hoping for a little more luck in the championship series.

Playing for the Headlock Cafe team are Conroy, Wally C. Bones, Joe Cortese, Mike Carloni, Dan Coughlin, Bob Crowley, Jim Delore, Joe Benoit, Brian Doherty, Steve Erickson, Doug Gott, Jerry Mourin, Jim Hurley, Bob Lamie, Ken Marsters, Bones Morrissey, Jerry

Mulcahy, Jerry Mulvey, Ken Murphy, Mike Repucci, Dave Sommers, Swibby Swirbalus, Kevin O'Connell, Wink Phelan, Peter Folkins, Paul Vespaziani, Ronny Frizzell and the star of last year's championship game, Critter Flaherty.

Last Year: the tournament was expanded from four teams to eight and extended to three days.

Proceeds from the event, sanctioned by the National Mud Football Association, go to various charities. Last fall more than $20,000 was raised. Two years ago $17,300 was raised.

The Quincy Youth Football League will open its 34th season Sunday with two games at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Houghs Neck Panthers will play the Quincy Point Panthers at 1 p.m. and the West Quincy

Elks will face the Squantum Sailors at 2:30.

The North Quincy Apaches have drawn a bye.

Track Club Registration

The Quincy track club will hold registration for its fall Track and Cross Country Program Tuesday's and Thursday's from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. at Veterans Stadium.

The program is open to boys and girls ages 6 to 14. Fee is $10. The program runs through Nov. 1. For information call 328-8188.

Tools Taken

Larry Franklin of 47 Saratoga St., Squantum, reported to police Sunday that someone broke into a shed on his property and made off with about $400 worth of tools.

Taken were a circular saw valued at $180, a soddering bit at $15, a drill at $80 and a timing light at $95.

Edward Maclary New Choral Society Director

Edward Maclary, Director of Choral Music at Tufts University, has been chosen to direct the Quincy Choral Society.

He replaces Robert E. Brown who conducted the Choral Society from 1981 to 1984 and will continue as conductor of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

Maclary was graduated from the University of Delaware in 1974 where he received the degree of bachelor of music in voice performance and Music Education.

In 1980, Maclary was awarded the Degree of master of music history and music education by Boston University. He is completing work for the Degree of Doctor of Music and Choral Conducting at the Indiana University School of Music.

Maclary has been director of the Newton Choral Society, Graduate Assistant in Choral Music at Boston University, Staff Instructor in the Tanglewood Young Vocalists Program at Lenox, Director of Choral Activities and Instructor of Music at Elmira College, Director of the First Baptist-United Church of Christ Choir in Bloomington, Indiana, a Visiting Lecturer at the Indiana School of Music, Director of the Indiana University Chorale and Chorus Master of the Opera Chorus in the Indiana University Opera Theater.

The new conductor will begin his work with the choral society Monday, Sept. 10, at East Congregational Church, 610 Adams St., Milton at 8 p.m. when the chorus will begin rehearsals for its annual Christmas Concert at North Quincy High School early in December.

Among other works, Maclary has selected R. Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on Christmas Carols" and a medley of Alfred Burt carols for this program.

The Quincy Choral Society is open to all experienced singers and new members from the area are welcome.

In addition to the Christmas concert, three other performances are scheduled for the 1984-1985 season.

New Classes At Beechwood Center

Beechwood Community Life Center will offer in September an SSAT preparation course for High School Placement Test covering the math and verbal requirements on the test.

Math classes will be held Monday afternoons; verbal classes will be held Wednesday afternoons. Students can sign up for one or both classes.

The center will again offer a Study Skills course designed to improve use of time and study habits for Grades 6-8.

Aerobic morning and evening classes will start in September.

A special seminar entitled "Car Repair for Women" will be conducted Sept. 29 from 9 to 1.

For more information regarding these September classes, call the center at 471-5712.

Adopting Greyhounds Cable Talk Topic

Interested in adopting a greyhound as a pet? Tune in Cable Talk tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. or Sunday, Sept. 9 at 9:30 p.m. Ch. 3 (QCTV). Two officials of REGAP (Retired Greyhounds As Pets) will discuss details of adopting these racing dogs who are too old or become ineligible to compete. The officials point out that contrary to popular opinion greyhounds do make very friendly family pets. REGAP was founded in the South Shore area to assist in finding suitable homes for these dogs who cannot race. John Noonan is host for Cable Talk and Bob Gohl produces the public affairs program which is commencing its third consecutive year on Quincy Community Television.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 6

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
You're put on "hold" until the weekend, then life picks up at lightning speed. Instinct pays off in romance matters. A flirting friend may be more serious than you believe.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Financial worry shows signs of easing and social life is perking by the weekend. If shopping, you're wise to do some thorough consumer research. Monday offers romantic news-brightener.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
You develop some potentially profitable ideas and should be careful not to spill them. Domestic scene improves when you express your concerns to the appropriate individuals.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Financial gains follow Thursday-Monday. Friend is reluctant to keep some promises. Diet plans may be unrealistically drastic. Design abilities are unusually strong.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Financial transactions are speeded up, but home improvement projects become complicated. Good week for considering a volunteer undertaking; shop around before you sign up.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Children look to you as a role model, but you mustn't forget that you're a mortal. At home or on the job, pay little attention to rumors, no matter the evidence.

LEO — July 23-August 22
You can be slightly melodramatic in your styles or with your words. Domestic problems start to clear up. Avoid hasty decisions in health or romance matters.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Small financial windfall is headed in your direction... just don't spend it till it's in your hands. Important document needs careful reading between the lines.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Accent is on health. Review family needs, and take extra cautions where practical. Dispute with neighbor is resolved by weekend. Avoid discussions of religion and politics.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Charm is your middle name and can ease you out of a tricky situation. One warning — you can't count on charisma alone for romantic revival. Career advancement looks promising.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Financial surprises are scattered through this period. Shaky relationship becomes steadier thanks to your compassion. In family dispute, don't have the last word.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
News from far-off places arrives by Wednesday. Partner is surprisingly generous. Family members enjoy the small joys that only you can provide.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
A born leader and a born teacher. You can adapt to new situations — which is an especially useful trait over the next three months. Children — not necessarily your own — bring you unexpected happiness in the year ahead.

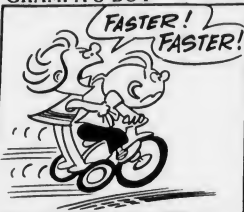

BORN THIS WEEK
September 6th, comedienne Jo Anne Worley; 7th, actor Peter Lawford; 8th, comedian Sid Caesar; 9th, actress Kristy McNichol; 10th, singer Jose Feliciano; 11th, actor Earl Holliman; 12th, actress Margaret Hamilton.

FLAG DAY BREAKFAST—George H. Raymond, President of the Quincy & South Shore Board of Realtors and Mary Dawson, Chairman of the Legislative Committee for the Board and representatives of Girl Scout Troops from Quincy, Braintree, Hull and Weymouth at Flag Day Breakfast where the scouts were presented flags.

Quincy & S. S. Realtors Present Flags To Girl Scouts

The Quincy & South Shore Board of Realtors recently held a Flag Day Breakfast at Valle's, Braintree.

Girl Scout troops from each of the four communities in the board's jurisdiction were presented American flags, stands and parade belts for use in their troops.

Mara Graham and Deirdre Connell represented Troop 4146 from Quincy; Betty Hall and Sharlene Kane, Troop 4316 from Braintree; Kathy Leeber and Karen Krzywda, Troop 4003 from Hull; and Amy Conway and Holly Olsen, Troop 4482 from Weymouth.

The Girl Scouts and their leaders were welcomed by George H. Raymond, president of the board. The Scouts led the realtors in a salute to the flag and an invocation.

Following the presentation to the scouts, the board members were addressed by Judy Angeramo, field representative, North East Regional Blood Services for the Red Cross who announced that the board, under its Make America Better Committee chaired by Peter A. Booras, will hold a blood drive Thursday, July 26 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Braintree.

Robert I. Nash, director of Governmental Affairs for the Massachusetts Association of Realtors, updated the members on legislative matters of concern to the real estate industry.

President Raymond congratulated Mary E. Dawson, chairman of the Legislative Committee and Booras, MAB Chairman for their combined efforts in bringing this program to the members.

Sean Martin In Western Pacific

Marine Pfc. Sean J. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Martin of 19 Beechwood St., Quincy, recently deployed to the Western Pacific.

He is a member of Third Battalion, Second Marines.

Second Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

During the deployment, his unit will participate in various training exercises with other U.S. Units and those of allied nations.

$2-M Plan Approved For Jail Renovation

A nearly $2 million contract to renovate the Dedham jail has been approved but Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall still has to have all prisoners out of the North Wing of the 167-year-old facility by Saturday, June 30, by federal court order.

Marshall said that, as of Monday morning, there were still 16 prisoners in the condemned wing and that he plans to meet with state officials this week to see if they can find a place to relocate them before Saturday.

"We'll also set up a procedure for relocating prisoners in the future," said Marshall. "We will probably have to call the state every morning and tell them how many beds we need and the state will have to find them."

Marshall said renovation work is expected to start in October and will be completed within 20 to 24 months.

Details for the $1,987,000 renovation contract have been given preliminary approval by the State Department of Capital Planning and Management, which allows the county to prepare plans and specifications for the project.

The project will include replacement of all toilets, plus additional toilets in the North Wing; automatic gang-locking devices throughout the jail, three emergency egress towers, roof repair, and a vocational educational unit.

The jail, which was built in 1817, has been renovated twice, once in 1833 and again in 1850. Further reconstruction work was undertaken in 1978 after a five-alarm fire destroyed the North Wing.

Inmates are housed in 72 cells and the daily average population has been 204, although on Monday morning, Marshall said, there were only 144 inmates in the whole jail. Many prisoners have been moved out of the North Wing.

"Increases in admissions to our already severely overcrowded jail reflected a 21 per cent jump for the first four months of the current year," said Marshall. "Emphasis on convictions for drunk driving are chiefly responsible for the increase."

If it were not for the court order closing the North Wing, he said, there would have been 243 inmates in the jail last Friday.

Rose Wrick Wins Academic Honor At Laboure

Rose M. Wrick of Quincy, a 1984 graduate of Laboure Junior College, Boston, was recently recognized for her academic achievements by the College and the Catherine Laboure Alumni Association.

College President Sister Maureen St. Charles, D.C. and Alumni President Margie Lawless presented Miss Wrick with the Alumni Medal for Outstanding Academic Achievement during recent ceremonies at the Cyril P. Morrisette Post, Quincy.

She was one of only ten graduating seniors to receive the medal, awarded annually to Laboure students whose final academic ranking falls in the top fifth percentile of the graduating class.

Miss Wrick was among 187 future health care professionals to receive associate in science degrees from Sister Maureen during the College's Eleventh Commencement Exercises held recently at John Hancock Hall, Boston.

A graduate of Braintree High School, she later attended Aquinas Junior College, where she received an associate's degree.

She is a graduate of Laboure's nursing program.

State AFL-CIO

Endorses Harold

The Massachusetts AFL-CIO has voted to endorse Sen. Paul D. Harold for reelection.

In a letter to Harold, President Arthur R. Osborn said the endorsement of the 400,000-member labor group was being given for Harold's support of its legislative programs.

"Your perseverance and leadership ability were responsible for our high rate of success in legislation," said Osborn.

Those programs included the prohibition of balanced billing by physicians, notice of plant closing, the right to know about dangerous chemicals and polling hours.

George Balzano Military Preparatory School Grad

George G. Balzano, son of George W. Balzano of 69 Edinboro Rd., Quincy, and Mary J. McKearney of 166 Walnut St., Braintree, recently graduated from the U.S. Military Academy Preparatory School at Fort Monmouth, N.J. This summer, Balzano will enter the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., to begin four years of study leading to a bachelor of science degree and a commission in the Army.

Lt. Col. Donald Morrissey

Air War College Grad

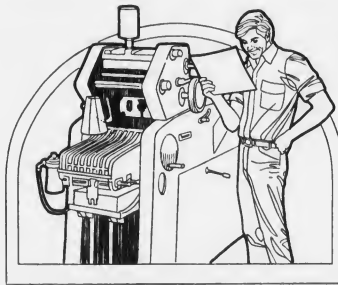

Lt. Col. Donald E. Morrissey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. Morrissey of 51 East Elm Ave., Quincy, has graduated from the Air War College, the U.S. Air Force's senior professional military school. The 10-month course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., prepares officers for higher command and staff duty by broadening their understanding of military strategy in support of national security policy.

The officer also completed requirements for a master's degree.

BOB CERASOLI

CAN TELL YOU WHAT HE'S DONE!

This is what people are saying about what he's done:

... "may we thank you for the part you have played in the dramatic increase in state scholarships for Massachusetts students who need help. Thanks to the efforts of legislators like you, the state is now providing $50 million dollars in financial aid...the effect on your own district of recent increases is reflected in an analysis made by the State Scholarship Service . . . Your efforts have brought significant help to your young people."

John Duff, Chancellor
Board of Regents

"Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. wishes to thank you for all the work that you have accomplished this year, particularly on behalf of the low-income and elderly citizens of the Commonwealth."

Charles E. Sullivan, President
Quincy Community Action Organization

... "on August 16, 1984 the Massachusetts AFL/CIO Cope Committee voted to endorse your candidacy for the House. On behalf of the 400,000 member strong AFL/CIO we wish you every success and look forward to continue our strong working relationship."

Arthur R. Osborn, President
Massachusetts AFL/CIO

"Over the past several years Rep. Cerasoli has consistently scored high for the taxpayers. We count on him as one of our key votes for tax limitation. Of the two candidates running for this seat, Rep. Cerasoli most closely shares our views on limiting government spending and encouraging a healthy respect for the taxpayers. He will be needed in the legislature to fight against proposed tax increases and government abuse of power."

Francis J. Faulkner
Executive Director
Citizens for Limited Taxation
2 1/2 PAC

"On behalf of your motoring constituents, AAA Massachusetts wants to express its sincere appreciation for you vote to raise the legal drinking age to twenty-one . . ."

Richard W. Hoover,
Legislative Agent
AAA/Massachusetts

"All the people of Massachusetts owe you a debt of gratitude for all that you have done in the fight against drug abuse. Your debates in the House were brilliant...You are receiving our 1984 Legislative Service Award."

Lucy Forti, Executive Director Concerned Citizens for Drug Prevention

"Your help again is evidence of the esteem in which our institution holds for you. Throughout our history you have been there with a helping hand and we really appreciate your concern and hope."

O. Clayton Johnson, President
Quincy Junior College

... "We want to acknowledge with gratitude the leadership role you played in last month's successful rules reform fight...your leadership role in this effort helped make the difference."

35% Voter Turnout Predicted Senate Races Big Draw In Tuesday Primary

By TOM HENSHAW

Two hot fights on the way to filling a vacant U.S. Senate seat are expected to draw a better than average turnout of both Democrats and Republicans in the Tuesday, Sept. 18, primary in Quincy.

City Clerk John Gillis said he figures some 35 per cent of the city's 46,297 voters will show up at the polls, a hefty increase over the 26.5 per cent who voted in the 1980 primary.

"The senatorial races will bring them out," said Gillis, who has supervised elections in Quincy for 25 years. "There is a lot of interest in the Senate races on both sides of the ballot."

Four Democrats are contesting for their party's nomination and two Republicans are seeking the GOP endorsement to succeed Sen. Paul Tsongas, who declined to stand for reelection for health reasons.

The Democrats are Lt. Gov. John F. Kerry of Newton, Cong. James M. Shannon of Lawrence, State Secretary Michael Joseph Connolly of Boston and former House Speaker David M. Bartley of Holyoke.

The Republicans are Elliot L. Richardson of Brookline, who has held many state and federal posts, none in the last 10 years; and Raymond Shamie of Walpole, a businessman making his second run for the post.

There also are two local races of high interest. Sen. Paul D. Harold, who has gone unchallenged since he wrested the state senate seat from Arthur H. Tobin in 1978, has opposition this time in Richard D. Golden, a 29-year-old Quincy budget analyst.

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, whose district spans Ward 2 in Quincy and seven precincts in Weymouth, also has primary opposition in Thomas E. Tanner a member of the Weymouth DFW Commission.

The Richardson-Shamie fight is the only contest on the Republican ballot but the Democrats have several.

Four men, including incumbents James J. Collins of Milton and George B. McDonald of Quincy, are in the race for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner.

The challengers are Thomas M. Brennan of Wellesley and Gerald Ridge of Braintree.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly of Boston and Rep. Michael W. Morrissey of North Quincy are opposed for the reelection by followers of the right wing political and economic theorist Lydon Larouche.

John Pasquale Scialdone of Boston is the congressional candidate while Patricia Peterson of 559 Willard St., West Quincy, is seeking Morrissey's House seat.

License Board Votes To Ban 'Happy Hours'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted unanimously Tuesday to adopt a resolve banning "happy hours" in Quincy drinking establishments, effective in January.

The resolve was introduced by City Councillor Joanne Condon at a recent meeting of the City Council which unanimously voted to support it.

It states: "It is the sense of this council that it is not in the best interests of the City of Quincy or its citizens for establishments dispensing beverages with alcoholic content in said city to offer or advertise such beverages at reduced prices during specified hours or to dispense such beverages free of charge on a "two for one" basis or to conduct so called "happy hours."

The council forwarded the resolve, which was signed by the Mayor Monday, to the License Board in whose jurisdiction the matter lies.

Mrs. Condon, who spearheaded the rollback of liquor establishment hours in Quincy from 2 a.m. to 1 a.m. in September, 1982, told the board that the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission is conducting a series of meetings on the possibility of passing a state-wide ban on "happy hours."

Mrs. Condon asked that until the ABCC, or the state legislature, takes action, the License Board adopt the city council resolve, effective with the reissuance of licenses at the beginning of the year or as a condition of new licenses granted.

License board members unanimously gave their approval.

Acting Police Chief Frederic Laracy, who attended the meeting in place of Police Chief Francis Finn who is attending a meeting out of town, said that the reduced prices of happy hours entices customers, particularly young people, to overindulge.

"We've requested in the past, said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, that liquor establishments refrain from "happy hours" on a voluntary basis.

"Since it hasn't worked, we would make it mandatory," said MacDonald.

City Clerk John Gillis said he had thought there were no happy hours in Quincy, but was then informed that there are 11 establishments which offer

Sewer Line Testing Starts Sept. 17

Smoke testing of sanitary sewer lines will be conducted in the following areas beginning Monday, Sept. 17.

Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown, Quincy Point, Squantum, Wollaston, North Quincy. Testing is expected to be completed in two weeks. Purpose of the tests is to identify leaks which will allow sewage to seep out of the system or excess ground and rain water into the sewers. Sewer leaks are costly in terms of health, safety and treatment costs. Smoke cannot enter buildings unless there is a potentially dangerous leak. Any smoke within a building should be reported immediately by calling 773-1380, ext. 252. The smoke used is not harmful to people and furnishings and leaves no residue.

Offices Entered

Someone broke into the Monroe Building, 1245 Hancock St., Saturday and gained entry to five offices but apparently nothing was taken.

Offices and stores entered included Barry's Ship Haven, the Diet Center, the Wool Shop, John Sheskey Associates, Mulhall, Mather and Wright, Peppe, Pelletier and McShane, Inc., Brian Donahue Associates, and William Powers Associates.

$80,000 Back Pay Fight Goes On For City Worker

Thomas F. Blasi returned to his job as a $20,433 a year contact officer in the Veterans Services Department Monday after a three year layoff but the matter of some $80,000 in back pay is still up in the air.

Blasi, who lives at 51 Brook Rd., South Quincy, was the last city employee laid off under the Proposition 2 and one half cuts to be ordered restored to his job with back pay by the Civil Service Commission.

The City Council's Finance Committee Monday night approved an appropriation of $16,504 to pay him for the rest of the fiscal year and councilors criticized Mayor Francis X. McCauley for failure to include back pay.

"I question the wisdom of going any further with appeals in this case," said Council President James A. Sheets. "The city has lost two rounds in Civil Service already."

McCauley said there is still a question in his mind as to whether or not Blasi was laid off improperly as Civil Service has ruled twice.

"We do not accept the Civil Service decision," he said. "We are going to try to settle this case with him but if we fail to reach agreement we may go on to the courts."

Blasi, who is now 68 years old, was laid off in the last year of the administration of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin after 22 years as a city employee due to Proposition 2 and one half cuts.

McCauley's handling of the Blasi affair has become an issue in the long-running skirmish between the Mayor and the Council.

Once again Monday night Sheets reaffirmed his opposition to a $10,000 appropriation to replace funds with which to pay Labor Negotiator David Grunebaum that were cut from the fiscal 1985 budget by the Council.

Sheets said he feels that the funds will be used for Grunebaum to pursue the city's appeal in the Blasi case to the courts.

Sheets moved that the Committee vote "ought not to pass" on the $10,000 appropriation but Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia convinced councilors to retain it in committee to see what happens.

Mass AFL-CIO Endorses Cerasoli For Re-Election

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli has received the endorsement of the Massachusetts AFL-CIO Cope Committee in his bid for re-election as state representative from the Third Norfolk District.

In a letter dated Aug. 23, Arthur R. Osborn, president of the Massachusetts AFL-CIO, commended Cerasoli for his continued efforts on behalf of its 400,000 members in the state.

"The successful passage of a balanced billing, plant closing, right to know and polling hours bills have been highlights of the 1983-84 legislative year for organized labor in Massachusetts and you helped to make it possible," he said.

Cites Housing Shortage

Reikard: 'Escort Them To What?'

By TOM HENSHAW

Jane Reikard, secretary of the Rent Grievance Board, has joined the growing list of those who question the usefulness of the city's affirmative action escort plan.

"What are they going to be escorted to?" she asked. "The housing situation in Quincy is such that an apartment that is available at 10 o'clock in the morning is not there by the time we could get an escort together."

The escort clause in the city's affirmative action agreement with the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination compels the city to provide escorts to minorities seeking housing in Quincy.

"Finding an affordable rental in the low middle income range is almost impossible," said Reikard. "When one becomes available it is snapped up immediately by relatives or friends or those who heard by word of mouth."

"The lowest rents in the city are now about $450 a month. A rent of $600 a month is not unusual. A lot of the older people who helped to build this city are leaving in tears. I cry with them."

Reikard said that of the 18,000 rental units in the city about a dozen become available on a given day and only three or four of them are in an affordable range.

"They're there in the morning and gone in the afternoon," she said.

"The housing situation in Quincy is the worst in my eight years with the Rent Grievance Board. The crunch has been on for eight or 10 months. I've never seen so many evictions."

"I know of one woman who has been living in a car while she is waiting to find an apartment."

John Comer, director of the Quincy Housing Authority, said Section 8 subsidized housing is just about non-existent.

"We have 600 units assigned to us," he said. "We have 75-100 certifications available but no one wants them because there are no places available."

Meanwhile city councilors, who have been studying the city's affirmative action agreement for the past week, have promised to have something to say about the controversial "escort" clause at the Monday, Sept. 17, meeting.

"The councilors are interested in determining how this contract was arrived at and they are concerned about how we could commit ourselves to what we believe is wrong," said Council President James A. Sheets.

"The contract is fair accompli," said Sheets. "The Mayor agreed to it whether we like it or not. We are stuck with it. But the Council wants to see how we managed to get ourselves on the hook that way, how it was fumbled away."

for repair work since Proposition 2 and one half," said Osterman. "This is a welcome relief."

THE FIRST "BUCKLE Up for Safety" sign of the South Shore is erected on Franklin St. by Gail Morse, assistant treasurer of Quincy Savings Bank and Claire Gordon, a member of the National Legislation Committee of the American Medical Society Auxiliary. It is hoped that these visual reminders will increase the awareness of motorists to use their seat belts and protect their lives and those of their passengers.

Finance Committee Approves $500,000 For School Repairs

The City Council's Finance Committee Monday night gave its approval to an appropriation of $500,000 for badly needed repair work to Quincy school buildings.

The funding will come out of the proceeds netted by the city from the sale of abandoned schools.

Acting Supt. John Osterman told the councilors that he asked for $2.5 million to fill the schools' repair needs but Mayor Francis X. McCauley whittled the amount to $500,000.

QUEST

Quincy Encourages Sound Thinking

IMPROVING YOUR MEMORY

We've all had the experience of forgetting something—someone's name, the answer to a test question, or where you parked your car. Often this forgetting can lead to embarrassment or inconvenience. Well, there are some "tricks" which may help you improve your memory and retain things longer.

Pay Attention

The first thing you should do to remember something is to focus and concentrate on what it is you wish to remember. Often we forget because we really never knew to begin with. We often do things without thinking about them. For example, as you hurry to get to a movie before it starts, you dash from your car and pay little attention to where you parked. Your mind focused on not being late, rather than on where you parked your car.

Another example, sometimes as you read, you may daydream about something else for a moment or two, and even though you read the words in the book, you didn't focus on what you were reading. If you were called upon to remember what you had just read, you wouldn't be able to, because you hadn't concentrated on it.

The Italian Boot

The second and most important step to remembering something is to create a relationship between the thing you want to remember and something you already know. Most of us know, for example, that Italy is shaped like a boot; we created a relationship, or association, between something we wanted to remember (the shape of Italy) and something we already knew (what a boot looks like).

Remembering Where Your Car Is

Let's put the focusing and association steps together and see if we can remember where your car is. First, you must focus on the fact that you are parking your car and wish to remember where it is parked. Next, you must create an association -- pretend the parking lot is the first floor of your house. (We know it sounds strange, but that's part of the "trick" -- we remember strange things more easily than ordinary ones.) Picture where each room is located in your house, and then place your car in the room that corresponds to that portion of the parking lot. For example, if the parking lot were set up like your home, your car might be in the kitchen where the refrigerator is located. Now, picture that in your mind's eye -- your car in your kitchen where the refrigerator usually is. It's important that you picture it because visual memory is the strongest for most people.

Once the movie is over and you come out to a parking lot of hundreds of cars, you just picture your car in the area that corresponds to the kitchen of your home, and you should be able to find it with little difficulty. (If you have a tendency to move furniture around frequently, this method could pose some problems.)

Homes

Suppose you had to memorize the names of the Great Lakes. If you arrange them in this order -- Huron, Ontario, Michigan, Erie, Superior -- the first letter of each lake spells the word HOMES. Now, make a strange association such as picturing some homes floating on the Great Lakes. Then, when you need to recall their names, you'll associate that picture with the word HOMES. At this point, you should be able to remember the name of each lake.

Spelling, By Gum

Making associations can also help you improve your spelling. Below are some pairs of words -- which is the correct spelling?

The Crystal Ball

Tom Gilmartin has dusted off his crystal ball once again and come up with his fearless predictions for next week's state primary election.

The former city councillor from North Quincy, is staying away from the local races because he doesn't want to influence them.

So, he's offering up his forecast for only the U.S. Senate and two Congressional districts.

Are you ready?

First of all, he says James Shannon will edge John Kerry in a squeaker that may take until midnight election night before the winner is known.

He notes that a couple of "big" pollsters from Boston and Brookline are both picking Kerry to win -- one sees it by five per cent and the other by six.

But Gilmartin isn't being swayed. He's giving Shannon 33 per cent of the Democrat vote and Kerry 32 per cent.

He sees David Bartley with 22 per cent and Michael Connolly trailing with 13 per cent.

On the Republican side, he's picking Elliot Richardson with 59 per cent to Raymond Shamie's 40 per cent.

And, if you're interested:

Gilmartin sees the 5th Congressional District Democrat race close with Chester Aitken getting 49 per cent and Philip Shea 48 per cent.

Down in the 10th Congressional District he's calling it in favor of Gerry Studds despite the latter's censure for homosexual involvement with a teen-age page boy.

Gilmartin gives Studds 53 per cent of the vote to 47 per cent for Peter Flynn.

Gilmartin feels pretty confident that it's all going to come out like he's calling it.

Confident enough to ask you to hold onto this column and compare his predictions with the official results.

Win or lose, he's going to be reminded about it, I'm sure.

OOPS DEPT.: In a recent column we reported that City Councillor Joanne Condon is moving closer to next year's mayoral ring and predicted she would make an official announcement in January.

We also said: "Condon will be the first woman in Quincy's history to run for mayor. And, of course if elected would be making even bigger history."

Well, a few readers have reminded us that the honor of being the first woman to run for mayor actually goes to Grace Saphir who made her bid in 1973.

Mrs. Saphir challenged incumbent Walter Hannon that year.

In the preliminary election she was nominated in a three candidate race.

Hannon topped the preliminary with 11,110 votes. She was also nominated with 5,997 votes. George Trubiano ran third and out of contention with 1,690 votes.

In the final election, Hannon won with 15,492 votes but Mrs. Saphir pulled a most respectable 10,416 -- losing by 5,076 votes.

Our apologies to Mrs. Saphir for whom we had a lot of respect. It just goes to how you that columnists shouldn't rely on their memories but check the record first.

MILESTONE: Herb Fontaine, news director at WJDA, has just started his 30th year with the Quincy station. He was hired by the late James D. Asher founder of the station and whose initials became the station's call sign.

Before coming to Quincy, Herb spent seven and a half years with a Lewiston-Auburn, Me. station.

Jeepers, Herb, almost four decades behind the mike. You're getting up there.

Is he thinking of retirement?
"No way. Too young for that. Feel great, things are fine. No way!"

CHOKING

Choking is often confused with a heart attack. In a severe case, there is no coughing; the victim just turns blue and collapses. But you can usually tell the difference because a choking victim cannot speak at all, while a heart attack victim usually can.

Wait a few seconds to see if the victim's automatic reflexes can dislodge the object that is blocking the windpipe. If not, you should act quickly to try to force the object out. Stand behind the victim, put your arms around him, press your fist into his abdomen just below the ribs, grasp your fist in the other hand and squeeze inward and upward quickly. Hopefully, the object in the windpipe will pop out like a cork from a champagne bottle.

If the victim is lying on his back, you can achieve the same effect by placing one hand over the other on his abdomen just above the navel and pressing quickly upward with the weight of your body.

ASHER

AND, speaking of milestones, WJDA is celebrating one, too. The station is 37 years old today. Jim Asher signed it on, back on Sept. 13, 1947 on 1300 and 13 has been its lucky number since.

Down through the years, WJDA has provided a tremendous community service not only here in Quincy but throughout its South Shore listening area.

Congratulations to Jay Asher, who took over from his father, and to all the gang at the station with a heart.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE

QUESTION: How does real estate investment fare as a method of making you financially independent in your old age?

ANSWER: Being financially independent in your later years is a fear by itself. According to a study by the U.S. Government, of all people over the age of 65, only 46% are financially independent. Also, according to this same study, all of the lucky segment became financially independent partly or wholly through ownership of real estate. No one buys their first home as a reason for financial independence at retirement but that's the way it normally works out.

OWNERSHIP OF REAL ESTATE is the major source of wealth for those in retirement years.

Reader's Forum A Fond Tribute To Msgr. John Mullarkey

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

To those of us, of all faiths, who knew and respected Monsignor John E. Mullarkey of West Quincy, his passing leaves a void in the community it will be difficult to fill.

His priestly life during a period of close to 60 years came to a close on Sunday, Aug. 26, at the age of 84, following a lengthy illness. Although of different faiths, he had been my friend for approximately 70 years.

It is with a feeling of both sadness -- and yet Thanksgiving, that we remember him. Thanksgiving, for the privilege of having known him and the joy of his sharing his life with us in so many ways. I mention this only because of our mutual friendship which dates back to high school days.

Prior to his ordination on June 5, 1925 we called each other by our first names -- John and Tom, but since that time and until his passing I have always addressed him in the spirit of friendship and respect as "Father John", even following his well-deserved recognition in being named Monsignor.

In reminiscing, I recall at least three happy occasions we enjoyed together. First: On June 5, 1960 when the then Father Mullarkey was honored by Two Thousand Eight Hundred parishioners and friends of Saint Pius V Church in Lynn, Mass. upon the joyful occasion of the Thirty-Fifth Anniversary of his ordination into the priesthood, with people from all walks of life in attendance. Together with his two sisters, Misses Margaret and Nora Mullarkey, I was invited to participate in the This Is Your Life part of the program as a former mayor of his native city.

A Reminder About Stopping For School Bus

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

School is back in session and maybe now would be the right time to publish the law on stopping for school buses with blinking red lights.

Most motorists are unfamiliar with the exact law and violations of this traffic regulation happen on a regular basis, almost as much as jaywalking.

Many times auto drivers continue to drive past stopped school buses and don't even realize they aren't allowed to do that. Perhaps, if school systems publicize this traffic law, motorists whose memories have lapsed over the summer would quickly react to stopped school

Takes Issue With License Board's Power

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I think that the voters in Quincy should become aware that the Quincy Licensing Board, a non elective body, is more powerful and independent of any political consequences for their actions than any publicly elected official. Within the area of its responsibilities it is running the City of Quincy with limited consequences for its actions.

A prime example of this occurred Sept. 4. After a month delay, the Board, in a four to one decision, granted Dacey's a common victualers license, making it possible for the company to build a new store at the corner of and intersection of Narragansett Road, Samoset Avenue and Sea Street.

They did this in the face of a two month long struggle by concerned residents of Merrymount who petitioned 375 strong to stop this further commercialization of one of Quincy's prime residential areas.

Despite continuous complaints against a man, who said he was Community Affairs representative of the Merrymount Association, that this man was not representing or reflecting the wishes of the vast majority of Merrymount residents, the Board listened to his negotiations with Dacey's lawyers in great detail, and tried to convince the dissenters that there was nothing they could do. The property was zoned for business and Dacey's could build a store in this area without obtaining any approval from the board.

They totally ignored the fact that Dacey's lawyer made it abundantly clear that Dacey's would not build this store unless they could receive a common victualer's license, and thus, as a fast food store, substantially increase their business on what is expected to be a half million dollar investment.

Not only was it obvious that the board was influenced more by one man and one corporation, than any sorry impact they would make on a residential area with a fast food store, but they ignored the increasing traffic in an already dangerous traffic area where at any one time twenty or more cars are already parked at the drug store across the street from this new store, and there is no possible way to increase parking facilities.

Agreeing that Dacey's must build an enclosed area to the store to house a dumpster, the Board also ignored the fact that the resulting loss of parking space presumably does not conform to building requirements for a store of this size. They also overlooked that the only recommendation offered to alleviate the resulting traffic problem means that the City has to spend a considerable amount of money extending the memorial park at the head of Narragansett Road -- presumably to stop motorists from swinging too rapidly into Samoset Ave., but in actuality (even if no parking signs are put on the park and extension) making increased parking space for a fast run into the store.

Ignored also was the decreased valuation of residential property of any home within a few thousand feet of this fast food operation. All residents in the area should immediately request and fight for a substantial reduction in valuations which were established recently.

The action of the majority of the Board who are paid officials with what evidently amounts to lifetime tenure indicates that the voters in the City of Quincy should question whether the terms and salaries of appointive officials should be limited to a few years.

Congratulations are in order to Fire Chief Barry who was the only member of the Board who decided, without hesitation, that a common victualer's license should not be granted in this residential area.

Plan E Foes File Appeal On Plan A Ban

Atty. Maurice F. Maher of Quincy, representative former City Councillor Laurence J. Curtin and other opponents of Plan E government, petitioned for a Superior Court review of an Appeal Board decision to remove the Plan A question from the ballot in November.

The Board, which is made up of four members of the Board of Registrars of Voters and City Solicitor Arthur Burgess, declared that the petition to get the Plan A question on the ballot did not contain enough valid signatures.

DEEP CHANNELS BEST

Fred E. Bergfors Sr., Chairman of the Harbor Development Committee, told Directors of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce that Quincy's deep water facilities are the city's most important asset in economic and industrial potential.

Bergfors said that some 150 ocean-going vessels enter the city's inner harbor every year carrying an average of 45 men apiece and each time a ship ties up at a Quincy dock, merchants and all the city residents stand to profit.

PATRONS FLEE FIRE

GIFT TO NATION

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin suggested to the City Council that the city should consider the possibility of giving the birthplaces of John and John Quincy Adams in South Quincy to the federal government for preservation as historical shrines.

WELFARE UP

Public Welfare Commissioner Anthony J. Venna said the cost of welfare in Quincy will be going up to about $7,000 a month or $84,000 a year as the result of an increase in the cost of living that calls for a 5.4 per cent upward adjustment.

PARKING ENVIED

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. returned from the annual conference of the International City Managers' Association in Poland Springs, Maine, with word that Quincy's parking facilities are the envy of other cities' officials, who made many inquiries about them.

Toodie's Fine Jewelry

by Howard Jacobs

THE "ANKLE BRACELET"
The anklet, a close relative of the bracelet, is a jewelry item that has undergone surprising revivals from time to time. The Bible mentions the daughter of Zion that "go mincing and making a tinkling with their feet." Oriental women from several countries have worn anklets with little bells for generations. Some anklets are known as "slave" bracelets, based on the idea that the wearer is a slave of the donor, just as the chained slaves of the past were prisoners of their masters. While this concept may seem firmly outdated, the gift of a delicate gold or platinum ankle chain does carry with it the warm feeling that only an intimate gift can bring.

Any piece of gold jewelry is something that will be treasured and long remembered. You'll find an excellent selection of gold pieces at TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY, 1163 Hancock St. We carry the styles in jewelry we know our clientele want. When you are looking for that something special or are uncertain exactly what you want, come browse through our beautiful store. Vote Machine Funds Held Up Pending Bids

The City Council's Finance Committee decided Monday night to hold up an appropriation of $200,000 for voting machines until the city had a firm bid from each of two firms.

City Clerk John Gillis said the two firms had submitted estimates of $158,105 in the case of Electronic Voting Machine of Newton and $192,230 from LHS Associates Inc. But City Councilor Joanne Condon said she thought the Council would be doing things backward by appropriating the money before the firm bids were secured and opened.

Gillis agreed and promised to discuss the matter with Mayor Francis X. McCauley in the near future. Meanwhile the councillors decided to leave the appropriation in committee.

Gillis said it is planned to set up a mock election at 1000 Southern Artery where both companies could demonstrate their products for the Mayor and the city councillors.

Both firms make the punch card system of balloting in which the votes are counted electronically. They are the only punch card firms in the country, said Gillis.

He said the punch card voting machines will save the city about $20,000 a year in election expenses and pay for themselves over a period of 10 years.

He noted that the city is already having trouble getting enough election workers.

Senate Races Big Draw In Tuesday Primary

cal races are those for Harold's senate seat and Cerasoli's House post.

Golden, who is a budget analyst with the House Ways and Means Committee, provides Harold with his first serious opposition.

He has been critical of Harold's world travels, implying that Harold is less than a fulltime senator; and of what he feels is Harold's failure to defend the city in the escorts controversy.

A native of Quincy, Golden has a degree in political science from UMass-Amherst and a master's degree in public administration and holds the rank of captain in the U.S. Army.

The Cerasoli-Tanner race has overtones of the dispute between House Speaker Thomas McGee of Lynn and Rep. George Keverian of Everett over leadership of the House.

Cerasoli is a longtime supporter of Keverian and Tanner, who has not said who he supports in the Speaker's fight, is an ally of Rep. Robert Anolter of Weymouth, a close associate of McGee.

Tanner, whose wife is Ambler's campaign treasurer, works for the telephone company, spent seven years on the Weymouth Zoning Board of Appeals and 16 years as a Weymouth town meeting member.

Unopposed candidates on the Democratic ballot are Governors Councilor Peter L. Fleety of Quincy, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell of Quincy, Register of Probate Thomas Patrick Hughes of Quincy and County Treasurer James M. Collins of Milton.

Patricia A. Ruskiewicz of Brockton has a free ride for the Republican nomination of governors councillor as does Auburn J. Perry of Canton for county commissioner on the GOP side.

Last Paper Ballots Primary

"This will be a historic primary next Tuesday," said City Clerk John Gillis. "It will be the last primary in which Quincy uses paper ballots that have to be counted by hand."

The City Council has appropriated funds for the purchase of punch card voting machines which will be used in the September, 1985, municipal preliminary election.

Gillis figures the punch cards, which will be counted electronically, will enable the city to announce election winners within an hour after the polls close.

Next Tuesday's election, on the other hand, won't be wrapped up until 2 a.m., according to Gillis' best estimate.

The punch cards also will save the city considerable money in police overtime and pay for election workers.

THE RIGHT TO LIFE

Some say it's the most critical Issue facing voters this fall

TOM TANNER
has taken a position on the RIGHT TO LIFE throughout this campaign

TOM TANNER believes in the RIGHT TO LIFE

But, REPRESENTATIVE CERASOLI doesn't. He consistently votes anti-life. He did again on June 27, 1984 when he was one of only fifty legislators who voted "NO" to House Bill 673, which would allow the Commonwealth to regulate the practice and public funding of abortion.

TOM TANNER BELIEVES IN THE RIGHT TO LIFE, AND THAT'S HOW HE WILL VOTE AS YOUR NEXT REPRESENTATIVE

TOM TANNER AGREES WITH ARCHBISHOP BERNARD LAW: "If it's meddling to say that human life must be protected, then count me among the meddlers."

7-Eleven C/V Request Continued

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Sept. 18 a request from 7-Eleven Food Store, 76 Franklin St., South Quincy, for a common victualer license.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro to allow residents of the area to register any concerns with the request.

License holder Patricia Cunningham of Braintree is requesting a take-out only license for the store which is open 24 hours a day.

She said the store proposes to offer deli sandwiches.

Atty. Peter Elley, who represented Mrs. Cunningham, said the owners spoke with DeCristofaro, Councillor James Sheets and neighbors and received no objections to the request.

DeCristofaro said he has received no objections from residents of the area. He said he frequents the store and considers it a "good operation", but "it's up to the neighbors."

DeCristofaro also asked that if the board grants the license, it include a six month probationary period.

City Clerk John Gillis said the 7-Eleven Store was granted a common victualer license Jan. 25, 1983, but the owners never picked up the license. Among the stipulations was hours of 11:30 p.m. to 6:30 a.m., he said.

Gillis, Fire Chief Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said they saw no problem with the request.

Jackie Quirk, who represented Councillor Sheets, also asked that residents of the area be given time to voice any concerns.

Teachers' Assn. Endorse Golden For Senator

Richard Golden has received the endorsement of the Massachusetts Teachers Association in his bid for the Democratic nomination for the state senate from the Norfolk District.

The endorsement was made at a recent meeting of the Voice of Teachers for Education (VOTE), the political action committee of the MTA.

"Richard Golden's public support on issues of importance to students and teachers is much appreciated," said Nancy J. Finkelstein, president of the MTA.

"His election to the senate would be very helpful for those who believe that quality education is important."

Obituaries

Ronald A. Orcutt, 73, Shipyard Union Leader

Funeral services were held Monday at the Dahlberg MacNevin Funeral Home, Brockton, for Ronald Orcutt, 73, a longtime union leader at the Quincy Shipyard.

He died Sept. 6 at the New England Deaconess Hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Brockton and lived there most of his life before moving to Baker's Island in Onset and Lake Worth, Fla.

He was president of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Local No. 5. On the board of directors at Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Community Service Council for Union Fund, he was chairman of Workmen's Comp Committee and chairman of the Council on Aging in Wareham. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II, and was a member of Brockton Universalist Unitarian Church.

Mr. Orcutt was a shop steward at the shipyard for 20 years, a member of Local 5 for 19 years, and local president for nine years before he became the union's national representative for New England in 1970.

Mr. Orcutt had to be hospitalized for several days in 1969 following an all-night negotiating session that ended in a temporary settlement between union workers and shipyard management. The shipyard had been scheduled to strike, but last minute negotiations averted the strike. Some 8,500 men would have been affected by the strike.

Husband of Ruth V. (Dalrymple) Orcutt, is also survived by two sons, Bernard Orcutt of South Easton and Leonard Orcutt of Brockton; two daughters, Lois Ryan of North Easton and Diane Sterling of Brockton; a step-daughter, Carolyn Brotman of South Orleans; two sisters, Phyllis Mulrooy and Muriel Orcutt, both of Brockton; 18 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren; an aunt, Anne Burke of Weston, and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was at Melrose Cemetery, Brockton.

Oswald E. Ruska, 66 World War II Veteran

A funeral service for Oswald E. Ruska, 66 of Quincy, a retired pipefitter for local 537, Boston, and decorated World War II veteran, was held Saturday at Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

Mr. Ruska died Sept. 4 at Quincy City Hospital.

He had lived in Quincy 34 years.

Born in Barnstable, he served in the Navy Sea Bee's 115th Battalion in World War II as shipfitter 1st Class, and received medals for the American Theatre, World War II Victory, Asiatic Pacific-one star, and Philippines Liberation-one star.

Mr. Ruska was a member of the Disabled American Veterans of Quincy, the National Rifle Association, and the Tri-County Beagle Club.

Husband of Zelma (Stone) Ruska, he is also survived by two sons, Warren Ruska of Quincy and Edwin Ruska of Quincy; a daughter, Sandra Sirignano of Whitman; two sisters, Ellen Turner of Barnstable, Elvi Lemox of Springfield, Va., and five grandchildren.

Funeral Arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations may be made to the American Heart Fund, 1105 West Chestnut St., Brockton, 02401.

Isabella Burke, 85

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday for Isabella E. (Reid) Burke, 85, in St. John's Church.

She died Sept. 9 at Quincy City Hospital.

Mrs. Burke was an assistant baker in the dietary department of Quincy City Hospital, and retired 20 years ago.

Born in Wales, she had lived in Quincy for 43 years.

Wife of the late John Burke, she is survived by two daughters, Charlotte Regan of Norwood, and Catherine Tocchio of Quincy; a son, John Burke of Braintree; two sisters, Katherine Johnndrow of Quincy and Jenny Williams of South Boston, 12 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. She was also the mother of the late Betty Boyle.

Funeral arrangements were made by Lee McMaster and Sun Funeral Home, Braintree.

Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Gladys Randall, 76

A graveside service will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery for Gladys (MacKay) Randall, 76, a lifelong resident of Quincy.

She died Sept. 8 at Quincy City Hospital.

Mrs. Randall did secretarial work prior to her retirement.

Wife of the late Everett Randall, she is survived by two sons, Elvert Randall of East Bridgewater and John Randall of Quincy; a daughter, Barbara McInnis of Maine; 10 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Donations may be made to a charity of choice.

Joseph E. Mariano, 32, Dies In Florida Car Crash

A funeral Mass was held Wednesday at the Immaculate Conception Church, East Weymouth, for Joseph Mariano, 32, a former Quincy resident who died Sept. 4 in an automobile accident in the Florida Keys.

He was born in Somerville and raised in Quincy, where he attended the local schools. He moved to Weymouth 12 years ago, and worked as a truck driver for Boston Specialty Sales Corp.

He moved to Big Pine

Key, Fla. two years ago to start a brass importing business.

Husband of Pamela Mariano, he is also survived by three children, Robert Mariano, 9, Jacob Mariano, 2 and one half, and Amanda Mariano, 1, of Big Pine Key; his parents, Emanuel and Nicolina Mariano of East Weymouth, a sister Nanette Mariano of East Weymouth, and a cousin, David Kaufman of East Weymouth.

Sr. Grace McDonald, Nun For 53 Years

A funeral Mass was said Tuesday in Holy Family Chapel for Sister Grace McDonald, C.S.J., formerly known as Sister M. Flavius, 73, who was a nun for 53 years in the Order of St. Joseph.

She died Saturday at Bethany Hospital, Framingham, after a brief illness.

Born in Quincy, she lived at St. Joseph's Mother House in Brighton, where she was formerly a receptionist.

She was most recently a receptionist at the Eucharistic Shrine at the Prudential Center, Boston.

She was a 1934 graduate of Regis College and earned her master's degree in biology from Boston College.

She taught at St. Columbkille's School, Brighton; St. Helena's House and Cathedral High, both in Boston; Maitignon High School, North Cambridge; St. Clements High, Somerville; St. Mary's High, Brookline; and Our Lady's School in Newton.

She is survived by a sister, Margaret Sweeney of Quincy.

Burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Natick.

Donations can be made to Bethany Hospital Memorial Fund, 97 Bethany Rd., Framingham.

Andrew W. Blaisdell, 81 Former Shipyard Employee

A funeral Mass for Andrew W. Blaisdell, 81, of Quincy, a retired maintenance worker for Bethlehem Steel Shipyard, was said Sept. 8 in St. Boniface Church, Germantown.

Mr. Blaisdell died Sept. 6 at Quincy City Hospital.

Born in Bath, Me., he lived in Quincy most of his life.

He is survived by a sister Edna Sheehan of Quincy; and several nieces and nephews, including Diane Penny and Eileen Prada, both of Quincy.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Maroun K. Skaff, 84

A funeral Mass for Maroun K. Skaff, 84, retired riveter at the Bethlehem Steel Fore River Shipyard in Quincy, will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy.

Mr. Skaff died Sept. 10 at Quincy City Hospital.

Born in Lebanon, he lived in Quincy for 64 years, and worked at Bethlehem Steel Shipyard for 45 years.

He was a member of the St. Joseph's Church Holy Name Society and the Sons of Lebanon, both of Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Najla Skaff, two sons, the Rev. Joseph Skaff C.S.C. of Stonehill College and Ramon Skaff of Brockton; a sister, Emily Martin of California; a sister-in-law, Victoria Skaff of Braintree; and six grandchildren.

Burial will be in Blue Hills Cemetery, Braintree.

Did you know that . . .

In Quincy for the past five years we have watched this kind of love being expressed through an interfaith agency called the Quincy Crisis Center. In a unique kind of caring we have found an agency that is committed to a twenty-four hour hot line (471-7075) which addresses all crisis. We have watched the mobile unit feed those who are hungry and have seen commitment that goes to the homes of the elderly or needy with counseling and food. There are no barriers of race, creed or geography.

Quincy Crisis Center treats the total Person - body, mind and spirit, the physical and emotional problems and endeavoring to connect with spiritual origins. When unexpected or over-whelming crisis means being unable to function, Quincy Crisis Center is there.

Now Quincy Crisis Center needs us to support them in their crisis. They have been offered a matching grant of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) by South Shore Elder Services, Inc. for a much needed new mobile unit. We support Quincy Crisis Center. Do You?

If you truly believe that "love is the greatest" you can help Quincy Crisis Center by telling the troubled where to go for help and by supporting our own interfaith agency by calling in to the hot line (471-7075) with your pledge of matching dollars for the new mobile unit.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

'Trouble With The Cross' Squantum Church Topic

Members of the congregation of the First Church of Squantum heard their pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preach Sunday morning on the subject, "The Trouble With The Cross."

After the sermon, the congregation observed the Lord's Supper with Deacons Kathryn Hansen, Tom Williamson, Leon MacIntyre, Evelyn Ahearn and Stewart Scott seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table.

The Chancel Choir sang the traditional anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd is" for the offertory. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

The new carpet in the church sanctuary was dedicated in memory of Irving Lewis and Gordon Campbell.

Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Hazel Mayne and Patti Hurd.

Earlier in the morning, the congregation had gathered for an all-church breakfast sponsored by young people of the church. Proceeds of the breakfast will help to send children and teenagers of the church to Christian camps and conferences.

The regular fall schedule of two services will resume, Sept. 16 with the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School will be offered during both services Sept. 16. There will be a nursery during the second service.

This fall, regular meeting times of church youth groups include Mello Yello, Monday at 3:30 p.m.;

Ramblin' Roots, Tuesday at 4 p.m.; Pepsi Free-ks, Wednesday at 3:30 p.m.; Boy Scouts Wednesday at 7 p.m.; The Way Up Wednesday at 7:15 p.m.; Junior Choir Thursday at 3:15 p.m.; Pepsi Challenge Thursday at 3:45 p.m.; Orange Crush Friday at 3:30 p.m.; Seven Up Friday at 7 p.m.; Strawberry Pop Saturday at 2 p.m.; Puppers Saturday from 2:30 to 5 p.m.; and Youth Choir, Sunday at 11:40 a.m.

The Church Council will meet Sunday, Sept. 16, after the second service. First meetings for some of the church boards are: Board of Trustees, Sept. 17; and Board of Deacons, Sept. 26. All board meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. The Youth Ministry Team will meet Wednesday, Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The Early Childhood Department is looking for new items and ideas for fall. Anyone who can share toys, books, games, crafts, or building supplies for ages 2 and one half through 6, is asked to contact Gloria Brummitt or drop them off at the church.

Point Congregational Church Centennial Celebration Sunday

Quincy Point Congregational Church will celebrate its 100th anniversary of becoming affiliated with the Congregational denomination Sunday.

On April 12, 1883, the congregation voted to drop its Methodist affiliation and become associated with the Congregational denomination.

The church will hold a special service at 2 p.m. to celebrate its accomplishments and leadership.

Many honored guests, previous ministers, and civic leaders will participate.

Mayor Francis McCauley will bring greetings from the city, Ward 2 Councilor Ted DeCristofaro, State Rep. Robert Cerasoli, and State Sen. Paul Harold will attend.

'Smile Sunday To Mark' Bethany School Reopening

This Sunday will be "Smile Sunday" at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

There will be a special worship celebration at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary to celebrate the reopening of the Bethany Church School. The children and youth of the church school will be welcomed and will attend the service along with the parents and teachers.

All worshippers will receive buttons and balloons. There will be songs by a guitar singing group led by Tora Huntington. The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold will have a "Dirty Dish" story for the children and also a short meditation.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasiniski, organist, will present the anthem, "If Your Heart Keeps Right", composed by B. D. Ackley.

The service will also be broadcast over radio station WIDA, (1300) k by delayed tape, at 11 a.m.

Parents and pupils are requested to arrive an hour early at 9 a.m. Pupils will go to their classrooms to register and to meet the teachers and other students. Parents will gather in the downstairs social hall with superintendent Jerry Capobianchi to discuss the religious education plans, goals, and curriculum for the 1984-85 school year.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship time in the Allen Parlor with coffee and light refreshments. Individuals and families from the community are most welcome to share in the worship and fellowship. New pupils are invited to come and register for church school at the 9 a.m. hour.

There will be an All-Church Picnic at Pageant Field, Merrymount, beginning at 11 a.m. Bethany families and friends of all ages are invited. Persons should bring own food, grills, and beverages. Watermelon will be provided. Scheduled are a softball game, volleyball, badminton, horseshoes, as well as organized games and races for the children. Swings and slides are available. The picnic will close with a brief vesper service at 4 p.m. led by associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington.

For more information about "Smile" Sunday or any of the ministry and program of Bethany Church, contact Rev. Mr. Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

Houghs Neck Congregational Church Starts Fall Schedule

The Houghs Neck Congregational Church, 310 Manet Ave., has its fall schedule.

There are two worship services, one at 9 a.m. and one at 10:30 a.m. The services are led by Rev. Peter Corea and Rev. Alicia Corea. Organist is Arden Schofield.

Rally Day for the Church School will be Sunday, Sept. 23. Beth Aker, chairman of the Board of Christian Education will supervise the work of the Church School this season. Anyone wishing to assist her is asked to call the parsonage at 479-2855.

September Registration For First Parish Church School

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Sq., will register children for its Church School every Sunday in September from 10:15 to 10:30 a.m., before services, and from 11:15 a.m. to noon, during the social hour.

A registration table, manned by Church School teachers and parents, will be set up in the Parish Hall with copies of the Church School newsletter, containing information about upcoming events and programs, and the 1984-85 Church School prospectus.

In addition to Friendship Circles which open each Sunday with a sharing time involving the children and adults of the congregation - and a monthly children's worship service in the historic upstairs sanctuary, there will be individualized curriculums for children through grade 9. These include:

Nursery-Toddler class, with weekly activities such as crafts, music, and stories.

Level I for ages 4-7, with the program "Growing Times," a series of seasonal and topical stories designed to develop awareness of self and others.

Level II for grades 2-4, with "Holidays and Holy Days," a curriculum that offers a tour of the world via the great holidays of our own and other cultures.

Level III for grades 4-6, with "What's That Book You Got," a survey of the Judeo-Christian heritage via the great stories of the Bible, with related activities; and Junior Teens for grades 7-9, with activities and discussions based on "I Am Not a Short Adult."

In addition, there will be twice-monthly separate evening youth groups for the Junior Teens and High School class, featuring films, trips, discussions of ethical issues, and various social activities. Both groups will be open to young people in the community.

Good Shepherd Resumes Fall Schedule

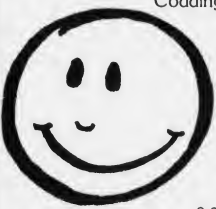

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 308 West Squantum St., North Quincy, will resume its fall and winter schedule Sept. 16.

Church School and Adult Group will meet at 9 A.M. Morning Worship Service with Holy Communion will take place at 10:30 A.M.

Following the morning worship service, at 1 P.M., the congregation will join together with Karen and Pastor Larry Peterson at their home on Sealund Rd., North Quincy, for a cookout.

Fr. McCarthy, 3 Others To Be Honored By S. S. Mental Health Center

Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of Quincy's St. John's Church, will be one of the four recipients of a distinguished service award presented by the South Shore Mental Health Center.

The fifth annual awards ceremony will be held Sunday, Sept. 30 at Kemper Insurance, 150 Newport Ave., North Quincy. The event begins with a brunch at 12 noon, and is open to the public.

According to South Shore Mental Health's board president, William Macdonald of Quincy, "Fr. McCarthy is a catalyst for change in the community.

FR. WILLIAM MCCARTHY
Because of his personal sensitivity and commitment to the improvement of life for those in need, the City of Quincy is a better place to live," says Macdonald.

Macdonald cites Fr. McCarthy's assistance to DOVE, Inc., the agency serving battered women and their children, as an example of the pastor's effectiveness.

The Flatley Company of Braintree will be recognized for its Mayo Health Facilities. "We are pleased to honor the Flatley Company for its innovative efforts in the care of the elderly," states Macdonald. Company President Thomas J. Flatley will receive the award.

Paul Connors, chairman of the Board of Health of the Town of Randolph, will receive a distinguished service award in recognition of his years of service to the community and his support for quality mental health services for the residents of Randolph.

The fourth award will go to the former executive director of the South Shore Mental Health Association, Mrs. Roberta Manton will be honored for her efforts in establishing the present South Shore Mental Health Center.

"Mrs. Manton realized the need for comprehensive mental health services for our area," Macdonald reports. "Because of her work over the years, the citizens of the South Shore now have quality mental health services available to them."

Evangelist Paul Slater At Glad Tidings

Evangelist Paul Slater is holding special services through Sunday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p.m. and for both regular Sunday services at Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., Quincy. All are welcome to attend.

Slater is a veteran of World War II, National A.A.U. Wrestling Champion, policeman, game warden, author of cook books and columnist.

In Houston, Texas at the age of 29, Rev. Slater became a christian accepting Jesus Christ as his personal Savior.

Answering the call to the ministry six months later, Rev. Slater attended South Western Theological Seminary and became an ordained Baptist Minister.

His national radio program, "Country Church Time", was coast to coast.

The tragic loss of three children in a fire caused a nervous breakdown that led him into a Pentecostal experience of the Baptism in the Holy Spirit.

Brother Slater has ministered in thousands of churches and camp-meetings and has appeared on Television Programs such as: "The 700 Club", "The Jim Bakker Show - PTL", West Coast - Today Programs and many others. Rev. Slater is the founder of Frontier Evangelism, a ministry of establishing new frontiers for Jesus.

License Board Votes To Ban 'Happy Hours'

such promotions.

Gillis said he hoped the ABCC would follow suit with state-wide action to be fair to all establishments.

"They (happy hours) encourage young and old to drink more than they should," said Fire Chief Edward Barry.

Also in favor was Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey who noted that the reduction of liquor establishment hours had a favorable result.

Barry made the motion to adopt the resolve. MacDonald, who seconded the motion, suggested that it be forwarded to the ABCC.

Those establishments which disobey the resolve can be brought before the board.

The resolve states that Quincy will no longer allow:

•Selling of alcoholic beverages and drinks at half-price.

•Dispensing of two or more alcoholic beverages or drinks to patrons when the patron pays for less than the number dispensed to him or her (i.e. "two for one.")

•Sale of alcoholic beverages or drinks at a price which is less than the maximum price charges by that licensee for that same beverage or drink at other times during the week.

•Dispensing of alcoholic beverages or drinks to patrons free of charge.

Quincy Crisis Center Asks For Support

The Quincy Crisis Center is an interfaith agency committed to a 24-hour hotline that addresses all crises.

The Crisis Mobile Unit feeds the hungry and goes to the homes of the elderly and needy with counseling and support.

The Crisis Center helps people, regardless of their race, creed, or location.

Quincy Crisis Center treats the total person, providing help for mind, body, and spirit.

The Crisis Center now needs community support. It needs a new mobile unit. South Shore Elder Services, Inc. has offered the Crisis Center a matching grant of $20,000.

Call the Crisis Center at hotline number 471-7075 with your pledge of matching dollars. This money will help the Crisis Center buy a new mobile unit.

Nurses Endorse Harold

Nurse-Plan, the political action arm of the Massachusetts Nurses Association, has announced its endorsement of Sen. Paul D. Harold for re-election to the State Senate.

Judith Shindul, president of the MNA, and Joyce Pulcini, chairman of Nurse-Plan, said in a joint statement that Harold "has consistently supported nursing's concerns."

"We are looking forward to continuing our work with Sen. Harold to improve access to quality health care and increase the input of nurses in planning, delivery and evaluation of our health care system," they said.

City Clerk

"I Stopped By to Ask for Your Vote..."

Since he was elected to the Senate 5½ years ago, PAUL HAROLD has been working hard for you. He doesn't take the job for granted, and he doesn't "disappear" between elections.

He's not afraid to face the people—at election time, or at any other time. You've seen him for years at community and civic events, public hearings and meetings—and at his weekly constituent meetings every Friday at City Hall—making himself available and accessible.

For the past three months, PAUL HAROLD has been working hard to report to you what he has accomplished, and to ask for your vote.

We have an effective, hard-working Senator.

Let's keep it that way.

RE-ELECT

SENATOR PAUL D. HAROLD

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY NEXT TUESDAY

Paul D. Harold has a solid record of accomplishment in the Senate, and a full-time commitment to the people of Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

We need Senator Harold's energy and leadership to keep Massachusetts first among the industrial states, with the highest employment and declining state and local tax burden.

Governor Michael S. Dukakis

The Legislative Council For Older Americans finds your record in reference to elderly legislation and human service programs is excellent.

Frank J. Manning
President
Legislative Council for Older Americans

We feel strongly that the impressive labor record established by Paul Harold as a member of the Senate merits the support of organized labor. It clearly reflects a concern for the average working men and women...

Arthur R. Osborn
President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO

Your background as an attorney has served us well in law enforcement; in tightening up laws on drunk driving and drug dealers. I applaud your courage in supporting reasoned approaches to control crime, while preserving vital Constitutional protections.

William D. Oshunt

Monclair Men's Club To Install Officers

The Montclair Men's Club will hold its annual installation dinner and dance Saturday, Sept. 15, at the clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Road, North Quincy. The evening will begin with a cocktail hour 6:15 to 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m., dancing 8 p.m. to midnight.

Ticket committee members are Stan Kovalski, 328-7277; George Hatfield, 479-3464 or Charlie Colby, 328-0387.

The club will hold its first business meeting of the season Thursday, Sept. 20. Also planned are the 9th annual Montclair Men's Club Golf Tournament Sept. 30, at the President's Golf Course, and a Halloween Dance, Oct. 20.

City Council Excitement Lures Reardon From Mayor

Is the City Council more exciting than the Mayor's office?

Mrs. Jeanne Reardon thinks so.

Mrs. Reardon has resigned as Mayor Francis X. McCauley's personal secretary to return to the old post of the Council's clerk of committee that she held from 1980 through 1983.

"I love both jobs," said Mrs. Reardon. "but there is more excitement in the City Council office."

She will succeed Donna Pollara Martin, who succeeded her in the clerk's job only eight and a half months ago.

Mrs. Reardon will have to be elected to the post by the members of the City Council and she indicated that she has the votes of most of them. She plans to start with the Council meeting of Monday, Sept. 17.

"We have had a good relationship and she has done an outstanding job," said McCauley. "But she has three children in elementary school and in middle school and the Council hours are more flexible."

Christopher Carroll Named To Con Com

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has announced the appointment of Christopher N. Carroll to the Conservation Commission to fill the unexpired term of William Arienti, who resigned.

Carroll, a sales representative for Whittman's Chocolates in the Boston area who has lived in Squantum all his life, will serve in the post until February, 1987.

A boating enthusiast, Carroll is a past president of the Squantum Community Association and a member of the Savin Hill Yacht Club and the Massachusetts Lobstermen's Association.

A graduate of North Quincy High School in 1973, he obtained a degree in economics with honors from Northeastern in 1978 and earned a masters from Babson College in 1981.

Civic Concerns To Be Discussed At HN Meeting

Civic concerns will be discussed at the season's first meeting of the Houghs Neck Community Council on Tuesday, Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

Announcement will be made of persons to be honored for civic accomplishments, heroism and "Good Neighbor" at an Awards Night on Oct. 21, by David DiBona, chairman.

Following the meeting, Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney will ask suggestions for use of the land formerly occupied by Great Hill School.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

FACTS, NOT FICTION FULL TIME REPRESENTATIVE???

When Mr. Cerasoli first ran for state office he PROMISED to be a full time Representative. AND when he was running for his third term the PATRIOT LEDGER reported that Mr. Cerasoli "maintained that he has kept his initial promise of full time representation to his constituents."

YET, Mr. Cerasoli's own Statement of Financial Interests for Calendar Year 1983, filed with the Ethics Commission, reveals that he earned in excess of $25,000.00 AS AN EMPLOYEE OF A STOCK BROKERAGE FIRM.

HEY WHAT! A FULL TIME State Representative earning $25,000.00 as a FULL TIME stock broker???

Powers Sidelined

Raiders Host Old-Time Rival Milton

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team opens its season Saturday at 1:30 p.m. against oldtime non-league rival Milton at Veterans Memorial Stadium and coach Ken McPhee faces a serious problem.

Last week Colin Powers, the starting fullback who weighs 190 but is one of the fastest men on the squad, suffered a broken ankle in a scrimmage and will be out for at least six or seven weeks.

With a lack of depth, McPhee, starting his third season as coach at his alma mater, was finding it hard to find a replacement for Powers, who loomed as an all-scholastic and was to be one of the Raiders' key performers.

"Colin's loss is a severe blow, as we are very shallow and can't afford injuries," said McPhee. "He broke his ankle on the next to last play of the scrimmage. We are going to miss him tremendously, as he was a key to our attack."

Mike Barry will start in Powers' place and McPhee was being hard-pressed to find a backup for him.

North hopes to open the season by avenging an 18-0 loss at Milton a year ago.

There is a definite North Quincy tinge at Milton this season. In addition to head coach Jack Bowes, a former North assistant, Dave Burke, who was North's head coach for seven years before resigning three years ago, has joined the Milton staff as an assistant coach.

In contrast to North Quincy, which is loaded with veterans, Milton was depleted by graduation and Bowes has only one returning starter, halfback Jim Indelicato and no other returning lettermen.

"We're going to have to fight for every inch," said Bowes.

Despite Milton's lack of experience, McPhee expects plenty of trouble from the visitors, who had a 4-6-0 record a year ago.

"We always have trouble with Milton and this will be no exception," said McPhee. "Jack always gets a lot out of his players and I know he will be in for a busy afternoon."

Offensively North will have Gerry Coughlin and Rich Brooks or Rich Horrigan at end, Al DiBella, one of the best in the area, and Steve Dever at tackle, Jack Hannan and Bill Doherty at guard and Larry Nialetz at center.

Also playing in the offensive line will be Joe Morrissey, Ken Runge and John McGovern at tackle, John Reney at guard and Ted Mulch and Ted Miller at center.

Dave Zurums is back at starting quarterback and will be backed up by Brooks. Steve Kelly, Joe Bangs, Leo LeMay and Kevin Sullivan will see most of the action at half-back with Rob Bradley, Jim Ca and Tim Sullivan also playing and Barry will be at fullback.

Many of the players will be going both ways and defensively Dave Cooke and Runge, backed up by Coughlin and Mike Russell, will be at end, Dever and Morrissey at tackle, DiBella and Don Clancy at nose guard.

Barry, Doherty, Kevin Sullivan, Ed Begley and Kevin McCarthy at linebacker, Kelly, Bradley and Horrigan at corner back and Bangs, Brooks and Tim Sullivan at defensive back.

"You can see how thin we are, with so many boys going both ways," McPhee said. "We definitely have to find some backup men or we'll be worn down by such powers as Brockton, Waltham and Medford. Those schools are much larger and have many more players."

The North coach was pleased with the Raiders' showings in scrimmages with Braintree, Weymouth South and Scituate.

"We moved the ball well and the defense looked good," he said. "But we need a lot of work in the secondary, although it improved in each scrimmage."

"We have some good size (the line averages more than 220) and have a lot of speed. If Barry can do the job replacing Powers and our veterans play as I know they can, we could do all right."

McPhee has three other former North players as assistants, Mark Mulvaney, Pete Zoia and newcomer Kevin Cobban. The other aide, Ted Sadowski, is starting his 27th season at North. John Muldowney is back as a volunteer assistant.

The Raiders will play at Greater Boston League power Medford on Sept. 22 and will open their Suburban League season the following week at Brockton. Brockton, the largest school in the league, is again the league favorite.

CARRYING much of the load for North Quincy will be Tri-Captains Jack Hannan, left, Steve Kelly and Al DiBella.

Curry Depending On Barrett's Strong Arm

The Curry College football team, with much more depth than a year ago, opens its season Friday night at 7 at Westfield State with its hopes again resting on the strong arm of quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy.

Barrett had a sensational freshman season last fall and this year will get more help from the Colonels' running game.

"Last year we had little depth with most players going both ways and Barrett carrying most of the offensive load," said coach John Doherty, an uncle of North Quincy High lineman Billy Doherty. "This year we have close to double the number of players we had in 1983, ensuring that no one will have to go both ways. In addition, among our new players will be some fine running backs which will give us a more balanced attack."

Another returnee is junior Mike Donovan of Quincy, a defensive starter who had a fine season last fall.

Among the newcomers are two freshmen from North Quincy, back Kevin Kelly and lineman Jerry Martin, both of whom starred at North Quincy High.

Over 125 In City Tennis Tourney

The 14th annual tennis tournament sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Cooperative Bank has been played in near perfect weather since opening Sept. 4.

With more than 125 entrants, 10 categories of play, and men and women (14 years of age to their seventies), the tournament continues to be a popular activity for Quincy residents each September.

Under Tournament Director John Franceschini, the competition has been steady and consistent with no major upsets through the first round of play. Number one singles seed Al McDonald, an executive with Dunkin Donuts Corporation, defeated Rory DeLaPaz, a Northeastern University student, in the first round in the men's singles-1, 6-0.

In doubles, Bill Courtney, who holds the 1983 men's singles and 1983 over 35 titles, and Henry Sero, a student at Tufts University, defeated Marty Trice and Barry Schmidt in a closely contested match, 6-1, 6-4.

In a long and close mixed doubles match, Carolyn Nee, a Boston College student, and John Kavanaugh, a Boston College graduate, defeated Carlotta Guglielmi, a nurse at Beth Israel Hospital, and Pat Moore, a member of the medical staff at Beth Israel Hospital, 7-6, 6-4.

In the second round of men's doubles, Quincy attorney and former Dist. Atty. George Burke and his partner Dick Hatton, a professor at Quincy Junior College defeated Joseph Shea and Arthur Foley, 6-0, 6-0.

Last year's three-category winner Steve Durant, a junior at North Quincy High, continues his winning ways and is alive in two categories choosing not to defend his singles crown. Complete match results so far:

Coulacos Score Tops Hingham For N. Quincy

Spero Coulacos scored the game's lone touchdown on a one-yard sneak as the North Quincy High School football team opened its 20th season with Coach Jack Donahue at the helm with a 7-0 victory over Hingham. The Raiders ran and passed from the winged-T formation for the first time.

The touchdown drive in the second period started with the recovery of a Hingham fumble on the 43-yard line. Eight plays later, including an 11-yard run by Dan Mahoney and an 11-yard pass from Mahoney to Walter Frye, the Raiders had the score.

The North Quincy lineup included: Frye, Page, Pizzo, McAuliffe, Vincent, ends; Benson, Nester, Heffernan, Atkinson, Fallon, tackles; Belcher, Buzzell, McNally, Reagan, Sergeant, guards; Rawson, Lyons, centers; Mahoney, Hadlock, Coulacos, Bergamo, Colarusso, backs.

LITTLE LEAGUE CHAMP

Bret Hall's four-hit pitching and Lou Williams' fifth inning home run combined to give Paul Bandini's Wollaston UCT team a 3-2 victory over Ted Olsen's Granite Trust. Nine and the Quincy Little League championship at Rotary-YMCA Field.

The Wollaston lineup included: Anderson lb, Williams ss, Hall p, Clapp c, Travers 3b, Brazas cf, Kelly rf, Joyce lf, Kantarowski 2b.

The Granite Trust lineup included: Scanlan 3b, DeBolt ss, Brini lb, Richards on 2b, Leroy c, McLoughlin rf, Swimm lf, Mercurio p, Johnston lf, Vaughan rf.

MARY PRATT BLANKS HOBOES

Mary Pratt, the South Shore's outstanding woman athlete, joined the North Quincy Associates, a men's softball team, and pitched them to a 1-0 victory over the New England Hoboes in a Jimmy Fund benefit at Welcome Young Field. She allowed six hits, fanned two.

The North Quincy lineup included: Melanson lf, Cobban c, DiCarlo 3b, Chase lb, Hughes rf, Wallace cf, Fleetcher ss, Riley 2b, Pratt p.

BIG PUTT WINS CUP

Phil Barry of Wollaston sank a 35-foot putt on the 17th hole to clinch the Fallon Cup Tournament for himself and his partner, Charley Carlson of Blue Hills, with a 2 and 1 victory over John Duane of Wollaston and Johnny Pope of Ponkapoag.

QUINCY BOWS

Vin Salvucci scored from two yards out in the early moments of the fourth period to give the Quincy High School football team a 6-0 lead but powerful Brookline averted an upset with a touchdown and an extra point with a minute to play.

Raymer In Coaching Debut

Presidents Face Cambridge Rindge

Jack Raymer, an assistant coach for 13 years, including the last seven at North Quincy, makes his head coaching debut Saturday when he leads Quincy against Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Game time at Daley Field in Cambridge has been changed to 10 a.m.

Raymer, a former Quincy player himself, is pleased with his squad as it goes into its Suburban League opener and he liked what he saw in scrimmages against Weymouth North and Charleston.

"These kids are just raring to go and they want to reverse last year's record (3-6-1)," Raymer said. "They show a lot of desire and they looked very good in our two outside scrimmages. I know they will be ready for Cambridge."

Cambridge, which lost to the Presidents, 21-0, last fall, has nowhere to go but up. It was 0-10 a year ago but Coach George Greenidge is loaded with veterans and hopes to do much better this year.

"We have seven returning starters on offense and five on defense and every team on our schedule better be prepared. We're coming at them," said Greenidge.

The Presidents have eight returning starters on offense and most of them double on defense, so they don't lack experience.

"We have the experience all right, but we lack depth and most of the players will be going both ways," Raymer said. "I'm not a conservative coach and we won't be a conservative team. We'll play wide open football and we must do this against such powerhouses as Brockton, Waltham and others. If we play conservative football they'll just wear us down."

Raymer has a big, fast starting team with defense with Joe Conti and Kevin Burke or Mark Callahan starting at end, Richie Pettinelli and John O'Callaghan at tackle, Walter Rollins and Pat Calabro at guard and Steve Perfetuo at center.

The line averages 220 and has good speed.

An all-veteran backfield will find Billy Shaughnessy at quarterback, Daron Tucker and Gerry Frazier at halfback and big Joe Cullen at fullback. Cullen weighs

Also playing on offense will be Pat Duggan, who will see action both at tackle and guard; Mark Porzio at halfback, sophomore Steve Picarski at fullback, John Wholey, Steve McNamara and Pete Gangi and end and Ed Wholey at guard.

Playing on defense will be Calabro and Cullen at end, Duggan and O'Callaghan at tackle, John Wholey and Rollins linebackers Porzio, Frazier and Ron Luisi at corner back and Conti and Shaughnessy defensive backs.

Also playing will be Tucker and Mike O'Connor at defensive back, Picarski and Kevin Jolley at linebacker, Mark Callahan at end and Perfetuo, McNamara and Paul Lally at tackle.

"I feel we have a real solid starting team both offensively and defensively, but I have to develop some backup men to give us some needed depth," said Raymer, who succeeds Bill Maver, who resigned to take a position at Acton-Boxboro High.

Peter Cassidy has joined the coaching staff, replacing John Sullivan, who resigned as assistant to go into business with his brother, Cassidy starred for three years at Quincy, went on to play at University of New Haven and for the past two years has been an assistant at Abp. Williams.

So, Quincy continues with an all-Quincy staff. Returning aides Jeff and Mark Giordani are former Presidents as are Raymer and Cassidy. Maver and Sullivan also played at Quincy.

The Presidents will open their home season against Brookline Sept. 22, also a league game.

Christian To Captain Bentley X-Country Team

Kevin Christian of Quincy has been named captain of the 1984 Bentley College varsity cross country team.

Coach Barry Harwick also named Christian as his captain for the 1984-85 indoor and outdoor track teams.

Coming off an 8-4 season last fall, the Bentley cross country team will be aiming for its third consecutive Northeast-8 Conference championship and fourth straight Bryant Invitational title this season.

A senior, Christian was the Falcons' fastest runner last year. Although injured for much of the season, he did turn in a 24:58 clocking at Franklin Park—third on the all-time Bentley list for that course.

During the track season, Christian competes in events ranging from 1,500 meters to two miles. Last winter, his top performances included an 8:44.4 in the 3,000 meters and a 9:29 in the two mile run.

Outdoors, Christian turned in two of the three fastest times Bentley runners recorded in the 1,500 meters last spring. His personal best in that event was set in 1983 when he ran a 4:00.57 at the Dartmouth Relays. That same year, the 1981 Boston College High School product received the track team's Most Improved award.

Youth Soccer League Opens With 31 Games

The Quincy Youth Soccer League opened its fifth fall season last weekend with a full slate of 31 games.

Goalkeepers were busy in most of the games as scoring power dominated. In 16 of the 31 games, the winning team scored four goals or more. The high-scoring games will probably subside, however when defensive cohesiveness develops.

In the girls under 14 division, Karen Miller led Sew-Fisticated Fabrics to a 4-3 win over North Quincy Cab, scoring two goals. Deirdre Murphy and Nicole Zanardelli also scored for Sew-Fisticated. Pam Palardy assisted on one of Miller's goals. For North Quincy Cab, Rebecca Chicino was a scoring machine, netting all her team's goals. Kellene Duffy assisted on one of them. Kerry Lynch played well in goal for North Quincy Cab.

The Kicks topped That's Italian, 2-1, with Amy Kreuz and Beth Hoth scoring. Kristen Lydon and Caitlyn O'Brien assisted. Kathy Fower played well in goal for the Kicks. Nicole Cibotti scored That's Italian's solo goal with Lisa Triandafilo assisting. Goalie Lisa Marani and Christine Gorman played well for That's Italian.

In girls under 12 division, Adams Cleaners topped Alford & Bertrand Law, 4-2, with Maureen Fower leading Adams with two goals. Susan McCole and Kara Sullivan also scored for Adams. The assists were evenly spread with Christine Kelly, Kimberly Hearn, Maureen Fower, Kara Sullivan and Susan McCole sharing in the honors. Stacey Bonavia also played well. For Alford & Bertrand, Karen McCabe and Tricia Hughes scored with Jeanne Barron getting an assist. Stacey Ostiguy, Jennifer Flynn and Merry Cunniff played well.

Fleming & Langlois defeated the Soccers 2-0 with Christine Barrett scoring both goals. Kristin Murphy and Stephanie Olsen assisted. Agnes Connolly and Jackie Potter played well.

For the Soccers, a trio of goalies, Erin Lydon, Lori Ogilvie and Christine Welch, played well.

Roy Nelson Cleaners and Patriot Insurance played to a 0-0 tie. Murray played well. For Patriot Insurance, Amy Baker was excellent in goal. Jennifer West and Kerry Galligan also played well.

In girls under 10 division Angela Marinilli led the Villa Rosa to a 4-0 win over The Ink Spot by scoring three goals. Jennifer Nutley scored the fourth goal. Kellie Hodges assisted. Suzanne Hourin and Julie Barbutto played well. For The Ink Spot, Kerin Berry, Janice Colton and Kristen Cashman played an excellent game.

In the division's other game, Bolea-Buonfiglio topped Marina Bay, 2-0, with Noreen Fower scoring both goals. Cheryl Dee assisted on one of them. Melissa Walsh and Jennifer Brans both played well in goal for Bolea-Buonfiglio. For Marina Bay, Megahan Barry, Alicia McNaught and Jennifer Walker played good games.

In girls under 8 division, Amy Columbus led the Goodman Professionals to a 4-0 win over Deware by scoring two goals. Karen Harvey and Leah Robertson also scored. The assists were spread among Jenna Nolan, Sara Gordon, Kasey McNaught and Lisa Renzi. Stephanie Corkery also played well. For Deware, Karen Shea moved the ball well, Susan Mullen played well in goal and Elizabeth Fitzpatrick was outstanding at fullback.

Rachael Lovendale scored two goals to lead Sub Corral to a 3-2 win over the Panthers. Shannon Davidson scored Sub Corral's third goal and Katie Landi assisted. Nancy Distasio played well for Sub Corral. For the Panthers, Sarah Radell and Karen Manna scored. Jamie Galvin played well in goal and Kelly Keegan played well in the field.

In boys under 16 division Keith Freeman was a scoring machine for Giovanna's Bakery as he scored four goals to defeat Moors and Cabot 4-2. Jamie Fennessy assisted Freeman once. Ian Marshall was outstanding in goal for Giovanna's and Ron Colleton and Scott Flaherty played well in the field. For Moors and Cabot, Kevin Duffy and Kevin Caldwell scored the goals, with Duffy assisting Caldwell on one. Playing well for Moors and Cabot were Rich Bryan, Tom Burke, Gerard Nolan and Joe Foley.

Like Freeman for Giovanna's, Robert Hubbard did all the scoring in leading his O'Connell Gardens team to a 2-1 triumph over Quincy Cooperative Bank. One of Hubbard's goals was on a penalty kick. Mike Walsh assisted Hubbard on the other goal. Ray Rochon and Jim Reagan played well for O'Connell. Kevin O'Brien got Quincy Coop's sole goal, with an assist from Paul Leary. John Greene was outstanding in goal for Quincy Coop and fullbacks Mike Carrol and Tony DeCosta also played well.

In boys under 14 division it was a scoring explosion as 20 goals were scored in three games.

Leading the scoring surge was Italian International Sports as they defeated PPJS 8-0. Jim Fennessy led with four goals, followed by Joe Schepis with two, and Bob Austin with RJ Fennessy with one each. Assisting were RJ Fennessy with two, Jim Gemmel with two, and Peter Lespasio. Scott MacDougall, Dan Piccini and Chris Byrne with one apiece, John Gray played well in defense for Italian International.

Jamie Greene led Jack Conway to a 6-1 victory over Dependable Cleaners, scoring three goals. Mike Hughes, Matt Donovan and Bill Monteith scored the other goals. Mike Hughes had two assists with single assists for Pat Dee, Fred Regan, Jonathan Sullivan and Jeff Calvert. Steve Weldon scored for Dependable Cleaners, with Chris Halloran assisting.

W.T. Hight defeated The Sons of Italy, 4-1, with Kevin Burke scoring twice with solo goals from Chris Zilla and Tim Baker. Chris Zilla assisted on four goals. Mike Leonard was outstanding in goal as was Steve Ziolkowski and Brian Comeau on defense. John Menz scored for Sons of Italy with Scott Shea assisting.

In boys under 12 division Presidents Pharmacy continued the scoring barrage in the Boys Under 12 division with a 7-0 win over Quincy Fire. Chris Brophy, Brian Clifford and Peter Kelley all scored for Presidents Pharmacy, with Chris Brophy getting two assists and Jake Costa and Peter Kelley one each. John MacNeil played well on defense for Presidents Pharmacy.

Deware defeated No. Quincy K of C 5-1. Shawn Echelle had two goals with Dan Atanasov, Greg Warren and John Foster scoring once. Kevin Murphy, Greg Warren and John Foster assisted. Kevin Kane scored for the K of C with Kieran Ridge and Tommy Nutley playing well.

The Edmond Fitzgerald defeated the Whalers, 5-1. John Lewis scored three goals. Ed Rizzitano also scored. Garvin Chan had two assists and John McAdams and Matt Sullivan had single assists. Mike McAdams played well in goal. Gerry McCarthy scored for the Whalers. Mark McGillicuddy played well.

Sen. Paul Harold Club defeated Quincy Foreign Car Center, 4-1, with Chris Cunio scoring two goals and Derek Mooter and Matt Flynn one each. Cunio and Joe Ciralo had assists. David Cedrone and Philip Tony Giannandrea scored for Quincy Foreign Car with assists to Bob Dunkle and Mark Ward.

In the low scoring contest in the division, All State Builders topped Balducci's, 2-1. Scott Trainor and Brian Doherty scored for All State. Anthony Bianco and Brian Campbell played well on defense, and Teddy Doyle was outstanding in goal. Scott Dunn scored for Balducci's assisted by Aidan O'Donahue. Robert O'Connor and Rick Cashman played well.

In boys under 10 division high scores continued with Williams and Bertucci Law shutting out C.W. Graphics

Lynn Maloney Hopes

To Succeed Sister At Tufts

Lynn Maloney of Quincy will be battling to replace her older sister, Tracy, when the Tufts University women's tennis team opens defense of its N.E. Div. III crown this fall.

Tracy, who won the No. 3 singles title at the N.E. III championships last fall, graduated last year and will be enrolled in Tufts Dental School this fall.

And if Lynn enters a mixed doubles competition, she can team with her senior brother, Phil, a two-year standout on the men's team.

It Was Auld Lang Syne At North Football Alumni Day

By PETE ZOIA

Many former North Quincy football players attended the first North Football Alumni Day last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium and watched the current Raiders scrimmage Scituate.

North's first three teams of 1933, '34 and '35, coached by Jack Donahue, were represented as were most of the other clubs.

Coach Ken McPhee, a standout Raider on the unbeaten 1966 Greater Boston League champions, was more pleased with the turnout of former players than with what his team did on the field.

"I was very pleased with the number of former players who came," said McPhee. "It was a chance for them to reminisce and also gave them a chance to see what our current team could do.

"As far as the scrimmage was concerned, our defense was a delight to watch, but our offense was not what it should be. We have a lot of work to do in preparation for Milton (North's first opponent Saturday)."

Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes, has defeated the Raiders the last three years.

Scituate proved to be a tough scrimmage foe last week. Rich Conroy, son of former Quincy coach Hank Conroy, is a Scituate assistant coach and another son, Chris, is the Sailors' starting fullback.

The North sophomores looked impressive in the controlled scrimmage and on the last play fullback Mark Simonelli raced 81 yards for a touchdown.

McPhee, in a post-scrimmage ceremony, introduced his tri-captains, Jack Hannan, Al Dibella and Steve Kelley, as well as the other members of the squad.

A special presentation was made to Dr. Al Yacubian, a former Raider and a long time North fan. Dr. Yacubian was the originator of the Raider Indian insignia, "Yakoo". He was presented a North Quincy sweater and jacket and an autographed team ball.

The North Boosters served refreshments to the players and coaches of both squads.

NORTH QUINCY cheerleaders show the former Raider players how the current generation does it during last week's Alumni Day scrimmage with Scituate.

Koch Women's Bowling Starts 30th Season

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League began its 30th year Monday at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys with 41 women participating in the opening night.

New bowlers are still welcome to attend next Monday at 7 p.m. and join the league as regular or spare members of the league.

The league is bowling the opening two weeks to establish averages for the new participants and will assign teams in the third week for the 1984-85 competition.

Weekly bowling sessions will be held through April 1985 with a banquet and dance in May. Officers for the league are Joanne Colluppi, president; Ellen McAdam, treasurer, and Edie Maher, secretary.

Panthers Roll By Manets In Opener, 26-8

The defending champion Quincy Point Panthers started where they left off last year as they rolled over the Houghs Neck Manets, 26-8, in the Quincy Youth Football League's season's opener last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Following a Manet punt early in the game, the Panthers took over on the Manets' 30 and two plays later Joe Taylor scored the season's first touchdown on a 25-yard run. Quarterback Timmy Brillo passed to Mike Lomanno for the two-point conversion.

Charlie Freeman sacked Manet quarterback Scott Logan twice and the Panthers took possession on the 50 following a punt. They apparently scored three plays later but a controversial clipping call nullified the score.

In the second quarter the Panthers' defense again stopped the Manets cold. After another Manet punt, Joe Taylor bolted 80 yards for a touchdown. The try for the extra points failed.

The Panthers received the second half kickoff and drove deep into Manet territory on six plays. Brillo passed to Wayne Chambers who slipped untouched into the end zone. A pass for the points failed. The Manets started on their own 40 and on the first play Panther Brillo picked off a Logan pass and ran it for a score, but again the play was called back.

The Panthers took possession, with Danny Crespi shooting upfield to the 35. Chambers took the handoff to the 25 and Brillo scored on a quarterback sneak. Again the try for points failed.

The Panthers' junior varsity entered with a minute left in the third quarter and held the Manets scoreless until late in the fourth quarter. Robert Lingois scored for the Manets and Logan rushed for the two extra points.

With the varsity back on the field, David Flaherty carried to the 45. For the fourth time a Panther touchdown was nullified by a penalty as time ran out.

Coach Frank Brillo hailed Freeman for an outstanding defensive game, along with the Jayves for holding the Manets' varsity to one touchdown.

Ernie Light paced the West Quincy Elks to a win over the Squantum Sailors in the other game.

Next Sunday the Sailors will meet the North Quincy Apaches at 1 o'clock and the Panthers will face the Elks at 2:30.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 13

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
When it comes to advice, you're better at dispensing than at receiving. Stubborn friend becomes a little more flexible, but don't expect a complete about face.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Intuition is not as sharp as you think - especially with regard to money matters. Writing is a present strength. Express your feelings and imagination through the written word.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Information about friends is not as reliable as you may think. Loved one's generosity - timewise and moneywise - proves an unexpected pleasure through this period.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Some touchy matters at home or on the job require prompt attention. Communication difficulties may delay a trip or a plan. Budget and health require a careful review.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Optimism is your middle name and wins you admirers and supporters. Partnership arrangements can be favorably launched by Wednesday. Guarantees should be in writing.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Career matter is stalemated, but carry on with present chores. Friend counts on you for support - likely regarding a romantic matter. Status at home improves.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Unexpected arrivals can lead to a social dilemma - and tact is all-important. Repair work requires prompt attention - but don't look for cut-rate assistance.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Spend time arranging priorities - particularly ones that relate to education and career path. Watch tendency to go to extremes - exaggerating, overestimating, etc.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
One-time rival becomes a supporter. Beware of pranks and practical jokes, especially toward the weekend. Home improvement plan is highlighted through this period.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
People from faraway places contact you for information or advice. Travel dream may begin to materialize. Relationship benefits from a lighter approach.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Behind the scenes, strings are being pulled that may affect your professional or academic future; be bright - and be natural. Romantic relationship perks up on weekend.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Good week for talking out a difficult problem, but choose your confidant with care. Financial dispute needs prompt and effective resolution; make this a priority item.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Wherever you go, you manage to learn something. The next four months should therefore be filled with knowledge - for travel appears on the horizon. Watch tendency to conceal yourself with too many details while ignoring the larger concepts.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 13th, singer Mel Tormé; 14th, actress Joey Heatherton; 15th, actress Margaret Lockwood; 16th, jazz great B.B. King; 17th, actor John Ritter; 18th, actor Robert Blake; 19th, actress Twiggy.

PHARMACY TOPICS

New treatment for glaucoma has been developed at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center. Focusing waves of ultrasound into the front of the eye has relieved high internal pressure in the eye, even in cases where surgery had failed.

Norwegian scientists have found a strong correlation between coffee drinking and significantly elevated blood cholesterol levels.

Prosthetic toe joint for patients with an arthritic toe joint can provide good pain relief, says an orthopedic surgeon at the University of California at San Francisco. The joint, made of silicone and rubber, gives good toe strength, too.

Though pregnant women need calcium and magnesium oxide can interfere with the absorption of iron.

Cyclosporin, the drug that's been too effective in preventing organ-transplant rejection, has now been approved by the FDA. (Its earlier use was considered experimental.)
